The Book of Intelligence and Ignorance

Chapter One

Hadith 1, Chapter 1, hadith 1

(The Bearers of this Hadith in consecutive order):

Abu Ja'far Muhammad ibn Ya'qub has narrated from a number of our people of whom one is Muhammad ibn Yahya al-'Attar who narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from Hassan ibn Mahbub from 'Ala' ibn Razin from Muhammad ibn Muslim from abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

(The Text of this Hadith):

"When Allah created Intelligence He induced it to speak and said, 'Come forward.' Intelligence then did come forward. He then said, 'Go back.' Intelligence then did go back. Thereupon Allah said, 'I swear by My Honor and Glory that I have not created any creature more beloved to Me than you. I will not perfect you in anyone except those whom I love. I, however, will command only you to do (certain) things and prohibit only you from committing certain others. I will grant blessings (rewards) to you only and will hold only you responsible for the consequences (of your acts).'"

٢ - عِلي بن محمدٍ عن سهل بن زِيادٍ عن عمرِو بن عثْمانَ عن مفَضل بن صالِحٍ عن سعدِ بن طَرِيفٍ عن الْأَصبغ بن نباتةَ عن عِلي ع قَالَ هبطَ جبرئِيلُ علَى آدم ع فَقَالَ يا آدم إِني أُمِرت أَنْ أُخيرك واحِدةً مِن ثَلَاثٍ فَاخترها و دع اثْنتينِ فَقَالَ لَه آدم يا جبرئِيلُ و ما الثَلَاثُ فَقَالَ الْعقْلُ و الْحياءُ و الدين فَقَالَ آدم إِني قَدِ اخترت الْعقْلَ فَقَالَ جبرئِيلُ لِلْحياءِ و الدينِ انصرِفَا و دعاه فَقَالَا يا جبرئِيلُ إِنا أُمِرنا أَنْ نكُونَ مع الْعقْلِ حيثُ كَانَ قَالَ فَشأْنكُما و عرج

Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad, from 'Amr ibn 'Uthman, from Mufaddal Ali ibn Salih from Sa'd ibn Tarif from Asbagh ibn Nubatah, from (Imam) Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"Once Jibril (Gabriel) came to Adam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and said, 'I am ordered to offer you three choices. You may choose one and leave the other two.' Adam then asked, 'What are those three things?' Gabriel replied, 'They are Intelligence, Bashfulness and Religion.'

Adam then said, 'I choose Intelligence.' Jibril (Gabriel) then asked Bashfulness and Religion to return and leave Intelligence with Adam. They said to Jibril, 'O Jibril, we are commanded to be with Intelligence wherever it may exist. Jibril then said, 'It then is up to you.' He then ascended to heaven."

٣ - أحمد بن إِدرِيس عن محمدِ بن عبدِ الْجبارِ عن بعضِ أَصحابِنا رفَعه إِلَى أَبِي عبدِ اللهِ ع قَالَ قُلْت لَه ما الْعقْلُ قَالَ ما عبِد بِهِ الرحمن و اكْتسِب بِهِ الْجِنانُ قَالَ قُلْت فَالذِي كَانَ فِي معاوِيةَ فَقَالَ تِلْك النكْراءُ تِلْك الشيطْنةُ و هِي شبِيهةٌ بِالْعقْلِ و لَيست بِالْعقْلِ

"When I asked abu 'Abd Allah, 'what is Intelligence,' He replied, 'It is a fact with whose help one worships Allah, the Merciful, and attains paradise.' I then asked, 'What was the thing with Mu'awiya?' 'It was shrewdness. It was mischief which is similar to Intelligence but is not Intelligence,' the Imam replied."

٤ - محمد بن يحيى عن أَحمد بن محمدِ بن عِيسى عن ابنِ فَضالٍ عن الْحسنِ بنِ الْجهمِ قَالَ سمِعت الرضا ع يقُولُ صدِيق كُل امرِئٍ عقْلُه و عدوه جهلُه

H 5, Ch. 1, h5
It is narrated from him from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from ibn Faddal from al-Hassan ibn al-Jahm who has said the following:

"Once, I said to abu al-Hassan, 'We know certain people who have a great deal of love for Ahl al-Bayt (family of the Holy Prophet), recipient of divine supreme covenant, but they do not have much determination and understanding of the cause of Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority).' The Imam replied, 'They are not of the ones that Allah has admonished. What Allah has said is, 'people of Intelligence and understanding take a lesson.'"

٥- و عنه عن أحمد بن محمدٍ عن ابن فَضالٍ عن الْحسنِ بن الْجهمِ قَالَ قُلْت لِأَبِي الْحسنِ ع إِن عِندنا قوماً لَهم محبةٌ و لَيست لَهم تِلْك الْعزِيمةُ يقُولُونَ بِهذَا الْقَولِ فَقَالَ لَيس أُولَئِك مِمن عاتب اللهِ إِنما قَالَ الله فَاعتبِروا يا أُولِي الْأَبصارِ

Ali ibn Muhammad ibn 'Abd Allah has narrated from Ibrahim ibn Ishaq al-Ahmar from Muhammad ibn Sulayman al-Daylami his father who has said the following:

"Once I mentioned a certain person's Intelligence, worship, religion and merits before Imam abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant. The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, asked, 'How is his Intelligence?' I replied, 'I do not know.' Then the Imam said, 'The degree of reward is based on the degree of intelligence. A man of Banu Israel worshipped Allah on an island in the ocean. The island was lush green, with many trees and abundant water. Once an angel passed by the worshipper and asked Allah to show how much reward and blessings the worshipper would receive for his good deeds. Allah showed the rewards due to the worshipper to the angel and the angel considered them to be very little. Allah then told the angel to stay with the worshipper as a companion. The angel then appeared to the worshipper in the form of a human being. The worshipper asked, "Who are you?" "I have heard about your great deeds of worship and your spiritual position at this place and I wish to join you to worship Allah along with you," the angel replied. He spent that day with the worshipper and the next day the angel said to the worshipper, "Your place is beautiful and it should only be used for worship." "Yes, it is but it has one defect," the worshipper responded. "What is that?" the angel inquired. "Our Lord does not have an animal. I wish He had a donkey so we could look after the donkey to graze all the grass around. All this grass is a waste," the worshipper replied. "Is it true that your Lord does not have any donkeys?" asked the angel. "Had our Lord had a donkey all this grass would not have turned into waste," the worshipper answered with sadness. Allah then revealed to the angel, "We will reward him according to the degree of his Intelligence.'"

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from ibn Mahbub from ‘Abd Allah ibn Sinan who has said the following:

“I mentioned a person, who would overdo acts of his Wudu and prayer, to Imam abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and added that he is a man of good Intelligence. The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, ‘What kind of intelligence is it that allows him to obey Satan?’ I then asked the Imam, ‘How would he be considered as obeying Satan?’ The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘Ask him wherefrom this thing (overdoing) comes to him. He will certainly say, “It comes from Satan.”’

A number of our people have narrated Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Khalid from certain persons of his people in a marfu’ manner from the Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

“Allah has not distributed anything among people more excellent than Intelligence. An Intelligent person’s sleeping is better than an ignorant person’s worshipping for the whole night. An Intelligent person’s staying at home is better than an ignorant person’s journey in search of success and good deeds. Allah did not send any prophet or messenger before the completion of his Intelligence and before allowing it to become greater than the Intelligence of all of his followers. A prophet’s mere thinking is better than the achievement of all the people striving for virtue and good deeds. People do not fulfill their obligations to Allah without having an understanding of Him. All the worshippers will not be able to achieve with the virtue of their worship what a person of intelligence achieves. It is the people of intelligence who are considered people of proper understanding in chapter 2:269 of the Holy Quran, ‘Only People of understanding realize this.’”

Abu ‘Abd Allah al-Ash‘ari has narrated from certain persons of our people in a marfu’ manner from Hisham ibn al-Hakam who has said the following:

“Abu al-Hassan Musa ibn Ja’far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said to me the following, ‘O Hisham, Allah has given good news to the people of reason (intelligence) and understanding in His book in the following words, “Give the good news to those of My servants who hear certain words but follow only the good words. These are the ones whom Allah has given guidance and they are the people of understanding.” (39:20 Holy Quran)

“O Hisham, it is certain that Allah, the Most Gracious, the Most High, has made Intelligence a criterion for people (to refer to) in discerning right from wrong He supported the messengers with the (ability) to communicate and has guided them to His own Lordship with proofs saying, ‘Your Lord is the only Lord. No one deserves worship except Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.’ (2:163)

“Of the signs of His existence are the creation of the heavens and earth, the alternation of nights and days, the ships that sail in the sea for the benefit of the people. (Also of such signs are) the water that Allah sends from the sky to revive the dead earth where He has scattered all kinds of animals, the winds of all directions and the clouds that are rendered for service between the sky and the earth. Such are evidence (of His existence) for those who use their Intelligence." (2:164)

"O Hisham, Allah has mentioned the above facts as proof of His existence and that those facts depend upon the will of One Who has designed them saying: 'Allah has made the day and the night, the sun and the moon, and all the stars subservient to you by His command. In this there is evidence of the truth for people of understanding.' (16:12)

"It is He Who created you from clay, turning it into a living germ, then into a clot of blood, and then brings you forth as a child. He then makes you grow into manhood and become old. He causes certain ones of you to live for the appointed time and others of you to die before, so that perhaps you may have understanding." (40:67)

"In the heavens and the earth there is evidence (of the Truth) for the believers (45:3). In your creation and in that of the beasts living on earth there is evidence of the Truth for the people who have strong faith (45:4). In the alternation of the night and the day, the sustenance, which Allah has sent down from the sky to revive the barren earth and in the changing of the direction of the winds there is evidence of the truth for the people of understanding." (45:5)

"Know that Allah brings the dead earth back to life. We have explained Our revelations to you so that you may perhaps have understanding." (57:17)

"In the earth there are adjacent pieces of land, vineyards, farms, date palms of single and many roots which are all watered by the same water. We have made some yield a better food than others. All this is evidence (of the existence of Allah) for the people who understand." (13:4)

"Also, of the evidence of His existence are His showing you lightning, which gives you fear and hope, and His sending water down from the sky, which revives the earth after its death. In this there is evidence (of the truth) for the people of understanding." (30:24)

"(Muhammad), say, 'Allow me to tell you about what your Lord has commanded: Do not consider anything equal to Allah; be kind to your parents; do not murder your children out of fear of poverty; We give sustenance to you and to them. Do not even approach indecency either in public or in private. Take not a life, which Allah has made sacred except by way of justice and law. Thus does He command you that you may learn wisdom." (6:151)

"Allah has told you this parable about yourselves: Could your slaves share your wealth equally with you and could you fear them as you fear yourselves? Thus do We clarify the evidence (of the truth) for the people of understanding." (30:28).

"O Hisham, Allah then has given good advice to the people of intelligence and has encouraged them to become interested in the life to come. He has said, "The worldly life is but useless amusement and childish playthings (compared to) the life here-after which is far better and is only for the pious ones. Will you not then understand?" (6:32)

"O Hisham, Allah then has given warnings to those who do not think about the punishment that may come upon them from Allah saying, 'Then We totally destroyed the others. (37:136) You do pass by (their ruined town) in the morning and at night (37:137) why do you then not understand?' (37:138)

"We will bring torment from the sky on this town because of the evil deeds of its inhabitants." (29:34) 'We left manifest evidence (of the truth) there for the people of understanding.' (29:35)

"O Hisham, intelligence comes with knowledge. Allah has said, 'These are parables which We tell to human beings, but only the learned ones understand them.' (29:43)

"O Hisham, Allah has then expressed dislikes toward those who do not understand saying, 'When certain people are asked to follow the revelations of Allah, they say, "We would rather follow what our fathers have followed," even though their fathers had no understanding and could not find the true guidance.' (2:170)

"Preaching to unbelievers is like talking to someone who cannot hear anything except yells and shouts. They are deaf, dumb, and blind; they have no understanding." (2:171)

"Certain ones of them listen to you, but are you to make the deaf hear even if they have no understanding?" (10:43)

"Do you think that most of them listen and understand? They are like cattle or even more straying and confused." (25:44)

"They will not fight you united except with the protection of fortified towns or from behind walls. Their fight among them is strong. You think they are united, but in fact, their hearts are divided. They are a people who have no understanding." (59:14)

"Would you order people to do good deeds and forget to do them yourselves even though you read the Book? Why do you not think?" (2:44)

"O Hisham, Allah then has expressed dislikes towards the multitudes saying, 'Most of the people in the land will lead you away from Allah's guidance if you follow them; they only follow their own conjecture and preach falsehood.' (6:116)

"If you ask them, 'Who has created the heavens and the earth,' they will certainly say, 'Allah has created them.' Say, 'It is only Allah who deserves all praise, but most of them do not know.'" (31:25)

"(If you) ask them, 'Who has sent down water from the sky to revive the dead earth?' They will say, 'Allah has done it.' Say, 'It is only Allah Who deserves all praise,' but many of them do not understand." (29:63)

"O Hisham, Allah then has praised those fewer in number saying; 'Only few of My servants are grateful.' (34:13) He has said, 'How few are they?' (38:24)

"A believing person from the people of the Pharaoh who concealed his faith said, 'Would you kill a man just because he says Allah is my Lord?' (40:28)

"No one believed in him, except a few." (11:40)

"(Muhammad), tell them, 'Allah certainly has the Power to show such miracles but many of them are ignorant.' (6:37)

"Many of them have no understanding." (5:103)

"Many of them do not realize."

"O Hisham, Allah has then mentioned the people of Intelligence in the best manners with the best of characteristics saying, 'Allah gives wisdom to whoever He wants. Whoever is given wisdom, has, certainly, received much good. Only people of Intelligence can grasp this.' (2:269)

". . . Those who have a firm grounding in knowledge say, 'We believe in it. All its verses are from our Lord.' No one can grasp this fact except the people of Intelligence." (3:7)

"The creation of the heavens and the earth and the alternation of the day and the night are evidence (of the existence of Allah) for people of Intelligence." (3:190)

“Can a person who knows that what is revealed to you from your Lord is the truth, be considered equal to a blind person? Only those who have understanding take heed.” (13:19)

“Can this one be considered equal to one who worships Allah during the night, prostrating and standing, who has fear of the Day of Judgment and who has hope in the mercy of his Lord?” Say, ‘Are those who know equal to those who do not know?’ Only the people of Intelligence take heed.” (39:9)

“It is a blessed Book which We have revealed for you so that they will reflect upon its verses and the people of understanding will take heed.” (38:29)

“To Moses We had given guidance and to the children of Israel We had given the Book (40:53) as their inheritance and as a guide and a reminder to the people of understanding.” (40:54)

“Keep on reminding them. This benefits the believers.” (51:55).

“O Hisham, Allah says in His book, ‘This is a reminder for the ones who understand, listen, and see.’ (50:37) It means Intelligence.

“‘We gave wisdom to Luqman (31:12),’ means: Allah gave Luqman Intelligence and understanding.

“O Hisham, Luqman said to his son, ‘Revere the truth; you will be the most intelligent among man. Cleverness in the presence of Intelligence has a very small value. My son, the world is a very deep ocean in which many people have drowned. You must take piety before Allah as a ship, faith as supplies therein, trust in Allah as the sails, Intelligence as captain, knowledge as guide and patience as passengers.’

“O Hisham, for everything there is a guide. The guide for Intelligence is thinking. The guide for thinking is silence. For everything there is a means of mobility. The means of mobility for Intelligence is humble attitude. To disobey a prohibition (of Allah) is enough proof of one’s ignorance.”

“O Hisham, Allah sent His messengers to people for no reason other than their acquiring understanding about Him. Those who obey Him better have better understanding about Him. Those who are more knowledgeable in the commandment of Allah are the ones who have more powerful Intelligence, and those who have more powerful Intelligence are of a higher degree of excellence in this world and in the next life.

“O Hisham, Allah has established two complete kinds of authority and criteria for people (to refer to) to discern right from wrong: (a) The apparent, the manifest authority and criteria, and (b) the internal, the hidden authority and criteria.

“The prophets and messengers and ‘A’immah are the apparent, manifest authorities and criteria and Intelligence is the hidden, the internal authority and criterion.

“O Hisham, a man of Intelligence is one whose thankfulness does not diminish because of large wealth and prohibited matters cannot overpower his patience.

“O Hisham, one who supports three things against another three kinds of things he leads to the destruction of his own Intelligence: (1) Darkening of one’s ability to think with daydreaming, (2) the abolishment of the sparks of one’s wisdom with excessive bluffs and (3) the extinguishing of the lights of good lessons from experience by the desires of one’s soul. It is like supporting one’s desire to destroy one’s own Intelligence. One who destroys his own Intelligence has destroyed his own worldly life as well as the life to come.

“O Hisham, how can you expect to have pure deeds before Allah when you have such things that keep you away from the facts that matter to Allah, your Lord, and you have obeyed your desires against your own Intelligence?

"O Hisham, maintaining patience in loneliness is a sign of the strength of Intelligence. One who has understanding about Allah keeps himself aside from the people of this world and those interested in it. He becomes interested in what is with Allah. Allah then gives him comfort in his fear and company when he is lonely. Allah gives him riches in his poverty and honor without the existence of his tribesmen.

"O Hisham, truth is established to obey Allah. There is no salvation without obedience to Allah. Obedience comes only from knowledge, which comes from learning that receives strength from Intelligence. The only knowledge of value is that of one who knows about the Lord and Intelligence discerns the valuable knowledge.

"O Hisham, smaller degrees of deeds with knowledge are accepted with double value, and deeds, even in great deals, of those who ignorantly follow their desires are rejected.

"O Hisham, a person of Intelligence is pleased with little things of the world with wisdom, but he does not agree with a little wisdom with the entire world and, in this way, such people strike a gainful bargain.

"O Hisham, the people of Intelligence stay away from what is more than the basic lawful necessities of life. How then would they not stay away from the sins in this world? To stay away from what is more than the bare necessities of life is only extra virtue but staying away from sins is obligatory.

"O Hisham, a man of Intelligence observes the world and the people of the world and finds out that the worldly gains come only through hard work and labor. He finds out that gains of the life hereafter also come through hard work and labor. He then accepts the kind of gain that is more durable.

"O Hisham, people of Intelligence hold themselves back from the worldly things and strengthen their interest in the gains of the life hereafter. They have learned that the worldly gains are sought after and are wanted and so also are the gains of the life hereafter. One who seeks the gains of the life hereafter the world will seek him to deliver to him his livelihood, but one who seeks the worldly gains, the hereafter would also seek to find him. Death will then approach him and it will destroy his world and leave him with no opportunity in the life hereafter (because he did not seek such achievements).

"O Hisham, one who wants self-sufficiency without property, comfort for his heart from the evil of jealousy and the safety of his religion should pray to Allah, the Most Glorious, to perfect his Intelligence. The person of Intelligence is satisfied with the basic necessities and one who agrees with basic necessities is self-sufficient and free of needs. One who is not satisfied with basic necessities is never free from want.

"O Hisham, Allah has stated the following on behalf of the people of virtue, who say, 'Lord, do not cause our hearts to deviate from Your guidance, and grant us mercy. You are the Most Awarding One.' (3:8) They know that hearts may deviate and turn toward blindness and destruction.

"It is certain that those who do not fear Allah have no understanding about Him. One who does not have proper understanding about Allah, his heart does not establish about Allah any stable knowledge of the degree of certainty whereby one with clear awareness can find and realize the fact of such quality in his heart. No one can be as such except those whose deeds confirm their words, and their privacy agrees with their public activities. This is because Allah, Sacrosanct are Whose names, has not shown what is private and unknown of Intelligence except through what is public and speaks for it.

"O Hisham, the commander of the true believers, Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, 'Allah is worshipped better by no means other than Intelligence. No one's Intelligence reaches perfection until therewith are found various qualities. Disbelief and evil should not emerge there-from. Wisdom and goodness should be expected to exist therewith. The extra of the property of a person of Intelligence is given in charity, the extra of his words are restrained and his share of the worldly things is only the basic necessities. He never considers himself to have learned enough. To be with Allah, although in a very humble state, is far better to him (a person of Intelligence) than to live very much honored with others. Humbleness is more beloved to him than being treated as a dignitary. He considers virtuous deeds of others a great deal and his own virtuous deeds as insignificant. He considers all the other people better than himself and his own self as the worst of all, and this is summing up (victory over) all things.'

"O Hisham, a man of Intelligence never speaks a lie even though it (lies) may satisfy his desires.

"O Hisham, one who does not maintain honorable kindness has no religion and one cannot have such noble character without Intelligence. A person of the greatest value among people is one who does not consider the worldly gains his fortune. Nothing can become an adequate price for your body other than paradise. Do not sell (yourself) for anything other than paradise.

"O Hisham, the commander of the true believers, Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, 'Three noble qualities in man are of the signs of the existence of Intelligence. He (a) replies when questioned, (b) speaks up only when everyone else fails to speak and (c) offers his advice when it is beneficial to his people. One who has none of these qualities is a fool.' He also has said, 'No one other than a person who has all of the above or a few of such qualities should chair a gathering, and if one does so without having any of such qualities is a fool.'

"Imam Hassan ibn Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, 'If you ask for help do so from a proper source.' He was asked, 'O grandson of the Holy Prophet, who are the proper sources?' He replied, 'They are those about whom Allah has spoken in His book saying, "Only those who have understanding will take heed and they are the people of Intelligence."'

"Imam Ali ibn al-Hussein, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, 'Sitting in the company of virtuous people leads one to virtue, and association with the scholars is a means of strengthening one's Intelligence. Obedience to the authorities that practice justice is an honor. The investment of wealth for profit is a dignifying practice. Guiding one who asks for guidance is an expression of gratitude. To restrain one's harmful manners and deeds is the perfection of one's Intelligence in which there is comfort for the body in the short and long terms.'

"O Hisham, a man of Intelligence does not speak to one who is feared for his calling one a liar. He does not ask for help from those that he fears may deny him. He does not count on what is not within his abilities. He does not maintain any hope in that which may involve agony and harshness. He does not take any steps toward that which he fears may not be achieved due to his inability."

Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad in a marfu‘ manner Amir al-Mu’minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

“Intelligence for one is a complete cover (protection). Extra knowledge and skills are evident beauty. Veil your physical shortcomings with your extra knowledge and skills. Fight your desires with help from your Intelligence. In so doing friendship is secured and love becomes manifest for you.”

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from Ali ibn Hadid from Sama’a ibn Mihran who has said the following:

“Once with a gathering of his followers I was in the presence of Imam abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant. A discussion on Intelligence and Ignorance began to emerge among them. Thereupon, Imam abu ‘Abd Allah said, ‘First, you must recognize Intelligence and its army as well as Ignorance and its army, only then do you find proper guidance.’ I then said, ‘May Allah keep my soul in service to your cause, we only learn what you teach us.’ The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘Allah, the Glorious, the Majestic from His light created Intelligence and it was the first creature of the spiritual world on the right side of the Throne. He then told him to move backwards and Intelligence moved backwards. He then told him to come forward. Intelligence came forward. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High said, “I have created you a great creature and honored you above all others of My creatures.”’ The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, continued, ‘Allah then created Ignorance from a salty dark ocean and told it, “Move backwards,” it moved backwards. He then called it to come forward but it did not come forward. He then said to it, “Did you shun coming forward?” He then pronounced it condemned. He then assigned seventy-five armies for Intelligence. When Ignorance saw all the honors Allah had granted to Intelligence it bore hidden animosity toward Intelligence and said, “Lord this creature is just like me. You created and honored it and gave it power. However, I have no power against it. Give me also likewise armies.” The Lord then said, “I will give you also an army but if you disobey Me I will then expel you and your army from My mercy.” Ignorance then said, “I agree.” Allah gave it seventy five armies and it was out of the army of Intelligence.’”

"No one other than a prophet or his successor or a true believer, whose strength of faith Allah has already tested, can have the whole army of Intelligence with all such characteristics. However, certain persons of our followers and friends may acquire a few of such characteristics so that they may reach perfection, repulse the army of Ignorance and purify themselves from evil. In such a case they will also step at the high degree and level of the prophets and the successors of the prophets. This progress can be made only after knowing, with certainty, Intelligence and its armies and Ignorance and its armies. May Allah provide us and you the opportunity to obey Him and work to please Him."

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad al-Sayyari from abu Ya'qub al-Baghdadi who has said the following:

"Once ibn Sikkiyt asked Imam abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'Why did Allah send Moses with miracles that appeared through his staff and his hand and means of magic? Why did He send Jesus with miraculous means of medical tasks and Prophet Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, with miracles that appeared in his speech and sermons?'

"The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, replied, 'When Moses was sent, magic was very popular among the people. He showed a magic of such form that was not possible for others to perform. He was given such means that destroyed the magical effects of other people's magic and established the truth of the message of Allah among them. Allah sent Jesus at a time when serious (chronic) illnesses existed among the people and they needed medical treatment. Jesus brought from Allah what the people did not have. He brought from Allah the means to bring the dead back to life, cure the sick and the lepers by the permission of Allah. Thus, he established the truth of the message of Allah among the people.

"Allah sent Prophet Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, at a time when oratory and speech were very popular among the people - I think he said poetry (uncertainty is from narrator). He brought to the people from Allah the good advice and wisdom that showed the falsehood in their speeches. Thus, he established the truthfulness of the message of Allah among them.' Ibn al-Sikkiyt then said, 'I swear by Allah that I have never seen anyone like you. What is the proof to establish the truth of the message of Allah among people today?' The Imam then said, 'It is Intelligence. Intelligence recognizes those who speak the truth from Allah, thus, one acknowledges their truth. Intelligence recognizes the lies of those who lie in the name of Allah,' Ibn al-Sikkiyt then said, 'This, by Allah, is the answer.'"

Certain persons of our people have narrated in a marfu' manner from Mufaddal ibn 'Umar from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"O Mufaddal one can never gain success until he understands and one can never understand until he acquires knowledge. One who understands can very soon excel. One who exercises patience can very soon triumph. Knowledge serves one as a shield, truth is honor, ignorance is humility, sharp-wittedness is glory, generosity is success and moral excellence attracts friendship. One who possesses the wisdom of his time does not become frustrated by confusion. Strong determination creates pessimism. In the task of connecting a man and wisdom the existence of the scholar is the blessing. The ignorant ones face misfortunes in between: without wisdom and the scholar. Allah is the guardian of those who know Him. He is the enemy of those who pretend to know Him. A person of Intelligence is forgiving and an ignorant person is treacherous. If you like to be honored you must become kindhearted. If you like to be insulted then show harshness in your manners. One whose origin is noble is kindhearted. One whose element is rough, his liver is thick. The extremist falls into crisis. One who is afraid of the consequences desists from involvement in what he has no knowledge of. One who engages in an affair without knowing anything about it is headed to his own loss. One who does not know does not understand; and one who does not understand, does not agree to become peaceful. One who does not agree and submit is not respected; and one who is not respected is broken. One who is so broke is blamable; and one who is in such a condition must become regretful for his own self."

Good policies are of the virtuous moral discipline.' He would also say, 'Thinking is life for the intelligent heart just as light helps one to walk in darkness with ease and without waiting for a long time.'"

(a) A number of our people have narrated from 'Abd Allah al-Bazzaz from Muhammad ibn 'Abd al-Rahman ibn Hammad from al-Hassan ibn 'Ammar from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, in a long Hadith the following:

"The first, the beginning, the force and the structure of something is that without which it is of no benefit. The thing that Allah has made a beauty and a light for His creatures, the people, is Intelligence. With Intelligence, people come to know their Creator and that they are created. That He is the One Who has designed them and they are the ones who are being maintained. That it is the Creator Who is Eternal and it is the creatures who are mortals. It is Intelligence with which they reason from His creatures, like the heavens, the earth, the sun, the moon, the night and the day. In this way they learn that they and the creatures have a Creator and Maintainer Who is Eternal. With Intelligence they learn about good and bad. That darkness is in Ignorance and light is in knowledge. Such are facts that they learn with Intelligence.

People asked the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'Can Intelligence alone be enough for people?' The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then replied, 'The man of Intelligence, with the guidance of Intelligence, a dependable authority for him from Allah, a beauty and guide for him, he (the Intelligent person) learns that Allah is the Truth and that He is his Lord. With Intelligence one learns that his Creator loves and that He dislikes certain things. The Lord must be obeyed. Certain acts are disobedience to Him. Nothing but Intelligence shows him all these facts. One also (with Intelligence) learns that only with knowledge and searching may one reach the Creator. That one may not benefit from his Intelligence if he cannot learn the truth about Him through his knowledge. It then is necessary for a person of Intelligence to acquire knowledge and proper moral discipline without which nothing else is dependable.'"

(b) Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from certain persons of his people from ibn abu 'Umayr from al-Nadr ibn Suwayd from Humran and Safwan ibn Mihran al-Jammal who have said we heard Imam abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say the following:

"No wealth is more profitable than Intelligence, no poverty is more crushing than foolishness and no effort of seeking support is more supportive than seeking consultation."

This is the end of the Book of Intelligence and Ignorance. All praise belongs to Allah. O Allah, send peace and blessings upon Muhammad and his Holy family.

The Book on the Excellence of Knowledge

The Necessity to Seek Knowledge and the Recommendations to Learn

H 35, Ch. 1, h1
Muhammad ibn Ya‘qub has narrated from Ali ibn Ibrahim ibn Hashim from his father from al-Hassan ibn abu al-Husayn al-Farisi from ‘Abd al-Rahman ibn Zayd from his father from abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

“The Messenger of Allah has said, ‘Seeking knowledge is obligatory for every Muslim. (People should) know that Allah loves those who seek knowledge.’”

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from Muhammad ibn ‘Isa from Yunus ibn ‘Abd al-Rahman from certain persons of his people who have said the following:

“Once abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was asked, ‘Is it permissible for people to not seek what (religious knowledge) they need?’ The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘No, (it is not permissible to disregard learning).’”

H 38, Ch. 1, h4
Ali ibn Muhammad and others have narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad and Muhammad ibn Yahya from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn ‘Isa all from ibn Mahbub from Hisham ibn Salim from abu Hamza from abu Ishaq al-Subay‘i from one who narrated to him who has said the following:

“I heard Amir al-Mu’minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, saying, ‘O people, you must know that religion becomes complete through seeking knowledge and acting accordingly. You must know that seeking knowledge is of a stronger imperative nature for you than seeking wealth. In wealth everyone’s share is guaranteed. A just person has already divided wealth among you. He and my sword guarantee that you receive your share. Knowledge, however, is stored with those who possess it. You are commanded to seek knowledge from its sources (from those who possess it). You must seek knowledge.’”

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad al-Barqi from Ya’qub ibn Yazid from abu ‘Abd Allah, a man of our people narrated in a marfu‘ manner from abu ‘Abd Allah , recipient of divine supreme covenant, from the Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

طَلَبُ الْعِلْمِ فَرِيضَةٌ عَلَى كُلِّ مُسلِمٍ أَلَا وَإِن الله يحِب بغاةَ الْعِلْمِ

H 40, Ch. 1, h6
Ali ibn Muhammad ibn 'Abd Allah has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Khalid from 'Uthman ibn 'Isa from Ali ibn abu Hamza who has said the following:

"I heard Imam abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, saying, 'Acquire a good understanding of religion; those of you who do not have good understanding in religion are like the Bedouins. Allah has said in His book, "Why do not certain people from each group of believers seek to become specialists in religious learning and, after completing their studies, guide their group so that they will have fear of Allah.'" (9:122)

٦- عِلي بن محمدِ بن عبدِ اللهِ عن أحمد بن محمدِ بن خالِدٍ عن عثْمانَ بن عِيسى عن عِلي بن أَبِي حمزةَ قَالَ سمِعت أبا عبدِ اللهِ ع يقُولُ تفَقهوا فِي الدينِ فَإِنه من لَم يتفَقه مِنكُم فِي الدينِ فَهو أَعراِبي إِن الله يقُولُ فِي كِتابِهِ لِيتفَقهوا فِي الدينِ و لِينذِروا قَومهم إِذا رجعوا إِلَيهِم لَعلهم يحذَرونَ

Those who acquired anything of these pieces of their statements have certainly gained a colossal share. You must be very careful, when acquiring such knowledge, to know from what kind of people you receive them. After (the death of) every one of us (the Ahl al-Bayt, family of the Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant), there comes a just person who removes (and exposes) from (the texts of Shari'a) the forgeries of the exaggerators, the materials of the fallacious ones that might have been made to infiltrate and the interpretations of the ignorant ones."

Chapter Three

Kinds of People

بَابُ أَصْنَافِ الناسِ

H 53, Ch. 3, h1

Ali ibn Muhammad from Sahl ibn Ziyad and Muhammad ibn Yahya from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Isa all from ibn Mahbub from abu 'Usama from Hisham ibn Salim from abu Hamza from abu Ishaq al-Sabiy'i from one who narrated it from a reliable source from Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"After the Holy Prophet, people become of three kinds. One group went to a divinely well-guided scholar. Allah had given him a high degree of knowledge that made him independent of the knowledge of the others. The second group was the ignorant group, which claimed to have knowledge but in fact had no knowledge. This was an egotist group. Worldly attractions had made them lose sight of the truth and they misled other people. The third group consisted of people who learned from a divinely guided scholar. He taught them for the sake of Allah and for their salvation. It then was clear that those who claimed (to be scholars when, in fact, they were not) and those who forged certain matters (in Shari'a) were destroyed."

“The Holy Prophet has said, ‘If one sets out on a journey to seek knowledge, Allah will lead him to the path that takes him to paradise. The angels will stretch their wings for the pleasure of the seeker of knowledge, and all that is in heaven and earth, even the whales in the oceans, will ask (Allah) to forgive him. The excellence of the scholar over other people is like the brilliance of the moon over other stars during a full-moon night. Scholars are the heirs of the prophets. The prophets did not leave any Dirham or Dinar (wealth) as their legacy but left knowledge as their legacy. Whoever acquires a share from such legacy has gained an enormous share.’” others practice it without any reduction in the suffering of whoever may practice such misguidance."

H 61, Ch. 4, h5

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from Ali ibn Muhammad ibn Sa'd in a marfu' manner from abu Hamza from Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"If only people knew how much reward there is for seeking knowledge, they would seek it even if they had to shed their blood for it or dive in large waves. "Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, 'One of the rights of a scholar is that one must not ask him a great many questions and must not latch on to his garment (excessive questioning). When one would enter in his presence while other people are there, should offer greeting of peace to everyone and special greetings to the scholar alone. One must sit before him and not behind him. One must not blink his eyes before him or make hand gestures and must not speak much in his presence such as so and so said so and so opposite to what he says. The length of his meeting must not disappoint one because the case of a scholar is like a fruit bearing tree in which case one needs to wait until the tree lets fruits fall onto one. The reward for a scholar is greater than that for those who fast and perform prayers very often and for those who fight for the cause of Allah.'"

The other consists of those who disregard their knowledge, and they face destruction. The people of hell will suffer from the foul smell of the scholars who do not act according to their knowledge. Of the people of hell, the one who will regret most will be the man who teaches someone and shows him the way of Allah. The student accepts and acts according to such teachings. Consequently Allah takes him to paradise, but the teacher is sent to hell for ignoring his own knowledge, following his desires and entertaining unending worldly hopes. Following one's desires bars one from the truth and cherishing unending worldly hopes causes one to forget the next life.'"

“I asked Imam abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, ‘What are the facts that help one recognize those who have gained salvation?’ The Imam replied, ‘One whose words agree with his deeds, has established testimony and evidence to his gaining salvation. One whose words do not agree with his deeds, it (his belief) is temporary.’”

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Khalid from his father in a marfu‘ manner (rafa'ahu) from Amir al-Mu’minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

“Once, Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said in one of his sermons, ‘O people, if you learn and gain knowledge you must act accordingly so that you may have guidance. A learned person who disregards his knowledge is like a lost and ignorant person who never comes to the right path due to his ignorance. In fact, you will find the case against such a learned one who disregards his knowledge more severe and his regret more prolonged, compared to the ignorant person who wanders about in his ignorance. Both people stray and are devoid of goodness. Do not hesitate lest you doubt, and do not doubt lest you disbelieve. Do not be lenient with your souls to allow them become lazy. Do not trivialize the truth lest you lose badly. It is of the truth to learn Fiqh (proper understanding of religion). It is of Fiqh not to suffer deceit. The wisest among you is the one most obedient to his Lord. The most self-deceiving among you is the one disobedient to his Lord. One who obeys Allah is safe and glad news awaits him, but one who disobeys Allah loses and regrets.’”

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Khalid from his father from the one mentioned from Muhammad ibn 'Abd al-Rahman ibn abu Layla from his father who has said the following:

“I heard Imam abu Ja’far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, saying, ‘When you hear knowledge you must use it and your hearts must become more open. If knowledge increases in one’s heart but one fails to exercise forbearance, Satan may overpower him. If Satan would dispute with you, move on him with whatever you know. The plots of Satan are weak.’ I asked the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, ‘What is it that we know?’ The Imam replied, ‘Fight him with whatever of the power of Allah, the Majestic, the Glorious, has come to light before you.’”

“I heard (Imam) Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, narrating from the Holy Prophet who has said, ‘Two kinds of people with great appetites do not become satisfied. There is a person of great appetite for the worldly gains, and a person with great appetite for knowledge. In the matters of the worldly gains, if one limits himself to what Allah has made lawful for him, he is saved, and if one accumulates such gains in unlawful ways, he is destroyed, unless he repents and changes his ways. In the matters of knowledge if one acquires it from people of knowledge and practices accordingly, he is saved and if one uses it for worldly gains, then that is all he gets.'"

The Holy Prophet has said, 'Allah sent wahy (revelation) to David (peace be upon him) and told him, "Do not set between Me and yourself a learned person who loves worldly gains lest he bar you from the way to My love. The Need for the Existence of a Divine Authority in the World and the Seriousness of This Matter

Ali ibn Ibrahim ibn Hashim has narrated from his father from al-Qasim ibn Muhammad from al-Minqari from Hafs ibn Ghiyath from abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

“O Hafs, seventy sins of an ignorant person may be forgiven before a single sin of a learned person is forgiven.”

H 121, Ch. 15, h2

Through the same chain of narrators it is narrated from abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father and Muhammad ibn ’Isma‘il from al-Fadl ibn Shadhan, both from ibn abu ‘Umayr from Jamil ibn Darraj who has said the following:

“I heard (Imam) abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, saying, ‘When the soul reaches here - the Imam pointed to his own throat - there will be no chance for learned persons to repent.’ He (the Imam) recited this verse: ‘Allah will only accept the repentance of those who commit evil in ignorance if they repent immediately. Allah is All-knowing and All-wise (4:17)’”

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn ‘Isa from al-Husayn ibn Sa‘id from al-Nadr ibn Suwayd from Yahya al-Halabi from abu Sa‘id al-Mukari from abu Basir from abu Ja’far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"Once a man came to the Messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and said, 'O messenger of Allah what is knowledge?' The Holy Prophet replied, 'It is silence.' The man then asked, 'Then what?' The Holy Prophet said, 'It is listening.' The man asked, 'Then what?' The Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'Then it is memorizing.' Ali ibn Ibrahim in a marfu' manner has narrated from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"There are three kinds of seekers of knowledge. One can recognize them from their persons or characters: (a) the group who seeks knowledge for ignorance and quarreling, (b) the group who seeks knowledge to dominate and cheat others, (c) the group who seeks knowledge for proper understanding (Fiqh) and power of intelligence. The group whose purpose in seeking knowledge is ignorance and quarreling is a harmful and quarrelsome group. This group interrupts conversations in the gatherings of the people to speak about knowledge and the description of forbearance. Such people appear in the garb of the gentle and humble ones but, in fact, are devoid of all the qualities of the pious people. Allah has humiliated and has condemned this group. The group that seeks domination and cheating is a deceitful and flattering group. Such people try to dominate people of their kind and flatter the wealthy ones who know less than they do. Such people consume the sweet-meat of the rich people and destroy their own religion. May Allah banish the news of such people and cut off their traces from the history of the scholars.

They pull their robe over their heads and stand up for prayer in the darkness of nights. They work hard, anxiously, with fear and pray with deep worries. They are very attentive to their affairs, knowledgeable of the people of their time and fearful even of their own trusted brothers. May Allah strengthen the pillars of the essence of such people and grant them salvation on the Day of Judgment.'"

Muhammad ibn Mahmud abu 'Abd Allah al-Qazwini narrated to me the above Hadith from a number of our people one of whom is Ja'far in Muhammad al-Sayqal of Qazwin from Ahmad ibn 'Isa al-'Alawi from 'Abbad ibn Suhayb al-Basri from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant.

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from Muhammad ibn Yahya from Talha ibn Zayd who has said the following:

"I heard (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, saying, 'The narrators of the Book (the Holy Quran) are a great many but those who follow proper discipline in the matters of the Book are very few. There are many who are protective of Hadith but do poorly with the Book. Lack of protection and discipline saddens the scholars and the task of memorizing the text saddens the ignorant ones. Thus, one group concerned about the Book seeks to preserve its life while the other group, also concerned about it, in fact, arranges for its destruction. Therefore, the two forms of concern oppose each other and the two groups differ.'"

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Khalid from his father from one he mentioned from Zayd al-Shahham from abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following about these words of Allah:

"Let the human being think about (how We produce) his food" (80:24) I asked the Imam what is meant by 'His food'? The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'It is the knowledge he acquires from whoever he acquires it.'"

In such a case, people yield to other people as a higher authority. If falsehood had been clear it remained so to the people of Intelligence. If truth had been clearly distinct differences did not emerge. But (in practical life) people mix certain parts of truth with a few things from falsehood and present them together. In such case Satan overwhelms his friends and only those who have previously received protection from Allah remain safe.’”

“Allah rejects the repentance of an innovator (heretic in religion).” People asked the Holy Prophet, ‘Why is this?’ The Holy Prophet replied, ‘Because his heart is filled with the love of his heresy.’”

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn ‘Isa from al-Hassan ibn Mahbub from Mu‘awiya ibn Wahab who has said the following:

“Abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said that the Holy Prophet has said, ‘It is certain that against every innovation (deviation and heresy) with plots to destroy faith after me there will be a (religious) authority from my family as guardian of faith and as its defender. (Such) authority will speak on inspiration from Allah to declare the truth and bring it to light, repulse and foil the evil plots of the agents of wickedness and speak for the weak. O intelligent people, take a lesson from it and trust Allah.’”

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from certain persons of his people and Ali ibn Ibrahim from his father from Harun ibn Muslim from Mas'ada ibn Sadaqa from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and Ali ibn Ibrahim from his father from ibn Mahbub in a marfu' manner from Amir al-Mu'minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"Of the most intensely disliked men in the sight of Allah, the Majestic, the Most Glorious, are two kinds of people: A man whom Allah has left all to his own soul and who deviates from the path of justice, and is extremely attracted toward the words of innovation (heresy). He seems a master at performing prayer and fasting but is a mischief-maker to deceive people; he has strayed from guidance of the people before him and misleads those who may follow him in his lifetime and after his death. He carries the responsibility for others' sins and is a hostage of his own sins.

"The other man is one who displays ignorance as knowledge among the ignorant. He receives assistance from the darkness of existing mischief. The people, who appear like people (who in fact have no intelligence), consider him a scholar, but he has not spent even a complete day with scholars. He has made an early effort to accumulate something that in its being of a smaller quantity is better than in larger quantities and in this way he has filled himself with polluted water and has treasured what is of no use. He sits among people as a judge to carry the responsibility of adjudicating what is confusing and uncertain to others. He may even oppose the ruling of the judge before him. One can never tell whether his judgment will remain valid or if a judge after him will overturn it just as he has done to the judgments of the judges before him. If he faces complex and difficult issues he comes up with a great deal of his personal opinions and shapes them up as a clear-cut judgment. In fact, he has dressed himself up with doubtful issues the way a spider weaves his fragile web. He is not sure if he has done the right thing or the wrong one. He does not consider the fact that in an unknown case to have proper knowledge is necessary, and he does not see that beyond his opinion there is a school of law. He analogizes one thing to the other but it does not matter to him if his opinion will turn out to be a lie. If an issue is dark (not known) to him he hides it to hide his own ignorance so that people will not say he does not know. He then boldly judges and thus he is the key to hazards, a storage of doubts, perplexed in ignorance, and he never regrets his lacking knowledge. The level of his knowledge never rises to absolute certainty so that he could benefit. He blows out Hadith like winds that blow away hay. The legacies weep because of him, the bloods (judging the case of murder) shout against him. The lawful marital relations become unlawful because of his judgment and unlawful ones become lawful. He has no confidence in the judgments he issues and he can never be trusted for judgments that he may make nor was he qualified for what he may have done in the matters in which he claimed to have true knowledge."

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from Mu'alla ibn Muhammad from al-Hassan ibn Ali al-Washsha' from Aban ibn 'Uthman from abu Shaybah al-Khurasani who has said the following:

"I heard abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, saying, 'The people of analogy have sought knowledge through analogy (using analogy) and it has increased their knowledge with nothing but further remoteness. The religion of Allah is beyond the reach of analogy.'"

H 164, Ch. 19, h8
Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from Muhammad ibn 'Isma'il from al-Fadl ibn Shadhan in a marfu' manner (rafa'ahu) from abu Ja'far and abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who have said the following.

"All innovations (heresy) are misguidance and all misguidance leads to hell."

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from ibn abu 'Umayr from Muhammad ibn Hukaym who has said the following:

"Once I asked (Imam) abu al-Hassan Musa, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'May Allah keep my soul in your service, please make us Faqih (people of proper understanding in religion). Allah has granted us the blessing of your existence among us and has made us independent of other people. This blessing is so great that even if a whole group of us may come to one place, no one needs to ask another a question to prepare an answer for it. Sometimes, however, we may come across an issue for which we have heard nothing from you or from your forefathers. We then look into the best resources available and the closest to your guidance. Can we take such a finding as an authority?' 'Never, ever, by Allah, O ibn Hakim, many people have been destroyed in it,' replied the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant. Ibn Hakim has said that the Imam then said, 'May Allah condemn abu Hanifa who says, "Ali said so and so, therefore, I said so and so."' Muhammad ibn Hakim has said that he told Hisham ibn al-Hakam, 'By Allah, I only wanted the Imam to give us permission to use analogy.'"

٩- عِلي بن إبراهِيم عن أَبِيهِ عن ابنِ أَبِي عمِيرٍ عن محمدِ بن حكِيمٍ قَالَ قُلْت لِأَبِي الْحسنِ موسى ع جعِلْت فِداك فُقهنا فِي الدينِ و أَغْنانا الله بِكُم عنِ الناسِ حتى إِن الْجماعةَ مِنا لتكُونُ فِي الْمجلِسِ ما يسأَلُ رجلٌ صاحِبه تحضره الْمسأَلَةُ و يحضره جوابها فِيما من الله علَينا بِكُم فَربما ورد علَينا الشيءُ لَم يأْتنا فِيهِ عنك و لَا عن آبائِك شيءٌ فَنظَرنا إِلَى أَحسنِ ما يحضرنا و أَوفَقِ الْأَشياءِ لِما جاءَنا عنكُم فَنأْخذُ بِهِ فَقَالَ هيهات هيهات فِي ذَلك و اللهِ هلَك من هلَك يا ابن حكِيمٍ قَالَ ثُم قَالَ لَعن الله أَبا حنِيفَةَ كَانَ يقُولُ قَالَ علِي و قُلْت قَالَ محمد بن حكِيمٍ لِهِشامِ بنِ الْحكَمِ و اللهِ ما أَردت إِلا أَنْ يرخص لِي فِي الْقِياسِ

Muhammad ibn abu 'Abd Allah has narrated in a marfu' manner from Yunus ibn 'Abd al-Rahman who has said the following:

"Once I asked (Imam) abu al-Hassan the First, 'How can I prove that Allah is one?' The Imam replied, 'O Yunus, do not be an innovator (heretic). One who depends on his personal opinion is destroyed. One who abandons the members of the family of his Prophet goes astray. Whoever abandons the book of Allah and the words of His prophet becomes an unbeliever.'"

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from al-Washsha' from Muthanna al-Hannat from abu Basir who has said the following:

"Once I asked (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, saying, 'We may face an issue about which there is nothing said in the book of Allah or in the Sunnah, tradition of the Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, can we use our own opinion in such matters?' The Imam replied, 'No, you must not do that. If you, in this way, find the truth you will receive no rewards for it, and if you missed the truth you have forged lies against Allah, the Majestic, the Glorious.'"

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Isa from Ali ibn al-Hakam from 'Umar ibn Aban al-Kalbi from 'Abd al-Rahim al-Qasir from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

ibn ‘Abd al-Rahman from Sama‘a ibn Mihran who has said the following:

“Once I said to (Imam) abu al-Hassan Musa, recipient of divine supreme covenant, ‘May Allah keep you well, in our meetings we discuss the issues and find out that for almost everything there is something in writing with us and that is all because of the blessings of your existence among us. We find only few small things for which we do not find anything in writing. We look on each other and we find certain issues similar to it, then we use analogy in its best form.’ The Imam said, ‘What do you have to do with analogy? Many people before have been destroyed because of analogy.’ The Imam then said, ‘When you face an issue and know the rule about it deal with it accordingly, and if you would have no knowledge about its rule then this.’ He pointed to his own mouth, ‘This will give you the answer.’ The Imam then said, ‘May Allah condemn abu Hanifa who used to say, ‘Ali said so and so, therefore, I said so and so. The Sahaba said so and so, therefore, I said so and so.’ The Imam then asked me, ‘Have you been sitting with him?’ I then replied, ‘No, I have not sat with him but such are his statements.’ I then said to the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, ‘May Allah keep you well, did the Messenger of Allah bring everything that people needed?’ The Imam said, ‘Yes, and all that they will need up to the Day of Judgment.’ I then said, ‘Is anything lost from it?’ The Imam replied, ‘No, it all is with the people to whom they belong.’”

It is narrated from him from Muhammad from Yunus from Aban from abu Shaybah who has said the following:

“I heard (Imam) abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, saying, ‘Ibn Shubrama’s knowledge is lost and void before Al-Jami’ah. It is a large book that was dictated by the Messenger of Allah to Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who wrote it with his own hands. Al-Jami‘ah has left nothing untold. In it (Al-Jami’ah) is the knowledge of all lawful and unlawful matters. The people of analogy (people who consider use of analogical reasoning as an authority in the matters of Shari’a) sought knowledge through analogy and it has not increased to their knowledge anything. Instead it has taken them away from knowledge. The religion of Allah is not of matters to learn through analogy.’”

١٥ - محمد بن إِسماعِيلَ عنِ الْفَضلِ بنِ شاذَانَ عن صفْوانَ بنِ يحيى عن عبدِ الرحمنِ بنِ الْحجاجِ عن أَبانِ بنِ تغلِب عن أَبي عبدِ اللهِ ع قَالَ إِن السنةَ لَا تقَاس أَ لَا ترى أَن امرأَةً تقْضِي صومها و لَا تقْضِي صلَاتها يا أَبانُ إِن السنةَ إِذَا قِيست محِق الدين

Muhammad ibn ’Isma‘il has narrated from al-Fadl ibn Shadhan from Safwan Yahya from 'Abd al-Rahman ibn al-Hajjaj from Aban ibn Taghlib from abu ‘Abd Allah , recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

“The Sunnah (tradition of the Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant) cannot be learned through analogy. Consider a woman has to make up for her fast missed due to menses but she does not have to make up for the prayers that she would miss in such times. O Aban, the use of analogy destroys religion.”

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from ‘Uthman ibn ‘Isa who has said the following:

“Once I asked (Imam) abu al-Hassan Musa, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the use of analogy and the Imam said, ‘What do you have to do with analogy? Allah will not ask how it was made lawful or unlawful.’” who has said the following:

"(Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has narrated from his father who said that Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, 'Whoever decides to use analogical reasoning as a source of authority, his whole life will remain in confusion. Whoever practices the religion of Allah by means of analogical reasoning his whole life will pass in a drowning condition.' Imam abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, "Whoever issues Fatwa on the basis of his personal opinion has practiced the religion of Allah by means of what is not knowledge. Whoever practices the religion of Allah without knowledge has opposed Him by making things lawful and unlawful through things he has no knowledge of.'"

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from al-Hassan ibn Ali ibn Yaqtin from al-Husayn ibn Maya from his father from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"Satan analogized himself with Adam saying, 'Lord, You have created me from fire and created him from clay,' (7:12) In an analogous explanation if the substance from which Adam was made were compared with fire it comes to light that it has more light and value than fire."

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from Muhammad ibn 'Isa ibn 'Ubayd from Yunus from Hariz from Zurara who has said the following:

"Once I asked Imam abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about lawful and unlawful matters and he said, 'Whatever the Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has made lawful will remain lawful forever up to the Day of Judgment and whatever he has made unlawful will remain unlawful forever up to the Day of Judgment. There will be no one other than him and there will come no one other than him.' He said that Imam Ali has said, 'No one has established any innovation (heresy) without abandoning an established noble tradition.'"

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from Ahmad ibn 'Abd Allah al-'Aqili from 'Isa ibn 'Abd Allah al-Qurashi who has said the following:

"Once, abu Hanifa came to see Imam abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said to abu Hanifa, 'O abu Hanifa, do you practice analogy as I hear you do'? Abu Hanifa replied, 'Yes, I do practice analogy.' The Imam then said to him, 'Do not practice it; the first person who used analogy was Satan when he said, "Lord, you have created me from fire and created him from clay." He analogized fire with clay. If he had analogized the light in the clay and fire he would have learned about the difference between the two lights and the excellence of one over the other.'"

Ali has narrated from Muhammad ibn 'Isa from Yunus from Qutayba who has said the following:

"Once a man asked Imam abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about an issue and the Imam replied. The man then said, 'Have you considered if it had been so and so the opinion in it would not have been as such.' The Imam then said, 'Wait; whatever I said in answer was from the Messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant. We are not of the people, "Have you considered" who need thinking.'"

٢١- عِلي عن محمدِ بنِ عِيسى عن يونس عن قُتيبةَ قَالَ سأَلَ رجلٌ أَبا عبدِ اللهِ ع عن مسأَلَةٍ فَأَجابه فِيها فَقَالَ الرجلُ أَ رأَيت إِنْ كَانَ كَذَا و كَذَا ما يكُونُ الْقَولُ فِيها فَقَالَ لَه مه ما أَجبتك فِيهِ مِن

Note: The Imam pointed out that they did not need the common reasoning process and that all they said had come to them from the Messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant.

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Khalid from his father in mursal manner (Mursalan) from abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"Do not take anyone closely and intimately between yourselves and Allah; if you did so it would cause you to become unbelievers. Every means, ancestral and relative relations and intimacy, innovations (heresy) and doubts will be cut off except what is established in the Holy Quran."

Chapter Twenty
The Need to Refer to the Book and Sunnah

There is nothing about lawful and unlawful matters that may have been left without a rule in the Book and the Sunnah.

١- محمد بن يحيى عن أَحمد بن محمدِ بن عِيسى عن عِلِي بن حدِيدٍ عن مرازِمٍ عن أَبِي عبدِ اللهِ ع قَالَ إِن الله تبارك و تعالَى أَنزلَ فِي الْقُرآن تِبيانَ كُل شيءٍ حتى و اللهِ ما ترك الله شيئاً يحتاج إِلَيهِ الْعِباد حتى لَا يستطِيع عبد يقُولُ لَو كَانَ هذَا أُنزِلَ فِي الْقُرآن إِلا و قَد أَنزلَه الله فِيهِ

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Isa from Ali ibn Hadid from Murazim from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has certainly revealed an explanation for all things. I swear by Allah, He has not left untold any rule that His servants would need up to the Day of Judgment. He has done so, so that people will not say, 'Would that such and such had been said in the Holy Quran.' The fact is that He has already said it in the Holy Quran."

the following:

"Abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, 'When you speak of anything, ask me for its law in the book of Allah.' He also has said in his Hadith, 'The Holy Prophet prohibited much squabbling and brawling, spoiling of property and much dispute.' A person then asked, 'O descendent of the Messenger of Allah, where is this in the Holy Quran?' The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, replied, 'Allah, the Most Glorious, the Most Majestic, says, 'There is nothing good in much of their secret talks except for that which is for charity, justice or for reconciliation among people to . . .' H 185, Ch. 20, h7

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from certain persons of his people from Harun ibn Muslim from Mas'ada ibn Sadaqa from abu 'Abd Allah , recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, 'O people, Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has sent to you His messenger, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and given him the book with truth while you all were illiterate (ignorant) about the book and the One Who revealed it and about the messenger and the One Who sent him in a period of time wherein no messenger had been sent, during a prolonged delinquency of the nations with widespread ignorance, over looming afflictions, the crumbling of the established social order, blindness toward the truth, the practice of injustice, the destruction of religion, the raging of wars, at the time of paling away of the gardens of the worldly life, the withering away of the branches therein, the scattering away of its protectors, the loss of hope of its fruits, the drying out of its waters and during the decadence of its lighthouses. At such a period of time the elements of wickedness were manifest everywhere. The world seemed aggressive, rough and frowning at the face of its inhabitants, regressing instead of helping to progress and with wicked fruits. Its food was but carrion, its slogan fear and the swords as overall garments. You were totally crushed and the eyes of the inhabitants of the world had turned blind, and their days dark. They had boycotted their relatives, caused much bloodshed and buried their baby girls alive, expecting thereby goodness of life and worldly tranquility. They did not cherish any hope in the rewards of Allah or preserve any fear of the punishment of Allah. Their living was blind and filthy and their dead in the fire in total despair.

"At such time came to them a copy of what was in the ancient pages (of guidance) and a confirmation of what existed with them, containing a complete account of the lawful and unlawful matters. That is the Holy Quran. Ask it for the answers but it will not speak to you. I can tell you about it. In it there is the knowledge of the past and the knowledge of what comes in the future up to the Day of Judgment. Therein is the rule (needed)

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Muhammad ibn 'Abd al-Jabbar from ibn Faddal from Hammad ibn 'Uthman from 'Abd al-'Ala' ibn A'yan who has said the following:

"I heard abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, saying, 'I was born of the descendents of the messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and I know the book of Allah wherein is the knowledge of how the world was first created and the knowledge of all that may come up to the Day of Judgment. Therein is the news of the heavens and the earth, the news of paradise and hell, the news of things of the past, and those that will come into existence. I know all of these just as I can see in the palm of my hands. Allah says, 'In it there is an explanation of everything.'"

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Isa from Ali ibn Nu'man from 'Isma'il ibn Jabir from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"In the Book of Allah there is the news of things before you, the reports of the matters after you and the laws to settle your disputes, and we know it all."

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Khalid from 'Isma'il ibn Mihran from Sayf ibn 'Amira from abu al-Maghra from Sama'a from abu al-Hassan Musa, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"Once I asked the Imam, 'Is everything in the Book of Allah and the Sunnah of His prophet or do you have a say in it also?' The Imam replied, 'As a matter of fact, everything is in the book of Allah and the Sunnah of His prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant.'"

The Differences in al-Hadith

١- عِلِي بن إِبراهِيم بنِ هاشِمٍ عن أَبِيهِ عن حمادِ بنِ عِيسى عن إِبراهِيم بنِ عمر الْيمانِي عن أَبانِ بنِ أَبِي عياشٍ عن سلَيمِ بنِ قَيسٍ الْهلَالِي قَالَ قُلْت لِأَمِيرِ الْمؤمِنِين ع إِني سمِعت مِن سلْمانَ و الْمِقْدادِ و أَبِي ذَر شيئاً مِن تفْسِيرِ الْقُرآنِ و أَحادِيثَ عن نبِي اللهِ ص غَير ما فِي أَيدِي الناسِ ثُم سمِعت مِنك تصدِيق ما سمِعت مِنهم و رأَيت فِي أَيدِي الناسِ أَشياءَ كَثِيرةً مِن تفْسِيرِ الْقُرآنِ و مِن الْأَحادِيثِ عن نبِي اللهِ ص أَنتم تخالِفُونهم فِيها و تزعمونَ أَن ذَلِك كُله باطِلٌ أَ فَترى الناس يكْذِبونَ علَى رسولِ اللهِ ص متعمدِين و يفَسرونَ الْقُرآنَ بِآرائِهِم قَالَ فَأَقْبلَ علَي فَقَالَ قَد سأَلْت فَافْهمِ الْجواب إِن فِي أَيدِي الناسِ حقّاً و باطِلًا و صِدقاً و كَذِباً و ناسِخاً و منسوخاً و عامّاً و خاصّاً و محكَماً و متشابِهاً و حِفْظاً و وهماً و قَد كُذِب

memorized and matters that are conjecturally preserved. People had forged certain narrations that they called Hadith of the Holy Prophet. The condition was such that once the Holy Prophet addressed the people from the pulpit saying, 'O people, many lies have spread around and they are considered to be my Hadith. Whoever forges lies and calls them my Hadith has filled up his seat with fire.' After the Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, there were more such lies. There are four kinds of Hadith only and there is no fifth kind.

"One narrator of Hadith is a hypocrite who only pretends to be a Muslim. He does not consider it a sin and offense to lie and calls purposely a narration a Hadith of the Holy Prophet while it is not a Hadith of the Holy Prophet in reality. If people know that he is hypocrite and a liar they will not believe him. The people say, 'He lived at the time of the Holy Prophet, saw him, has heard Hadith from him and has preserved those Ahadith' but they do not know his condition. It is certain that Allah has spoken about the hypocrites the way He has spoken about them and has described them the way He has described them. 'Their physical appearance attracts you when you see them and when they speak, you carefully listen to them. . . .' (63:4) The hypocrites then sought closeness to the misguiding leaders and those calling others to hellfire with falsehood, with lies and false accusations. The misguiding rulers assigned them for certain offices and made them to dominate people. They, with their help, devoured the world. People follow only the kings and the worldly gains except for those whom Allah has protected. This is one of the four kinds.

"Another kind is one who has heard Hadith from the Holy Prophet, but has not preserved it the way it should have been preserved and he is uncertain about it. He has not fabricated anything purposely and he has it with him. He speaks about it, practices accordingly and narrates it saying: 'I heard it from the Messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant.' If the Muslims learn about his uncertainty they do not accept it from him and if he becomes aware of such uncertainty he also rejects it.

"The third kind is one who has heard something from the Messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, that contained a command but later the Holy Prophet prohibited it and the man did not have any knowledge of such prohibition. Or he heard a prohibition from the Holy Prophet and then the Holy Prophet made it a command but the man did not know of such commandment. In this way he preserved the abrogated but not the abrogating. If he had known the abrogating thereof he would have rejected it. If the Muslims had known what they had heard from him was abrogated they would also have rejected it.

"The last and fourth kind is one who has not ascribed a lie to the Messenger of Allah, who hates lies, has fear of Allah and respect for the Messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant. He has not forgotten anything and he has preserved it the way it should have been preserved. He speaks it just the way he has heard without any addition or omission. He knows which is abrogating and which is abrogated. He thus has practiced according to the abrogating and has rejected the abrogated. There is no doubt that the commands of the Messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, like the Holy Quran are abrogating and abrogated, of general nature and of particular nature, clear text and unclear text. Oftentimes the statements of the Messenger of Allah may have two aspects: One being a general statement and a statement of a particular nature just as the Holy Quran as Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Glorious, has said, '. . . Take only what the Messenger gives to you and desist from what he forbids you. . . .' (59:7) It may become confusing for one who does not know what exactly Allah and His messenger want people to do. All the companions of the Messenger of Allah did not clearly understand the answer to their questions. There were those who would ask a question but could not ask for explanations and rather welcomed the arrival of a Bedouin or a stranger to ask the Messenger of Allah questions so that he could also listen.

"I (Ali ibn abu Talib) would go in the presence of the Messenger of Allah once every day and once every night when he would admit me and deal with me the way he wanted. The Sahaba (companions of the Prophet) knew that the Messenger of Allah did not deal with others the way he dealt with me. Also, the Prophet would come to my house most of the time but whenever I went to any one of his houses he would admit me and ask his wife to leave us alone and then we would have been the only ones therein. Whenever he came to my house he would not ask Fatimah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, or any of my children to leave the house. Then whatever I would ask he would answer me and when I had exhausted all of my questions he would begin to speak. Thus, nothing of the Holy Quran has ever been revealed to the Messenger of Allah that he did not make me read and dictate to me. I would write it down with my own handwriting. He taught me the interpretations of that verse and its explanations, its abrogating or that which was abrogated, the clear texts and the unclear statements, the ones of particular or general nature. He would pray to Allah to give me strong memory and understanding. I never forgot any of the verses of the Book of Allah or any of the knowledge that he had dictated to me, which I wrote down from the time he prayed to Allah for me. He did not leave out anything of the lawful and unlawful, commands or prohibitions that were there or that would come into being in future or any book that was revealed to anyone before him about the matters of obedience or disobedience, that he had not completely taught me and I had not memorized them all. I have not forgotten even a single letter of them. The Holy Prophet once placed his hand on my chest and prayed to Allah to fill my heart with knowledge, proper understanding, wisdom and light. I then said, 'O Prophet of Allah, may Allah keep the soul of my mother and father in service for your cause, from the time you prayed for me I have not forgotten a single matter or missed writing down anything. Do you fear that I might forget them in future?' 'I do not fear for you any forgetfulness or ignorance,' the Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, replied.'"

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from 'Uthman ibn 'Isa from abu Ayyub al-Khazzaz from Muhammad ibn Muslim who has said the following:

"Once I said to Imam abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, saying, 'What is the matter with people! They narrate from so and so who narrate from the Messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant. They do not accuse these narrators of telling lies and so forth. From you, then, facts against it come to light.' The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'Hadith becomes abrogated just as it may happen with the Holy Quran.'"

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from ibn abu Najran from ‘Asim ibn Humayd from Mansur ibn Hazim who has said the following:

“Once, I said to (Imam) abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, ‘It confuses me when I ask you a question and you give an answer. Then another person comes, you give a different answer for the same question.’ The Imam replied, ‘We answer people in a larger and reduced form.’ I then asked, ‘Did the Sahaba (companions of the Messenger of Allah) speak the truth or lies when narrating his Hadith?’ The Imam replied, ‘They spoke the truth.’ I then said, ‘Why then do they have differences?’ The Imam then said, ‘Have you not considered the fact that a man would come to the Messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and ask him a question and he would give him an answer. Then he would give an answer that abrogated the previous answer. Thus, Ahadith abrogated other Ahadith.’”

“Once abu Ja’far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘O Ziyad, what would you say if we gave a Fatwa to one of our followers under pressure (and conceal the truth)?’ I (Ziyad) said, ‘You know better, may Allah keep my soul in your service.’ The Imam said, ‘If he would follow such Fatwa it would be better for him and of a greater reward.’ In another Hadith it says, ‘If he follows it, he will be rewarded and if he disregards it, I swear by Allah, he has sinned.’”

“Once I asked Imam abu Ja’far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, a question and he answered me. Then another man came and asked the same question but the Imam gave a different answer. Then a third man came and asked the same question and the Imam gave him an answer that was different from both of the previous answers. When the other two men left I asked the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, ‘Two of your followers from Iraq asked you the same question. How is it that you gave each one a different answer?’ The Imam replied, ‘O Zurara, it is better for us and it gives all of us more time. If you all say the same thing, people will know that you speak the truth from us and this will leave all of us with less time.’ Zurara has said, ‘I then said to Imam, abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, ‘Your followers can walk on spears and fire if you asked them but they come out of your presence with different answers and disunited for the same question. He gave me the same answer as his father had given.’”

One of them says that it is obligatory and the other says it is prohibited. How can it be resolved?” The Imam replied, “He must wait until he finds one who will inform him and until then he is not under any pressure.” In another Hadith it says, “He may follow any one of the two answers. Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Muhammad ibn al-Husayn from Muhammad ibn ‘Isa from Safwan ibn Yahya from Dawud ibn al-Husayn from ‘Umar ibn Hanzala who has said the following:

“Once I asked Imam abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about two people disputing over an issue of debts or inheritance and they go to the king or the judges to settle their dispute through his or their decision. I said, ‘Is it permissible to seek such a judgment?’ The Imam replied, ‘Going to them for a judgment in a right or wrongful matter is like seeking the judgment of the devil. Any benefit received through such judgment is like consuming filth even if it is one’s firmly established right. It is like filth because it is a benefit received through the judgment of the devil and Allah has commanded to reject the devil, ‘ . . . yet they choose to take their affairs to Satan for judgment even though they are commanded to reject him (the devil). Satan wants to lead them far away from the right path.’ (4:60)

“I said, ‘What should they do then?’ The Imam replied, ‘They must look for one among you who has narrated our Hadith and has studied what is lawful and unlawful according to our teachings and has learned our laws. They must agree to settle their dispute by his judgment; I have given him authority to settle your disputes. If he issues a judgment according to our commands but then it is not accepted, the dissenting party has ignored the commands of Allah and it is a rejection of us.

Rejecting us is rejecting Allah and that is up to the level of paganism and considering things equal to Allah.'

"I said, 'What if each one of such disputing parties chooses a man from among our people and agrees to accept their judgment but these two men come up with different judgments and they have differences in your Hadith?'

"The Imam replied, 'The judgment will be the judgment of the one who is more just, has better understanding of the law (Fiqh), who is more truthful in Hadith and is more pious of the two. The judgment of the other one will be disregarded.'

"I said, 'What if both (judges) are just and accepted among our people and none of them have been given any preference over the other?'

"The Imam replied, 'One must consider and study the Hadith that each one of them narrate from us to see which one has received the acceptance of all of your people. Such Hadith must be followed and the one, which is rarely accepted and is not popular in your people, must be disregarded; the one popularly accepted is free of doubts. The nature of cases is of three kinds: (a) a case that is well-known and true that must be followed; (b) a case that is well-known as false that must be avoided, (c) and a confusing case the knowledge of which must be left to Allah and His messenger for an answer. The messenger of Allah has said, "There are the clearly lawful and the clearly unlawful and the confusing cases. One who stays away from the confusing ones has protected himself against the unlawful ones. Those who follow the confusing matters indulging in unlawful matters will be destroyed unexpectedly."

"I said, 'What if both Hadith from you would be popular and narrated by the trustworthy people from you?'

"The Imam replied, 'One must study to find out which one agrees with the laws of the Quran and the Sunnah and does not agree with the laws of those who oppose us. Such Hadith must be accepted and the one that disagrees with the laws of the Quran and the Sunnah and coincides with the masses must be disregarded.

"I said, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, what if both Faqih, scholars of the law, would have deduced and learned their judgment from the book and the Sunnah and found that one of the Hadith agrees with the masses, and the other disagrees with the masses, which one must be followed?'

"The Imam replied, 'The one which disagrees with the masses must be followed due to its containing guidance.'

"I said, 'May Allah keep my soul in the service of your cause, what if both Hadith agree with the masses?'

"The Imam replied, 'One must study to find out which of the two, being more agreeable to their (non-Shi'a') rulers and judges so it must be disregarded and the other must be followed.'

"I said, 'What if both Hadith are agreeable to their rulers?'

"The Imam replied, 'If such is the case it must be suspended until you meet your Imam. Restraint in confusing cases is better than indulging in destruction.'"

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Khalid from ‘Isma’il ibn Mihran from abu Sa‘id al-Qammat and Salih ibn Sa‘id from Aban ibn Taghlib who has said the following:

“Once a man asked a question from Imam abu Ja’far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who replied to it, and then the man said, ‘The Fuqaha (scholars of law) do not say this.’

“The Imam then said, ‘It is a pity. Have you ever seen a Faqih (a scholar of law)? The real Faqih is one who maintains restraint from worldly matters, who is deeply interested in the life hereafter and holds firmly to the Sunnah (noble tradition of the Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant).’”

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from Ahmad ibn al-Nadr from ‘Amr ibn Shimr from Jabir from abu Ja’far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from al-Nawfali from al-Sakuni from abu ‘Abd Allah from his ancestors (‘A’immah, recipients of divine supreme covenant) who have said the following:

“Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, ‘There are two kinds of Sunnah (tradition). There is a Sunnah in obligations and following such Sunnah is guidance and its disregard is misguidance. There is a Sunnah (tradition) in non-obligatory issues. The following of this kind of Sunnah is a virtuous deed and its disregard for other matters is a sin.’”

This is the end of the Book on the virtue of knowledge. All praise belongs to Allah. May Allah send blessings upon Prophet Muhammad and his purified Family.

The Book on the Oneness of Allah

Chapter One

Contingency of the Universe and Proof of the Existence of Its Creator

H 211, Ch. 1, h1

Abu Ja'far Muhammad ibn Ya'qub has narrated from Ali ibn Ibrahim ibn Hashim from his father, from al-Hassan ibn Ibrahim from Yunus ibn 'Abd al-Rahman from Ali ibn Mansur who narrated the following:

"Hisham ibn al-Hakam has reported that in Egypt there lived an atheist who had heard a great deal about (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant. He traveled to Madina to debate the Imam but he missed finding the Imam therein. He was told that the Imam had traveled to the city of Makkah. He then left for Makkah and we were with the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, when we came across him during our performing Tawaf (the seven times walking around the Ka'ba). The man's name was 'Abd al-Malik, also called abu 'Abd Allah as his Kunya in Arabic. He touched (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah's shoulder with his shoulder as he walked along. The Imam asked him, 'What is your name?' 'It is 'Abd al-Malik (meaning slave of the King),' the man replied. 'What is your Kunya?' the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, asked. 'It is abu 'Abd Allah (meaning father of slave of Allah),' he replied. The Imam then asked, 'Who is this king whose slave you are? Is he of the earthly kings or of the heavenly ones? Tell us about your son. Is he a slave of the Lord of the Heavens or a slave of the Lord of the Earth? Say whatever you may it will be against you.'

"Hisham has said that I asked him (the atheist man), 'Why do you not answer?' The man seemed to dislike my words. The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then told him, 'Meet us when we finish our Tawaf (walking around the Ka'ba).'

"The atheist came to the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, later and sat in front of the Imam, and we were all gathered around him.

"The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then asked him, 'Do you know that the earth has an underside and an upper-side?' 'Yes, I know it,' the man replied. The Imam then asked, 'Have you gone in the underside of the earth?' 'No, I have not gone there,' the man replied. The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then asked, 'Do you know what is there?' 'I do not know but I guess there is nothing there,' he replied. The Imam then said, 'Guessing is weakness. Why do you not acquire certainty?' The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then asked, 'Have you climbed up into the sky?' 'No, I have not done so,' the man replied. The Imam then asked, 'Do you know what is up there?' 'No, I do not know,' he replied. The Imam said, 'It is very strange. Without reaching the East or West, without going under the earth or climbing up the sky and without even having crossed anything to know what is behind there, you deny what is in them. Does any man of reason deny what he does not know?'

من يعلَم و لَا حجةَ لِلْجاهِلِ يا أخا أهلِ مِصر تفْهم عني فَإنا لَا نشك فِي اللهِ أبداً أ ما ترى الشمس و الْقَمر و الليلَ و النهار يلِجان فَلَا يشتبِهان و يرجِعان قَدِ اضطُرا لَيس لَهما مكَانٌ إِلا مكَانهما فَإِنْ كَانا يقْدِران علَى أَنْ يذْهبا قَلِم يرجِعان وإِنْ كَانا غَير مضطَرين قَلِم لَا يصِيرِ الليلُ نهاراً و النهار لَيلًا اضطُرا و اللهِ يا أخا أهلِ مِصر إِلَى دوامِهما و الذِي اضطَرهما أحكَم مِنهما و أَكْبر فَقَالَ الزنديق صدقْت

قَالَ فَآمن الزنديق علَى يدي أَبِي عبدِ اللهِ ع

"The atheist man then said, 'No one has ever come up to me with such statements as you have.' The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, 'So you are uncertain about Him. Perhaps He is or maybe He does not exist.' The atheist man then said, 'Perhaps He is.' The Imam then said, 'O man, one who does not know has no authority over the one who knows. O Egyptian brethren, listen carefully. We have no doubts about the existence of Allah. Think about the sun, the moon, the day and the nights that follow each other and do not miss their turns or become confused. They each have their place and do not have any choice. If they had any other choice they would not come back again. If they had a choice the day would not always end with night and the night would not always end in the day. They are forced, I swear by Allah, to continue. O Egyptian brethren, the One who has forced them is stronger than them and greater.' The atheist man then said, 'You have spoken the truth.'

"The Imam then said, 'You people speak of and guess that it is dahr (time) that causes people to die and brings changes. If it were so, then, when it took them away why then would it not return them, and if such form of time had returned them then why would it not be taking them away? These things, O Egyptian brethren, are compelled. Why the sky is up high and why the earth is low? Why the sky does not fall down on earth? Why the earth does not flow one layer over the other and the two do not stick to each other, and why do not those on it stick to it?' The man then said, 'Allah their Lord has made them to hold together.'

"Hisham has said, 'He professed belief in Allah in the presence of (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant.'

"Humran then said to the Imam, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, if atheists profess belief in Allah before you it is because the unbelievers converted to faith because of your father.' The man who had just professed belief in Allah requested (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, to allow him to become one of his students. The Imam then asked Hisham to teach him. Hisham taught him well and he became a teacher for the people in Syria and Egypt. His purification was very good and the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, became happy with him."

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Khalid from Muhammad ibn Ali from 'Abd al-Rahman ibn Muhammad ibn abu Hashim from Ahmad ibn Muhsin al-Maythami. Al-Maythami has said the following:

"Once I was with abu Mansur al-Mutatabbib who said that one of his friends narrated the following: 'At a certain time with ibn abu al-'Awja', 'Abd Allah ibn al-Muqaffa' and I were in the holy Mosque of Makka. Ibn al-Muqaffa' said, 'Do you see these creatures? (He pointed out toward the location where people walk seven times around the Ka'ba.) Of all these no one deserves to be called a human being accept that Shaykh sitting there (meaning thereby Imam abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant,) the rest is garbled (people who have no meaningful opinion of life) and beasts.

"Upon this ibn abu al-'Awja' said, 'For what reason do you call him a human being and not the rest?'

"Ibn al-Muqaffa' then replied, 'Because I saw from him what I had not seen from the others.'

"Ibn abu al-'Awja' then said, 'We must test your claim.' Ibn al-Muqaffa' then said, 'I advise you not to do so or else you will lose whatever faith you have.'

"Ibn abu al-'Awja' then said, 'I do not think that is what you mean. I think you are afraid of failing to substantiate what you have just said about this man.'

"Ibn al-Muqaffa' then said, 'If that is what you think then go to him and protect yourself as much as you can. Be strong as much as you can so you are not embarrassed, and note all points against and in your favor.'

"Ibn abu al-'Awja' then left and ibn al-Muqaffa' and I remained there. When ibn abu al-'Awja' returned he said, 'Woe is you, O ibn al-Muqaffa'. This is not a human being even though he lives in this world. He is a spiritual being but appears in the form of a man whenever he wants the outer world and turns into a spiritual being whenever he wants the inner world. That is the way he is.'

"Ibn al-Muqaffa' then asked, 'How does that happen?' Ibn abu al-'Awja' then said, 'I sat near him and when everyone had gone he turned to me and said, 'If it is the way they (people walking around the Ka'ba) say which is true, then they are saved and you are destroyed. If it is the way you say it is, in fact, it is not so then you and they are all equal.'

"I then asked, 'May Allah be kind to you. What is it that we say and what is it that they say? We all say the same thing.' 'How can what you say be equal to what they say?' said (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, who continued, 'They say that they will have a return, a day of receiving their rewards and penalties. They believe in a religion that says, "In the heaven is the Lord and that it is habitable" while you say that it is in ruins and there is nothing in it (heaven).'

"Ibn abu al-'Awja' has said that I then found the opportunity to speak and I asked, 'What then keeps this Lord (if it is true as they say He exists) from appearing to His creatures? (He should appear) and call them to His worship so that no two people would oppose each other. Why is He hiding from them and has only sent messengers? If He had been in direct contact with them it would be more helpful to have faith in Him.'

"Woe is you. One who has already shown His power within you, in what way is He hiding from you?" He (the Imam) responded and continued, "He brought you up. You did not even exist. He made you grow when you were so small. He gave you strength and power when you were so weak and will make you weak again after being strong. He causes you to become sick after being healthy and can give you good health after suffering sickness. He can make you happy after you experience anger and make you angry after being happy. He can make you sad after your joy and give you joy after sadness. He can give love after your experiencing hatred and hatred after enjoying love. He can give you determination after your uncertainty and uncertainty after having determination. He can give you strong desires after your experiencing dislike and dislike after having strong desires. He can give you willingness after experiencing fear and concerns and fear after having strong willingness. He can give you hope after despair and despair after having a great deal of hope. He can give you good remembrance of that of which you had no idea and remove what you may have had as a belief." He (the Imam) kept reminding and counting for me the effects of His power within my soul that I could not deny. I began to have a feeling that he would win the debate openly."

"From the same source the following is narrated from a number of our people in a marfu' manner as additional statements to the above discourse of ibn abu al-'Awja' with (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant.

That ibn abu al-‘Awja’ came the next day to the meeting of the Imam and sat down quietly. The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said to him, ‘Would you like to review the issues we discussed yesterday’? Ibn abu al-‘Awja’ replied, ‘I do intend to do so, O son of the Messenger of Allah.

“The Imam then said, ‘It is strange that one who does not believe in Allah acknowledges the existence of the Messenger of Allah.’ Ibn abu al-‘Awja then said, ‘What made me say so is only a habit.’ The ‘Alim (the Imam) then asked, ‘What is it that keeps you quiet?’ He replied, ‘It is your excellence and awesome spiritual ability that holds my tongue back from speaking. I have seen many scholars and have debated many theologians but I have never experienced such an awesome feeling from them as I feel in your presence.’

“The Imam then said, ‘It may happen. I like to open this session with a question to you. Are you created or non-created?’ ‘Abd al-Karim ibn abu al-‘Awja’ answered, ‘I am non-created.’ The ‘Alim (the Imam) then asked him, ‘Describe for us how you might be if you were created.’ ‘Abd al-Karim remained quiet and confused and kept himself busy with a piece of wood, saying, ‘Long, wide, deep, short, moving and motionless. All these are the qualities of His creatures.’ The ‘Alim (Imam) then said, ‘If you do not know anything other than these as the qualities of the creation then consider yourself a creature; that is what you find within yourself that takes place and comes into existence.’ ‘Abd al-Karim then said, ‘You have asked me a question that no one before has ever asked and no one ever will ask afterwards.’ Abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, ‘It may be considered true that you may not have been asked such questions in the past but how do you know that you will not be asked anything in future? Besides, O ‘Abd al-Karim, what you said is against your notion that from eternity all things are equal (a reference to the belief in the eternity of all things). How then have you made them before and after?’

“The Imam then said, ‘O ‘Abd al-Karim let me explain. Suppose you had a bag with you full of pearls and someone asked you, ‘Is there a Dinar in your bag?’ You then denied and said, ‘No, there is no Dinar in my bag.’ The person then said, ‘All right, then describe for me the qualities of the Dinar but you had no knowledge of the qualities of the Dinar. Could you deny the existence of the Dinar that was from the bag but you did not know about it?’ He replied, ‘No, I would not deny.’ The Imam then said, ‘The world is bigger, taller and wider than a bag. Perhaps in the world there is a creature that you do not know and in whose case you may not be able to tell the qualities of the created from the non-created.’ ‘Abd al-Karim remained quiet but certain persons among his people agreed to accept Islam and a few of them remained with him.

“He came again to the meeting of the Imam on the third day and said, ‘I want to reverse the question.’ The Imam replied, ‘Ask whatever you like.’ He then asked, ‘What is the proof that bodies did not exist and then they came into existence?’ The Imam then said, ‘I have not seen anything small or large that on adding to it something of the same size would not make it bigger and would not cause a change and transformation from the first condition. If, however, it had been eternal, there would have been no changing and transformation. What may cease to exist or change may also come into existence and may get destroyed. Thus, its existence after its non-existence is entering into the state of coming into being. As being eternal this will take it into nothingness. However, the two qualities of being eternal and nothingness and the qualities of a contingent and something without a beginning do not come together in one thing.'

"'Abd al-Karim then said, 'Suppose I noticed that with a view to the two conditions you mentioned you considered it a proof of their contingency (being created). If, however, things remained small, despite the addition, then how can you prove their contingency?'

"The 'Alim then said, 'We speak of this universe that is already there. Were we to take it away and place another universe in its place nothingness would have certainly, a stronger proof of its contingency than its removal and its replacing with a different one. I, however, will answer you according to your assumption. Even if things remained small, it would certainly come into one's thinking that whenever something like it added to another thing it then would be bigger. The fact that it can change is proof of its becoming temporal and in its changing condition is proof of its contingency. There is nothing beyond it for you, O 'Abd al-Karim.' 'Abd al-Karim had nothing else to say.'

"Next year he met the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, in Makka again and people from among his followers said that 'Abd al-Karim has become a Muslim. The Imam told him that 'Abd al-Karim was blind in this matter and would not become a Muslim. He ('Abd al-Karim) saw the 'Alim and said, 'There you are, my master, my chief.' The 'Alim then asked him, 'What brings you here?' He then replied, 'It is the habits of the body and the traditions of the town. We like to see what craziness makes them shave and throw pebbles.' The 'Alim said, 'It seems that you still live in your arrogance and misguidance, O 'Abd al-Karim.' He began to speak but the Imam said, 'Disputation during Hajj is not permissible,' the Imam freed his gown from the hand of the heretic man and said, 'If it is the way you say, which in fact is not true, then we as well as you are all saved. However, if it is the way we say, which in fact, is true, we are saved but you are destroyed.' 'Abd al-Karim then turned to his people saying, 'I feel pain in my heart. Take me back.' They took him away and he died."

Muhammad ibn Ja'far al-Asadi has narrated from Muhammad ibn Isma'il al-Barmaki al-Razi from al-Husayn ibn al-Hassan ibn Bard al-Daynuri from Muhammad ibn Ali from Muhammad ibn 'Abd Allah al-Khurasani the employee of (Imam) al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said the following:

"Once an atheist man came to Imam abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, while a group of people were in his presence. The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said to him, 'Consider, if what you say is true, in fact is not true, in such case, we all will be equal. However, our fasting, prayers, giving charity and belief will not harm us.' The man remained quiet. The Imam then said, 'If what we say is true, in fact is true, then you will be the one facing your destruction and we will be saved.' The man then said, 'Please help me learn where is He and how is He?' The Imam then said, 'What is the matter with you? What you say is not right. He is the 'Where' of 'Where' but without 'Where'. He is the 'How' of 'How' without 'How'. He cannot be defined with 'How' and 'Where' and cannot be comprehended with the senses or compared with anything.

"The man said, 'He then is nothing; none of the senses comprehends Him.' 'Abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'That is not reasonable. Weakness of your senses and their inability to comprehend Him is not proof that He does not exist and that He is not the Lord. On the other hand, when we realize the weakness of our senses and their inability to comprehend Him it gives us certainty that He is our Lord and He is different from all things.'

"The man then said, 'Tell me then when was He?' The Imam replied, 'You tell me when He was not there so that I will tell when He was there?' The man then asked, 'What is the proof for His existence?' The Imam said, 'When I look at my body I find that I cannot do any addition or alteration to it such as width and breadth or remove its sufferings and attract all its interests. I then come to understand that for this establishment there must be a founder and then I acknowledge His existence. Besides, I see all the orbiting planets and stars, the movements of the clouds and driving of the winds, the paths of the sun, the moon, the stars and other things like these marvelous clear signs I come to believe that there is One who has designed and created all such wonderful things.'"

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from Muhammad ibn Ishaq al-Khaffaf or from his father from Muhammad ibn Ishaq who said the following:

"Once 'Abd Allah al-Daysani asked Hisham ibn al-Hakam, 'Do you have a creator?' He replied, 'Yes, I have a creator.' He then asked, 'Is He powerful?' Hisham then replied, 'Yes, He is powerful and the most powerful One.' The man then asked, 'Can He fit the whole world inside an egg without any change in the size of either one?' Hisham then said, 'Give me time.' The man said, 'I give you one whole year' and he left.

"Hisham then went to see (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, for an answer. After asking permission that he was granted Hisham explained, 'Al-Daysani asked me a question today and I see no one except Allah and you to answer it.' The Imam then asked, 'What is the question?' Hisham restated the question that al-Daysani had asked. The Imam then said, 'O Hisham, how many are your senses?' He replied, 'They are five.' The Imam then asked, 'Which one is the smallest?' He replied, 'The seeing sense.' The Imam then asked, 'How big is its size?' He replied, 'It is about the size of the pupil or smaller.' The Imam then said, 'O Hisham, look in front of you and above you and then tell me what you have seen.' Hisham then replied, 'I can see the sky, the earth, the houses, the buildings, the land, the mountains and the water canals.' The Imam then said, 'The One who has been able to fit all that you can see in a pupil or even a smaller thing is also able to fit the whole world inside an egg without any change in the size of either one of them.' Hisham bowed down and kissed the feet, the hands and the head of the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, saying, 'This is enough for me O descendant of the holy Prophet,' and then left for his home. The next day al-Daysani met him and said, 'I have come just to say greetings to you and not for an answer to my question' Hisham then said, 'Even if you have come for an answer it is ready.' Al-Daysani then left to meet (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and after asking permission for a meeting which was granted he sat down and said, 'O Ja'far ibn Muhammad, guide me to my Lord." The Imam then asked, 'What is your name?' He then left without answering the Imam and his people asked him, 'Why did you not answer the Imam?' He replied, 'Were I to tell him that it is 'Abd Allah he would then ask, "Who is this Lord whose slave you are?"' They then said, 'Return to him and ask him to guide you to your Lord without asking your name.' He then returned back to the Imam and asked, 'O Ja'far ibn Muhammad, guide me to my Lord but do not ask my name.' The Imam asked him to sit down. A young boy, son of the Imam was there playing with an egg in his hand and the Imam said, ‘Fetch me the egg, O young man.’ The boy gave the egg to the Imam. The Imam said, ‘O Daysani, this is a secure castle. It has a thicker outer shell and inside of it there is a much finer shell inside of which there is liquid gold and flowing silver. The liquid gold does not mix with the flowing silver nor does the flowing silver mix the liquid gold. Such is its condition no expert comes out from there to find out what is beneficial to it to report back all about it, nor does any corrupting agent enter therein so that its problems would be reported. No one knows if it is created for a male or a female. It will burst out with colors of a peacock. Do you think there is someone who has designed and managed it?’

“Al-Daysani thought for a while quietly and said, ‘I testify that no one deserves to be obeyed except Allah who is the only Lord and has no partner. I testify that Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, is His servant and messenger and that you are the Imam and an authority from Allah over His creatures and I repent and regret because of previous beliefs.’”

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from ‘Abbass ibn ‘Amr al-Faqimi from Hisham ibn al-Hakam in the narration about the atheist who came to (Imam) abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and the Imam had explained to him the following:

“You assume that there are two eternal and powerful powers (who control the universe) or that both are weak or only one of them is weak and the other is powerful. If they both are powerful why then does neither one ever make an effort to remove the other one to have full control of the universe? If you assume that one is powerful and the other is weak then it is proof that there is only one, as we believe; the weakness of the other is so apparent. Besides, if you say that they are two then they either agree with each other in all matters or disagree in the same way. Since we see the creation works in an organized manner, the orbiting objects continue to do so, the organization is one, the day, the night, the sun and the moon all show that the organization is valid and correct. The harmony in the matter shows that the organizer is one. If your claim of two causes you to believe that there must be a gap (void) in between to show two things, in that case the gap will become a third one and eternal. Thus, it will involve you in three and this will involve to say what you said about the two where you needed to have a gap and in this case it will become five and so on indefinite in number and multiplicity.

“Hisham has said that of the questions of the atheist from (Imam) abu ‘Abd Allah one was ‘what is the evidence of His existence’? The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, answered, “The existence of the effects (activities) shows that someone has produced those effects and activities. Consider, when you see a well-constructed building you learn that there is someone who has built it even if you have not seen the builder with your own eyes.” The atheist then asked, ‘What is it then?’ The Imam replied, “He is something but different from all things. I repeat my statement that speaks about Him as a thing. He is a thing in the sense of the reality of things except that He does not have a body and form. He does not have a feeling (like our sense of feeling) or touching and He does not comprehend with the five senses (as we do). Imaginations cannot comprehend Him and Dahr (times) do not reduce or change Him.’”

Muhammad ibn Ya‘qub has said that a number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad al-Barqi from his father, from Ali ibn al-Nu‘man, from ibn Muskan, from Dawud ibn Farqad from abu Sa‘id al-Zuhri from Imam abu Ja’far , recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said the following:

“For the people of understanding as proof of the existence of Allah it is enough that He has created all things and has kept them under His full control. It is enough proof that He is the most powerful King. It is enough proof that His Majesty is manifest everywhere. His light is brightest; His testimony is the most truthful. There is enough proof of His existence in what the people speak and what the messengers have brought and what He has revealed to people as proof of His own existence.”

Chapter Two
Can Allah Be Considered a Thing?

بَابُ إِطْلَاقِ الْقَوْلِ بِأَنَّهُ شَيْءٌ

H 217, Ch. 2, h1
Muhammad ibn Ya‘qub has narrated from Ali ibn Ibrahim, from Muhammad ibn ‘Isa from ‘Abd al-Rahman ibn abu Najran who said the following:

“Once I asked (Imam) abu ‘Abd Allah about the Oneness of Allah, ‘Can I think of Him (the creator) as a thing?’ The Imam replied, ‘Yes, but not as a thing that can be well understood and clearly defined within limits. What may become a subject of your thoughts is different from Him. Nothing resembles Him and the thoughts and imaginations cannot reach Him. How could the imaginations reach Him when He is different from what can become the subject of thoughts and is different from whatever can be perceived in one’s thoughts? You can think of Him as a thing that cannot be well understood and clearly defined (under certain limits).’”

Muhammad ibn ‘Abd Allah has narrated from Muhammad ibn Isma‘il from al-Husayn ibn al-Hassan from Bakr ibn Salih from al-Husayn ibn Sa‘id who said that I asked Imam abu Ja’far, the second, recipient of divine supreme covenant, the following.

“Is it permissible to say that Allah is a thing?” The Imam replied, “Yes, because it removes two kinds of limitations, the limitation of being forgotten altogether and that of considering Him like other things.”

٢- محمد بن أَبِي عبدِ اللهِ عن محمدِ بنِ إِسماعِيلَ عنِ الْحسينِ بنِ الْحسنِ عن بكْرِ بنِ صالِحٍ عنِ الْحسينِ بنِ سعِيدٍ قَالَ سئِلَ أَبو جعفَرٍ الثانِي ع يجوز أَنْ يقَالَ لِلهِ إِنه شيءٌ قَالَ نعم يخرِجه مِن الْحدينِ حد التعطِيلِ و حد التشبِيهِ

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from Muhammad ibn ‘Isa from Yunus from abu al-Maghra in a marfu‘ manner from (Imam) abu Ja’far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said the following:

“Allah is distinct from His creatures and His creatures are different from Him and whatever is called a thing is a creature except Allah.”

٣- عَلِي بن إِبراهِيم عن محمدِ بنِ عِيسى عن يونس عن أَبِي الْمغراءِ رفَعه عن أَبِي جعفَرٍ ع قَالَ قَالَ إِن الله خِلْوٌ مِن خلْقِهِ و خلْقَه خِلْوٌ مِنه و كُل ما وقَع علَيهِ اسم شيءٍ فَهو مخلُوقٌ ما خلَا الله

H 220, Ch. 2, h4
A number of our people have narrated Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Khalid al-Barqi from his father from al-Nadr ibn Suwayd from Yahya al-Halabi from ibn Muskan from Zurara ibn ‘Ayan who has said he heard abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say the following.

“Allah is distinct from His creatures and the creatures are different from Him. Whatever could be called a thing is a creature except Allah who is the creator of all things. Holy is He for Whom there is no similarity and He is All-hearing and All-aware.”

H 221, Ch. 2, h5
Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from ibn abu ‘Umayr from Ali ibn ‘Atiyya from Khaythama from abu Ja’far , recipient of divine supreme covenant,

٥- عَلِي بن إِبراهِيم عن أَبِيهِ عن ابنِ أَبِي عمِيرٍ عن عَلِي بنِ عطِيةَ عن خيثَمةَ عن أَبِي جعفَرٍ ع who said the following:

"Allah is distinct from His creatures and the creatures are different from Him and whatever could be called a thing is a creature except Allah who is the creator of all things."

H 222, Ch. 2, h6

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from al-'Abbass ibn 'Amr al-Fuqaymi from Hisham ibn al-Hakam from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

Abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said this to an atheist in answer to a question. 'He (Allah) is a thing but different from all other things. I repeat my statement that speaks about Him as a thing. He is a thing in the sense of the reality of things except that He does not have a body and form. He cannot be felt, touched or comprehended with the five senses. Imagination cannot comprehend Him, Dahr (times) do not reduce Him and passing of time does not change Him.'

"The man asking questions then said, 'Do you say that He hears and sees?' The Imam said, 'He does hear and see: He hears without a hearing organ and sees without a means. He Himself hears and He Himself sees. My saying, 'He hears without a hearing organ and sees without a means, He Himself hears and He Himself sees,' does not mean that He is a thing and His-Self is another thing but only that I meant to express my self thereby as I was questioned and explained to you as you had asked a question. Thus, I say that He hears with the whole of His-Self but not in the sense that His whole self has parts. I intended only to explain it to you and to express myself. All I mean thereby is that He does hear, see and He is All-knowing and is the expert in knowing without any multiplicity in His Self or meaning.'

"The man asking questions then said, 'What then is He?' The Imam said, 'He is the Lord. He is the One who is worshipped and He is Allah. When I say Allah, it does not mean establishing the proof for these letters (of alphabet) like Alif, Lam, Ha', al-Ra' or al-Ba' but I intend thereby the meaning of a thing and a thing that is the Creator of all things and the Designer of all things. These letters refer only to the meaning that is called Allah, al-Rahman (the Beneficent), al-Rahim (the Merciful), al-'Aziz (the Majestic) and so forth, and so are other such names. He is the One who is worshipped, the Majestic, the Glorious One.'

"The man asking questions then said, 'Whatever we can think of is but a creature.' The Imam then said, 'Had it been as you said we would not have had any responsibility to believe in the Oneness of the Creator; we would not have any responsibility toward something of whose existence we cannot even think. In fact, whatever is thought of and our senses comprehend with clear limits and similarities such thing is a creature. However, complete negation is total nullification and nothingness.

'The second invalid aspect (in the matter) is similarity and analogy. If similarity is a kind of attribute of the creatures that undergoes manifest composition and assemblage, it necessitates proving the existence of the Creator. This is because the existence of the creatures and their evident dependency on Him as His creatures cannot happen without their Creator. The Creator is something other than them and He is not similar to them. Had he been something similar to them, resembled them in manifest composition and assemblage, He would then be just one of the creatures. So also is the case with other conditions of the creatures such as coming into existence from nothing and the changing from a smaller size to a full grown size, from blackness to whiteness from strength to weakness and so forth, or such other existing conditions that do not need explanations.'

"The man asking questions then said, 'You have already defined and limited Him in your proving His existence.' The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, 'I did not limit Him. I only presented proofs of His existence; between proving and disproving no third alternative exists.'

"The man asking questions then said, 'Can His existence be proved through reasoning from the effect to the cause or the cause to the effect?'

"The Imam said, 'Yes, there is nothing whose existence can be proved without adopting either of the two above processes of reasoning.'

"The man then asked, 'Does the question how apply to Him?' The Imam said, 'No, this question does not apply to Him; it is the aspect of qualities and limitations. However, it is necessary to avoid abandoning or nullifying His existence (in one's belief) and analogizing Him. Negating Him is denying His existence, refusing to accept Him as the Lord and abandoning Him (in one's belief) altogether. Whoever analogizes Him with other things from His creatures has proved that qualities of creatures exist in Him. Creatures do not deserve to be called the Lord. It is necessary to believe, however, that the question how applies to Him only in a way that does not apply to things other than Him and things other than Him do not deserve and share Him in it. The question how cannot apply to Him if it limits Him or makes Him a subject of knowing for others.'

"The man then asked, 'Do things make Him tired?' The Imam then said, 'He is by far Exalted and above experiencing such conditions. Such conditions are due to coming into physical association or dealing with the creatures. They are qualities of creatures that can only associate with others through physical contact. But He is the Most High and His will and demand are effective and He does whatever He wants.'"

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Khalid from Muhammad ibn 'Isa from one he mentioned and who said the following:

"Imam abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was asked, 'Is it permissible to say Allah is a thing?' The Imam said, 'Yes, it is permissible; it excludes Him from being ignored (in one's belief) altogether and from being analogized or considered similar to the creatures.'"

Chapter Three

(The Issue) That Only He Is Proof of His Own Existence

بَابُ أنهُ لا يُعْرَفُ إلا بِهِ

H 224, Ch. 3, h1

Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from the people he mentioned from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Isa from Muhammad ibn Humran from al- Fadl ibn al-Sakan from (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has narrated the following:

"Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, 'Recognize Allah by Allah's Own Self, recognize the Messenger through the message and the people with Divine Authority through their commanding others to do what is obligatory, prohibiting evil, the practicing of justice and kindness.'"

The following is a comment by al-Kulayni on the above Hadith: 'Recognize Allah by His Own Self,' means that Allah has created the individuals, the lights, the substance and the objects. The objects are the bodies, the substance stands for the spirits and He is not similar to the bodies or spirit in any of the creatures. No one has any part or effect in the creation of the spirits that comprehend and feel. He is the only One who has created the spirits and the bodies. When one considers Him dissimilar to both kinds of creatures, spiritual and non-spiritual, then one has recognized Allah by Allah's Own Self. If one considers Him similar to the spirits, lights or bodies he has not recognized Him by His Own Self.

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Khalid from some of our people from Ali ibn Ali ibn 'Uqba ibn Qays ibn Sam'an ibn abu Rabi'a Mawla of the Messenger of Allah who said the following:

"A certain person asked Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'By what means do you recognize your Lord and acknowledge His existence'? The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, replied, "I recognize my Lord by those (of His attributes) which have made me to recognize His Own Self and acknowledge His existence.' He was asked, 'How has that happened?' The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then replied, 'He is not similar to any form and is not felt and comprehended through any of the senses and cannot be analogized with the people. He is near in that He is far and He is far in that He is near. He is above everything but one cannot say that certain things are above Him. He is before everything but one cannot say that something is before Him. He is inside all things but not the way things are inside other things. He is outside everything but not the way things are outside other things. Glory belongs to the One who is as such and nothing else other than Him is as such and for everything there is a beginner.'"

محمد بن إِسماعِيلَ عنِ الْفَضل بنِ شاذَانَ عن صفْوانَ بنِ يحيى عن منصورِ بنِ حازِمٍ قَالَ قُلْت لِأَبِي عبدِ اللهِ ع إِني ناظَرت قَوماً فَقُلْت لَهم إِن الله جل جلَالُه أَجل و أَعز و أَكْرم مِن أَنْ يعرف بِخلْقِهِ بل الْعِباد يعرِفُونَ بِاللهِ فَقَالَ رحِمك الله

Muhammad ibn Isma'il has narrated the following from al-Fadl ibn Shadhan from Safwan ibn Yahya from Mansur ibn Hazim who said the following:

"Once I spoke to (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, saying, 'I debated certain people and said to them, 'Allah, Glory be to Him, is Glorious, Majestic and Honorable. It is not possible to define Him by means of His creatures. In fact, the existence of the creatures is proved through the existence of Allah.' The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'May Allah bestow upon you blessings.'"

H 226, Ch. 4, h1
Muhammad ibn al- Hassan has narrated from 'Abd Allah ibn al-Hassan al-'Alawi and Ali ibn Ibrahim from al-Mukhtar ibn Muhammad ibn al-Mukhtar al-Hamdani all from al- Fath ibn Yazid who said the following:

"Once, I asked (Imam) abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'What is the minimum required degree of acknowledgement of the existence of Allah?' The Imam said, 'To acknowledge that there is no other lord besides Him and that nothing is similar to Him or resembles Him and that He is eternal, positively existing and not absent and that nothing is like Him.'"

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad, from Tahir ibn Hatam when he was normal and wrote to the man (meaning thereby Imam abu al-Hassan al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, the following:

"What is it that without which one's acknowledgement of the existence of Allah cannot be considered sufficient?" In answer the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, replied, 'That He is All-knowing, All-hearing All-aware and that He acts as He wills.' (Imam) abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was asked about the minimum required degree of acknowledgement of the existence of Allah without which an acknowledgement would not be considered sufficient. The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'A degree of knowledge of Him must have these facts: There is nothing similar to Him or resembling Him. He is All-knowing, All-hearing and All-aware.'"

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Muhammad ibn al-Hassan from al-Hassan ibn Ali ibn Yusuf ibn Baqqah from Sayf ibn 'Umayra from Ibrahim ibn 'Umar who said the following:

"Imam abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, 'The issue about Allah is totally extraordinary. Notice that He has presented to you His arguments in proof of His existence by means of only those facts which He has made known to you.'"

Chapter Five

The One Who Is Worshipped

بَابُ الْمَعْبُودِ

H 229, Ch. 5, h1

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from Muhammad ibn 'Isa ibn 'Ubayd from Hassan ibn Mahbub from ibn Ri'ab from more than one person from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said the following:

"Whoever worships Allah on the basis of Wahm, (a degree of acknowledgement that in terms of knowledge about His existence is valued less than fifty percent), has certainly denied His existence. Whoever worships the names without their meaning certainly has denied His existence also. Whoever worships both the names and the meanings he certainly has become a polytheist. There are those who worship the meaning, with an understanding that names only point to the attributes that He Himself has said are His. They firmly tie this up to their hearts and make their tongues speak it up in private and in public. These are certainly of the friends of 'Amirul al-Mu'minin Ali ibn abu Talib, recipient of divine supreme covenant."

According to another Hadith, "They, certainly, are true believers."

H 230, Ch. 5, h2

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from al-Nadr ibn Suwayd from Hisham ibn al-Hakam who has said the following:

"Once I asked Imam abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the names of Allah and about the root or derivative forms of those names, 'What is the root word for the word Allah?' The Imam replied, 'The word Allah is derived from the word 'aliha and 'Ilah (Lord), which requires Ma'luh (servant). Note that names are something other than that to which they apply. O Hisham, whoever worships the name without the fact for which the name stands he has denied the existence of Allah and has not worshipped anything. Whoever worships the name and the meaning for which the name stands he has worshipped two things. Whoever worships the meaning without the name he is a monotheist. Did you understand it, O Hisham?' Hisham then asked, 'Please explain further.' The Imam then said, ‘Allah has ninety-nine names. If names were the same thing for which they stand every one of them would be a Lord. However, Allah is a meaning for which these names stand and they all are something other than Him. O Hisham, bread is the name for a certain kind of food, water is the name for a certain kind of drink, cloth is the name for a certain kind of garment and fire is the name for a thing that burns. Did you understand, O Hisham, in a manner of understanding that would help you to defend our cause against our enemies and those who worship things other than Allah?’ I said, ‘Yes, I have gained such understanding.’ The Imam then said, ‘May Allah grant you success in it and keep you steadfast (in your belief).’

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from ‘Abbass al-Ma‘ruf from ‘Abd al-Rahman ibn abu Najran who has said the following:

“Once I wrote or said to (Imam) abu Ja’far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, ‘May Allah keep my soul in your service. We worship the Beneficent, the Merciful, the One Who is One only and Self-sufficient.’ The Imam then said, ‘Whoever worships the names without the meaning for which they (names) stand becomes a polytheist and denies the existence of Allah and has worshipped nothing. You must worship Allah Who is the One and only One, the Self-sufficient, Who is the meaning for these names but not these names. The names are attributes that He has said are of His attributes.’”

“Once Nafi' ibn al-Azraq (ibn Qays al-Hanafi, abu Rashid (d.65/685), the head of al-Azariqa, one of the great sects of the Kharijites) asked Imam abu Ja’far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, ‘Please tell me when did Allah come into existence?’ The Imam replied, ‘(Tell me) when did Allah not exist, so that I can tell you when He came into existence. A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Khalid from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Abu Nasr who said the following:

“Once a man from Ma Wara’-e Nahr of Balkh (Transoxania) came to abu al-Hassan al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and said, ‘I have a question for you. If your answer is the same as I already know, I will accept you as my Imam (Leader with Divine Authority).’ Imam abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, replied, ‘Ask whatever you wish.’ The man said, ‘Tell me when did your Lord come into existence, how has He been and on what did He depend?’

“Imam Abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, replied, ‘Allah, the Blessed, the Almighty, is the space maker for space, Who Himself is not subject to the effects of any space. He is the maker of How and Himself is not subject to How. He is Self-sufficient with His own power.' The man stood up and kissed the head of the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant. He then said, 'I testify that no one other than Allah deserves to be obeyed and Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, is the Messenger of Allah. That Imam Ali, ibn abu Talib, recipient of divine supreme covenant, is the successor of the Messenger of Allah and the guardian and protector of what the Messenger of Allah has brought from Allah. Muhammad ibn Yahya from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Isa from al-Husayn ibn Sa'id from al-Qasim-ibn Muhammad from Ali ibn Abu Hamza from abu Basir who said the following:

"Once, a man came to (Imam) abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, saying, 'Tell me about your Lord. When did He come into existence?' The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, replied, 'Woe upon you! Such a question is asked only about a thing that did not exist. My Lord, all Glory belongs to Him, exists and will exist eternally. He lives and no How question applies to Him. He did not have any coming into existence and nor was there any being for His coming into being. This does not apply to Him; He is not subject to the effects of space. He was not in anything or on anything nor did He invent any space for His own space. He did not become stronger after making all things nor was He weak before giving being to the beings. He was not lonely before His inventing all things. He is not similar to anything that could be called a thing. He was also not without a Kingdom before the creation nor will He be without it after all things. He lives eternally without life and was the powerful King before His invention of the things and He is an all-powerful King after the creation of all things. To His existence no How or Where question is applicable. There is no limit for Him nor is He definable by analogy. He does not become old due to eternal living. He does not become alarmed because of anything but that all things are fearful of His (disappointment). He lived without newly emerging life. He is not a describable being or that can be limited with conditions or may have a space to depend on. He does not have a place so that He can be considered as neighboring something. He is living and one can know Him. He is the eternal King. He has the power and the kingdom. He has created all that He wanted and when He decided by His will. He cannot be limited. He cannot be divided or destroyed. He was before everything but no How question would apply to Him. He will be the last but no Where will apply to Him. All things will be destroyed except He. The creation belongs to Him and His is the command. He is the Holy Lord of the worlds.

'O inquirer, imaginations cannot encompass my Lord and He does not face any confusions or bewilderment. Nothing is able to reach Him and nothing happens to Him. He cannot be held responsible for anything and He does not become regretful. Neither slumber nor sleep overcomes Him. To Him belong all that is in the heavens and all that is in the earth and all that is between them and under the soil.'"

Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, replied, 'Bereft of you be your mother! When has Allah not been (in existence), so that it could be said when did He come into existence? My Lord existed before every before without before. He is after every after, without any after. There is no final destination or end for Him. All ends fall short before Him. He is the final destination of all goals.' He asked further, 'O Amir al-Mu'minin, are you a prophet?' Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, replied, 'Stop there. I am one of the slaves of Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, the Messenger of Allah.'

"It has also been narrated that someone asked Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, this. 'Where was our Lord before the creation of the heavens and the earth?' The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'Ask whatever you like.' He then asked, 'O Amir al-Mu'minin, when did our Lord come into existence?' Imam Ali replied, 'O Jewish man, the question When applies to one who did not exist and (then) came into being. Allah has existed without coming into being, and without being in any becoming. Certainly, O Jewish man, most certainly, O Jewish man, how can there be any before for Him Who was before the before. He does not have any destination. He is not the end of any destination and no destination ends up to Him. All destinations fall short before Him and He is the goal of all

The Relationships (Nisbah) of Allah

بَابُ النِّسْبَةِ

H 240, Ch. 7, h1

Ahmad ibn Idris has narrated from Muhammad ibn 'Abd al-Jabbar from Safwan ibn Yahya from abu Ayyub from Muhammad ibn Muslim from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said the following:

"The Jews asked the Messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'Describe for us the relationship of your Lord.' The Prophet waited for three days and gave no reply. Then the following verses were revealed to him: In the Name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful: (Muhammad), say, 'He is Allah Who is One (112:1). Allah is Absolute (112:2). He neither begets nor was He begotten. (112:3) There is no one equal to and like Him.' (112:4)."

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from al-Husayn ibn Sa'id from al-Nadr ibn Suwayd from 'Asim ibn Humayd who said the following:

"Once I asked Imam Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the Oneness of Allah. The Imam replied, 'Allah the Almighty, the Great, the Exalted knew that eventually there will be people who would investigate the issues very deeply in a hairsplitting manner. Therefore, Allah, the Glorious, has revealed Chapter 112 of the Holy Quran that speaks of the Oneness of Allah. He has also revealed the verses of the Chapter 57 of the Holy Quran:

"In the Name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful: All that is in the heavens and the earth speaks of the glory of Allah. He is Majestic and All-wise (57:1). To Him belongs the Kingdom of the heavens and the earth. He gives life and causes things to die. He has power over all things (57:2). He is the First, the Last, the Manifest and the Unseen and He knows all things. (57:3)

"It is He Who created the heavens and the earth in six days and then established His dominion over the Throne. He knows whatever enters into the earth, what comes out of it, what descends from the sky, and what ascends to it. He is with you wherever you may be and He is Well-aware of what you do. (57:4)

"To Him belong the heavens and the earth and to Him all things return (57:5). He causes night to enter into day and day into night. He knows best what all hearts contain." (57:6) 'Whoever would accept anything otherwise is destroyed.'"

Muhammad ibn abu 'Abd Allah in a marfu' manner has narrated from 'Abd al-'Aziz ibn al-Muhtadi who said the following:

"Once I asked Imam Ali al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the Oneness of Allah. He replied, 'One's acknowledgement of the Oneness of Allah is considered true and meaningful if he, with belief, recites the following:

"In the Name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful: (Muhammad), say, 'He is Allah the only One. (112:1) Allah is Absolute. (112:2) He neither begets nor was He begotten. (112:3) There is no one equal to Him.' (112:4)

"I asked, 'How should I recite it (the Chapter 112)?' The Imam replied, 'Recite it as the people do.' Then the Imam said, 'After reciting the chapter say "Such is Allah, my Lord. Such is Allah, my Lord."'"

"Speak about the creation of Allah and do not speak about Allah His Self. Speaking about Allah's Self does not add anything to one's knowledge but more confusion."

"O Ziyad, beware of debates; they create doubts, invalidate one's good deeds and turn one into a complete wreck. One may say a thing and perhaps, he will not be forgiven. In the past there lived a people who ignored acquiring the necessary knowledge. Instead they sought a knowledge that was not required of them. They came to speak of Allah's Self and they became confused. Their extreme perplexity was such that if called from the front they would reply to the back and to the front if called from the back.

"In another Hadith it reads, 'They (confused people mentioned above) totally vanished in the land, the earth (due to confusion).'"

"Once a Jewish man named Sabhut came to the Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and said, 'O Messenger of Allah, I have come to ask about your Lord. If you will answer my question it will be fine, otherwise, I will go back.' The Prophet replied, 'Ask whatever you like.' He asked, 'Where is your Lord?' The Prophet replied, 'He is everywhere, but He is not confined in any limited space.' He asked, 'How is He?' The Prophet replied, 'How can I describe my Lord by means of conditions that are created. Allah cannot be described by His creation.' The Jewish man asked further, 'What is the proof that you are the Messenger of Allah?' The Imam said, 'At this point nothing remained around him (the Jewish man), the stones and all other things, but that they spoke in clear Arabic language, 'O Sabhut he (Muhammad) is the Messenger of Allah.' The Invalidity of the Belief in the Possibility of Seeing Allah With One's Eyes (Ru'ya of Allah)

Muhammad ibn abu 'Abd Allah has narrated from Ali ibn abu al-Qasim from Ya'qub ibn Ishaq who wrote to Imam abu Muhammad al-'Askari asking the following:

"I asked the Imam, 'How can a worshipper worship his Lord, Whom he does not see?' The Imam wrote in reply, 'O abu Yusuf, my Lord, my Master and my Benefactor and the Benefactor of my ancestors, is by far exalted and is above being seen.' I (Ya'qub ibn Ishaq) asked him, 'Had the Messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, seen his Lord?' Ahmad ibn Idris has narrated from Muhammad ibn 'Abd al-Jabbar from Safwan ibn Yahya who said the following:

"Abu Qurrah (Musa ibn Tariq al-Yamani al-Zabudi (died 203A.H./818A.D.), a narrator of Hadith, asked me to take him to abu al-Hassan al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant. I sought permission from the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and an audience was granted. He asked the Imam about what is lawful and unlawful and the rules in Islamic laws. His questions came to Oneness of Allah. Abu Qurrah said, 'We (the narrators of Hadith) narrate that Allah the Almighty has divided His being seen, al-Ru'ya, and His speech, al-Kalam, between the two prophets. He gave Musa (Moses) the opportunity to hear His speech. He granted to Prophet Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, the opportunity to see Him.'

"Imam abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'If it is as you say then who was it that conveyed the message from Allah to the two heavy communities, namely, mankind and the Jinn in the following words of the Holy Quran: ". . . the eyes cannot comprehend Him", (6:103) "They cannot limit Him through their knowledge," (20:110) and "There is nothing similar to Him." (42:11) 'Was it not Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who conveyed the above verses,' asked the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant?'

"Abu Qurrah then replied, 'Yes, He was Prophet Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant.' The Imam said, 'How can a person; who brought such messages to all creatures and told them that he has brought such messages from Allah and called them to Allah by His commands and said, "The eyes cannot comprehend Him," (6:103) "They cannot limit Him through their knowledge" (20:110) and "There is nothing similar to Him;" (42:11) say, "I saw Him with my own eyes? I did limit Him in my knowledge and that He is similar to a man." Should you not be ashamed of yourselves? Even the atheist has not said that the Prophet first brought one thing from Allah and then announced from Him other things contrary to the first.'

"Abu Qurrah then said, 'Does Allah Himself not say, "Indeed he (the Prophet) saw him in another descent?"' (53: 13) Imam abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'The other verses point out what the Prophet actually saw. Allah has said, "His heart did not lie about what he saw," (53: 11) It means that the heart of Muhammad did not belie what his eyes saw. Therefore, Allah in the subsequent verse has said, "Indeed he

Ahmad ibn Idris has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Isa from Ali ibn Sayf from Muhammad ibn 'Ubayd who said the following:

"Once I wrote to abu al-Hassan al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and asked him about the belief in witnessing Allah's Self. Is it possible to see Allah's Self with one's own eyes as is traditionally narrated in the affirmative by the Sunni Muslims (al-'Ammah) while the Shi'a Muslims (al-khassah) believe in the contrary? I requested him to explain the matter. The Imam answered in his own handwriting. 'All agree and there is no dissension among the people that knowledge of things through witnessing process is knowledge of the degree of certainty without doubt. It is of the best form of knowledge (in the logical sense). If it is true that seeing Allah's Self with the eyes is possible then it becomes a necessity to acknowledge that Allah becomes entirely known (and defined through the witnessing process). Now, can such knowledge of Allah's Self that comes through witnessing, be considered belief ('Iman) or not? If the knowledge of Him as such, i.e. knowledge through witnessing process (which according to Sunni Muslims will happen on the Day of resurrection only) be considered belief, then belief in Allah in this world, which comes through sources other than witnessing process, (such as through evidence from the Holy Quran, Hadith and logical reasoning), is not belief. It is contrary to knowledge through witnessing process. (Belief on the basis of reasoning proves that witnessing Allah is not possible, and contrary things cannot exist at the same time). Thus, there would be no one who would have belief in Allah in this world; no one sees Him in this world, Majestic is Whose name.

'If such knowledge and understanding which come from witnessing process were not considered belief then would belief, formed and acquired from sources other than knowledge through witnessing process, or would it not continue to exist (in the next world)? In fact, it would not go away in the next life and would continue to exist on the Day of Resurrection also.

'This is proof that Allah, the Majestic, the Glorious, cannot be seen; it will lead to (the kind of confusion) that we just mentioned.'"

٤- و عنه عن أحمد بن إسحاق قَالَ كَتبت إِلَى أَبِي الْحسنِ الثالِثِ ع أسأَله عنِ الرؤيةِ و ما اختلَف فِيهِ الناس فَكَتب لَا تجوز الرؤيةُ ما لَم يكُن بين الرائِي و الْمرئِي هواءٌ لَم ينفُذْه الْبصر فَإِذَا انقَطَع الْهواءُ عنِ الرائِي و الْمرئِي لَم تصِح الرؤيةُ و كَانَ فِي ذَلِك

It is narrated from the same narrator (Ahmad ibn Idris) from Ahmad ibn Ishaq who said the following:

"I wrote to (Imam) abu al-Hassan the third, and asked him about witnessing Allah's Self and the differences among people on this issue. The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, answered in writing, 'Witnessing an object is not possible until there is air (a light-carrying medium) that can allow the light to reach the eye. If air is removed from space between the viewer and the object, no witnessing will take place. In this there is ground for similarity. When the viewer and the object in view have the same medium a similarity must exist between them to make witnessing possible, such as reflecting surfaces. (When applying this to the case of Allah) it is an analogy and similarity. The means must have a connection with the source."

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from Ali ibn Ma'bad from 'Abd Allah ibn Sinan from his father who said the following:

"Once I met (Imam) abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and at that time a man from the Khariji group came to see the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and asked, 'O abu Ja'far, whom do you worship?' The Imam replied, 'I worship Allah, the Most High.' He then asked, 'Have you seen Him?' The Imam then said, 'Eyes cannot see Him in a witnessing process but the hearts can see Him through the reality of belief. Allah cannot be known by analogy or (physical) senses and He is not similar to people. He is mentioned in the verses of revelation (Holy Quran). He is known from the signs. He does not do injustice in His judgments. Thus is Allah; besides Him there is no Lord.' The narrator has said, 'The man then left the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, saying, 'Allah knows best to whom He should entrust His message to mankind.'"

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Khalid from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn abu Nasr from abu al-Hassan al-Muwsali from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said the following:

"Once a rabbi (hibr) came to Imam Ali ibn abu Talib, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and asked, 'O Amir al-Mu'minin, have you seen your Lord when worshipping Him?' Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, replied, 'This is not a proper question. I have not worshipped a Lord whom I could not see.' He then asked, 'How did you see Him?' Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'This is not a proper statement. Eyes cannot see Him in a witnessing process but hearts see Him through the realities of belief.'"

Ahmad ibn Idris has narrated from Muhammad ibn 'Abd al-Jabbar from Safwan ibn Yahya from 'Asim ibn Humayd who said the following:

"Once I discussed with (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about what he says on witnessing Allah's Self. The Imam said, 'The light of the sun has a ratio equal to one seventieth of the light of the Kursi (the Throne). The same is the ratio of the light of Kursi to al-'Arsh, the light of which is of the same ratio to that of al-Hijab the light of which is of the same ratio to the light of al-Satr (barrier). If they (people who say that eye-witnessing Allah is possible) tell the truth allow them fill their eyes with the light of the sun without a curtain in between.'"

Muhammad ibn Yahya and others have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Isa from ibn abu Nasr from abu al-Hassan al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said that the Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said the following:

"When Jibril took me for a visit to the heavens we reached a place where he had never set foot before. Then it was unveiled to him and Allah showed him of the light of His greatness that which he loved."

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Isa from ibn abu Najran from 'Abd Allah ibn Sinan from (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said the following:

"About the words of Allah, 'No mortal eyes can see Him, but He can see all eyes. He is All-kind and All-aware' (6:103), the Imam said that, 'No mortal eyes can see Him' means through guessing (al-Wahm) not by witnessing Him. Consider the words of Allah in, 'Clear proofs have certainly come to you from your Lord . . . (6:104)' do not mean that such 'Clear proofs' are visible to people's eyes. Also consider, 'Whosoever sees clearly, it is to his own gain . . . (6:104)' it does not mean seeing with the eyes. In 'Whosoever is blind, it is to his own loss (6:104),' 'Blindness' does not mean deprivation of eyesight. It means within the range of Wahm (mentioned above). It is as is commonly said, so and so is very keen-sighted in matters of poetry, and so and so is very keen-sighted in religion and jurisprudence. So and so has a keen eye for money, and so and so has an eye for clothes. Allah is by far great and above being witnessed by people.'"

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from Abu Hashim al-Ja'fari who said the following:

"I asked (Imam) abu al-Hassan al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about Allah if He can be described (defined in words). The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'Have you not read the Quran?' I replied, 'Yes, I do read the Quran.' He then said, 'Have you not read the words of Allah, the Most High, "No mortal eyes can see Him, but He can see all eyes. He is All-kind and All-aware."' (6:103)

"I replied, 'Yes, I have read them.' The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'Do they know the meaning of the eyes?' I replied, 'Yes, they do.' The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'What is it?' I replied, 'It means seeing with the eyes.' Then the Imam said, 'The Awham (plural of wahm defined above) of the heart is much more comprehensive in the field of knowledge than witnessing. It (Awham) is not able to comprehend Him but He comprehends all things.'"

Muhammad ibn abu 'Abd Allah has narrated from the person he mentioned from Muhammad ibn 'Isa from Dawud ibn al-Qasim, abu Hashim al-Ja'fari who said the following:

"Once I mentioned the words of Allah, 'No mortal eyes can see Him, but He can see all eyes. He is All-kind and All-aware' (6:103) to Imam abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant. He said, 'O abu Hashim, Awham (mentioned above) of hearts are keener and sharper than the perceptions of the eyes. Through the Awham of the heart you can perceive countries like Sind, Hind (India) and other cities, which you have never seen with your eyes. How can your eyes see Him when the Awham of your heart cannot perceive Him?'"

١٢- عِلِي بن إِبراهِيم عن أَبِيهِ عن بعضِ أَصحابِهِ عن

H 265, Ch. 9, h12
Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from certain persons of his people from Hisham ibn al-Hakam who said the following:

"Things can be perceived by two means: (1) by the senses and (2) by the heart (intellect). Perceptions of the senses are of three kinds: (1) perception in the form of penetration, (2) perception in the form of touching, and (3) perception without penetration or touch. Perception by means of sounds, smells and tastes are formed through penetration. Perception through touching comes from the knowledge of shapes, such as rectangular or triangular and so forth, and also softness, hardness, heat and cold. Perception without touch or penetration is that of sight which is capable of perceiving things without touching or penetration in the object or means of sight. Perception through sight needs a path and medium. Its path is air and its medium is the light. If the path is continuous between the viewer and the object and the medium, then seeing takes place such as colors and persons. If light falls on something without a path, it will return reflecting what is behind (the observed), like an observer looking into a mirror. Light does not penetrate into the mirror, because it finds no path. So it returns reflecting what lies behind the observed. It is similar to looking into the clear water that returns light that reflects what is at the rear. This happens because there is no path for the penetration of light.

"Intellect dominates the air. It perceives all that is in the air and forms his Wahm (intuitive form of perception). If the heart will not find anything in the air it (power of Wahm) comes back and reflects what is in the air. A person of reason should not force his heart against what is not in the air of the issue of the Oneness of Allah, the Majestic, the Glorious, otherwise it will form his Wahm of what is there in the air as mentioned about the witnessing. Allah, the Most High is by far above similarities with the creatures.'"

Prohibition of Attributing to Allah What He Himself Has Not Attributed to Himself

H 266, Ch. 10, h1

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from al-'Abbass ibn Ma'ruf from ibn abu Najran from Hammad ibn 'Uthman from Abd al-Rahim ibn 'Utayk al-Qusayr who said the following:

"Once I wrote through 'Abd al-Malik ibn 'A'yan to (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'In Iraq there are people who attribute to Allah forms and lines. If you would consider it proper, may Allah keep my soul in your service, please write for me the correct belief in the issue of the Oneness of Allah.'

"The Imam wrote for me, 'May Allah grant you blessings. You have asked about the Oneness of Allah and the belief of the group of people before you. Exalted is Allah, similar to Him is nothing. He is All-hearing and All-seeing. Allah is above what certain people attribute to Him and above their analogizing Him to His creatures. He is above the lies of those who speak lies about Him. Note that the true creed in the Oneness of Allah is what is revealed in the Quran about the attributes of Allah, the Almighty, the Exalted. Keep away from the belief in Allah, the Most High, in the form of all ideas that amount to ignoring His existence altogether and those that amount to analogizing Him to the creatures. Neither should His existence be negated nor should He be considered similar to anything. He (Allah) the Most High, exists. Exalted is He and by far above what is falsely

Muhammad ibn abu 'Abd Allah has narrated from Muhammad ibn Isma'il from al-Husayn ibn al-Hassan from Bakr ibn Salih from al-Hassan ibn Sa'id from Ibrahim ibn Muhammad al-Khazzaz and Muhammad ibn al-Husayn who both have said the following:

"Once we met Imam abu al-Hassan al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and stated to him that Prophet Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, saw His Lord in the fashion of a full grown young man of thirty years. We added that Hisham ibn Salim and Sahib al-Taq and al-Maythami say that He is hollow down to His navel and the rest is solid. The Imam bowed down to a prostrating position and then said, '(O Lord), Glory belongs to You. They have not recognized You nor have they acknowledged Your Oneness, therefore, they attribute to You such things. (O Lord), Glory belongs to You. Had they recognized You they would attribute to You what You have attributed to Yourself and they would not consider You similar to things other than You. O Lord, I do not attribute to You anything other than what You have attributed to Yourself and do not consider You similar to Your creatures. To You belongs all good. Do not place me among the unjust ones.'

"The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then turned to us saying, 'Whatever you may imagine (make Wahm of) consider Allah something other than that.' He continued, 'We, people of the family of the Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, are the median type and the criterion. Those who exceed cannot catch up with us and those who follow cannot go ahead of us.'

"O Muhammad, when the Messenger of Allah looked at the greatness of his Lord he was of the type of people as fully grown up as thirty-year old people. O Muhammad, my Lord, the Majestic, the Glorious, is far greater than to be of the qualities of the creatures.

"I (the narrator) said, 'May the Lord keep my soul in your service, who was the one with his feet in the green (refers to things the Holy Prophet saw during his night journey)?'

"The Imam said, 'He was Prophet Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, when he looked at his Lord with his heart He placed him in the light like that of the Hujub (literally meaning barriers) so he could see what is inside the Hujub. Of the light of Allah certain phases are green, red, white and others. O Muhammad whatever has confirmation in the book and the Sunnah we affirm it.'"

There are those of them who say that Allah has a body, and others say that Allah has a form.' The Imam replied in his own handwriting, 'Glory belongs to Allah, Who cannot be defined nor described. There is nothing similar to Him. He is All-hearing, All-knowing,' or–as the Imam said - , 'All-seeing.'"

Sahl has said that I wrote to abu Muhammad al-Hassan al-'Askari, recipient of divine supreme covenant, in 255 AH. the following:
"Our people (Ashabuna) differ on the issue of the Oneness of Allah. There are those who say that He has a body and others say He has a certain form. If you consider instructing me in this matter on which I can rely without excess it will be a great favor to your servant.

Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad and from others from Muhammad ibn Sulayman from Ali ibn Ibrahim from 'Abd Allah ibn Sinan from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said the following:

"Allah is Great and High. People cannot describe Him nor can they reach up to His Greatness. 'No mortal eyes can see Him, but He can see all eyes. He is All kind and All aware.' (6:103) He cannot be described by means of how and where. How can I describe Him by means of any condition? He Himself has created the conditions and how and so it came into being. We came to know conditions because of His designing them for us. How can I describe Him by means of space? It is He, Who spaced the space so it became space. I, thus, came to know space by means of what He has made into space. How can I describe Him by means of positions when He Himself has given position to positions to come into position? I, thus, came to know the position by means of what He has made to come into position. Allah, the Holy, the Most High, is in every place but is out of everything. 'No mortal eyes can see Him, but He can see all eyes. He is All Kind and All Aware.'" (6:103)

Ahmad ibn Idris has narrated from Muhammad ibn 'Abd al-Jabbar from Safwan ibn Yahya from Ali ibn abu Hamza who said the following:

"Once I stated before abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'I have heard Hisham ibn al-Hakam quoting you, "Allah is a body of self-subsisting nature and is from light. He can very clearly be recognized and He bestows such knowledge to whoever among His creatures He wills."' The Imam said, 'Glorious is He, about Whom no one knows how His essence is except He Himself. There is no one similar to Him and He is All-hearing, All Seeing. He cannot be limited, nor can He be felt or touched or moved. Eyes cannot see Him nor can any of the senses comprehend Him. He cannot be contained in anything, nor has He any body or form or figure or confine.'"

Muhammad ibn abu 'Abd Allah has also narrated this Hadith without giving the name of the person (from whom he has heard).

Muhammad ibn al-Hassan has narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad from Muhammad ibn Isma'il ibn Bazi' from Muhammad ibn Zayd who said the following:

"Once I went to visit (Imam) Ali al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and asked him about the Oneness of Allah (Allah). The Imam dictated to me this, 'All praise belongs to Allah, Who is the originator of all things. He is the inventor of all things, an invention that came from His power and wisdom but not from a thing so it would invalidate the invention or from (another) cause so it would invalidate the novelty. He created whatever He wanted and howsoever He liked. He alone did all this to manifest His Wisdom and the truth of His Providence. Intelligence cannot comprehend Him, imagination (Awham) cannot reach Him, and eyes cannot see Him and measurements cannot confine Him. The power of expression is unable to express Him in words. All sights are exhausted from reaching Him and the power of describing and defining has gone astray in its description and definition of His Self. He is hidden without any veil and is concealed without any covering. He is known without being seen, described without any form, and praised without any body. No one deserves to be obeyed except Allah, the Great, the Most High.'"

"I explained to abu Ibrahim (Musa al-Kazim, recipient of divine supreme covenant, the words of Hisham ibn Salim al-Jawaliqi and the words of Hisham ibn al-Hakam that say Allah is a body. The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'Allah, the Most High, is not similar to any of these things. But it is possible to consider Him as the agent.' Abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, 'That is not proper for him. Does he not know that the body has limits and the form has limits and an end? Whatever is subject to limitations is also subject to increase and reduction and such things are created.

"I (Yunus) then asked, 'What then I should say?' He replied, 'Allah is without body and form. He is the giver of body to all bodies and the giver of form to all forms. He cannot be divided or limited. He does not grow or decrease. If it were as they say, then there would remain no difference between the Creator and the created, the Inventor and the invented. But He is the Creator and the Inventor. He has made the distinction and differentiation between that to which He has given body, form and that which He has invented. This is because nothing is similar to Him nor does He resemble anything.'"

Muhammad ibn abu 'Abd Allah has narrated from Muhammad ibn Isma'il from Ali ibn al-'Abbass from al-Hassan ibn 'Abd al-Rahman al-Hammani who said the following:

"Once I said to abu al-Hassan Musa ibn Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'Hisham ibn al-Hakam claims that Allah is a body like unto whom there is no one. He is All-knowing, All-hearing, All-seeing and All-powerful. He speaks and reasons. His word, His power, His knowledge are all in one. No one of them is created.' The Imam said, 'May Allah be his foe. Does he not know that body is limited, and that the speech is other than what the speaker is? I seek refuge from Allah and I disclaim such words. Allah does not have a body, form, or any kind of limitations. Allah has created everything. He creates things as and when He wills without any word or planning in the mind or utterance of the tongue.'"

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from Muhammad ibn 'Isa from Yunus from Muhammad ibn Hakim who said the following:

"I mentioned to abu al-Hassan al-Awwal (the first), recipient of divine supreme covenant, the statements of Hisham al-Jawaliqi and what he says about fully grown up young man (see Hadith 3 Chapter 10). I also mentioned the statements of Hisham ibn al-Hakam in this matter. The Imam said, 'Allah, certainly, is not similar to anything.'"

Chapter Twelve
Attribute of the Essence (Sifat al-Dhat) of Allah

H 286, Ch. 12, h1
Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from Muhammad ibn Khalid al-Tayalisi from Safwan ibn Yahya from ibn Muskan from abu Basir who said the following:

"I heard abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, saying, 'The Exalted, the Glorious, Allah, our Lord, is eternal. Knowledge is His Self even if there is nothing to be known. Hearing is His Self even if there is nothing to be heard. Seeing is His Self even when there is nothing to be seen. Power is His Self even if there is nothing to exercise the power. When He brought things into existence the perceptible objects became the objects of His knowledge, His hearing applied to audible objects, His seeing to visible objects and His power to the objects that feel power.’”

Abu Basir adds, ‘I further asked, ‘Has Allah always been in motion?’ He replied, ‘Allah is by far Highly Exalted above that. Motion is an attribute that is created through action.’ I then asked, ‘Did Allah always have the ability to speak?’ He replied, ‘Speech is a created attribute and not an eternal one. Allah, the Majestic, the Glorious, existed when there was nothing speaking.’”

“Once I wrote to the man (Imam), recipient of divine supreme covenant, ‘Your followers differ about the knowledge of Allah. There are those who say that before creating all things Allah had eternally full knowledge of them. Others say that we should not say so; His knowing is like His action. If we prove that His knowledge is eternal we have also established another thing eternal along with Him. May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, if you would consider it proper, kindly enlighten me in this issue so that I have a firm stand and do not waver there onwards.’

Bashir from Fudayl ibn Sukkarah who said the following:

"I asked abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, if you would consider it proper please enlighten me about whether Allah, Majestic is Whose face, had knowledge of His Oneness before He brought the creation into existence? Your followers differ on this issue. There are those who believe that Allah did have knowledge of His Oneness before He created anything. Others say that His knowledge is His action. Thus, now Allah has come to know that before He created things there had been nothing besides He Himself. They say that if we believe in the eternal knowledge of Allah, of His Oneness, we have established another thing eternal along with Him. If you would consider it proper please enlighten me in this issue so I may not waver here and there.'

"He wrote, 'Allah, the Blessed and Exalted has always had the knowledge of all things.'"

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from Muhammad ibn 'Isa ibn 'Ubayd from Hammad from Hariz from Muhammad ibn Muslim from abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following about being eternal:

"He, Allah, is One, the Self-sufficient. He is One and only One without any multiplicity in different meaning." The narrator has said that I further inquired, 'May Allah keep my soul in your service, certain people in Iraq think, that Allah hears with something different from what He sees with, and He sees with something different from what He hears with.' The Imam replied, 'They have said a lie and have (deviated from the truth) become atheists for considering Allah similar to other things. Allah, the Most High, indeed is above all things. He is All-hearing and All-seeing. He hears with what He sees, and sees with what He hears.' The narrator has said, 'I further said, 'Those people are of the opinion also that Allah is All-seeing in the same sense and in the same way, as they perceive.

"The Imam said, 'Allah is by far Highly Exalted above all such things. Only created things perceive as they do. Allah is not created.'"

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from al-'Abbass ibn 'Amr from Hisham ibn al-Hakam, who about the debate with an atheist (see Chapter 2 Hadith 6), has said the following:

"He asked (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'Do you say that He is All-hearing and All-seeing?' Abu 'Abd Allah said, 'Allah is All-hearing, All-seeing. He hears without any organ and sees without any instrument. He Himself hears and He Himself sees. When I say He Himself hears I do not mean thereby that He is One and His Self is something different. I only express what I have in my mind to answer a question and help you understand the answer. So I say, 'His whole Self hears. This does not mean that His whole has parts. In our perception whole consists of parts. This is to make you understand and to express my thoughts. It is to say that He is All-hearing, All-seeing, All-knowing, and All-aware, without any multiplicity in the meaning.'"

Muhammad ibn abu 'Abd Allah has narrated from Muhammad ibn Isma'il from al-Husayn ibn al-Hassan from Bakr ibn Salih from Ali ibn Asbat from al-Hassan ibn al-Jahm from Bukayr ibn A'yan who said the following:

"Once I asked abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'Are the knowledge and the will of Allah different or the same?' He replied, 'His knowledge is not the same as His will. Consider when you say, "If Allah wills, I will do this," and you do not say, 'If Allah knows, I will do this.' Your own words if Allah wills are proof that Allah has not yet willed it. If He wills what He would do, it happens exactly as He wills. His knowledge is before His will.'"

Ahmad ibn Idris has narrated from Muhammad ibn 'Abd al-Jabbar from Safwan ibn Yahya who said the following:

"I asked abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'Enlighten me about the will of Allah and the will of His creatures.' He said, 'The will of His creatures comes from what goes in their minds that leads to action. The will of Allah, the Most High, is His inventing and nothing else; Allah does not need to reflect, deliberate or think. Such qualities do not exist with Him. They are the attributes of His creation. Allah's will is His acts and nothing else. He says to it: "Be" and it comes into existence, without any words or utterance of the tongue or any inclination and reflection. His will has no conditions just as His Self has no conditions.'"

"Once I was in the presence of abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, when 'Amr ibn 'Ubayd said, 'May Allah keep my soul in your service, what is the meaning of Allah's words, "Whoever becomes subject to My anger he is destroyed." (20:84) What is this anger?'

"Abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, replied, 'O 'Amr, His anger is His punishment. O 'Amr, whoever thinks Allah changes from one state to another, has ascribed to Allah the attributes of His creatures. Nothing provokes Allah, the Sublime, to make Him change.'"

"In the debate with the atheist who asked abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, (see Hadith 6 Chapter 2), 'Does Allah become pleased and displeased?' Abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, replied, 'Yes, but not like that which is found in His creatures. In His creatures the pleasure is a state (hal), which enters into him and changes him from one state to another. The creatures are hollow, active and of compound materials with entrance to them. Nothing can enter into our Creator. He is One, a single self and a single meaning. His pleasure is His reward and His anger is His punishment without anything entering in Him to motivate and change Him from one state to another; these are attributes of His creatures who are weak and needy.'"

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Khalid from his father from ibn abu 'Umayr from ibn 'Udhayna from Muhammad ibn Muslim from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said the following:

"The will is created."

Note from al-Kulayni (may Allah grant him favors): Concise Statements on the Attributes of His Essence, Sifat al-Dhat and the Attributes of His Actions, Sifat al-Fi'1.

"If two attributes are ascribed to Allah and both can exist at the same time, such attribute is an attribute of action of Allah. To explain it consider that in the real world you find what He wants and what He does not want, what He likes and what He dislikes, what He loves and what He hates. Had 'Will' been of the attributes of His Self like knowledge and power then what He did not want would have been contrary to His will and it could not exist with 'Will' at the same time. Had what He loved been of the attributes of His Self what He hated would have been contrary to it (contrary things do not exist together).

"Consider that in the world we do not find anything that He would not know or would not have power to control. The same is true of the attributes of His Self that are eternal. We do not attribute to Him both power and weakness [knowledge and ignorance, foolishness and wisdom, mistakes and majesty] and meanness. It is permissible to say that He loves those who obey Him and hates those who disobey Him. He is a friend of those who obey Him and He is the enemy of those who disobey Him and that He becomes pleased and disappointed.

"In prayer it is said, 'O Lord, be pleased with me and do not be angry with me. Be my friend and do not be my enemy.'

"It, however, is not permissible to say that He has power to know but He does not have power not to know. He has power to own but He does not have power not to own. He has power to be Majestic and Wise and does not have power not to be Majestic and Wise. He has the power to be generous but He does not have the power not to be generous. He has the power to be forgiving but does not have the power not to be forgiving.

"It also is not permissible to say, 'He wills to be the Lord, eternal, Majestic, Wise, the Owner, Knowing and Powerful.' It is because these are the attributes of His Self. Will is of the attributes of His acts.

"Consider that it is said, 'He willed this and did not will that.'

The attributes of His Self negate what is contrary to them. He is called Living, Knowing, Hearing, Seeing, Majestic, Wise, Independent, Owner, Forbearing, Just and Generous. Knowledge is contrary to ignorance, power is contrary to weakness, life is contrary to death, majesty is contrary to meanness, wisdom is contrary to blunders, forbearance is contrary to lack of thoughtfulness and contrary to justice is injustice and cruelty."

Chapter Fifteen

The Coming Into Existence of the Names of Allah

بَابُ حُدُوثِ الْأَسْمَاءِ

Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from Salih ibn abu Hammad from al-Husayn ibn Yazid from al-Hassan ibn Ali ibn abu Hamza from Ibrahim ibn 'Umar from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said the following:

"Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, created a name with letters that had no sound. He created it with the word that would not be spoken. He created it with a personality that had no body. It had a similarity that is not described. He created it with color that is colorless. Diameters were negated from it. Limitations were distanced away from it. The feel of all Mutawahhim (intuitive sense) is curtained from it. It is hidden but not covered. He placed it to be a perfect word consisting of four parts together. No one of them is before the other. From these He made public only three names; people desperately needed them. One of them is kept out of public sight. This is the protected and treasured name.

"Of the names that became public is Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High. He, the Most Glorious, for each of these made four subservient key elements that formed twelve key elements. Then for each key element He created thirty key elements to indicate an action ascribed to the four key elements.

"He, therefore, is al-Rahman (the Compassionate), al-Rahim (the Merciful), al-Malik (the King), al-Quddus (the Holy), al-Khaliq (the Creator), al-Bari' (the Maker), al-Musawwir (the Fashioner), al-Hayy (the Ever-living) and al-Qayyum (the Self-subsistent). Neither slumber nor sleep seizes Him. He is al-'Alim (the All-Knowing), al-Khabir (the All-aware), al-Sami' (the All-hearing), al-Basir (the All-seeing), al-Hakim (the All-wise), al-'Aziz (the Majestic), al-Jabbar (the Compelling), al-Mutakabbir (the Sublime), al-'Aliyy (the Most High), al-'Azim (the Great), al-Muqtadir (the Dominant), al-Qadir (the Almighty), al-Salam (the Peaceable), al-Mu'min (the Protector), al-Muhaymin (the Preserver), al-Munshi' (the Inventor), al-Badi' (the Originator), al-Rafi' (the Exalter), al-Jalil (the Majestic), al-Karim (the Generous), al-Raziq (the Provider), al-Muhyi (the Bestower of Life), al-Mumit (the Inflictor of death), al-Ba'ith (the Resurrecting) and al-Warith (the Inheritor).

"These names in addition to the (Asma' al-Husna) beautiful names make them three hundred sixty names. Such is the ratio of these three names. These three names are key element names. Only one name is kept out of public sight, protected and treasured with these three names. Thus, Allah has said, 'Say, call Allah or al-Rahman. Call whichever you call. For Him there are beautiful names.'" (17:110)

"Among the narrators of this Hadith there are unknown people. Its language is not clear. There is secrecy in its meaning. No one knows its interpretation except Allah and those whom He has given especial knowledge." (Al-Allama al-Majlisi, Mir'at al-'Uqul, vol.2, p.24)

Ahmad ibn Idris has narrated from al-Husayn ibn 'Abd Allah from Muhammad

٢ - أَحمد بن إِدرِيس عنِ الْحسينِ بنِ عبدِ اللهِ عن محمدٍ

بن عبدِ اللهِ و موسى بن عمر و الْحسن بن عِلي بن عثْمانَ عن ابن سِنانٍ قَالَ سأَلْت أَبا الْحسنِ الرضا ع هلْ كَانَ الله عز و جل عارِفاً بِنفْسِهِ قَبلَ أَنْ يخلُق الْخلْق قَالَ نعم قُلْت يراها و يسمعها قَالَ ما كَانَ محتاجاً إِلَى ذَلك لِأَنه لَم يكُن يسأَلُها و لَا يطْلُب مِنها هو نفْسه و نفْسه هو قُدرته نافِذَةٌ فَلَيس يحتاج أَنْ يسمي نفْسه و لَكِنه اختار لِنفْسِهِ أَسماءً لِغيرِهِ يدعوه بِها لِأَنه إِذَا لَم يدع بِاسمِهِ لَم يعرف فَأَولُ ما اختار لِنفْسِهِ الْعلِي الْعظِيم لِأَنه أَعلَى الْأَشياءِ كُلها فَمعناه الله و اسمه الْعلِي الْعظِيم هو أَولُ أَسمائِهِ علًا علَى كُل شيءٍ

ibn ‘Abd Allah and Musa ibn ‘Umar and al-Hassan ibn Ali ibn ‘Uthman from ibn Sinan who said the following:

“Once I asked abu al-Hassan al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, ‘Did Allah, the Majestic, the Glorious, know Himself before He created the creation?’ The Imam replied, ‘Yes, He knew Himself.’ I further asked, ‘Did He see and hear His Own Self?’ The Imam replied, ‘Allah did not need such things; He did not ask or demand it. He is His Own Self and His Own Self is He. His power is dominant and He does not need to name His Own Self. He chose His own name for the sake of others so they can call Him. Until one is not called by means of his name he is not recognized. The first name He chose for His Own Self was al-‘Aliy al-‘Azim (the Most High, the Great) because He is above all things. It then means that Allah and His name al-‘Aliy al-‘Azim is He. The Most High, means He is above all things.’”

It is narrated through the same chain of narrators (as in the above Hadith) from Muhammad ibn Sinan who said the following:

“I asked the Imam (perhaps abu al-Hassan al-Rida), recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the name (of Allah), ‘What is it?’ The Imam replied, ‘It is an attribute of the attributes of (Allah).’”

H 304, Ch. 15, h4

Muhammad ibn abu ‘Abd Allah has narrated from Muhammad ibn Isma‘il from some of his people from Bakr ibn Salih from Ali ibn Salih from al-Hassan ibn Muhammad ibn Khalid ibn Yazid from ‘Abd al-A‘la from abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said the following:

“The name of Allah is something other than Allah Himself. Everything that is called a thing is created except Allah. Whatever (like the word ‘Allah’) is expressed by the tongue or is worked out by hands (written down) is all created. The word Allah is one example of names and an end to serve the purpose of naming. The end is different from the thing for which it is. The end that is describable is created. The Maker of things is not describable by the limits of the fact behind the name. He did not become, so the maker who is other than Him would have recognized His becoming a being. Whatever end people may reach is something other than Him. Do not ever move away from understanding this rule. This is the true and pure belief in the Oneness of Allah. Observe it, acknowledge it and understand it by the permission of Allah.

“Those who think they understand Allah by means of covering, form or image become polytheists; His covering, form and depiction are not Him. He is only One and one alone. How can one form a belief in His oneness by thinking that one is able to know Him through things other than Him? One comes to know Allah only by Allah His Own Self. One who cannot know Him by His Own Self has not known Him. He only comes to know something else. There is nothing between the Creator and the created. Allah is the Creator of things but not from a thing that was there already. Allah’s names are His names but He is different from His Own names and the names are other than Him.”

Chapter Sixteen
The Meanings of the Names of Allah and Their Derivatives

بَابُ مَعَانِي الْأَسْمَاءِ وَ اشْتِقَافِهَا

H 305, Ch. 16, h1
A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Khalid from al-Qasim ibn Yahya from his grandfather al-Hassan ibn Rashid from ‘Abd Allah ibn Sinan who said the following:

“Once I asked abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the interpretation of the verse of the Holy Quran, ‘In the Name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful.’ The Imam replied, ‘The first letter ‘B’ in the Arabic version signifies Baha’u Allah meaning beauty of Allah. The second letter ‘S’ signifies Sana’u Allah meaning radiance of Allah. The third letter ‘M’ signifies Majdu Allah, meaning the Grandeur of Allah.’ According to other narrators, Majdu Allah means Kingdom of Allah. Allah means Lord of all things. And al-Rahman means the Beneficent to all of His creatures in general. Al-Rahim means the Most Merciful to the believers in particular.”

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from al-Nadr ibn Suwayd from Hisham ibn al-Hakam who said the following:

“Once I asked abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the names of Allah and their derivations and roots. What is the root from which the word Allah is derived?

“The Imam replied, ‘O Hisham, the word Allah is derived from ’Ilah. It means, the One Who is worshipped (obeyed) and the One who is the Lord. The Lord requires that He be worshipped (obeyed) and is worthy of worshipping. The name of Allah is different from His Own S\self. Whoever worships the name not the meaning has become an atheist and, in fact, has not worshipped Allah. Whoever worships the name and its meaning jointly, he becomes a polytheist; worshipping two Lords. Whoever worships the meaning of the word Allah only he, in reality, has worshipped the One Allah. O Hisham, did you grasp it?’ Hisham has said, ‘I requested, “Please enlighten me more.”’

“The Imam added, ‘Allah has ninety-nine names. If each name had a separate meaning then each meaning would have been a Lord. Allah is One only and all His names stand for just One reality and all these names are other than Allah Himself. O Hisham, bread is the name of something to eat. Water is the name of something to drink. Dress is the name of something to wear. Fire is the name of something that burns. O Hisham, did you fully grasp the point so you can defend your belief and contest successfully against our opponents, who, along with Allah, the Exalted, the Great, accept as their Lord, things other than Him?’ Hisham replied, ‘Yes, I did understand.’

“The Imam said, ‘O Hisham, may Allah benefit you thereby and grant you steadfastness.’

“Hisham (the narrator) says, ‘I swear by Allah, no one has ever defeated me on the issue of the Oneness of Allah until now.’”

٢ - عِلِي بن إِبراهِيم عن أَبِيهِ عنِ النضرِ بنِ سوِيدٍ عن هِشامِ بنِ الْحكَمِ أَنه سأَلَ أَبا عبدِ اللهِ ع عن أَسماءِ اللهِ و اشتِقَاقِها الله مِما هو مشتق

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from al-Barqi from al-Qasim ibn Yahya from his grandfather al-Hassan ibn Rashid

٣ - عِدةٌ مِن أَصحابِنا عن أَحمد بن محمدٍ الْبرقِي عنِ الْقَاسِمِ بن يحيى عن جدِهِ الْحسنِ بنِ راشِدٍ

Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad from Ya'qub ibn Yazid from al-'Abbass ibn Hilal who said the following:

"Once I asked (Imam) al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the meaning of the words of Allah, 'Allah is the Light of the heavens and the earth.' (24:35) The Imam replied, 'Allah is the Guide for all that is in the heavens and the Guide for all that is on the earth.'"

According to another Hadith that al-Barqi has narrated (the Imam said), "Allah has guided everyone in the heavens and everyone on the earth."

٥ - أحمد بن إِدرِيس عن محمدِ بنِ عبدِ الْجبارِ عن صفْوانَ بنِ يحيى عن فُضيلِ بنِ عثْمانَ عن ابنِ أَبِي يعفُورٍ قَالَ سأَلْت أَبا عبدِ اللهِ ع عن قَولِ اللهِ عز و جل هو الْأَولُ و الْآخِر و قُلْت أَما الْأَولُ فَقَد عرفْناه و أَما الْآخِر فَبين لَنا تفْسِيره فَقَالَ إِنه لَيس شيءٌ إِلا يبِيد أَو يتغير أَو يدخلُه التغير و الزوالُ أَو ينتقِلُ مِن لَونٍ إِلَى لَونٍ و مِن هيئَةٍ إِلَى هيئَةٍ و مِن صِفَةٍ إِلَى صِفَةٍ و مِن زِيادةٍ إِلَى نقْصانٍ و مِن نقْصانٍ إِلَى زِيادةٍ إِلا رب الْعالَمِين فَإِنه لَم يزلْ و لَا يزالُ بِحالَةٍ واحِدةٍ هو الْأَولُ قَبلَ كُل شيءٍ و هو الْآخِر علَى ما لَم يزلْ و لَا تختلِف علَيهِ الصفَات و الْأَسماءُ كَما تختلِف علَى غَيرِهِ مِثْلُ الْإِنسان الذِي يكُونُ تراباً مرةً و مرةً لَحماً و دماً و مرةً رفَاتاً و رمِيماً و كَالْبسرِ الذِي يكُونُ مرةً بلَحاً و مرةً بسراً و مرةً رطَباً و مرةً تمراً فَتتبدلُ علَيهِ الْأَسماءُ و الصفَات و الله جل و عز بِخِلَافِ ذَلِك

Ahmad ibn Idris has narrated from Muhammad ibn 'Abd al-Jabbar from Safwan ibn Yahya from Fudayl ibn 'Uthman from ibn abu Ya'fur who said the following:

"Once I said to abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the meaning of the words of Allah, the Majestic, the Glorious, 'He (Allah) is the first and the last.' (57:3) We have understood His being the first but explain for us the meaning of His being the last.'

"The Imam said, 'There is nothing in the universe, but that is subject to annihilation, alteration, change, decay, transition from one color to another, from one shape to another and from one quality to another. All things increase, decrease and change from decrease to increase, except He, Who is the Lord of the worlds. He alone is eternal and in one state. He is the first, before everything and the last eternally. His attributes and names do not change as they do in the case of others. A man at one time is (part of) the soil and dust, at other time flesh and blood, then turns into decaying bones and finally becomes dust. A piece of date at one time is raw, at another time ripe, mature, and then it dries up. With every change, the names and attributes also change. Allah, the Majestic, the Glorious, is different from all such things.'"

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from ibn abu 'Umayr from ibn 'Udhayna from Muhammad ibn Hakim from Maymun al-Ban who said the following:

"I heard abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, saying to a question about Allah being the first and the last, 'His being the first means there was no first before Him and no beginning preceded Him at all. His being the last means He has no end; it (last) is an attribute of the created and He is eternal, the first and the last. He has always been and He will always be without any beginning and any end. Nothing new happens to Him and He does not change from one state to another. He is the Creator of all things.'"

Muhammad ibn abu 'Abd Allah in a marfu' manner, has narrated from abu Hashim al-Ja'fari who said the following:

"Once I was in the company of abu Ja'far al-Thani, the 2nd, recipient of divine supreme covenant, when a person asked him, 'The names and attributes of the Lord, the Most Holy, the Most High, mentioned in His book (the Holy Quran) are they He Himself?'

هو فَقَالَ أبو جعفَرٍ ع إِن لِهذَا الْكَلَامِ وجهينِ إِنْ كُنت تقُولُ هِي هو أي إِنه ذُو عددٍ و كَثْرةٍ فَتعالَى الله عن ذَلك و إِنْ كُنت تقُولُ هذِهِ الصفَات و الْأَسماءُ لَم تزلْ فَإِن لَم تزلْ محتمِلٌ معنيينِ فَإِنْ قُلْت لَم تزلْ عِنده فِي عِلْمِهِ و هو مستحِقها فَنعم و إِنْ كُنت تقُولُ لَم يزلْ تصوِيرها و هِجاؤها و تقْطِيع حروفِها فَمعاذَ اللهِ أَنْ يكُونَ معه شيءٌ غَيره بلْ كَانَ الله و لَا خلْق ثُم خلَقَها وسِيلَةً بينه و بين خلْقِهِ يتضرعونَ بِها إِلَيهِ و يعبدونه و هِي ذِكْره و كَانَ الله و لَا ذِكْر و الْمذْكُور بِالذكْرِ هو الله الْقَدِيم الذِي لَم يزلْ و الْأَسماءُ و الصفَات مخلُوقَاتٌ و الْمعانِي و الْمعنِي بِها هو الله الذِي لَا يلِيق بِهِ الِاخْتِلَاف و لَا الِائْتِلَاف و إِنما يختلِف و يأْتلِف الْمتجزئ فَلَا يقَالُ الله مؤْتلِفٌ و لَا الله قَلِيلٌ و لَا كَثِيرٌ و لَكِنه الْقَدِيم فِي ذَاتِهِ لِأَن ما سِوى الْواحِدِ متجزئٌ و الله واحِدٌ لَا متجزئٌ و لَا متوهمٌ بِالْقِلَةِ و الْكَثْرةِ و كُل متجزئٍ أَو متوهمٍ بِالْقِلَةِ و الْكَثْرةِ فَهو مخلُوقٌ دال علَى خالِقٍ لَه فَقَولُك إِن الله قَدِيرٌ خبرت أَنه لَا يعجِزه شيءٌ فَنفَيت بِالْكَلِمةِ الْعجز و جعلْت الْعجز سِواه و كَذَلك قَولُك عالِمٌ إِنما نفَيت بِالْكَلِمةِ الْجهلَ و جعلْت الْجهلَ سِواه و إِذَا أَفْنى الله الْأَشياءَ أَفْنى الصورةَ و الْهيجاءَ و التقْطِيع و لَا يزالُ من لَم يزلْ عالِماً فَقَالَ الرجلُ فَكَيف سمينا ربنا سمِيعاً فَقَالَ لِأَنه لَا يخفَى علَيهِ ما يدرك بِالْأَسماعِ و لَم نصِفْه بِالسمعِ الْمعقُول فِي الرأْسِ و كَذَلك سميناه بصِيراً لِأَنه لَا يخفَى علَيهِ ما يدرك بِالْأَبصارِ مِن لَونٍ أَو شخصٍ أَو غَيرِ ذَلك و لَم نصِفْه بِبصرِ لَحظَةِ الْعينِ و كَذَلك سميناه لَطِيفاً لِعِلْمِهِ بِالشيءِ اللطِيفِ مِثْلِ الْبعوضةِ و أَخفَى مِن ذَلك و موضِعِ النشوءِ مِنها و الْعقْلِ و الشهوةِ لِلسفَادِ و الْحدبِ علَى نسلِها و إِقَامِ بعضِها علَى بعضٍ و نقْلِها الطعام و الشراب إِلَى أَولَادِها فِي الْجِبالِ و الْمفَاوِزِ و الْأَودِيةِ و الْقِفَارِ فَعلِمنا أَن خالِقَها لَطِيفٌ بِلَا كَيفٍ و إِنما الْكَيفِيةُ لِلْمخلُوقِ الْمكَيفِ و كَذَلك سمينا ربنا قَوِيّاً لَا بِقُوةِ الْبطْشِ الْمعروفِ مِن الْمخلُوقِ و لَو كَانت قُوته قُوةَ الْبطْشِ الْمعروفِ مِن الْمخلُوقِ لَوقَع التشبِيه و لَاحتملَ الزيادةَ و ما احتملَ الزيادةَ احتملَ النقْصانَ و ما كَانَ ناقِصاً كَانَ غَير قَدِيمٍ و ما كَانَ غَير قَدِيمٍ كَانَ عاجِزاً فَربنا تبارك و تعالَى لَا شِبه لَه و لَا ضِد و لَا نِد و لَا كَيف و لَا نِهايةَ و لَا تبصار بصرٍ و محرمٌ علَى الْقُلُوبِ أَنْ تمثِّله و علَى الْأَوهامِ أَنْ تحده و علَى الضمائِرِ أَنْ تكَونه جل و عز عن أَداةِ خلْقِهِ

"The Imam replied, 'Your question has two aspects. If you say that they are His Own Self, meaning that He has plurality and multiplicity, then Allah is highly exalted from being as such. If you mean that names and attributes of Allah had eternally been there, this also has a double meaning. (First) if you mean, that names and attributes have eternally been in the knowledge of Allah and He eternally deserved them, it is true and quite right. If you mean that the letters, pictures, spellings and syllables of names and attributes were eternal, then we seek refuge with Him against such belief.

"Allah existed but there were no creatures. He created names and attributes as a means between His Own Self and the creatures. Through these means they pray to Him and ask Him for help, and names are the means to speak of Him. Allah existed without being mentioned. The One mentioned through names is Allah the eternal, Who will be there eternally. Names and attributes are created and their meaning and what they indicate is Allah, Who is by far above plurality and combination, which happens only to the moving things. If you say that Allah is compiled it is a false statement and so is saying that He is a great deal or very little. He His Own Self is eternal. What is other than the Only One, it is divisible. Allah is not divisible. Not even in one's imaginations can be thought of as more or less. Everything divisible or being thought of as less or more, in one's imagination, is created. All created things are signs of the existence of the Creator.

"When you say Allah has power, you in reality say that He does not become frustrated due to weakness. In this way you negate weakness from Him and consider it other than Him. The same is the meaning of your saying that He is All-knowing. With this, you negate ignorance from Him and have considered it other than Him. When Allah will destroy all things the form, spelling and syllables will all be destroyed. Allah is and will eternally be there.

"The man then said, 'Why do we call our Lord All-hearing? The Imam said, 'It is because everything that can be heard is not hidden from Him. We do not ascribe to Him the hearing ability that exists in the head. In the same way we call Him All-seeing. It is because everything that can be seen like colors or individuals and so forth, is not hidden from Him. We do not call Him All-seeing because of the blinking eye. We call Him Subtle because of His knowledge of delicate things such as His knowledge of insects, and so forth, or even more delicate things. It is because of His knowledge of such things as their intelligence, desires for reproduction, compassion for their offspring, their guarding each other, their carrying food and drink to their offspring in the mountains, wilderness, valleys and desolate places. From this we know that their Creator is Subtle but without the condition of subtlety. Such conditions (and feelings) are for the creatures that are conditioned with conditions.

'We also call our Lord powerful but not because of the aggressiveness that the creatures display. If so, a similarity will exist as well as degrees of decrease that involve increases. Whatever decreases is not eternal and is weak. To our Lord, the Most Holy, the Most High, no one is similar, contrary, resembling, of the same conditions, or end and or seen with eyes. It is unlawful for the hearts to analogize Him. It is unlawful for the Awham (intuitive power) to limit Him. It is unlawful for one's consciousness to contain Him. He is Glorious and Majestic and above coming within the reach of the means of و سِماتِ بريتِهِ و تعالَى عن ذَلِك علُوّاً كَبِيراً

His creatures or having the signs of His servants. He is High and Great and by far above such matters.'"

"Once a man said, Allahu Akbar (Allah is greater) in the presence of abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant. The Imam asked, 'Allah is greater than whom?' Ali ibn Muhammad and Muhammad ibn al-Hassan has narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad and Muhammad ibn Yahya from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Isa all of them from abu Hashim al-Ja'fari who said the following:

"Once I asked abu Ja'far al-Thani, the 2nd, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'What is the meaning of the One?' The Imam replied, 'It means the unanimity of all tongues in speaking of Allah's Oneness. If you ask them about who has created them, they all say, "It is Allah, Who has created them all."' (43:87)

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from al-Mukhtar ibn Muhammad ibn al-Mukhtar al-Hamadani and Muhammad ibn al-Hassan from 'Abd Allah ibn al-Hassan al-'Alawi both of them from al-Fath ibn Yazid al-Jurjani from abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, al-Thani or al-Thalith who said the following:

"I heard the Imam saying, 'He (Allah) is Subtle, All-aware, All-hearing, All-seeing, the One, the Self-sufficient, Who does not have any children. (He) is not anyone's child and there is no one similar to Him. Had Allah been as those believing in similitude (al-Mushabbihah) say He is, no distinction would exist between the Creator and the created, the Inventor and the invented. In reality He is the Inventor. He has made a distinction between the owner of the body and its creator, the owner of the form and its designer and the one being invented and the inventor. Nothing is similar to Him and He is not similar to anything.'

"I then said, 'Yes, may Allah keep my soul in your service, but you just said, the One the Self-sufficient, that no one is similar to Him. Allah is One and a man is one. Are the two not similar in oneness?' The Imam replied, 'O Fath, you said something impossible. May Allah grant you steadfastness. Similarity is in meanings. In the case of names they are all the same. The names refer to the named and designated one. When it is said a 'Man', although (commonly) he is considered one individual, he is found in the form of one individual and not two individuals. However, in fact, man is not one thing. His parts, colors and the color of his colors that consist of distinct parts are not equal. His blood is different from his flesh. His nerves are different from his veins; his hairs are different from his skin. The black things in him are different from the white things therein. The same is true of all other creatures. Human beings are one in name but not in meaning.

'Allah, Whose Majesty is Great, is only One and no one other than Him is one. There is no difference, imbalance, increase or decrease in Him. Human beings are created, designed, compounded of different parts and various substances. Only when his parts are combined man becomes one individual.'

"I then said, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, and grant you happiness, please enlighten me about the meaning of your words 'Subtle and All-aware'? Explain it as you just did with the 'One'? I know that His subtlety or kindness is different from that of His creatures but I like more clarity.' The Imam said, 'O Fath, we said, 'He is Subtle' is because of His knowledge of the delicate creatures, may Allah give you success and steadfastness, so you would think about His creation. Consider His design in delicate and not so delicate plants and other creatures like animals, small and large such as flies and crickets and smaller ones that even the eyes cannot see. It is because of their small size that one may not know which is male and which is female, which is newborn and which is old. We find tremendously delicate things as signs of His Subtlety, in their desire for reproduction, running away from death, collecting what is good for them and what is in the depth of the oceans and on the barks of trees, in the wilderness and desolate places. We find more fastidiousness in such animals. It is found in their ability to communicate with each other and in the things that their offspring understand from them. It is in their transporting food to their young and their colors, red along with yellow, white along with red so fine that our eyes are not able to catch because of their very exquisite shape. Our eyes are not able to see them and our hands are not able to feel them. All these show that the Creator of all such marvelous creatures is "Subtle" and is kind to all the creatures we mentioned. He has done the creating without instruments and means. Every

It is narrated from Ali ibn Muhammad, in a mursal manner, from abu al-Hassan al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following to one of his followers:

"May Allah, bestow upon you knowledge of the good, bear in mind that Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, is eternal. Eternity is that attribute which guides the man of reason (to the fact) that there was nothing before Him in eternity nor will there be anything with Him eternally. This attribute is a miraculous one. It has come to light from the acknowledgement of the 'Ammah (common people) that there is nothing before Allah and with Him eternally. At the same time, it invalidates the belief that there was something before or with Him. Had there been something with Him eternal He would not have been the Creator of that thing. If it had been with Him how then could He have been its creator? Had there been something before Him then that thing might have been His creator because of its existing earlier.

"Allah, the Most Holy, the Exalted, has ascribed certain names to Himself. He told His creatures when He created them, gave them the ability to worship Him and made them responsible, to call Him with those names. He called Himself All-hearing, All-seeing, All-powerful, Guarding, Rationalizing, Manifest, Hidden, Subtle, All-aware, Powerful, Majestic, Wise, All-knowing and with such other similar names. When the anger mongers who speak lies heard us mention such names as, 'There is nothing similar to Him' and 'Nothing of the creatures is like Him,' they began to speak out. 'When you (the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant) say that there is nothing like Him and no one is similar to Him then how can you also have those beautiful names for yourselves? This is proof that you are similar to Him or in certain conditions and not in other conditions because of having all those beautiful names.'

"To answer, it can be said to them that Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, made it necessary for His servants to have certain names from among His names but with differences in the meanings. (This is true); one name may have two different meanings. One example of this is what people consider permissible and is widely used. On this basis Allah has addressed people. He has spoken to them by means of things that they understand so that they will have no excuse in their misdeeds.

"A man is sometimes called a dog, a bull, sweet, bitter and a lion. All these are different from him and his conditions. In such expressions the names are not used in their original meaning; man is not a lion or a dog and so forth. Note this carefully, may Allah grant you blessings.

"Allah is called All-knowing. It (His knowledge) is other than the created knowledge. With His knowledge of things He knows things and uses the knowledge to preserve His future commands and the process of whatever He creates of His creatures, and destroys what He destroys of His creatures. Without such knowledge He would be weak and ignorant. We know that men of knowledge among people are called knowledgeable because of the created knowledge, which they did not have at one time. Perhaps such knowledge will go away from them and they will become ignorant.

"Allah is called All-knowing; He is not ignorant of anything. Thus, the Creator and created are both called, as having knowledge but the meaning is different, as you may have noticed above. Our Lord is called All-hearing but His hearing is not through the perforated piece (of material in the ear) and with sound, so He could hear but would not see with it, which is the case with us. We do not see with what we hear but Allah has told us that from Him nothing of the sounds is hidden. His hearing is not in the way we are called hearing people. We are also called hearing but the meaning is different. In the same way is 'Seeing.' His seeing is not that He sees through a hole as we do and we cannot use it for other uses. Allah sees but not by looking to an object. We also are called 'Seeing' but the meaning is different.

"Allah is called Standing but not in the sense of standing in an upright position on the legs, as is the case with other things. It (His standing) is in the sense that He has said 'He is preserving'. It is in the sense of the saying of a man, 'Standing for our affairs.' Allah stands over every soul and what it gains. The word standing is also in the usage of people. Words like remaining and standing also mean to suffice as in the words that one may say to a man, 'Stand up over the affairs of so and so,' which means dealing with them with efficiency and an overseeing manner. We stand on our legs, thus, the name is similar but the meaning is different.

"The name, Subtle is not in the sense of fastidiousness or being infinitesimal but it is in the rarity and hard to perceive nature of things. An example is the expression, 'It has become very delicate for me,' 'So and so is very fine in his manners and dealings.' This 'Delicateness' and 'Fineness' means that it is profound for one's intelligence and difficult to find. It has become bottomless and delicate so much so that even imagination is not able to reach it. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, is highly Subtle to be comprehended through definitions or combined in an attribute or in the way we are subtle, small and delicate. Names are the same but different in meaning.

"The name al-Khabir, meaning All-aware, is for one who knows all things completely but not by means of experience and learning lessons from the past. Experience and learning from mistakes are the means of learning for people. Without them (experience and so forth) there no knowledge could exist. One without experience and learning lessons is an ignorant person. Allah is eternally All-aware of what He has created, but well aware and expert among people are those who ask questions and learn. Our names are the same but they, again, are different in meaning.

"The name (of Allah), al-Zahir means clear, or face to face or conspicuous. It does not mean that He is (physically) found over and on top of all things or sitting on them at their peak. It means that He is dominant and has power over all things. An example of this is when a person says, 'I overcame my enemies or Allah gave me victory over my enemies,' it is the report of the failure and victory. So also is Allah's domination over all things. Another example is that His existence is clear for those who want (to know) Him. Nothing is hidden from Him and He is the guardian of all that He has curved and fashioned. Whose existence can be clearer than that of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High? You will not live without His creatures, no matter where you may be. Within your own self alone there is enough of His creation. His existence by far is clearer than ours is. He manifests all by His Own Self and is known by His Own Self. We are of the same name but the meaning is different.

"The name al-Batin means something hidden or the inside of something. This is not in the sense of being inside of things by means of diving or so but is in the sense of His dealing, having knowledge, preserving and regulating the inside of all things. As one may say, 'I tried to find the inside to learn and discover the secrets.' Hidden for us is what is unseen and covered. In this case again our names are the same but different in meaning.

"The name al-Qahir means subduing. It is not in the sense of plotting, using certain devices and speaking attractive words or cunning means. It is not the way people subdue each other. The victorious among people may become subdued and vice versa. For Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, all the creatures have the garment of weakness on them. Due to the absence of obstacles in what He wills about them, it only takes less than a blinking of the eye to say, 'Be' and it is. It comes into existence. Subduing in our case is how I mentioned and explained. Our names are alike but the meaning is different. Thus is the case for all the names although we have not mentioned all of them. For learning a lesson what we have mentioned for you is sufficient. May Allah be your and our helper in the matters of guidance and success.'"

Chapter Eighteen

The Interpretation of al-Samad (Self-sufficient)

H 319, Ch. 18, h1

Ali ibn Muhammad and Muhammad ibn al-Hassan has narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad from Muhammad ibn al-Walid, whose title was Shabab al-Sayrafi from Dawud ibn al-Qasim al-Ja'fari who said the following:

"Once I asked Imam abu Ja'far al-Thani, the 2nd, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'May Allah keep my soul in your service, what is the meaning of the word al-Samad?' The Imam replied, 'Al-Samad means the Lord to Whom one turns for help, in a big or small matter.'"

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn abu 'Abd Allah from Muhammad ibn 'Isa from Yunus ibn 'Abd al-Rahman from al-Hassan ibn al-Sari from Jabir ibn Yazid al-Ju'fi who said the following:

"I asked (Imam) abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, a few things about the Oneness of Allah. The Imam replied, 'Allah, Holy are Whose names and with which He is mentioned, is Exalted and Most High by His Own Self. He is One. In Oneness He is the One and only One for His Oneness. He then made His creatures to know Him as the only One. He is One, Self-sufficient and the Holy. All things worship (obey) Him and He has the knowledge of all things.'"

Al-Kulayni has said the following. "This is the correct meaning of al-Samad. What al-Mushabbihah (people who consider Allah similar to certain things) believe is not correct. Al-Samad literally means solid as opposed to hollow, which applies only to physical objects. Allah, the Most High, is by far highly exalted above such attributes. Had such attributes applied to Allah, the Most High, the Most Gracious, it would have contradicted His statement that says, 'There is nothing similar to Him.'

"In the Ahadith of the scholar (the Imam), recipient of divine supreme covenant, the scholars know better, al-Samad refers to a master whom people consider a recourse or stronghold and such meaning is close to Allah's words, 'There is nothing similar to Him.' (42:11) An example of such usage is what abu Talib had expressed in praise of the Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, during his performing Hajj and during throwing pebbles onto the pillars of stones that symbolically stand for Satan. He has used the word al-Samad to mean ‘Aiming:

“At the farthest of pillars when they (people) Samadu (aimed);
They followed him (the Holy Prophet),
In throwing pebbles on the head of the pillars that stand for Satan

“A certain poet of pre-Islamic time has said, ‘I did not think there was any other known house around Makkah besides the House of Allah that people seek and aim for blessing.’

“Another example is found in the expression of ibn Zabarqan, ‘Mr. Rahibah is but a master and (al-Samad) a recourse.’

“One more example can be found in the expression of Shaddad ibn Mu’awiya about Kudhayfa ibn Badr, ‘Hold it O Hudhayfa, you are a master (al-Samad) recourse.’ There are many such examples in normal usage. To Allah, the Majestic, the Most High, the Master and the Recourse, all man and Jinn turn for help in their difficulties and from Whom they expect relief.’”

Chapter Nineteen

Motion and Change

H 321, Ch. 19, h1

Muhammad ibn abu ‘Abd Allah has narrated from Muhammad ibn Isma’il al-Barmaki from Ali ibn ‘Abbass al-Kharadhini from al-Hassan ibn Rashid from Ya‘qub ibn Ja’far al-Ja’fari, from abu Ibrahim, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

“A people were mentioned, before the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant. They believed that Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, comes down to the sky above the earth. The Imam (recipient of divine supreme covenant) said, ‘Allah does not come down and He does not need to come down. His sight for near and far is the same. Near does not become far for Him and far does not become near for Him. He does not become needy for anything, but all things need Him and He is generous. There is no Lord except Him. He is Most Majestic and All-wise. The statement that says Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, comes down to the sky over the earth can only come from those who consider Him to decrease or increase (in size). Besides, all moving objects need something to move them or move because of them. Whoever thinks of Allah as such has caused his own destruction. Be very careful about the attributes of Allah so you will not establish a belief about them that may amount to limit Him through increase or reduction, moving or being moved, removal or His coming down, standing up or sitting down. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, is by far above being described by those who like to describe Him, or being characterized by those who do so or pictured in imagination. Have trust in Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Merciful, Who sees you when you get up and when you change positions during the state of prostration.’”

It is narrated from him (the narrator of the above Hadith), in a marfu‘ manner, from al-Hassan ibn Rashid from Ya‘qub ibn Ja’far from abu Ibrahim, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said the following:

“I do not say that He is standing so I remove Him from His place. I do not limit Him in a place. I do not limit Him by His moving in something with key elements of the body or body parts. I do not limit Him by ascribing the movements of mouth or tongue. The truth is what Allah, the Most Holy, the Most

It is narrated from him (the narrator of the above Hadith) from Muhammad ibn abu ‘Abd Allah from Muhammad ibn Isma‘il from Dawud ibn ‘Abd Allah from ‘Amr ibn Muhammad from ‘Isa ibn Yunus who said the following:

“Once, Ibn abu al-‘Awja said to (Imam) abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, in one of their conversations, ‘You spoke of Allah and referred to an unseen.’ The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘What you said is not proper. How would He be unseen when He is present with His creatures and is closer to them than their jugular vein? He hears their speeches, sees their persons and knows their secrets.’

“Ibn abu al-‘Awja then said, ‘Is He everywhere? If He is in the heavens, how can He, at the same time, be on earth and when He would be on earth then how can He be in the heavens at the same time?’

“The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘You spoke only of a creature that with changing place another place becomes occupied with it and another place is vacated from him and does not know what has happened to the place where he used to be. Allah’s position is great. He is the King, Who has full account of all things. No place is without Him and He does not occupy any place. He is not nearer to one place than another place.’”

Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad from Muhammad ibn ‘Isa who said the following:

“Once I wrote to Imam abu al-Hassan, Ali ibn Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, to clarify a question, ‘May Allah keep my soul in your service, O my master, it is narrated to us that Allah is in one place and not in another place on ‘Arsh (the Throne), resting. He comes down to the sky above the earth every night during the last half of the night. It is narrated that He comes down at the ninth evening of the month of Dhu al-Hajj and then He returns back to His place. Certain individuals among your friends have said that if He is found in certain places and not in other places the air must have come in contact with Him and surrounded Him because air is a thin form of body that surrounds everything proportionate to its size. How then can the air surround Allah, the Most Holy and the Most High, according to this assumption?’

“The Imam replied in writing, ‘He has the knowledge of this. He is the best One in having the true measurements of all things. You must, however, note that His being in the sky over the earth is just as He is on the Throne. All things to Him are the same in the matters of His knowledge and power, domination and control.’”

Muhammad ibn Ja’far al-Kufi has narrated from Muhammad ibn ’Isa a similar Hadith.

“There is not a single place wherein any secret counsel can take place among any three people without Allah being the fourth . . .” (58:7)

H 325, Ch. 19, h5
It is narrated from him (the narrator of the above Hadith) from a group of our people from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Khalid from Ya'qub ibn Yazid from ibn abu 'Umayr from ibn 'Udhayna from (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said the following:

"There is not a single place wherein any secret counsel can take place among any three people without Allah being the fourth, nor five people without His being the sixth . . ." (58:7) It means He is One, the One only of His Own Self. He is distinct from His creatures and as such He has said about His Own Self, 'He has control over all things through His presence, control and power. Nothing as small as an atom in the heavens or earth is absent from Him, not even things smaller or bigger.' It is all through His control and knowledge not by His Self. It is because the places are limited by the four boundaries. If it (control) is by His Self it limits Him.'"

Ali ibn Muhammad and Muhammad ibn al-Hassan have narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad from al-Hassan ibn Musa al-Khashshab from certain persons of his people from (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who (the narrator) has said the following:

"Once a person asked the Imam about the words of Allah, 'The Beneficent is dominant over the Throne.' (20:5)

"The Imam said, 'Allah established His control over all things. No one thing is closer to Him than any other thing.'"

H 327, Ch. 19, h7
Sahl through the same chain of narrators has narrated from al-Hassan ibn Mahbub from Maridin the following:

"A person once asked (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah about the words of Allah, 'The Beneficent is dominant over the Throne.' (20:5) The Imam said, 'It means He established His control in all things.'"

H 328, Ch. 19, h8
It is narrated from him (narrator of the above Hadith) from Muhammad ibn Yahya from Muhammad ibn al-Husayn from Safwan ibn Yahya from 'Abd al-Rahman ibn al-Hajjaj from (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, the following:

"About the words of Allah, 'The Beneficent is dominant over the Throne,' (20:5) the Imam said, 'No single thing is closer to Him than any other thing. The far is not far for Him and the near is not closer to Him. All are the same to Him.'"

It is narrated from him (narrator of previous Hadith) from Muhammad ibn Yahya from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Isa from al-Husayn ibn Sa'id from al-Nadr ibn Suwayd from 'Asim ibn Humayd from abu Basir from (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said the following:

"Whoever may think that Allah is from things or in things or on things has become an atheist. I asked the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'Please explain to me.' The Imam said, 'I intend thereby His being contained, held or being preceded.'"

In another Hadith it is said, "Whoever believes that Allah is from things has considered Him as created. Whoever thinks that He is in things has considered Him as surrounded. Whoever thinks that He is on things has considered Him as being carried."

A Note on the Words of Allah:

"It is Allah who is the Lord of the heavens and is the Lord on earth. He is All-wise and All-knowing." (43:84)

H 330, Ch. 19, h10
Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from ibn abu 'Umayr from Hisham ibn al-Hakam who said the following:

"Abu Shakir al-Daysani once said, 'In the Quran there is a verse that says what we say.' I asked, 'What is that?' He replied, 'It is Allah who is the Lord of the heavens and is the Lord on earth. He is All-wise and All-knowing (43:84).' I did not know the answer, whether the above verse speaks of two Lords or one. During Hajj I mentioned it to (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah who said, 'This is the statement of a wicked atheist. When you go back say to him, 'What is your name in Basra?' He will say so and so. Ask, 'What is your name in al-Kufa?' He will say so and so. Say to him, 'In the same way is our Lord in the heavens. He is the King in the heavens and the Lord on earth. He is the Lord in oceans and on land and in all places.'

"The narrator has said, 'I came back, went to abu Shakir and explained to him the answer.' He said, 'This (answer) is brought from al- Hijaz.'"

Chapter Twenty
About al-'Arsh and al-Kursi

H 331, Ch. 20, h1
A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad al-Barqi, in a marfu' manner, the following:

"Jathaliq, a Christian scholar, asked Imam Ali ibn abu Talib, recipient of divine supreme covenant, saying, 'Tell me about Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High. Does He carry the 'Arsh or does the 'Arsh carry Him?' Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, replied, 'Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, is the One Who carries and has lifted the 'Arsh, the heavens and earth and all that is between them (from banishment). Allah prevents the heavens and the earth from falling apart. If they fall apart, then no one besides Him is able to restore them. He is All-forbearing and All-forgiving.' (35:41)

"He then asked, 'Tell me about His words, "The angels will be around the heavens and on that day eight of them will carry the Throne of your Lord above all the creatures." (69:17) How has He said it? You just said that He carries the heavens, earth and all that is between them.' Amir al-Mu'minin then said, 'Allah, the Most High, created al-'Arsh (the Throne) from four lights. From a red wherefrom the redness became red, a green light from which the greenness became green and yellow light whereby the yellowness became yellow. He created it from a white light wherefrom is white and it is the knowledge which Allah has made the carriers to carry and that is the light of His greatness. With His greatness and His light He has given sight to the hearts of believers. Because of His greatness and light the ignorant ones have become His enemies. Through His greatness and light all in the heavens and on earth and all His creatures seek to reach Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, by means of their various deeds and mixed religions. All that is carried Allah carries them with the light of His greatness and power. They are not able to do any benefit, or harm, death or life or resurrection. All things are carried. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, preserves them from banishment and has control over both of them (the heavens and earth). He is the life of all things and the light of all things. Glorious is He, the Most High and by far is above what they say about Him. He is very High above them with Greatness.'

"The man then said, 'Tell me about Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, where is He?' Amir al-Mu'minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'He is here. He is there, above, below, encompassing us and with us as He has said, "There is not a single place wherein any secret counsel can take place among any three people without Allah being the fourth, nor five people without His being the sixth nor any gathering of more or fewer people, wherever it may be, without His being with them . . ." (58:7) Al-Kursi contains the heavens and the earth and all that is between them and below the soil. If you say anything aloud, He knows the secrets and the hidden as mentioned in His words, 'The heavens and the earth are under His dominion (contained in His al-Kursi). He does not experience fatigue in preserving them both. He is the High, and the Greatest.' (2:255) Thus, those who carry al-'Arsh (the Throne) are the scholars whom Allah has made to carry His knowledge. There is nothing that Allah has created in the heavens and in the earth that is out of these four that He has shown to those whom he has chosen. He showed them to His friend Ibrahim, peace be upon him, saying, 'Also, We showed (Abraham) the kingdom of the heavens and the earth to strengthen his faith.' (6:75) How can the carriers of al-'Arsh (the Throne) carry Allah when with life from Him their hearts receive life and with His light they find guidance to know Him.'"

Ahmad ibn Idris has narrated from Muhammad ibn 'Abd al-Jabbar from Safwan ibn Yahya who said the following:

"Once, abu Qurrah, the narrator of Hadith asked me for help to meet Imam Ali, abu al-Hassan al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant. I requested the Imam to meet him and he agreed. Abu Qurrah asked the Imam about the lawful and unlawful matters and then said, 'Do you affirm that Allah is carried?' Imam abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, replied, 'Everything in an objective case is related to another thing and is dependent. Being carried is the name for verbal defect. On the other hand, carrier is in a subjective case and it verbally is a word to convey praises and so is the expression of one who says, "Above, below, upper and lower." Allah has said, "For Him there are beautiful names, thus, call Him through those names." He (Allah) has not said anywhere in His books that He is al-Mahmul (Being carried). He has, in fact, said that He is the carrier in the sea and on land and the preserver of the heavens and earth from banishment. Al-Mahmul (being carried) are things other than Allah. It is never heard from anyone who believed in Allah and His greatness saying in his prayers Ya Mahmul (O the one being carried).'

"Abu Qurrah then said, 'He Himself has said, "The angels will be around the heavens and on that day eight of them will carry the Throne of your Lord above all the creatures." (69:17) Also He has said, 'Those who carry the Throne (al-'Arsh).'

"Imam abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, 'Al-'Arsh (the Throne) is not Allah. Al-'Arsh is the name of knowledge and power. In al-'Arsh there is everything. Besides, He has ascribed carrying to things other than His Own Self. It is ascribed to a creature among His creatures. This is because He has made His creatures to worship Him through carrying His al-'Arsh (the Throne) and they are the carrier of His knowledge. There is a creature who speaks of His praise around His al-‘Arsh (the Throne) and acts according to His knowledge, and the angels write down the deeds of His servants. He has made those on earth to worship Him in the form of Tawaf (walking around) His house. Allah has control over al-‘Arsh (the Throne) as He has said, ‘Allah carries al-‘Arsh, those who carry it and those around it, preserves them, keeps them together and is the guardian of all souls and above and over all things.’ It is not permissible to say that He is carried. He is below. It would be the only expression that would not make any sense. Thus, both the word and the meaning are destroyed.’

“Abu Qurrah then said, ‘Do you then consider a false Hadith the Hadith that says, ‘When Allah becomes angry His anger becomes known to the angels who carry al-‘Arsh. They at such time feel the weight of His anger on their shoulders. They then bow down in prostration. When Allah’s anger goes away it becomes light and the angels return to their places’?

“Imam abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘Tell me about Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High. From the time He condemned Satan until today is He not angry with Satan? When did He become happy with Satan? As you say He is still angry with Satan, his friend and followers. How dare you speak of your Lord as undergoing changes from one condition to another condition and that what happens to the creatures happens to Him also? He is the Most Glorious, the Most High. He does not banish with those who banish and does not change with those who change. He is not replaced with those who are replaced. The creatures are under His guardianship and they all are dependent on Him. He is Self-sufficient and independent of others.’”

Muhammad ibn al-Hassan has narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad from ibn Mahbub from ‘Abd al-Rahman ibn Kathir from Dawud al-Riqqyy who said the following:

“Once I asked (Imam) abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the words of Allah, ‘. . . His Throne existed on water . . . (11:8).’ The Imam asked, ‘What do they say about it?’ I said, ‘They say that al-‘Arsh (the Throne) was on the water and the Lord was on top of it.’ The Imam then said, ‘They have said a lie. Whoever thinks as such has considered Allah as being carried and has described Him with the qualities of the creatures which means that the thing that carries Him is stronger than Him.’ I then asked, ‘May Allah keep my soul in your service, please explain it to me.’ The Imam then said, ‘Allah made water to carry His religion and His knowledge before there were the earth, the heavens, the Jinn, the human beings, the sun and the moon. When Allah willed to create the creatures He spread them before His-Self and said to them, “Who is your Lord?” The people who spoke first were the Holy Prophet and Amir al-Mu’minin Ali and all ‘A’immah (plural of Imam), recipient of divine supreme covenant. They all said, ‘You are our Lord.’ He then made them to carry the religion and the knowledge. Then He spoke to the angels saying, ‘These are the carriers of My religion and knowledge, My trustees in My people and they are the ones from whom questions will be asked.’ Then Allah spoke to the children of Adam saying, ‘Acknowledge that Allah is the Lord and acknowledge that these people are the Authorities (of Allah) among you and that obedience to them is obligatory.’ They said, ‘O our Lord, we acknowledge.’

“Allah then told the angels, ‘Bear witness to this.’ The angels said, ‘We bear witness so that they will not say tomorrow, “We were not aware of this or say that our forefathers worshipped idols before us and we were only their offspring. Will You then destroy us just because of what the followers of falsehood have done?” O Dawud, our Divine Authority over them was strongly stressed upon at the time of the covenant.’”

(Imam) abu ‘Abd Allah replied, ‘This is a created spirit and the spirit in Jesus is created.’” from al-Hajjal from Tha'laba from Humran who said the following:

"Once I asked (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the words of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, 'The spirit from Him.' (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah replied, 'It is the spirit (Ruh) from Allah created in Adam and Jesus.'"

H 340, Ch. 21, h3
Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from Muhammad ibn Khalid from Qasim ibn 'Urwa from 'Abd al-Hamid al- Ta'i from Muhammad ibn Muslim who said the following:
"I asked (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the words of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, 'I have blown My Spirit into it.' (15:29)
"The Imam replied, 'The spirit has motion like winds. It is called spirit (Ruh) because the word is a derivative of Rih (wind). This derivative is selected because the spirits are similar or are of the genus of the Rih (wind). He has spoken about it in a possessive case that refers to His Own Self; He selected it from among the other spirits just as He has said about a house from among the houses 'My house' and to a messenger from among the messengers 'My friend' and so on. All such things are created, invented, newly produced and are cherished by the Lord.'"

It is narrated from a number of our people from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Khalid from his father from 'Abd Allah ibn Bahr from abu Ayyub al-Khazzaz from Muhammad ibn Muslim who said the following:
"I asked (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about what people narrate that Allah created Adam in His Own form. The Imam replied, 'It is created in a newly invented form. Allah selected and chose it over the other various forms and He has spoken about it in a possessive case that refers to His Own Self just as He has done about Ka'ba and the spirit saying, 'My Ka'ba (house),' 'I have blown 'My spirit' in Him.'"

Chapter Twenty Two
Comprehensive (Ahadith) About the Oneness of Allah

H 342, Ch. 22, h1
Muhammad ibn abu 'Abd Allah and Muhammad ibn Yahya both in a marfu' manner have narrated from (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said the following:
"Imam Amir al-Mu'minin Ali ibn abu Talib, recipient of divine supreme covenant, mobilized people against Mu'awiya for the second time and when people came in multitudes he stood up to give a speech. 'All praise is due to Allah, the One, only One, the Self-sufficient, the Single One Who was not from anything nor did He create from anything that was there, from something that had come into being before. He is the power, With His power He is distinct from others and the other things became manifest through His power. There is no attribute that can reach Him and He has no limit for a definition or an analogy. All the linguistic beauty and expressions fall far short of expressing His attributes. In speaking of Him all attributes prove to be misleading. The depths of the schools of thought are perplexed and confused about the wonders of His kingdom. All the comprehensive interpretations have remained far short of establishing any ground in His knowledge. The barriers of the unseen have curtained His treasured secrets. The high-flying ambitious intelligences with the ability to reach the depth of very subtle matters lose their way at the very beginning of their journey to Him. Most Holy is Allah. To Him not even the most far-reaching ambitions can reach. No deep-diving intelligence is able to comprehend Him. Most High is He Who is not subject to the effects of any calculated time or extended period or limited attributes. Glorious is He Who has no beginning for His start, destination to approach or end to diminish. Glorious is He Who is just the way He Himself has introduced. All those who speak of His praise can never praise Him fully and duly. He designed a limit for everything at the time He created it. It is due to their dissimilarity to Him and His dissimilarity to them. He is not housed in anything so that it could be said that He is within something. He is not far from anything so that it could be said that He has nothing to do with them (the creatures). He has not distanced Himself from them so that it can be said where is He? He is Most Glorious (and above such associations). He has encompassed all things through His knowledge. He has made their design firm and has enumerated them for safe preservation. Even the unseen and hidden things in the air, are not unnoticed to Him. Things deeply hidden in the darkness of black nights, all things high above in heavens and down to the lowest earth are not unnoticed to Him. For everything therein is a protector (through Him) and a guard. Everything therein has limits within something and is a limit for a certain thing.

"He is the One, the only One, the Self-sufficient, Who is not subject to the changes due to time. The creation of things never overburdens Him. He only, when willing, commands it to exist (and it comes into existence). He invented whatever He has created without any examples to follow and without experiencing any feeling of being overburdened or exhausted. All manufacturers manufacture things from something. Allah has not created whatever He has created from a thing. Every knowledgeable person learns after being ignorant. He has not been ignorant and has not learned from anyone. He has encompassed all things through His knowledge before their coming into existence and their existence has not increased anything in His knowledge. He knew them before their coming into existence just as He knows them after their coming into existence. He did not bring them into existence to strengthen His authority or for fear of banishment or reduction. He did not bring them into existence as helpers against a competing opponent, or a peer who could be of more (power) or a partner who could show greatness. He created them as creatures that required preservation and protection as subdued servants.

"Glorious is He, Who was not made tired in the creation of what He has created or the preservation of all that He has formed into being. He did not undergo in this work any weakness or exhaustion. Whatever He has created He has deemed it sufficient. He knows what He has created and created what He knew. It did not happen as a result of a new thought that He found to be a correct one nor because of some doubts that He may have found in whatever He had not yet created. It is due to His unchangeable decree, His firm knowledge and resolute command. He is the One and Only Lord and is very special in His Oneness. He is pure in His Glory and praise. He is the only one in Oneness, the Glory, in Highness, in Oneness in Praiseworthiness and in Glory and Gloriousness. He is Most High above the need of having children. He is Most Holy and clean from involvement in touching women and Most Majestic and Glorious and free from needing association with partners. In whatever He has created there is nothing to oppose Him nor is there anything in what He created to stand parallel to Him, and He is by far above what the unjust think Him to be.'"

Al-kulayni has said that this sermon of Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, is one of his well-known sermons. It has become so common that ordinary people have almost overlooked it. This sermon is a sufficient text on the subject of Oneness of Allah if one gives it careful thought and understands its contents. All Jinn and man may come together, including the prophets, to explain the subject of the Oneness of Allah but they will not be able to do as he (Imam Ali) has done. May Allah keep my soul and the souls of my parents in service for his cause. Had his explanation of this subject not been available people could never have known how to follow the path of monotheism.

Consider his words, ". . . Who was not from anything nor did He create from anything that was there from something that had come into being before." 'Who was not from anything,' is the basis for belief that He is not created. His words like creation and invention without a substance or pattern are the negation of the belief in the eternity of the creatures that says, 'Things have come into being one from the other." They (his words) also negate the belief of the dualists who say that things must come into being from some basics and through experimentation. His words "Nor did He create from anything what was there from something that had come into being before" negate such beliefs.

It is because people who believe in dualist ideas say that the creator has created the creatures either from something or from nothing.

However, to believe that He created from something is false. To say "He created things from nothing" is a contradiction. The expression "from" requires something existing. The expression "nothing" refers to non-existence. Thus, it is a contradiction.

Amir al-Mu'minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has come up with an expression that is clear of such complexity in a very eloquent manner. He has said, 'Nor did He create anything that was there from something that had come into being before.' He has not mentioned the 'from' that required something existing. He negated something in saying 'Everything is created and contingent,' not that the Creator has made them out of some existing basics as those believing in dual dogma maintain so that His would not be considered a new design.

The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then has said, 'There is no attribute that can reach Him and He has no limit for a definition or an analogy. All the linguistic beauty and expressions fall far short of expressing His attributes.' This is a negation of those who believe in similitude and analogize Him with a crystal and so forth, such as length and balance and so on. They say, 'Until the hearts do not form something from Him with certain qualities in a certain form or shape it (the heart) will not understand anything about Him. Thus, the existence of the Creator will not be proved.'

Amir al-Mu'minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has explained that He is one without qualities and that hearts know Him without assigning any form or limitation for Him.

The Imam then has said, '. . . to Him not even far-reaching ambitions are able to reach. No deep diving intelligence is able to comprehend Him. Most High is He Who is not subject to the effects of any calculated time or extended period or limited attributes.' Then he has said, 'He is not housed in anything so that it could be said that He is within something. He is not far from anything so that it could be said that He has nothing to do with them (the creatures).' With these two statements he has negated from Him the characteristics of the bodies and matters related to it such as distance and contrariness and related matters such as being in something or at a distance distinctly from something.

Then the Imam has said, 'He has encompassed all things through His knowledge. He has made their design firm,' which means He has control over all things with plans and decree not by means of physical contact and so forth.

أن الْقُلُوب تعرِفُه بِلَا تصوِيرٍ و لَا إِحاطَةٍ ثُم قَولُه ع الذِي لَا يبلُغه بعد الْهممِ و لَا ينالُه غَوص الْفِطَنِ و تعالَى الذِي لَيس لَه وقْتٌ معدودٌ و لَا أَجلٌ ممدودٌ و لَا نعتٌ محدودٌ

ثُم قَولُه ع لَم يحلُلْ فِي الْأَشياءِ فَيقَالَ هو فِيها كَائِنٌ و لَم ينأ عنها فَيقَالَ هو مِنها بائِنٌ فَنفَى ع بِهاتينِ الْكَلِمتينِ صِفَةَ الْأَعراضِ و الْأَجسامِ لِأَن مِن صِفَةِ الْأَجسامِ التباعد و الْمباينةَ و مِن صِفَةِ الْأَعراضِ الْكَونَ فِي الْأَجسامِ بِالْحلُول علَى غَيرِ مماسةٍ و مباينةُ الْأَجسامِ علَى تراخِي الْمسافَةِ ثُم قَالَ ع لَكِن أَحاطَ بِها عِلْمه و أَتقَنها صنعه أَي هو فِي الْأَشياءِ بِالْإِحاطَةِ و التدبِيرِ و علَى غَيرِ ملَامسةٍ

With these two statements he has negated from Him the characteristics of the bodies and matters related to it such as distance and contrariness and related matters such as being in something or at a distance distinctly from something.

Then the Imam has said, 'He has encompassed all things through His knowledge. He has made their design firm,' which means He has control over all things with plans and decree not by means of physical contact and so forth.

Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from Salih ibn Hammad from al-Husayn ibn Yazid from al-Hassan ibn Ali ibn abu Hamza from Ibrahim from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said the following:

"Allah, Most Holy is His name, the Most High is His praise and the Most Glorious are His attributes. He is the Most Sacred, the Most Holy, the only One in oneness. He is eternal, the First and the Last, the Manifest and the Hidden. There is no beginning for Him. He is the most exalted in His highness. He is the highest in power, exalted in authority, of greatest kingdom, the most bountiful and His highness is the most high. He is the One Whom no one can completely praise or know His Lordship completely. No one is able to limit Him; it is not possible to reach His reality with qualities."

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from al-Mukhtar ibn Muhammad ibn al-Mukhtar and Muhammad ibn al-Hassan from 'Abd Allah ibn al-Hassan al-'Alawi all from al-Fath ibn Yazid al-Jurjani who said the following:

"Once on a road on my way back from Makka to Khurasan I met Imam abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, the 2nd, who was going to Iraq, and I heard him say, 'Whoever observes piety before Allah is protected and whoever obeys Allah he is obeyed.' I calmly walked to him and on reaching him I offered my salutation of peace and he responded likewise and said, 'O Fath whoever pleases Allah is not worried about the anger of people. Whoever causes the Creator to become angry with him he deserves that Allah subject him to the anger of the people. One can only speak of the attributes of the Creator the way He Himself has spoken about His attributes. How can a person speak of One Whom none of the senses is able to perceive? Senses remain frustrated and even the imagination is not able to comprehend Him. No one's sharp guessing ability can reach Him in any way or manner. No eye can limit Him in any manner. He is far above the description of those who speak of His attributes. He is above the praise of those who speak of His praise. He is far in His nearness and is near in His being far. He in His farness is near and is far in His nearness. He has given condition to the conditions and has made space for the space. No one can say that He is in a condition or is somewhere. No one can say about Him 'Where' and 'How' because He is by far high above the conditions and places.'"

Muhammad ibn abu ‘Abd Allah in marfu‘ manner has narrated from (Imam) abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said the following:

“Once Imam Amir al-Mu’minin Ali ibn abu Talib, recipient of divine supreme covenant, addressed the people in the Mosque of Kufa from the pulpit and a man called Dhi’lab, a very good orator and brave in heart said, ‘O Amir al-Mu’minin, have you seen your Lord?’ The Imam replied, ‘Fie upon you, O Dhi’lab, how I worship a lord whom I do not see?

“The man said, ‘O Amir al-Mu’minin how have you seen Him?’ The Imam said, ‘Fie up on you, O Dhi’lab, the eyes are not able to see Him physically but it is the hearts that see Him through the reality of belief. O Dhi’lab, my Lord is Subtle in subtleties but cannot be described by means of subtle matters. My Lord is Great but cannot be described by means of greatness. His greatness surpasses all greatness but he cannot be described by means of any such greatness. He is Glorious in His Glory but He cannot be described in terms of intensity. He is before everything and it cannot be said that something was before Him. He will be after all things but it cannot be said that there will be something after Him. He willed the existence of things but not by means of first thinking about it. He comprehends things but not with a great deal of effort. He is in all things but is not mixed with them, nor is He separate from them. He is clearly manifest but not with contacts and changes. He shines but not in the form of being found out with eyesight. He is far but not in the form of distance. He is near but not in the form of nearness. He is very fine but not in the form of physical fineness. He exists but not after nothingness. He acts but not because of being forced. He measures things but not by means of movement. He wills but not by means of thinking. He hears but not with tools. He sees but not with instruments. He is not contained in place and held up in times. Attributes do not limit Him and slumber does not seize Him. His Being was before the time and His existence was before nothingness. He was before eternity. His giving the sense of awareness proves that He does not need tools of sensing. His giving substance to the substances is proof that His Self is not a substance. The existence of a contrary to everything is proof that there is nothing contrary to Him. His giving comparability to things is proof that there is nothing similar to Him. He has made the light contrary to the darkness, the wetness to the dryness, the harshness to the softness and the coldness to heat. He combines the separating ones and separates their closeness. The separation among things is evidence of the existence of the One Who causes separation in them and their combination is evidence of the existence of the One Who combines them. It is just as Allah has said; ‘We have created everything in pairs so that perhaps you may take heed.’ (51:49)

“He has made a distinction between the before and after to show that there is no before and after for Him. The instincts show that the One who created the instincts Himself has no instinct. The time is evidence that there is no timing for the One Who made the time. His hiding things from each other is evidence that nothing hides them from their Creator. He was the Lord when there was nothing to enjoy His Lordship. He was to be worshipped when there was no worshipper. He had the knowledge when there was nothing to know. He was hearing when there was nothing to hear.’”

Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad from Shabab al-Sayrafi called Muhammad ibn al-Walid from Ali ibn Sayf from ‘Amira who has said that Isma‘il ibn Qutayba said the following:

“Once ‘Isa ibn al-Shalqan and I went to see (Imam) abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant. The Imam said, ‘It is strange that a group of people ascribe to Amir al-Mu’minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, certain things that he had never said. Amir al-Mu’minin addressed people in Kufa in the following words:

“All praise is due to Allah Who inspired His servants with His praise and designed their nature in a way that would give them the desire to acknowledge His Lordship. It is He Who guides people through His creation to His Own existence and His creatures are evidence of His eternity. The fact that His creatures are similar is evidence that there is nothing similar to Him. His signs are evidence of His great power. His Own Self prohibits acceptance of descriptions. His being seen with the eyes and His being comprehended in the imagination are prohibited as well. There is no time limit for His being in existence and there is no final destination for Him. Awareness cannot contain Him and coverings cannot cover Him. The curtain between Him and His creatures is His creating them. It (curtain) is impossibility in His case of what is possible in the essence of the creatures (such as weakness and so forth) and possibility of what is impossible in His case. It is also because of the difference between the Creator and the created, the Creator of limits and the limited and the Lord and the worshippers. He is One without being a unit of a particular kind. He is the Creator but not in terms of motion. He is seeing but not by means of devices and gears. He is hearing but not with distinguishing instruments. He observes but not by means of touching. He is hidden but not with covering. He is manifest and distinct but not due to lapse of distance. His eternity is beyond the reach of thinking and a stop for the aims of the intelligence. His reality has worn out the ability of sight and His Own Self has uprooted the fast spreading vines of imaginations. Whoever tries to describe Allah has thought of Him as limited and whoever considers Him limited has enumerated Him and whoever enumerates Him has invalidated His eternity. Whoever asks where is He, has considered Him as having an end. Whoever says on what is He, has considered Him as distanced. Whoever says wherein is He, has considered Him contained in something.’”

The above text is narrated from Muhammad ibn al-Husayn from Salih ibn Hamza from Fath ibn ‘Abd Allah Mawla Banu Hashim who said the following:

“Once I wrote to abu Ibrahim, recipient of divine supreme covenant, asking him about the Oneness of Allah. He wrote back to me in his own handwriting, ‘All praise is due to Allah, Who inspires His servants with His praise.’ He mentioned in it facts similar to those in the Hadith of Sahl ibn Ziyad (No. h5 above) . . . ‘His essence has uprooted the fast (spreading) vines of imagination’ with the following addition, ‘The first thing in His religion is to know Him. A perfect knowledge about Him is to know that He is One. A perfect belief in His Oneness is to negate all attributes from Him. Every attribute is evidence that it is different from what it is attributed to, that everything to which an attribute is ascribed is evidence that it is something other than the attribute. Both the attribute and whatever is attributed to are evidence that there are two things, which invalidate His being eternal. Whoever attributes a quality to Allah’s Self, has

It is narrated from a number of our people from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Khalid from his father from Ahmad ibn al-Nadr and others whom he mentioned from 'Amr ibn Thabit from a man whom he mentioned from abu Ishaq al-Subay'i from Harith al-A'war who said the following:

"Once Amir al-Mu'minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, gave a speech in the afternoon and people liked it very much because of the beautiful manner in which Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, was praised thereby. Abu Ishaq has said, 'I asked al-Harith, "Did you memorize the sermon?" Al-Harith said, 'Yes, I did write it down.' He then dictated it to us from his book. 'All praise is due to Allah, Who does not die and Whose wonders do not end. It is because everyday He has a task in the form of the invention of something that did not exist. It is He Who has no children so that He would share others in Majesty and He is not the child of others so that He would be inherited and Himself vanish. Imagination cannot comprehend Him to figure Him out in a certain form of similitude. The eyes have not perceived Him so that after changing position He would also change. It is He for Whose beginning there is no end, nor will there be any final destination for His being the last. It is He before Whom there is no time, and is not preceded by any previous era. He does not fall subject to defects of reduction or addition. Attributes for direction, place, and instruments do not apply to Him. It is He Who knows all the hidden matters and has surpassed all intelligence by what is evident in His creatures of plans and maintenance. It is He about Whom the prophets were asked and they did not speak of Him in terms of limits and parts. They spoke of His acts and showed people His signs. The intelligence of thinkers cannot deny Him; the One Who has created the heavens and earth and all that is in them and between them is the Creator and no one is able to stand up to His power. It is He, Who is different from the creatures and there is nothing similar to Him. It is He, Who has created the creatures for His worship and has given them the ability to obey Him. He has removed all their excuses (by means of the capabilities that He has placed in them), and by sending His authority (in the prophets and 'A'immah (pl. of Imam) among them (people). So that after knowing the authority whoever perishes, perish or gain salvation whoever likes to gain salvation. Benevolent is Allah to begin and to repeat.

"Then, Allah, to whom all praise is due, introduced praise for His Own Self. He ended the affairs of the world and the coming of the next life with praise for His Own Self saying, 'He has judged among them with the truth and it is said, 'All praise is due to Allah, Lord of the worlds.'

"All praise is due to Allah, Who has dressed up with greatness but without a body, Who has the gown of Majesty and Glory which has no similarity. It is He, Who has control over the Throne without losing such authority. He is exalted above the creatures but without being far from them or being in touch with them (physically). He has no limit to reach nor there is anything similar to Him to help know Him better. All things are humble before His power and might. All things, although great, are small before Him. All things respect His Greatness. They obey His authority and Majesty. Glimpses of eyes are weak and exhausted in trying to comprehend Him. The imaginations of the creatures fall far short of describing Him. He is the first before all things and there was no one before Him. He is the last after all things and there is no 'After' for Him. He has control over all things with might. He observes all places without moving thereto. No touching touches Him and no sense senses Him. He is the Lord in the heavens and the Lord on earth. He is All-wise and All-knowing. He has given firm shape and form to His creatures the way He willed but not with following previous examples or experiencing any fatigue in the creation of the things that He has created. In the cases of the two great and heavy creatures, mankind and Jinn, He began what He wanted to begin and invented what He wanted to invent, and the way He willed. He did what He did so that they would know through such evidence His Lordship. He made it possible for them to obey Him.

"We thank Him with all of His praise for all of His bounties. We ask Him for His guidance to give us wisdom in our affairs. We seek refuge with Him from the evil of our sinful deeds and ask Him to forgive our sins that we may have committed before. We testify that no one deserves to be obeyed and worshipped except Allah and that Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, is His servant and messenger. He sent him with truth as a prophet, as a sign of His existence and a guide to Him. We found guidance through him from straying and are saved through him from ignorance. Whoever obeys Allah and His messenger has indeed gained a great success and has earned a great reward. Whoever disobeys Allah and His messenger has indeed suffered a clear loss and is subject to a painful punishment. Do your best to succeed in obedience, listening, sincerity, good advice and proper support. Be helpful to yourselves to keep on the straight path and shun the detested matters. Deal among yourselves with truth and cooperate thereby with me. Hold back the unjust and feebleminded hands. Make others do good deeds and prevent them from committing unlawful deeds. Appreciate excellence of the excelling people. May Allah protect you and us through guidance and make you and us steadfast in piety. I ask Allah for forgiveness for myself and for you."

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Isa from Ali ibn al-Nu'man from Sayf ibn 'Umayr from those whom he mentioned from al-Harith ibn al-Mughirah al-Nasri who said the following:

"Once a person asked (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the meaning of the words of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, 'everything will be destroyed except the face of Allah . . .' (28:88)

"The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, asked, 'What do they say about it?' I replied, 'They say that everything

So also are His words, "One who obeys the Messenger has certainly obeyed Allah. . . .'" (4:80)

We are the Wajhu Allah (face of Allah, meaning a certain aspect of Allah's relation with people) that moves among you on earth. We are the eyes of Allah (overseers or observers from the side of Allah) in His creatures. We are the hands of Allah that are open with blessings for His servants. He made us His open hands over His servants with kindness and mercy. He has made us his face through which He is approached and his door that shows the way leading to Him. He made us His treasurers in the heavens and on earth. Through us the trees give fruit and the fruits ripen and the canals flow. Through us the skies send rain and plants grow on earth. Through our worship Allah is

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Muhammad ibn al-Husayn from Muhammad ibn Isma‘il ibn Bazi‘a from his uncle, Hamza ibn Bazi‘a from abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said the following:

“About the words of Allah, the Majestic, the Glorious, ‘When they invoked Our anger, We took revenge on them, . . .’ (43:55) the Imam said, ‘Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, does not become frustrated the way we do. But He has created friends for His Own Self who become frustrated and at times become happy. They are created. They worship (Allah). He has designed their happiness to be His Own happiness and their anger as His Own anger. It is because He has assigned them to guide people to Him and serve as proof of His existence. For this reason such conditions belong to them. This (anger) does not reach Allah the way it reaches people. The meaning is that just mentioned. He has also said, ‘Whoever humiliates My friends such people have declared war against Me with challenge.’ He has also said, ‘One who obeys the Messenger has certainly obeyed Allah . . .’ (4:80) ‘Those who pledge obedience to you are, in fact, pledging obedience to Allah.’ ‘The hands of Allah are above their hands. . . .’ (48:10) All of these and other similar cases mean what I just said. The same is the case with anger and happiness and other such matters. Had it been possible for frustration and anger to reach Allah one could have said that one-day Allah may vanish altogether. It is because if anger and frustration reached Him changes also could take place in Him, and thus He would not remain safe from banishment. As a result, there would exist no distinction between the being and the Designer, between the Almighty and those subject to such might and power. No distinction would exist between the created and the Creator. Allah is by far above such things, and is the Most High and Most Great. He is the Creator of all things not because he needed them. If it (the creation) would be without a need on His part then it would be impossible to limit Him with limits and conditions. Note this if Allah, the Most High, would will it to be so.’”

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Khalid from certain persons of our people from Muhammad ibn 'Amr al-Kufi brother of Yahya from Murazim ibn Hakim who said the following:
"I heard abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, saying, 'No prophet has ever proclaimed prophecy before acknowledging before Allah five things: Acknowledgement of al-Bada', the wish of Allah, the prostration, affirmation of worshipping and obedience.'"

١٤- و بِهذَا الْإِسنادِ عن أَحمد بنِ محمدٍ عن جعفَرِ بنِ محمدٍ عن يونس عن جهمِ بنِ أَبِي جهمةَ عمن حدثَه عن أَبِي عبدِ اللهِ ع قَالَ إِن الله عز و جل أَخبر محمداً ص بِما كَانَ منذُ كَانتِ الدنيا و بِما يكُونُ إِلَى انقِضاءِ الدنيا و أَخبره بِالْمحتومِ مِن ذَلِك و استثْنى علَيهِ فِيما سِواه

Through the same chain of narrators it is narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from Ja'far ibn Muhammad from Yunus from Jahm ibn abu Jahm from the one he narrated from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said the following:
"Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, informed Prophet Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about all that was there from the beginning of the world and that which will be there to the end of the world. He informed him about what is definite in them and made an exception about what is otherwise."

١٥- عِلِي بن إِبراهِيم عن أَبِيهِ عنِ الريانِ بنِ الصلْتِ قَالَ سمِعت الرضا ع يقُولُ ما بعثَ الله نَبِيّاً قَط إِلا بِتحرِيمِ الْخمرِ و أَنْ يقِر لِلهِ بِالْبداءِ

H 374, Ch. 24, h15
Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from al-Rayyan ibn al-Salt who said the following:
"Once I heard (Imam) al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, saying, 'Allah never sent a prophet without the law that prohibits the use of wine and without belief in al-Bada.'"

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from Mu'alla ibn Muhammad who said the following:

"Once the 'Alim (Imam) was asked, 'How is the knowledge of Allah? He replied, 'He knew, He wanted, He willed, He measured, He decreed and He allowed it to happen. He allowed happening what He had decreed and decreed what he had measured and measured what He had willed. From His knowledge was His wish. From His wish was His will and from His will was His measuring. From His measuring was His decree and from His decree was His allowing happening. Knowledge is before the wish. The wish is the second and the will is the third. Measuring happens upon the decree to allow it to happen. For Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, there is al-Bada' (new manifesto) in whatever He knows when He wants and in the will to measure things. When the decree is issued to allow it to happen then there is no al-Bada'. Thus, the knowledge of the object of knowledge is before it comes into existence. The wish for the object of wishing is before its substance. The will in what is willed is before it is established. The measuring of these objects of knowledge is before their details and before their reaching the stage of being manifested in their substance and time. The decree to allow it to happen is decisive in the acts with the body and what is perceived with the senses of the colored having smells and weight and measurement and things walking, crawling and creeping on earth of man, Jinn, birds, beasts and others that are comprehended with the senses.

"Al-Bada' happens with Allah in the matters that have no substance. When substance and the understood meaning appear then there is no al-Bada'. Allah does whatever He wants. With knowledge He knew things before their coming into existence. With the wish He recognized their qualities and their limits. He invented them before they became manifest. With the will He distinguished them in their colors and qualities. With measurement He measured their sustenance and made their beginning and end. With the decree He made public for people their places and guided them thereto. With allowing them to happen He explained the reasons and made the affairs public. This is how the planning and measuring of the Most Majestic, the All-knowing is.'"

Chapter Twenty Five
There Is Nothing in the Heavens and on Earth Without Seven Characteristics

H 376, Ch. 25, h1
A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Khalid from his father and Muhammad ibn Yahya from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Isa from al-Husayn ibn Sa'id and Muhammad ibn Khalid both from Fudala ibn Ayyub from Muhammad ibn 'Ammara from Hariz ibn 'Abd Allah and 'Abd Allah ibn Muskan both from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said the following:

"There is nothing in the heavens and on earth without these seven characteristics: the wish, the will, the measure, the decree, the permission, the record and the duration. Whoever thinks that he can do without any one of these has become an unbeliever."

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from Muhammad ibn Hafs from Muhammad ibn 'Ammara from Hariz ibn 'Abd Allah and ibn Muskan a similar Hadith.

“There is nothing in the heaven or on earth without seven: the decree, the measure, the will, the wish, the record (book), the duration and the permission. Whoever thinks something else has certainly spoken a lie against Allah or has rejected Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High.”

I asked, ‘What is the meaning of wish (Sha’a’)?’ The Imam replied, ‘It is to begin the act.’ I asked, ‘What is the meaning of measure (Qaddara)?’ The Imam replied, ‘It is measuring the length and the width of something.’ I asked, ‘What is the meaning of decree (Qada)?’ The Imam replied, ‘When He decrees He lets it happen and this is when its happening becomes unavoidable.’”

“Allah has two kinds of will and wish. He has a definite will and an intended will. He prohibits but He wants it. He commands but He does not want it. Consider that He prohibited Adam and his spouse from eating of the tree but He wanted them to eat. Had He not wanted their wish would not have materialized against Allah’s wish. Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn abu Nasr who said that (Imam) abu al-Hassan al-Rida has said the following:

"Allah said, 'O son of Adam through My wish you came into existence and it is you who wish for yourself whatever you wish. Through My power you fulfill your obligations and through My bounties you receive strength to disobey Me. I made you to hear and see and be strong. Whatever good you receive is from Allah and whatever evil afflicts you is from your own self. It is because I deserve credit in your good deeds and you are held responsible for your bad deeds. H 384, Ch. 27, h1
Ali ibn Ibrahim ibn Hashim has narrated from Muhammad ibn 'Isa from Yunus ibn 'Abd al-Rahman from Hamza ibn al-Tayyar from (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said the following:

"There is no reduction or expansion but that Allah therein has a wish, decree and testing."

بَابُ السعَادَةِ وَ الشقَاءِ

Muhammad ibn Isma'il has narrated from al-Fadl ibn Shadhan from Safwan ibn Yahya from Mansur ibn Hazim from Imam abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said the following:

"Allah created happiness and misery before He created the creatures. Whomever Allah has created fortunate He never becomes angry with him even though he may do bad deeds.

"He dislikes his deeds but not his own self. If he is an unfortunate one He never loves him even if he does good deeds. He loves his deeds but not his own self because of what he will end up doing. If Allah loves something He never dislikes it and if He disliked something He would never love it."

Ali ibn Muhammad in a marfu' manner has narrated from Shu'ayb al-'Aqarqufi

٢- عِلي بن محمدٍ رفَعه عن شعيبٍ الْعقَرقُوفِي عن

أَبِي بصِيرٍ قَالَ كُنت بين يدي أَبِي عبدِ اللهِ ع جالِساً و قَد سأَله سائِلٌ فَقَالَ جعِلْت فِداك يا ابن رسول اللهِ مِن أين لَحِق الشقَاءُ أَهلَ الْمعصِيةِ حتى حكَم الله لَهم فِي عِلْمِهِ بِالْعذَابِ علَى عمِلِهم فَقَالَ أبو عبدِ اللهِ ع أيها السائِلُ حكْم اللهِ عز و جل لَا يقُوم لَه أَحدٌ مِن خلْقِهِ بحقِهِ فَلما حكَم بِذَلِك وهب لِأَهلِ محبتِهِ الْقُوةَ علَى معرِفَتِهِ و وضع عنهم ثِقْلَ الْعملِ بِحقِيقَةِ ما هم أَهلُه و وهب لِأَهلِ الْمعصِيةِ الْقُوةَ علَى معصِيتِهِم لِسبقِ عِلْمِهِ فِيهِم و منعهم إِطَاقَةَ الْقَبولِ مِنه فَوافَقُوا ما سبق لَهم فِي عِلْمِهِ و لَم يقْدِروا أَنْ يأْتوا حالًا تنجِيهِم مِن عذَابِهِ لِأَن عِلْمه أَولَى بِحقِيقَةِ التصدِيقِ و هو معنى شاءَ ما شاءَ و هو سِره

from abu Basir who said the following:

"Once I was in the presence of (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, when a certain person asked him saying, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, O great-great-great-great-grandson of the Messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, wherefrom do misery and misfortune take hold of the people committing sins? Consequently, Allah in His knowledge decrees suffering for them due to their (bad) deeds?'

"The Imam said, 'It is the judgment of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, and no one has the right (to oppose it). When He passed such judgment He gave the people of love the ability to know Him. He then relieved them of the hardships of deeds by means of the reality of what they are capable of. He gave the people of sins the ability to commit sins due to His early knowledge about them and His denying them the power to accept from Him. Thus, they (their condition) coincide with what is in His knowledge about them and they remain unable to do things that can save them from His punishment. It is because His knowledge is more preferred in the reality of judgment and acknowledgement and this is what is meant by 'He wanted what He wanted and it is His secret'"

٣ - عِدةٌ مِن أَصحابِنا عن أَحمد بنِ محمدِ بنِ خالِدٍ عن أَبِيهِ عنِ النضرِ بنِ سوِيدٍ عن يحيى بنِ عِمرانَ الْحلَبِي عن معلى بنِ عثْمانَ عن عِلِي بنِ حنظَلَةَ عن أَبِي عبدِ اللهِ ع

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Khalid from his father from al-Nadr ibn Suwayd for Yahya ibn 'Imran al-Halabi from Mu'alla ibn 'Uthman from Ali ibn Hanzala from (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said the following:

"The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, 'A fortunate person is made to walk on the path of the unfortunate ones so much so that people may say, "How similar has he become to them? In fact, he has become one of them." Then good fortune helps him compensate for his loss. Sometimes an unfortunate one is made to walk on the path of the fortunate ones and people begin to say, 'How similar has he become to them? In fact, he has become one of them.' However, misfortune takes hold of him (again). Whoever Allah has written to be of the fortunate ones, even if very little time, such as the period of time equal to that between two breast-feedings of a camel her young, may have been left from his life in this world, Allah will make it end in good fortune.'"

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Khalid from ibn Mahbub and Ali ibn al-Hakam from Mu'awiya ibn Wahab from (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said the following:

"I heard (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, saying, 'It was of the facts that Allah revealed to Moses and sent down in the Torah, 'I am Allah, no one deserves to be obeyed and worshipped besides Me. I have created the creatures and created the Good and made it to run through the hands of those whom I love. Fortunate are those through whose hands I have made the Good to continue. I am Allah, no one deserves to be obeyed and worshipped besides Me. I created the creatures and created Evil and made it to run through the hands of whomever I wanted. Unfortunate, therefore, are those through whose hands I have made evil to run.'"

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from his father from ibn abu ‘Umayr from Muhammad ibn Hakim from Muhammad ibn Muslim who has said that he heard (Imam) abu Ja’far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say the following:

“In certain matters that Allah has revealed through His books is, ‘I am Allah. No one deserves to be obeyed and worshipped besides Me. I created the Good and Evil. Fortunate are those through whose hands I have made good to run and unfortunate are those through whose hands I have made evil to run and unfortunate are those who say, “How is this and how is that.’”

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from Muhammad ibn ‘Isa from Yunus from Bakkar from Kardam, from Mufaddal ibn ‘Umar and ‘Abd al-Mu’min al-Ansari from (Imam) abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

“Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has said, ‘I am Allah. No one deserves to be obeyed and worshipped besides I the Creator of good and evil. Fortunate are those through whose hands I have made good to run and unfortunate are those through whose hands I have made evil to run and unfortunate are those who say, “How is this and how is that?”’

“Yunus has said, ‘It means they are those who deny this fact instead of having proper understanding of it.’”

Predestination, Fate and the Middle Road in Between

H 392, Ch. 30, h1
Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad and Ishaq ibn Muhammad and others, in a marfu‘ manner, who have said the following.

“Once in Kufa, after Amir al-Mu’minin Ali’s, recipient of divine supreme covenant, return from Siffin, a man came to him and sat with his legs folded underneath in front of the Imam and said, ‘O Amir al-Mu’minin, tell us about our journey against the people of Sham (Syria). Was it because of Allah’s decree and determination or not?’ ‘Amir al-Mu’minin Ali said, “Yes, O Shaykh, every hill that you climbed and every valley that you crossed was because of the decree and the determination of Allah.”’ The Shaykh then said, ‘Will my tiring efforts be counted in the sight of Allah, O Amir al-Mu’minin?’

“The Imam said, ‘Be patient, O Shaykh. I swear by Allah that He will grant you a great reward for your journey wherever you traveled, for your stay wherever you rested and for your return when you were headed back. In none of these conditions that you went through were you coerced or compelled.’ The Shaykh then said, ‘How can we not be considered compelled or coerced when all of our journey, rest and return were because of the decree and determination of Allah?’

“The Imam said, ‘Do you think it was all due to unavoidable decree and binding determination? Had it been so all the reward, punishment, commandments, orders and warnings from Allah would remain invalid and meaningless. The promise and warnings would fall apart. No one could blame the sinners and no one would praise the people of good deeds. The sinners could have been more deserving than the people of good deeds could, and the latter ones could have deserved more punishment. Such can only be the belief of the idol worshippers, the enemies of the Beneficent, of the party of Satan, the determinist of this Ummah (nation) and her Zoroastrians.

‘Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has obligated people on the basis of their freedom and choice. His prohibitions serve as

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from Mu'alla ibn Muhammad from al-Husayn ibn Ali al-Washsha' the following from abu al-Hassan al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant,:

"Once I asked the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'Has Allah left all the matters to people?' The Imam said, 'Allah, Most Exalted, is by far above and beyond such things.' I then asked, 'Has He compelled them to commit sins?' The Imam said, 'Allah's justice and His judgment are far above and beyond such things.' Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from Isma'il ibn Marrar from Yunus ibn 'Abd al-Rahman who has said that abu al-Hassan al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said to me the following:

"O Yunus do not say what pre-determinists say. The pre-determinists do not say what people of paradise say or what people of hell say or what Satan says. The people of paradise say, '. . . all praise is due to Allah for His guiding us. We could never have been guided without Allah's guiding us.' (7:43) The people of hell say, 'Lord, our misfortune overwhelmed us and we became lost,' (23:107) and Satan said, 'My Lord for your making me to rebel . . .' (15:39)

"I then said, 'I swear by Allah that I do not say what they say but I only say that there will be nothing unless Allah will want, will, measure and decree.' The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'O Yunus, it is not that, 'there will be nothing unless Allah will want, will, measure and decree.' O Yunus, do you know what is want?' I said, 'No, I do not know.' The Imam said, 'It is the first mention of something. Do you know what is will?' I said, 'No, I do not know.' The Imam said, 'It is the intention to do something. Do you know what measurement is?' I said, 'No, I do not know.' The Imam said, 'It is the figure, the position, the limits of survival and extinction.'

"The Imam further said, 'The decree is the readiness and the production of substance.' I then asked permission to kiss his head and said, 'You just opened for me something of which I was unaware.'"

Muhammad ibn Isma'il has narrated from al-Fadl ibn Shadhan from Hammad ibn 'Isa from Ibrahim ibn 'Umar al-Yamani from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said the following:

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from Muhammad ibn 'Isa from Yunus ibn 'Abd al-Rahman from Hafs ibn Qirt from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said the following:

"The messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, 'Whoever believes that Allah has commanded to do evil and sin has ascribed lies to Allah. Whoever thinks that good and evil are without the wish of Allah, has considered Allah without authority. Whoever thinks that sins are without the power from Allah, has ascribed lies to Allah and whoever ascribes lies to Allah, He will make him to enter the fire.'"

A number of persons of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn abu 'Abd Allah from 'Uthman ibn 'Isa from Isma'il ibn Jabir who has said the following:

"In the mosque of Madina there was a person who spoke of the issue of predetermination and people had gathered around him. I said to him, 'O you, can I ask you a question?' He said, 'Yes, you may do so.' I then said, 'Can there be a thing in the kingdom of Allah the Majestic, the Glorious, that He may not want?' He remained thinking for a while and then said to me, 'O you, if I said that there can be something in His kingdom He does not want it means that He is defeated. If I say that there is nothing in His kingdom that He may not want I am giving you permission to commit sin.

"I then told the story of that determinist to abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said, 'He (the determinist man) looked for his own interest. Had he said something else he would have been destroyed.'"

The Imam said, 'Had He left all matters to the people He would not have restricted them with commandments and prohibitions.' "There is no compulsion and no total freedom but it is a matter between the two." The narrator has said, 'I asked what is, "it is a matter between the two?" The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'One example of this is the case of a man whom you may see that sins and you try to stop him but he does not listen. You then leave him alone and he sins. That is because he did not listen to you and you left him alone; if you were considered as ordering him to sin, it is not true.'"

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from al-Hassan ibn Muhammad from Ali ibn Muhammad al-Qasani from Ali ibn Asbat who said the following:

"Once I asked Imam abu al-Hassan al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about capability. The Imam said, 'A servant (of Allah) has the capability if four things exist. That he is free and on his own, that he is physically well and of sound limbs and that for him there is reason and means from Allah.' I asked, 'May Allah keep my soul in the service for your cause, please explain it to me.' The Imam said, 'Being free and on one's own, physically well and of sound limbs means that one is willing to commit adultery but does not find a female party and then he finds her. He may now protect his soul and stay away from sin just as Joseph (peace be upon him) did or allow his desire to act and commit adultery and in this case he is called an adulterer. He has not obeyed Allah in coercion and disobeyed Him with defeat.'"

Muhammad ibn Yahya and Ali ibn Ibrahim both have narrated from Ahmad Muhammad from Ali ibn al-Hakam and 'Abd Allah ibn Yazid both from a man from Basra who said the following:

"He asked (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about capability. The Imam said, 'Can you do something before its existence?' He Said, 'No, I cannot do so.' The Imam said, 'Can you stop doing what has already been done?' He said, 'No, I cannot do so.' The Imam then asked, 'When then can you have the capability?' He said, 'I do not know.'

"The Imam said, 'Allah created people and placed in them the means of capability and then He did not leave all matters in their hands. Thus, they are capable of acting at the time of the act with the act when they do that act. If they did not act the 'Act' in His property they do not have the capability to act the 'Act' that they did not act. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, is by far Majestic and above being opposed by someone in His property.'

"The man from Basra then said, 'Are people, then, compelled?' The Imam said, 'Had they been compelled they would have been excused.' The man said, 'Are then all matters up to them?' The Imam said, 'No, all things are not left to them.' The man said, 'Then how is it'?

"The Imam said, 'Allah knew that they would act, thus He placed in them the means of capability. If they act at the time of action they are capable.' The man from Basra then said, 'I testify that this is the truth and that you are of the family of the Messenger (of Allah).'"

Muhammad ibn abu ‘Abd Allah has narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad and Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad and Muhammad ibn Yahya from Ahmad ibn Muhammad all from Ali ibn al-Hakam from Salih al-Nily who said the following:

“Once I asked abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, ‘Do the servants (of Allah) have any capability?’ The Imam said, ‘When they act an act they do have the capability that Allah has placed in them.’ I asked, ‘What is it?’ The Imam said, ‘It is a means. In a sin like adultery when one commits such sins he has the capability when he is in such an act. If he however, desists from such an act he has the capability to refrain.’ The Imam further said, ‘Before the act he does not have the capability in a small or large measure but at the time of the act or desisting, he has the capability.’

“I asked, ‘What for then are they punished?’ The Imam said, ‘It is because of complete justification and because of the means that are placed in them. Allah does not compel anyone into sins. Also He does not will, in a definite form of will, disbelief for anyone, but when one disbelieves it is in the will of Allah for him to disbelieve and it is in the will and knowledge of Allah that he will not turn into anything good.’

“I asked, ‘Has He willed disbelief for them?’ The Imam said, ‘It is not quite like that but I say that Allah knew that they would disbelieve, thus He has willed it for them because of His knowledge of it. It is not a definite will. It is a will of choice.’”

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn ‘Isa from al-Husayn ibn Sa‘id from certain persons of our people from ‘Ubayd ibn Zurara from Hamza ibn Humran who said the following:

“Once I asked abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about capability but he did not reply. In another meeting I said, ‘May Allah keep you well, something happens to my heart that will not go away until I will get an answer from you.’ The Imam said, ‘What is in your heart will not harm you.’ I said, ‘May Allah keep you well. I say that Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, does not hold people responsible for what they are not capable of doing or do not have the power to act. They do not do anything except with the will of Allah, His wish, decree and determination.’ The Imam said, ‘This is the religion of Allah that my forefathers and I follow,’ or that the Imam made a similar expression.”

Chapter Thirty Two
Declaration, Definition and the Need for Solid Proof

H 410, Ch. 32, h1
Muhammad ibn Yahya and others have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn ‘Isa from al-Husayn ibn Sa‘id from ibn abu ‘Umayr from Jamyl ibn Durraj from ibn al-Tayyar from abu ‘Abd Allah who said the following:

“Allah has justified His holding people accountable with what He has made known and sent to them.” solid Muhammad ibn Isma’Il has narrated from al-Fadl ibn Shadhan from ibn abu ‘Umayr from Jamyl ibn Durraj a similar Hadith.

H 411, Ch. 32, h2
Muhammad ibn Yahya and others have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn ‘Isa from Muhammad ibn abu ‘Umayr from Muhammad ibn Hakim who said the following:

“Once I asked abu ‘Abd Allah, ‘Whose creation is knowing?’ The Imam said, ‘It is of the creation of Allah. The servants (of Allah) have no part in it.’”

H 412, Ch. 32, h3

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Khalid from ibn Faddal from Tha'laba ibn Maymun from Hamza ibn Muhammad al-Tayyar from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following about the words of Allah, the Majestic, the Glorious:

"Allah does not misguide a nation after having given them guidance until the means of piety are made known to them . . ." (9:115) The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'It (means of piety) means before giving the knowledge of what He is pleased with and what He is displeased with.' The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said the words of Allah '. . . and inspired it with knowledge of evil and piety,' (91:8) convey that He has explained what people must do and what they must not do. The words of Allah, 'We showed him the right path whether he would be grateful or ungrateful' (76:3), say that Allah has given them the knowledge. They may follow or they may ignore. About the words of Allah, 'We sent guidance to the people of Thamud but they preferred blindness to guidance so a humiliating blast of torment struck them for their evil deeds.' (41:17) The Imam said, 'It means that Allah gave them the knowledge but they preferred blindness over guidance and they knew it.'"

In another Hadith it says, "We explained to them."

٣- عِدةٌ مِن أصحابِنا عن أحمد بنِ محمدِ بنِ خالِدٍ عنِ ابنِ فَضالٍ عن ثَعلَبةَ بنِ ميمونٍ عن حمزةَ بنِ محمدٍ الطيارِ عن أَبي عبدِ اللهِ ع فِي قَولِ اللهِ عز و جل و ما كانَ اللهُ لِيضِل قَوماً بعدَ إِذْ هداهم حتى يبين لَهم ما يتقُونَ قَالَ حتى يعرفَهم ما يرضِيهِ و ما يسخِطُه و قَالَ فَأَلْهمها فُجورها و تقْواها قَالَ بين لَها ما تَأْتِي و ما تترك و قَالَ إِنا هديناه السبِيلَ إِما شاكِراً و إِما كَفُوراً قَالَ عرفْناه إِما آخِذٌ و إِما تارِكٌ و عن قَولِهِ و أَما ثَمود فَهديناهم فَاستحبوا الْعمى علَى الْهدى قَالَ عرفْناهم فَاستحبوا الْعمى علَى الْهدى و هم يعرِفُونَ و فِي رِوايةٍ بينا لَهم

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from Muhammad ibn 'Isa from Yunus ibn 'Abd al-Rahman from ibn Bukayr from Hamza ibn Muhammad from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, the following:

"Once I asked the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the words of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, 'Have We not shown him the ways of 'al-Najdayn' ?' (90:10) The Imam said, 'al-Najdayn' means the ways of good and evil.'"

Through the chain of narrators of the previous Hadith from Yunus has narrated from Hammad from 'Abd al-A'la who has said the following:

"Once I said to (Imam) abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'May Allah keep you well, Has Allah placed a means in people to know?' He replied, 'No, He has not done so.' I asked, 'Will He hold them responsible for knowing?' He said, 'No, because it is for Allah to explain.' 'Allah does not impose on any soul a responsibility beyond its ability . . .' (2:286) 'Allah does not impose on any soul that which he cannot afford . . .' (65:7)

"I asked the Imam about the words of Allah in, 'Allah does not misguide a nation after having given them guidance until the means of piety are made known to them . . .' (9:115) The Imam said, 'It (means of piety) means not until He gives the knowledge of what pleases Him and what displeases Him.'"

Through the above chain of narrators it is narrated from Yunus from Sa'dan, in a marfu' manner, from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said the following:

"Allah has not granted any bounties to a person without holding him justifiably responsible for them. He gives them bounties and gives them power, which justifies His holding them responsible for their duties. He gives smaller degrees of responsibilities to those who are of lesser degrees of capabilities. One who has received bounties from Allah He has provided him ease, thus the justification to hold him responsible is the comfort he has received. Then it is for him to help the needy in optional ways. The one whom Allah has favored and has made noble in his house and beautiful in his form, is justifiably obligated for

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Khalid from Ali ibn al-Hakam from Aban al-Ahmar from Hamza ibn al-Tayyar who said the following:

"Once Imam abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said to me, 'Write down.' He dictated to me the following. 'It is of our Hadith that Allah will, justifiably, hold people accountable for what He has given and made known to them. Allah then sent His messenger to them and sent down books upon them in which He has commanded and prohibited them. He has commanded them to perform prayers and fast. The messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, remained sleeping until the time for prayer expired and Allah said, 'I make you sleep and wake you up. When you wake up then perform the prayer so that they can learn if such thing happened to them what they should do.'

“It is not the way that they say, ‘If one remains asleep (at the time of prayer) one is destroyed.’ In the same way is fasting. ‘I (Allah) cause you to become ill and when I give you good health then you will make up for the fast that you missed during your illness.’ Abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, ‘So also is, if you look at all things you will find that Allah has caused no constrictions to anyone. You will not find anyone against whom Allah may not have enough justification to hold him accountable with His wish therein. I do not say that they can do whatever they wish.

“The Imam then said, ‘Allah guides and misleads.’ He further said, ‘People are not ordered to do what they are not capable of. For everything that people are ordered to do they have the capability for it and anything of which they are not capable is removed and lifted up from them but there is not much good in people.’ He (the Imam) then recited from the Holy Quran: ‘People who are weak or sick and those who do not have the means to take part in the fighting are exempt from this duty . . .’ (conditions of people exempt are mentioned) ‘Righteous people shall not be blamed. Allah is All-forgiving and All-merciful.’ (9:91) So also relieved of the duty are ‘Those who come to you (Muhammad), asking to be taken to the battle . . .’ (9:92) they do not have the means.’”

Chapter Thirty Five

Guidance Is From Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High

H 421, Ch. 35, h1

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn ‘Isa from Muhammad ibn Isma‘il from Isma‘il al-Sarraj from ibn Muskan from Thabit in Sa‘id who said the following:

“Once, abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘O Thabit, why do you bother about people? Leave them alone and do not call anyone to accept your belief (the belief of the Shi’a Muslims). I swear by Allah that even if all the people in the heavens and earth come together to guide a person whom Allah wants not to guide they will never be able to guide him. If all the people in the heavens and on earth will come together to misguide a person whom Allah wants to guide, they will never be able to misguide him. Leave the people alone. No one should say, ‘O my uncle, my brother, the son of my uncle and my neighbor.’ When Allah wants good for a person He cleanses his spirit. He then does not hear any lawful thing but that he knows it and no unlawful thing but that he dislikes it. Then Allah places a word in his heart with which He organizes all his affairs.’”

Ali ibn Ibrahim ibn Hashim has narrated from his father from ibn abu ‘Umayr from Muhammad ibn Humran from Sulayman ibn Khalid from abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said the following:

“When Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, wants good for a person He places a point of light in his heart and opens the ears of his heart and assigns an angel to support him. When He wants bad fortune for a person He places a dark black spot in his heart, closes the ears of his heart and assigns a Satan to mislead him. The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then recited the following verse of the Holy Quran. ‘Allah will open the hearts of whomever He wants to guide to Islam, but He will constrict the chest of one whom He has led astray, as though he were climbing high up into the sky. . . .’” (6:125)

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from ibn Faddal from Ali ibn ‘Uqba from his father who said the following:

“I heard abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, saying, ‘Leave your affairs to Allah and do not leave them to the people. Whatever is for Allah it is for Him. Whatever is for people it will not rise up to Allah. Do not quarrel with people about your belief; quarrelling sickens the heart. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, said to His Prophet (Muhammad), recipient of divine supreme covenant, ‘you cannot guide whomever you love, but Allah guides whomever He wants and knows best those who seek guidance.’ (28:56) ‘(Muhammad), do you force people to have faith?’ (10:99)

“Leave the people alone; people learn from people and you have learned from the Messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant. I heard my father, recipient of divine supreme covenant, saying, ‘When Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, writes for a person to enter in this belief he will do so faster than the flight of a bird to its nest.’”

Abu Ali al-Ash‘ari has narrated from Muhammad ibn ‘Abd al-Jabbar from Safwan ibn Yahya from Muhammad ibn Marwan from Fudayl ibn Yasar the following:

“Once I asked abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, ‘Can we invite people to this belief (the belief of the Shi’a Muslims)?’ He said, ‘No, do not invite them, O Fudayl. When Allah wants good for a servant of His, He orders an angel to grab him by his neck and then enters him in this belief compelled or willing.’”

H 425, Ch. 1, h1

The compiler of this book, Muhammad ibn Ya‘qub al-Kulayni (may Allah grant him blessings) has said that narrated to us Ali ibn Ibrahim from his father from al-‘Abbass ibn ‘Umar al-Faqimi from Hisham ibn al-Hakam from abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, the following:

“An atheist asked the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, ‘How do you prove the truthfulness of the prophets and the messengers?’

“The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘It is a fact that we have established with sufficient evidence, proof of the existence of our Creator, the Most Holy, the Most High and Exalted above all creatures. It is a fact that this Creator is All-wise and Most High. His creatures cannot see, touch, associate and directly communicate with Him. It proves that His deputies must be present among His creatures. It is His deputies and ambassadors who speak to people for Him and provide them guidance to protect their interests; to tell them what is beneficial to them and what are the best means of survival and what may cause their destruction. This proves the presence among people of those who convey the commandments of the Creator, Who is All-wise, All-knowing Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, to them. Such people are the prophets, recipient of divine supreme covenant, the chosen ones from among His creatures. They are the people of wisdom, disciplined with wisdom and sent to people with the message of wisdom. They are different from other people - although like them in physical form and shape - in their conditions of discipline and their receiving direct support from Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High and All-wise. This also proves their presence among people in all times to ensure the availability of the people with Divine Authority on earth who have the kind of knowledge that establishes their truthfulness and proves them to be of the people who possess the noble quality of justice.’”

٢ - محمد ْبن إِسْماعِيلَ عنِ الْفَضْلِ ْبنِ شاذَانَ عنْ صفْوانَ ْبنِ يحْيى عنْ منْصورِ ْبنِ حازِمٍ قَالَ قُلْت لِأَبِي عبْدِ اللهِ ع إِن الله أَجل و أَكْرم مِنْ أَنْ يعْرف بِخلْقِهِ بل الْخلْق يعْرفُونَ بِاللهِ قَالَ صدقْت قُلْت إِن منْ عرف أَن لَه رباً فَينْبغِي لَه أَنْ يعْرِف أَن لِذَلِك الرب رِضا و سخطاً و أَنه لَا يعْرف رِضاه و سخطَه إِلا بِوحْيٍ أَوْ رسولٍ فَمنْ لَمْ يأْتِهِ الْوحْي فَقَدْ ينْبغِي لَه أَنْ يطْلُب الرسلَ فَإِذَا لَقِيهمْ عرف أَنهم الْحجةُ و أَن لَهم الطاعةَ الْمفْترضةَ

Muhammad ibn Isma‘il has narrated from al-Fadl ibn Shadhan from Safwan ibn Yahya from Mansur ibn Hazim who has said the following:

“Once I said to Imam abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, ‘Allah by far is Majestic and Gracious to be known through His creatures. In fact, the creatures are known through Allah.’ The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘You have spoken the truth.’ I said, ‘One who knows that he has a Lord must also learn that his Lord agrees with certain things and disagrees with certain other things. The only way one can know what He likes and dislikes, is by revelation or through a messenger. One who does not receive revelation must find the messengers and when he finds the messengers he will know that they are the Divine Authorities and that obedience to them is necessary.

“I say to people, ‘Do you know that the Messenger of Allah was the Divine Authority over His creatures?’ They say, ‘Yes, he was the Divine Authority.’ I then ask, ‘After the Messenger of Allah who was the Divine Authority over His creatures?’ They say, ‘After the Messenger of Allah the Divine Authority is the Holy Quran.’

“I considered the Holy Quran and found out that various kinds of people consider this Holy Book as support for their beliefs. For example the Murji’a (people who say Allah has postponed punishment), the pre-deterministes and the atheists who even do not believe in it but take it as the basis for their arguments against the others. I then learned that the Holy Quran cannot serve as Divine Authority without a guardian and supervisor whose words from and about the Holy Quran can reveal the truth.

“I then ask the people, ‘Who is the guardian and supervisor of the Holy Quran?’ They say, ‘Ibn Mas‘ud knew the Holy Quran, ‘Umar knew it and Hudhayfa knew the Holy Quran.’ I ask them, ‘Did they know all of the Holy Quran?’ The people say, ‘No, they did not know all of it.’ I have not found anyone who knows all of the Holy Quran except Ali ibn abu Talib, recipient of divine supreme covenant. It is a fact - whenever any issue emerged that needed a Quranic solution, except for Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant - every one of the others (in many cases), said, ‘I do not know.’ Only Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, would say, ‘I know.’ I then acknowledged that Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, is the guardian and supervisor of the Holy Quran and obedience to him is obligatory and he is the Divine Authority over the people after the Messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, Whatever Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said from the Holy Quran is the truth.’ The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘I pray to Allah to grant you blessing.’”

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from al-Hassan ibn Ibrahim from Yunus ibn Ya‘qub who has said the following:

“In the presence of Imam abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, once there was a group of his followers consisting of Humran ibn ’Ayan, Muhammad ibn al-Nu‘man, Hisham ibn Salim, al-Tayyar and others among whom was also Hisham ibn al-Hakam, a young man. Imam abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘O Hisham can you tell us what did you do to ‘Amr ibn ‘Ubayd and how did you ask him questions?’

“Hisham said, ‘O descendant of the Messenger of Allah, due to your greatness I feel shy and my tongue does not work in your presence.’ The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘When I order you something you should do it.’ Hisham, then said, ‘Once I came to learn about the gathering of ‘Amr ibn ‘Ubayd and his sessions of speeches for people in the Mosque of Basra. It disturbed me a great deal and I went to Basra. It was a Friday. I went to the Mosque and found a large circle of people. Among them was ‘Amr ibn ‘Ubayd with a black piece of woolen cloth used as a loincloth and another piece over him as a gown and people would ask him questions. I asked people for room, which they made for me. I sat in front of the people with my legs folded beneath and I said, ‘O scholar, I come from out of town. Can I ask you questions?’ He said, ‘Yes, you may ask.’ I asked, ‘Do you have eyes?’ He said, ‘Son, what kind of question is this? Something that you can see why then do you ask?’ I said,

"That is how my questions are.' He said, 'Son, you may ask your questions even if they are meaningless ones.' I asked, 'Do you have eyes?' He said, 'Yes, I have eyes.' I asked, 'What do you do with them?' He said, 'I see with them the colors and persons.' I asked, 'Do you have a nose?' He said, 'Yes, I have a nose.' I asked, 'What do you do with it?' He ('Amr ibn 'Ubayd) said, 'I use it to smell things.' I asked, 'Do you have a mouth?' He said, 'Yes, I have a mouth.' I asked, 'What do you do with it?' He said, 'I taste things with it.' I asked, 'Do you have ears?' He said, 'Yes, I have ears.' I asked, 'What do you do with them?' He said, 'I hear sounds with them.' I asked, 'Do you have a heart?' He said, 'Yes, I have a heart.' I asked, 'What do you do with it?' He said, 'I distinguish and discern things that come to it from the other senses.' I asked, 'Why are your other senses not independent of your heart and why do they need it?' He said, 'They are not independent of my heart.' I said, 'Why do they need your heart when they are all healthy and sound?' He said, 'Son, when the other senses face a doubt about something smelling, seeing, tasting or hearing, I send it to my heart and it ascertains "certainty" and discards "doubts."'

"I asked him, 'Do you mean that Allah has set up the heart to remove doubts from the other senses?' He said, 'Yes, that is true.' I asked, 'Is then the existence of the heart necessary to remove the doubts of the other senses?' He said, 'Yes, it is necessary.' I then said, 'O abu Marwan, Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, as you say, has not left your senses without a leader (Imam). (He has created an Imam) to correct the doubts and the mistakes of the other senses in you to remove doubts therefrom. How would He leave all the people with doubts and confusions without an Imam who would remove their doubts and settle their disputes?' He remained quiet and did not say anything for a while. He then asked, 'Are you Hisham ibn al-Hakam?' I said, 'No I am not.' He asked, 'Are you of his associates?' I said, 'No, (I am not of his associates).' He asked, 'Wherefrom are you?' I said, 'I am from Kufa.' He said, 'You then must be Hisham ibn al-Hakam.' He then embraced me and gave me room nearby. He discontinued his speech until I left.'"

"Imam abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, laughed (smiled) and said, 'O Hisham who has taught you this?' I replied, 'I learned something from you and added something to it myself.' The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'This, I swear by Allah, is written in the books of Abraham and Moses.'"

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from those he mentioned from Yunus ibn Ya'qub who has said the following:

"Once I was in the presence of Imam abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, when a man from Sham (Syria) came to him and said, 'I am a man of Kalam (meaningful words or theology), Fiqh (laws) and Fara'id (rules of obligations) and I have come to debate your people.'

"Imam abu 'Abd Allah asked, 'Are your meaningful words those of the Messenger of Allah or your own words?' He replied, 'Something from the words of the Messenger of Allah and there is something of my own words.' The Imam said, 'Are then you a partner of the Messenger of Allah?' He said, 'No, I am not.' The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, asked, 'Have you received any revelation from Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High?' He said, 'No, I have not.' The Imam then asked, 'Is it obligatory to obey you just as it is obligatory to obey the Messenger of Allah?' He said, 'No, it is not.' The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then turned to me and said, ‘O Yunus ibn Ya’qub, this man has just defeated himself before debating others.’

“The Imam then said, ‘O Yunus, why do you not speak to him if you do well in debate?’ I said, ‘I wish I could but, may Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, I have heard that you do not allow debating and say that wayl (a place in hell) is for those who debate and say, “This is accepted and that is not accepted. This is alright to say but that is not alright to say, that this we understand and that we do not understand.” The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘I said so if they ignore what I say and follow what they themselves want.’

“The Imam then said, ‘Find out who is outside who could debate and bring them in.’ The reporter has said, ‘I then brought in Humran ibn ’Ayan who was good in debating and Ahwal who also was good in debate. I brought Hisham ibn Salim who debated well. Another person I brought was Qays ibn Masir who was the best of them to me. He had learned Kalam (theology) from Imam Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and our gathering took place in Makka before Hajj. Imam abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, would stay in mountains near the Holy Mosque for few days in a small tent. Once the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, looked outside the tent and there was a camel growling. He said, ‘By the Lord of the Ka‘ba, it is Hisham.’ We thought it must be Hisham, the man from the family of ‘Aqil who was (very) beloved to the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant. It was Hisham ibn al-Hakam who came in. He had just grown a small beard and all of us were older than he was. The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, made room for him and said, ‘He is our supporter with his heart, tongue and hands.’ The Imam then asked Humran to debate the man. Humran came out strong. The Imam then asked Ta’qiyy to debate the man. Ahwal also came out strong. The Imam then asked Hisham ibn Salim to debate the man. They both remained the same. Abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then asked Qasys al-Masir to debate the man. When they debated, abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, laughed because the man from Sham was distressed.

“The Imam then asked the man from Syria to speak to Hisham ibn al-Hakam. The man said, ‘O boy, ask me about the Imamat (Divine Authority and leadership) of this man.’ Hisham became angry and began to shake and said, ‘O you, is your Lord more protective of His people or are people themselves?’ The man said, ‘It is My Lord Who is more protective of His creatures.’ Hisham then asked, ‘What then has He in His opinion done for them?’ The Man said, ‘He has established His authority and guidance so that they would not differ and disunite and be united to support each other and remind of their duties toward their Lord.’ Hisham asked, ‘Who is he?’ The man said, ‘He is the Messenger of Allah.’ Hisham then asked, ‘Who is the Divine Authority after the Messenger of Allah?’ The man replied, ‘It is the book of Allah and the Sunnah.’ Hisham then said, ‘Have the Book and Sunnah helped us today in removing our differences?’ The man said, ‘Yes, they have helped us.’ Hisham then asked, ‘Why then do we have differences among us. Why have you come all the way from Sham to oppose and debate us?’ The man then remained quiet. The Imam asked him, ‘Why do you not speak?’ The man said, ‘If I were to say that we have no differences I would be speaking lies. Were I to say that the Book and Sunnah solve our differences it would be invalid; they can be interpreted in so many ways. Were I to say that we do have differences and each claims to be the rightful party then the Book and the Sunnah would have been proved of no help. However, I can ask the same question from him also.' The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said to the man from Sham, 'Why do you not then ask him this question? You will find him full of knowledge.'

"The man from Sham (Syria) then turned to Hisham and asked, 'O you, is your Lord more protective of His people or are people themselves?' Hisham said, 'It is My Lord Who is more protective of His creatures.' The man then asked, 'Has He then established for them a means that would remove their differences, unite them, remove their difficulties and show them the right from wrong?' Hisham asked, 'Are you asking about the time of the Messenger of Allah or about this time?'

"The man from Sham said, 'At the time of the Messenger of Allah the authority was the Messenger of Allah. Who is the (Divine) Authority at this time?' Hisham said, '(The Divine Authority) at this time is this person sitting among us. To him people journey long distances to find answer to their questions. He tells us about the news of the heavens and the earth as he has inherited it from his father and grandfather.' The man from Sham said, 'How can I know that?' Hisham then said, 'Ask him whatever you may like.' The man from Sham said, 'You have left no excuse for me and I must ask.'

"Imam abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, 'O man from Sham, I can tell you how your journey was and how your road was. It was so and so.' The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, informed him with details. The man agreed and acknowledged the details and said, 'Now I have become a Muslim.' The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'In fact, you have become a believer in Allah now. Islam is before Iman (belief). Because of Islam people inherit each other and marry. Because of belief people receive rewards.'

"The man then said, 'You have spoken the truth. At this time I testify that no one deserves to be obeyed and worshipped except Allah, and that Muhammad is His Messenger and that you are the executor of the will of the executors of will of the Messengers of Allah.'

"The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then turned to Humran and said, 'When you speak on the basis of Hadith you speak the truth.' Turning to Hisham ibn Salim the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'You want the Hadith but you do not know them.' About al-Ahwal the Imam said, 'You analogize and use a great deal of cunning ways and break falsehood with falsehood but your falsehood is stronger.' To Qays al-Masir the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'You speak of something very near to the Hadith of the Messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, but use something very far from the Hadith of the Holy Prophet. You mix the truth with falsehood while a small degree of truth is enough to remove falsehood. You and Ahwal are experts in jumping here and there.'

"Yunus has said, 'I thought the Imam might say about Hisham something similar to what he said about the other two.' The Imam then said, 'O Hisham, you sometimes almost fall but you spring up like a bird on take-off. People like you should speak but be careful of slipping and intercession (support from 'A'immah, plural of Imam) will follow, Allah willing.'"

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn ‘Isa from Ali ibn al-Hakam from Aban who has that al-Ahwal reported to him the following:

“Zayd ibn Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, sent a message to me for a meeting with him when he was in hiding. When I met him, he said, ‘O abu Ja‘far, what do you say if someone from us comes to you asking to join us? Will you rise up with him (against the enemies)?’ I said, ‘If such a person would be your father or brother I would join him.’ He then said, ‘I want to rise up against these people. Come and join me.’ I said, ‘No, may Allah make my soul of service to you.’ He then said, ‘Is it that you distance yourself away from me?’ I said, ‘It is only one soul. If Allah’s Authority on earth existed, then those keeping away from you would have saved themselves and those joining you would have faced their destruction. If no Divine Authority existed on earth then people joining and keeping away from you would be the same.’ He then said, ‘O abu Ja‘far, I would sit with my father at the same table and he would feed me chunky morsels and cool off for me the hot ones out of kindness and diligent care. Do you think he was not afraid for me from the fire of hell? So he has informed you about religion and did not inform me?’

“I said, ‘May Allah make my soul of service to you, this also is of the kindness of your father to you. To save you from the fire he did not inform you. He was concerned for you that after having the information you might ignore his guidance and become subject to fire. He informed me also. If I follow I will be safe and I will be destroyed, if I disobeyed (him), for which (my destruction) he was not that much concerned.’

“Then I told him, ‘May Allah make my soul of service to you, are you of a higher degree of excellence or the prophets?’ He said, ‘It is the prophets.’ I said, ‘Consider what Ya‘qub said to Joseph, “My son do not tell your dream to your brothers. They may plot against you.” Why did he not inform the brothers so that they would not plot against Joseph? He hid it from them and so also your father has done; he was afraid for you.’ He then said, ‘When you say that, I swear to Allah that your friend (the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, did tell me in Madina that I will be killed and crucified in al-Kunnasa and that he has a book with him that lists the people killed and crucified.’

“I then went for Hajj and reported the story of Zayd to abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and what I said to Zayd. The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘It seems you surrounded him from his front, back, left, right, above and below and did not leave for him any way out.’”

Chapter Two
The Categories of the Prophets, the Messengers and ‘A’immah, recipient of divine supreme covenant

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from abu Yahya al-Wasiti from Hisham ibn Salim and Durust ibn abu Mansur the following:

“Abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said that the prophets and the messengers are of four categories. There were prophets who were given Divine news in their souls just for their own selves and for no one else. There were also prophets who were given Divine news in their dreams and would hear the voice but would not see anyone when awake and they were not sent to other people with such news. They had to follow an Imam just as it happened with Lot who followed Abraham. There were prophets who would experience in their dreams, hear the voice and see the angel and were sent to a group of people small or large like Yunus (Jonah), as Allah has said, 'We sent him to a hundred thousand people or a few more.' (37:148). The Imam said that 'Few more' were thirty thousand people led by an Imam.

"There were those who saw in their dreams, heard the voice and saw the angel when awake and were also Imam like 'Ulul 'Azm ones. Abraham was a prophet but not an Imam until Allah said, 'I want to appoint you as the Imam for people.' He said, 'Also, please (let there be more Imam), from my descendents,' to which He said, 'My covenant does not go to the unjust ones.' (2:124) Those who have worshipped idols or statues will not become Imam.'"

Muhammad ibn al-Hassan has narrated from those he mentioned from Muhammad ibn Khalid from Muhammad ibn Sinan from Zayd al-Shahham who has said the following:

"I heard Imam abu 'Abd Allah say, 'Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, chose Abraham as a servant before choosing him as a prophet. Allah chose him as a prophet before choosing him as a messenger. Allah chose him as a messenger before choosing him as a friend. Allah chose him as a friend before choosing him as an Imam. When all of the above conditions accumulated in Abraham, Allah said, 'I have certainly appointed you as the Imam for the people.' To Abraham, to be an Imam was so great that he asked, 'Can this Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority) be placed in my descendents also?' Allah said, 'My covenant will not be made available to the unjust ones.' (2:124) He said that the feeble-minded (the unjust ones) cannot become the leaders (the Imam) of the pious ones.'"

When all of these conditions accumulated in him, the Imam holding his hands said, "Allah said, 'O Ibrahim I have appointed you as the Imam (leader) of the people.'" The Difference Among the Messengers, the Prophets and al-Muhaddath

بَابُ الْفَرْقِ بَيْنَ الرسُولِ وَ النبِي وَ الْمُحَدثِ

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn abu Nasr from Tha'laba ibn Maymun from Zurara who has said the following:

"Once I asked abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the words of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, 'He was a messenger, a prophet' (19:51) what is a messenger and what is a prophet? The Imam said, 'A prophet is one who sees things (matters of Divine guidance) in his dreams and hears the voice but does not see the angel. The messenger is one who hears the voice, in his dreams sees things (of matters of Divine guidance) and sees the angel.' I then said, 'What is the position of the Imam?' The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'He hears the voice but does not see and observe the angel.' Then he recited the following verse of the Holy Quran. 'Satan would try to tamper with the desires of every Prophet or Messenger or [Muhaddath] whom We sent . . .'" (22:52) (The Imam included the word Muhaddath in the above verse as his commentary.)

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from Isma'il ibn Marrar who has said the following:

"Once al-Hassan ibn al-'Abbass al-Ma'rufi wrote to Imam al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, explain to me the difference between the messengers, the prophets and the Imam.' The Imam said or wrote, 'The difference between the messengers, the prophets and the Imam is that a messenger is one to whom Jibril (Gabriel) comes. He sees Jibril and hears his speech and Jibril (the angel) brings him (Divine) revelation and sometimes he may see in his dream something like the dream of Abraham (peace be upon him). A prophet is one who may hear the speech (of the angel) and may see (his) person and may not hear (him). The Imam is the one who hears the speech but does not see the person (of the angel).'"

"I asked abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the messenger, the prophet and al-Muhaddath (one to whom Divine guidance is reported). The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'A messenger is one to whom Jibril (Gabriel) comes openly. He sees him (the angel) and speaks to him. Such person is a messenger. A prophet is one who sees in his dream something like the dream of Abraham (peace be upon him). (Of such dreams) is the dream of the Messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about reasons and signs of prophecy before the coming of revelation. (He would experience such dreams) until Jibril came from Allah to inform him that he was to be a messenger. In the case of Prophet Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, when prophecy was established in him then Jibril brought him the message that he was to be a messenger. Jibril would come and speak to him openly. Certain prophets, in whom prophecy had been established, saw in their dreams, the spirit who would

What then is the meaning of 'The Messenger, Prophet and Muhaddath?' The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'A messenger is one to whom the angel comes openly and speaks to him. A prophet is one who sees (matters of Divine guidance) in his dreams. Sometimes prophecy and messengership may exist in one person. Al-Muhaddath is one who hears the voice but does not see the person (of the angel).' I then asked, may Allah keep you well, 'How can one know that what one sees in his dreams is true and that it is from the angel?' The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'He receives help for success in knowing the angel. Allah has made your book to be the last book and your Prophet the last prophet.'"

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from those he has mentioned from al-Hassan ibn Musa al-Khashshab from Ja'far ibn Muhammad from Karram from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"If, of all the people, there will remain only two men, one of them will be the Imam. He also said, 'The last person to die will be the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, so that no one can complain against Allah, the Majestic, the Glorious, because of leaving him without an Imam (the person with Divine Authority over him).'"

"I heard Imam abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say, 'Were there to remain on earth no one except two people, one of them would be the person with Divine Authority or the second one would be the person with Divine Authority.' (Uncertainty is from the narrator.)"

Recognizing the Imam, Recipient of Divine Supreme Covenant, and Belief in His Divine Authority

بَابُ مَعْرِفَةِ الْإِمَامِ وَ الرد إِلَيْهِ

H 460, Ch. 7, h1
Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from Mu'alla ibn Muhammad from al-Hassan ibn Ali al-Washsha' who has said that Muhammad ibn al-Fudayl narrated to me from abu Hamza from abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"Abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, 'Only those who know Allah worship Him. Those who do not know Allah they worship Him just like that in misguidance.' I

The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'Knowledge about Allah means to acknowledge the existence of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, to acknowledge His messenger and to love Imam Ali ibn abu Talib, recipient of divine supreme covenant. Of such knowledge is to follow him and 'A'immah (plural of Imam) of guidance and to denounce before Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, their ('A'immah's) enemies. This is how Allah, the Most Glorious, the Most Majestic, is recognized.'"

H 461, Ch. 7, h2

Al-Husayn has narrated from Mu'alla from al-Hassan ibn Ali from Ahmad ibn 'A'idh from his father from 'Udhayna who has said that more than one person has narrated to us from one of the two (Imam), recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"The Imam has said, 'One will not be considered a Mu'min (believing person) until he knows Allah, His Messenger and 'A'immah (plural of Imam) and the Imam of one's time, acknowledges his Divine Authority and submits his affairs to the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant,' He then said, 'How can one know the last one if he is ignorant of the first one (Imam).'"

٣ - محمد بْن يحْيى عنْ أَحْمد بْنِ محمدٍ عنِ الْحسنِ بْنِ محْبوبٍ عنْ هِشامِ بْنِ سالِمٍ عنْ زرارةَ قَالَ قُلْت لِأَبِي جعْفَرٍ ع أَخْبِرْنِي عنْ معْرِفَةِ الْإِمامِ مِنْكُمْ واجِبةٌ علَى جمِيعِ الْخلْقِ فَقَالَ إِن الله عز و جل بعثَ محمداً ص إِلَى الناسِ أَجْمعِين رسولًا و حجةً لِلهِ علَى جمِيعِ خلْقِهِ فِي أَرْضِهِ فَمنْ آمن بِاللهِ و بِمحمدٍ رسول اللهِ و اتبعه و صدقَه فَإِن معْرِفَةَ الْإِمامِ مِنا واجِبةٌ علَيْهِ و مَنْ لَمْ يؤْمِنْ بِاللهِ و بِرسولِهِ و لَمْ يتبِعْه و لَمْ يصدقْه و يعْرِفْ حقهما فَكَيف يجِب علَيْهِ معْرِفَةُ الْإِمامِ و هو لَا يؤْمِن بِاللهِ و رسولِهِ و يعْرِف حقهما

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from al-Hassan ibn Mahbub from Hisham ibn Salim from Zurara who has said the following:

"Once I said to abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'Is recognizing the Imam from among you obligatory on all creatures?' The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, sent Muhammad to all people as His Messenger and as His authority over all creatures on earth. Those who believe in Allah and that Muhammad is His Messenger and who have followed him and acknowledged his message, on such people it is obligatory to recognize the Imam from us. Those who do not believe in Allah and in His messenger and who do not follow him and do not acknowledge him knowing about the rights of Allah and His messenger then how can recognition of the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, be obligatory on them? They do not believe in Allah and in His messenger, do not follow him while they know about their rights.'

"I then asked, 'What do you say about those who believe in Allah and His messenger who acknowledge His messenger in all the matters that Allah has sent, is it obligatory for them to recognize the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, from you?' The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'Yes, it is obligatory. Do they not recognize so and so?' I said, 'Yes, they do.' The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, 'Do you think Allah is the one who has placed such recognition (of so and so) in their hearts? I swear by Allah that no one other than Satan has placed such recognition in their hearts. I swear by Allah that no one other than Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has inspired the hearts of the believers with (the recognition of) our rights.'"

It is narrated from the narrator of the previous Hadith from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from al-Hassan ibn Mahbub from 'Amr ibn abu al-Miqdam from Jabir who has said the following:

"I heard Imam abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say, 'Only those people recognize Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, and worship Him, who recognize Him and recognize their Imam from the family of the Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, Those who do not recognize Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, and do not recognize the Imam from us (Ahlul Bayt, family of the Holy Prophet), recipient of divine supreme covenant, such people only recognize and worship something other than Allah just like that in error, I swear by Allah.'"

إنما يُعْرف الله عز و جل و يُعْبده مَنْ عرف الله و عرف إمامه مِنا أَهْلَ الْبَيْتِ و مَنْ لَا يعْرِفِ الله عز و جل و لَا يعْرِفِ الْإِمام مِنا أَهْلَ الْبَيْتِ فَإِنما يعْرِف و يعْبد غَيْر اللهِ هكَذَا و اللهِ ضلَالًا

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from Mu'alla ibn Muhammad from Muhammad ibn Jumhur from Fadala ibn Ayyub from Mu'awiya ibn Wahab from Dharih who has said the following:

"Once I asked abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about 'A'immah after the Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'Amir al-Mu'minin (Ali ibn abu Talib), recipient of divine supreme covenant, was the Imam, after him al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was the Imam, after him (al-Hassan) al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was the Imam, after him (al-Husayn) Ali ibn Al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was the Imam and after him (Ali ibn al-Husayn) Muhammad ibn Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was the Imam. One who denies this, it is as if he has denied the existence of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, and the truthfulness of the Messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant'

"I asked, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, are you then the Imam? I repeated it three times.' He (the Imam) said, 'I only said it to you so that you will be of the witnesses before Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, on His earth.'"

٥- الْحسيْن بْن محمدٍ عنْ معلى بْنِ محمدٍ عنْ محمدِ بْنِ جمْهورٍ عنْ فَضالَةَ بْنِ أيوب عنْ معاوِيةَ بْنِ وهْبٍ عنْ ذَرِيحٍ قَالَ سأَلْت أَبا عبْدِ اللهِ ع عنِ الْأَئمةِ بعْد النبِي ص فَقَالَ كَانَ أَمِير الْمؤْمِنِين ع إِماماً ثُم كَانَ الْحسن ع إِماماً ثُم كَانَ الْحسيْن ع إِماماً ثُم كَانَ عِلِي بْن الْحسيْنِ إِماماً ثُم كَانَ محمد بْن عِلِي إِماماً مَنْ أَنكر ذَلِك كَانَ كَمنْ أَنكر مَعْرِفَةَ اللهِ تبارك و تعالَى و مَعْرِفَةَ رسولِهِ ص ثُم قَالَ قُلْت ثُم أَنت جعِلْت فِداك فَأَعدْتها علَيْهِ ثَلَاثَ مراتٍ فَقَالَ لِي إِني إِنما حدثْتك لِتكُونَ مِنْ شهداءِ اللهِ تبارك و تعالَى فِي أَرْضِهِ

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Khalid from his father from those he mentioned from Muhammad ibn 'Abd al-Rahman ibn abu Layla from his father from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"You will not be of the people of good deeds until you know and recognize. You will not know and recognize until you acknowledge. You will not acknowledge until you safeguard all the four doors (being of good deeds, recognition, acknowledgement, acceptance and safeguarding) and the first of these doors will not do any good without the last. The people of the three strayed far away from the (right) path. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, accepts only the righteous deeds. Allah does not accept anything without one's fulfilling the conditions of the covenant. Those who remain faithful to Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, about His condition of covenant and follow what is prescribed in the covenant they will receive blessings from Him and He will keep His promise.

"Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has informed the people of the path of guidance and has sanctioned for them the laws of Shari'a as beacons. He has informed them how to follow the laws. He has said, 'I am All-forgiving to the righteously striving believers who repent and follow the right guidance.' (20:82) 'Allah only accepts the offerings of the pious ones.' (5:27)

"Those who are pious before Allah about His commandments meet Allah as believers in whatever Prophet Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has brought to them from Allah. It is unfortunate that people died before finding guidance. They thought that they were believers but they became polytheists without realizing it.

"Those who enter the house through the door they are rightly guided. Those who go other ways are on the path to destruction. Allah has connected the obedience to the people who possess Divine Authority with the obedience to His Messenger and the obedience to His Messenger with the obedience to His Own Self. Those who disregard the obedience to the people who possess Divine Authority they have not obeyed Allah and His Messenger. This obedience is the acknowledgment of what Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has said, 'Children of Adam, be well dressed with means of beauty near every mosque . . .' (7:31) that, ' . . . you should enter the doors of the houses that Allah has given permission to be uplifted wherein His name is mentioned . . .' Allah has certainly informed you that, . . . (24:36), 'There are certain men whose attentions and minds do not deviate from speaking about Allah, prayer and paying charity because of business and trade attractions. They only fear the Day in which the hearts and eyes turn upside down.' (24:37)

"Allah has appointed the messengers for His commands. He then chose them and such choice is verified in His warning that says, 'No nation who lived before was left without a Warner . . .' (35:25) Those who are ignorant stray. Those who think and understand are finders of the right guidance. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has said, 'It is their hearts in the center which are blind, not their eyes.' (22:46) How can one who does not see (think) find guidance and how can one understand without thinking? Follow the Messenger of Allah and his Ahlul Bayt (family); acknowledge what Allah has sent and follow the traces of guidance. They (Ahlul Bayt, recipient of divine supreme covenant) are the signs of trust and piety. Take proper notice of the fact that if a person would deny Jesus, the son of Mary (peace be upon her) and acknowledge all the other prophets, such person would not be considered a believer. Follow the path by the help of the lighthouses and follow the signs from behind the barriers. Try to perfect the matters of your religion and believe in Allah, your Lord.'"

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from al-Husayn ibn Sa'id from Muhammad ibn al-Husayn ibn Saghir from those he has narrated from, from Rib'i ibn 'Abd Allah from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"Allah did not want to permit things to work without their means and reasons. For everything He made a cause, for every cause an explanation, for every explanation a science, for every science a speaking (door) chapter. Certain people recognize and know it (the door) and certain others do not recognize it. Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Muhammad ibn al-Husayn from Safwan ibn Yahya from al-'Ala' ibn Razin from Muhammad ibn Muslim who has said the following:

"I heard abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, saying, 'Whoever worships Allah, the Majestic, the Glorious, with the expectation for reward, and works hard but without having an Imam for himself, his efforts will not find acceptance. Such person is lost and is straying and Allah dislikes his deeds. The example of such person is like that of a lost sheep who strays away from the herd. She wanders around during the day and at nightfall she finds a different flock of sheep with a shepherd and she gladly and affectionately joins it thinking it to be like her own flock. She passes the night in their barn but in the morning when the shepherd allows the flock to go out she does not recognize her flock and the shepherd, and begins to wander in search for her own flock and shepherd. She finds a flock and a shepherd rushes to the flock with great interest but the shepherd shouts, 'Go to your own flock and shepherd; you are lost and wandering.' She then runs back and forth, lost and wandering without a shepherd to show her the grazing areas and the barn. At such time a wolf seizes the opportunity and kills her for food. Just the same is the case, by Allah, O Muhammad, of those people of this 'Ummah (nation) who have no Imam from Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, who is in public and possesses the noble quality of justice. Such people are lost and straying. If such people, in such a condition, die their death will be like that of an unbeliever and hypocrite. O Muhammad, take notice that all unjust Imam and their followers are far away from the religion of Allah. They have lost the right path and have misled the others. Their deeds are like dust blown away by the winds in a stormy day. They will remain helpless and unable to benefit from their deeds. Such is straying far away from the right path.'"

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from Mu'alla ibn Muhammad from Muhammad ibn Jumhur from 'Abd Allah ibn 'Abd al-Rahman from al-Haytham ibn Waqid from Muqrin who has said the following:

"I heard abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, saying, 'Ibn al-Kawwa came to Amir al-Mu'minin, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and asked, 'O Amir al-Mu'minin, (what do you say) about: 'There will be people on the Heights who know everyone by their faces. . . .' (7:46) The Imam said, 'We will be on the Heights. We will recognize our supporters from their faces. We are the Heights. Without knowing and recognizing us there is no other way to know Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High. We are the Heights that Allah, the Majestic, the Glorious, on the Day of Judgment will make known to everyone on the bridge. No one will enter paradise without recognizing us and our recognition of them. No one will enter hell except those who do not recognize us and whom we will ignore.'

"If Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, wants to permit people know Him He may do so but He has made us the doors to knowing Him, the bridge, the path and the aspect to Him. Whoever deviates from our authority and guardianship or considers others more excellent than us, such people will fall down off the bridge. People are not the same in following guidance.

"People who have found the sparkling fountains are not equal with those who have gathered around polluted waters that fall over one another. These (the latter group of) people are not equal with those who have found the sparkling fountains that flow by the order of the Lord ceaselessly and without reduction."

narrated the following from (Amir al-Mu'minin) Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant:

"You must note that to establish companionship with the scholar and to follow him is a religion on account of which Allah will grant rewards. Obedience to the scholar is the means to gain goodness and to delete evil deeds. It is the most valuable treasure for the believers. It is a dignifying progress in their lifetime, and after their death people will speak of him with praise and virtue because of it."

Muhammad ibn 'Isma'il has narrated from al-Fadl ibn Shadhan from Safwan ibn Yahya from Mansur ibn Hazim who has said the following:

"Once I said to Imam abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'Allah is by far the Most Holy, the Most High to be recognized through His creatures. In fact, it is the creatures that are recognized through Allah.' The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'What you have said is very true.' I then said, 'One who acknowledges that he has a creator he must also acknowledge that his creator likes certain things and is displeased with certain other things. He must acknowledge that the only way to know what pleases the creator and what displeases Him is through Divine revelation or the messengers. One who does not receive Divine revelation must find the messengers and when one finds the messengers one learns that they are the Divine Authorities and obedience to them is obligatory.'

"I say it to people, 'Do you not acknowledge that the Messenger of Allah possessed Divine Authority from Allah over His creatures?' They say, 'Yes, it is true.' I then say to them, 'When the Holy Prophet left this world, who possessed Divine Authority over the people?' They say, 'The Holy Quran.' I then looked in (matters of) the Holy Quran and I found out that all kinds of people consider this Holy Book as the basis for their beliefs. The group called al-Murji'a considers it as the basis for whatever they believe. Those who believe in predestination also consider this Holy Book as the basis for whatever they believe in. Even the atheists who do not even believe in it, at all, refer to this Holy Book to defeat the others. This proves that the Holy Quran cannot be considered a Divine Authority without a guardian whose words (of explanation) about the Holy Quran are the true ones. I then ask them, 'Who is the guardian of the Holy Quran?' They reply, 'Ibn Mas'ud knew the Quran. 'Umar knew the Quran. Hudhayfa knew the Quran.' I then ask them, 'Did these people know all of the Quran?' They say, 'No, they did not know all of the Quran.'

"I do not find anyone who can say that he knows all of the Quran. The only one who says that he knows all of the Quran is Ali ibn abu Talib, recipient of divine supreme covenant. If any question arose in these people, that one would say, 'I do not know.' The other one would say, 'I do not know,' and so on except Ali ibn abu Talib, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who would say, 'I know.' That gives enough proof to say that Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was the guardian of the Holy Quran. Obedience to Ali ibn abu Talib, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was obligatory by the command of Allah and he possessed Divine Authority over the people after the Messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant. Whatever Ali ibn abu Talib, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said about the Holy Quran is true.

"The Imam said, 'May Allah's blessings be with you.' I then said, 'Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, did not

"I heard Imam abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, saying, 'Listening and obeying are the gates to goodness. One who listens and is obedient has all the authority in his favor. "Once I asked Imam abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the meaning of the words of Allah, the Majestic, the Glorious, 'We have made you (true Muslims) a moderate nation so that you could be witness (an example) . . .' (2:143) The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'We are the moderate nation and we bear witness to the activities of the people for Allah and we possess Divine Authority on earth.' I then asked about the meaning of the following words of Allah, the Majestic, the Glorious, '. . . the noble religion of your father, Abraham. Allah named you Muslims before and in this Book, so that the Messenger will witness (your actions) . . .' (22:78) The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, "The noble religion of your father, Abraham" in the above verse refers to us particularly. The phrase, "Allah named you Muslims" means He has named us Muslims. The word "Before" refers to the heavenly books that were sent before and the phrase "as well as this Book" refers to the Holy Quran. The expression "The messenger of Allah witness" means that he bears witness over us by means of teaching us the guidance of Allah, the Majestic, the Glorious, and we bear witness over the people. Those who acknowledge our authority, we, on the Day of Judgment, will acknowledge their belief and those who reject our Divine Authority, we, on the Day of Judgment, will refuse to acknowledge their belief.'"

"I asked Imam abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the meaning of the words of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, 'Should they be compared with those whose Lord has given them a guidance which is testified by a witness from among their own people . . .' (11:17) He (the Imam), recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'It refers to (Amir al-Mu'minin) Ali who, recipient of divine supreme covenant, testified to support the Messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and the Messenger of Allah has supporting evidence from his Lord.'"

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from Muhammad ibn abu 'Umayr from ibn 'Udhayna from Burayd al-'Ijli who has said the following:

"Once I asked Imam abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the meaning of the words of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, 'We have made you (true Muslims) a moderate nation so that you would be witness (an example) for all people and the Messenger of Allah a witness (an example) for you . . .' (2:143) He (the Imam), recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'We are the moderate nation and we are the witness for Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, over the activities of His creatures and possess His Authority on earth.'

"I then asked about the meaning of the following words of Allah that say, 'Believers, worship your Lord, bow down and prostrate yourselves before Him and do virtuous deeds so that perhaps you will have everlasting happiness. (22:77) Strive steadfastly for the cause of Allah. He has chosen you but has not imposed on you hardship in your religion, the noble religion of your father, Abraham. Allah named you Muslims before and in this Book, so that the Messenger will witness (your actions) and you will be the witness over mankind. . . .' (22:78) He (the Imam), recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'The phrase "He has chosen you" refers to us and we are the chosen ones. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has not sanctioned anything in religion that is a 'constraint' upon the people. Al-Haraj "Hardship" mentioned in the above verse is more serious than al-Diyq (constraint) as Allah has said, ". . . But has not imposed on you "hardships in your religion" . . . (22:78) The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said the expression: "Religion of your father" also is a reference to us. Allah has called us, specially, as Muslims in the heavenly books that were revealed before and in this Holy Book (the Holy Quran). The messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has testified in our favor by conveying the message of Allah, the Most Holy, and the Most High. We bear witness to the activities of the people and on the Day of Judgment certify the belief of those who have acknowledged our Divine Authority and reject those who have rejected our Divine Authority.'"

They ('A'immah) (plural of Imam), Recipients of Divine Supreme Covenant, Are the Only True Guides

"He (the Imam), recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'O abu Khalid, I swear by Allah, it is 'A'immah from the family of the Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, up to the Day of Judgment who are called light in the above verse. They, I swear by Allah, are the light of Allah whom He sent down. It is they, I swear by Allah, who are the light of Allah in the heavens and in the earth. O abu Khalid, I swear by Allah, that the light of Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, in the hearts of the true believers is brighter than the light of the sun in the midday. They, I swear by Allah, give light to the hearts of the true believers and Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, may block such light from reaching the hearts of whoever He may will, thus their hearts remain dark. O abu Khalid, no one believes in our Divine Authority except that Allah cleanses his heart. Ali ibn Muhammad and Muhammad ibn al-Hassan have narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad from Muhammad ibn al-Hassan ibn Shammun from ‘Abd Allah ibn ‘Abd al-Rahman al-Asamm from ‘Abd Allah ibn al-Qasim from Salih ibn Sahl al-Hamadani who has said the following:

“Abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said the following about the statement of Allah, the Most High, ‘Allah is the light of the heavens and the earth. A metaphor for His light is a lantern in which there is a lamp placed in a glass. The glass is like a shining star, which is lit from a blessed olive tree that is neither eastern nor western. Its oil almost lights up even though the fire has not touched it. It is light upon light. Allah guides to His light whoever He wants. Allah uses various metaphors. He has the knowledge of all things.’ (24:35) The Imam said, “Lantern” metaphorically stands for the Holy lady, Fatimah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, the “Lamp” stands for Imam al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and “the glass” stands for Imam al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, “The shining star” stands for the Holy lady Fatimah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who shines among the ladies of the world. “The blessed olive tree” stands for Prophet Abraham. “Neither eastern nor western” means not Jewish nor Christian. The expression: “Its oil almost lights up" means that it almost bursts up with knowledge. "Light upon light" means that there will be one Imam after the other Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, "Allah guides to His light whoever He wants" means that Allah guides through the 'A'immah (plural of Imam) whoever He wants.' About the expression "Allah uses various metaphors" I then recited the following verse of the Holy Quran: 'Or they (the deeds of the unbelievers) are like the darkness of a deep, stormy sea with layers of giant waves, covered by dark clouds. It is darkness upon darkness whereby even if one stretches out his hands he cannot see them. One can have no light unless Allah gives him light.' (24:40)

"The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'The word "Darkness" refers to the first and his friend, the expression "With layers of giant waves" refers to the third, and the expression "Covered with darkness" refers to the second. The words "It is darkness upon darkness" refer to Mu'awiya (may Allah condemn him) and the disasters caused by the Amavids. The phrase "Even if one stretches out his hands" means that even if a true believer stretches out his hands in such disastrous condition "he cannot see them." The statement "One can have no light unless Allah gives him light" stands for the light from the children of the Holy lady, Fatimah, recipient of divine supreme covenant. The phrase "Can have no light" means an Imam on the Day of Judgment. The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said that, 'On the Day of Judgment you will see the believers with their light shining in front of them and to their right. They will be told, 'Paradise wherein streams flow is the glad news for you today. You will live therein forever. This is the greatest triumph.' (57:12) The phrase "The shining light in front . . . " is a reference to the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who will walk in front and on the right of the true believers until they all enter paradise.'"

Ali ibn Muhammad and Muhammad ibn al-Hassan have narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad from Musa ibn al-Qasim al-Bajali and Muhammad ibn Yahya from al-'Amrakiy ibn Ali altogether from Ali ibn Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, from his brother a similar Hadith.

Ahmad ibn Idris has narrated from al-Husayn ibn 'Ubayd Allah from Muhammad ibn al-Hassan and Musa ibn 'Umar from al-Hassan ibn Mahbub from Muhammad ibn al-Fudayl who has said the following:

"Once I asked abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the meaning of the words of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, in the following verse of the Holy Quran. 'They want to put out the light of Allah with their mouths, but Allah will certainly make His light shine forever, even though the unbelievers may dislike this.' (61:8) He (the Imam), recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'They want to put out the Divine Authority of Amir al-Mu'minin (Ali), recipient of divine supreme covenant, with their mouths. However, the expression "Allah completes His light" stands for the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, as mentioned in the following verse 'Those who believe in Allah, His messenger and follow the light which is sent down . . .' (64:8) "The light" stands for Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant,'"

“Whatever Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has brought I follow it entirely and whatever he has forbidden I desist from altogether. Whatever excellence was found in the Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was found in Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, also. Ali ibn Muhammad and Muhammad ibn al-Hassan have narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad from Muhammad ibn al-Walid Shabab al-Sayrafi who has said that Sa‘id’ al-A‘raj has said that he and Sulayman ibn Khalid once went to abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and al-A‘raj began the conversation as follows:

“O Sulayman, whatever Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has brought is followed entirely and whatever he has forbidden is desisted from altogether. "Abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the excellence of Amir al-Mu'minin, Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, 'Whatever Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has brought I follow it entirely and whatever he has forbidden I desist from altogether. is the gate through which people can go to Allah. He is the path that if chosen leads to Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High. The same was true of Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, after the Messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant. All such matters were true of 'A'immah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, one after the other. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has made them the cornerstone of the earth so that its inhabitants are not destroyed. They were the pillars of Islam and the connection in the path of guidance. No guide can be a guide without their guidance and no straying one goes astray unless he ignores the rights of 'A'immah, recipients of divine supreme covenant.. They are the trustees of Allah over whatever knowledge, warning and excuses have been revealed to them (from the heavens). They possess the doubtless Divine Authority over those on earth. Whatever (excellence and authority) is found in one of them is true of all of them and no one can reach such a stage without support from Allah.

I have been given the power to attack the enemy, and the power to subdue the adversary. I am the owner of the staff (of Moses) and Miysam (marking seal) and the being that will speak to people. Abu Muhammad al-Qasim ibn al-'Ala', may Allah grant him blessings, in a marfu' manner (rafa'ahu), has narrated from 'Ad al-'Aziz ibn Muslim the following:

"Once we had been with al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, at Marw. It was a Friday assembly in the central mosque and we attended the gathering. It was when we had just arrived (in Marw). People spoke and discussed the issue of Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority). All the differing opinions among people in this matter came up. I then went to see my master, my leader, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and informed him of the people's disagreement over the issue (of Imamat).

"He (the Imam), recipient of divine supreme covenant, smiled and then said the following. 'O 'Abd al-'Aziz, (ibn Muslim) people are ignorant and their opinions have misled and deceived them. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, did not cause His Holy Prophet to leave this world before completing for him the religion. Allah sent him the Holy Quran in which all things are clearly explained. Allah has explained in the Holy Quran what is lawful and what is unlawful. He has explained totally the limits and the rules for all issues that people may face in the affairs of life. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has said, “We have left nothing without mentioning it in the Book. . . .” (6:38) “During the last visit of the Holy Prophet to Makka for pilgrimage toward the end of his life the following verse of the Holy Quran was sent to him. ‘On this day I have perfected your religion, completed My favors to you, and have chosen Islam as your religion. . . .’ (5:3) The issue of Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority) is part of the completion of religion. The Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, did not leave this world before explaining to his followers the principles of their religion and showing them the path clearly. He, in fact, left them on a point of a path that faced in the direction of the truth. He raised Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, among them as a flag and an Imam (Leader with Divine Authority). He did not leave anything his followers needed, without full explanation. Those who think that Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has not completed His religion, they have rejected the Book of Allah, and those who reject the Book of Allah have become unbelievers in it.

“Do they know the value and the status of Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority) of the ’Umma (the nation) to find out if their selecting an Imam is justifiable and permissible? Imamat, in fact, is the most sublime in values, greatest in position, highest in status and the most exclusive issue in all aspects. It is the most profound issue and much more meaningful than the extent of the intellect of the people to reach. It is beyond the grasp of their opinions to appoint an Imam or select him.

“Imamat is that particular distinction with which Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has distinguished Ibrahim, His very close friend (al-Khalil), after prophet-hood. This close friendship is the third stage (in the progression of spiritual degrees). It is a distinction with which He honored him and established his fame. He then said, ‘Behold! I have made you an Imam for the people.’ Abraham, the close friend, then out of delight pleaded, ‘Please let it (Imamat) be in my offspring also.’ Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, said, ‘My covenant does not go to the unjust ones.’ (2:124)

“Thus, this verse has declared the leadership (Imamat) of all the unjust ones as unlawful until the Day of Judgment and it has established it for those clean and free of evil and injustice. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, bestowed him more honors in establishing Imamat in purified and clean persons of his offspring. Allah has said, ‘We granted him Isaac and Jacob as a gift and helped both of them to become righteous people (21:72). We appointed them as leaders to guide the people through Our command and sent them revelation to strive for good deeds, worship their Lord and pay religious tax. Both of them were Our worshipping servants.’ (21:73)

“So Imamat remained in his offspring, inheriting it from each other, generation after generation, until Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, made Prophet Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, to inherit it. And He, Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, said, ‘The nearest people to Abraham, among mankind, are those who followed him, and this Prophet (Muhammad) and the true believers. Allah is the Guardian of the true believers.’ (3:68)

“Imamat belonged to him (Prophet Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant,) particularly, and he, then, entrusted Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, with it by the command of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, as He had made it obligatory. It then came to be in his (Imam Ali's) purified and clean of sins offspring, to whom Allah has given knowledge and belief, as in the words of Allah, the Most High, 'Those who have received knowledge and have belief will say, "By the decree of Allah, you have remained for the exact period, which was mentioned in the Book of Allah about the Day of Resurrection. This is the Day of Resurrection, but you did not know." (30:56)

"Imamat will remain in the sons of Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, exclusively, until the Day of Judgment and there will be no prophet after Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, wherefrom then have these ignorant people received the right to select the Imam?

"Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority) is, certainly, the position of the prophets, and the inheritance of the successors. Imamat indeed, is the representation (khilafa) of Allah, the deputy of the Messenger, recipient of divine supreme covenant, of Allah, the office of Amir al-Mu'minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and the inheritance of Imam al-Hassan and al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant.

"Imamat is, in fact, the reins of religion. It is the social system of the Muslims. It is best for the world, and honor for the believers. Imamat is Islam's growing root, and its towering branch. Through the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, prayers are complete, Zakat (charity) is paid, fasting is maintained, Hajj is performed and Jihad, proper defense is exercised, the wealth of the nation (fay') and charity (sadaqat) are increased, the laws are enforced and the frontiers are protected and defended.

"The Imam declares as lawful what Allah has done so and prohibits what Allah has prohibited. He enforces the judicial laws of Allah and defends the religion of Allah. The Imam provides guidance with wisdom, good advice and with the topmost strong evidence.

"The Imam is like the risen sun that beautifies the world with its light and is in the horizon above the harm of hands and eyes. The Imam is as the bright moon, the shining lamp, the brilliant light and the guiding star in the depth of darkness, in the middle of the towns, in the wilderness and on the high seas. The Imam is as crystal-clear water to thirst, an indicator of true guidance and the protector against destruction. The Imam is as the fire of a lighthouse that provides warmth and guidance for those who seek heat and protection against fatalities. Whoever departs him (the Imam) will perish.

"The Imam (in terms of blessings) is as the rain-bearing cloud, the drenching rainfall, the shiningsun, the shadow-providing sky, the open fields, the gushingforth spring, as a pond and a garden. The Imam is as a comforting friend, a very kind father, a real brother, and a tenderhearted mother of a small child, and a refuge for people in disastrous conditions. The Imam is Allah's trustee over His creatures, His Authority over His servants, His representative in His lands, the preacher of His cause and the defender of His sanctuary.

"The Imam is clean of sins, free of faults, possesses special knowledge and is distinguished in forbearance. The Imam maintains law and order in religion. He is the might of the Muslims that enrages the hypocrites, and exterminates unbelievers. The Imam is the peerless person of his time, no one can reach even near his rank in virtue and excellence and no scholar is comparable to him. No one can become an alternative for him, nor is there anyone similar to him or just like him. His distinctions are exclusive in all virtues and excellence of which none is acquired or is sought after. In fact, his distinctions are all bestowed upon him by the source of all perfection, the Generous One (Allah).

"Who is he that can know all about the Imam, or can select him? To affirm the ability of selection is very far from the truth. (In the task of recognizing the Imam) intellects have become confused, understanding has lost the meaning, awareness is frustrated, eyes have become dull and tired, the great ones have become humble, the sagacious ones have become bewildered and people of forbearance have lost patience. (In the task of recognizing the Imam) the orators have become speechless, the intelligent ones have become ignorant and the poets have become exhausted. The men-of-letters have become helpless, people of eloquence have turned wordless to speak of any of the aspects of his status or a virtue and excellence of his merits and instead have confessed their helplessness in the matter. How can one speak of him in full, or describe him in the real sense or understand anything of his affairs or find an alternative for him to be sufficient for what he (the Imam) suffices. There is no such thing and nowhere is such a thing found. He is like a star away from the reach of those who try to reach, or those who try to describe. Where does the idea of selecting him stand in such a case? How then can reason and intellect reach him and where can one find a person like the Imam?

"Do they think that such a person can be found outside the family of the messenger (of Allah), Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant? Their souls, I swear by Allah, have told them a lie. Falsehood has induced in them evil hopes. Be on your guard against an uphill and crushing battle in which they slip back to their first foothold. They intend to raise the Imam by their confused, fruitless and faulty intellects and their misleading opinions. It will do nothing good for them. Instead it will take them away from the truth, as Allah has said, 'May Allah be their adversary. Where are they headed?' (9:30) They have aimed at a difficult task and have spoken something meaningless. They have strayed far away from the truth and have faced huge confusions. They have knowingly ignored the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant.. It is just as Allah has said; 'Satan has made their deeds to seem attractive to them and has blocked them from reaching the path (of guidance) when they know it fully.' (29:38)

"They have turned away from the choice that Allah and His Messenger and his family have made for them, due to their own choice. The Holy Quran calls upon them, 'Your Lord creates and chooses (to grant mercy) to whoever He wants. (In matters of guidance) they (unbelievers) do not have the choice to choose whatever they want. Allah is by far exalted and cannot be considered equal to anything else.' (28:68) Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most High, also has said, 'The believing men and women must not feel free to do something in their affairs other than that which has been already decided for them by Allah and His Messenger. One who disobeys Allah and His Messenger is in plain error.' (33:36)

"He has further said, 'What is the matter with you? How could you judge this to be so? (68:36). Do you have a book from which you study (68:37) that tells you to do whatever you want? (68:38). Do you have a covenant with Us, which allows you to do whatever you want until the Day of Judgment? (68:39) (Muhammad), ask which of them can guarantee that on the Day of Judgment (68:40) they will receive the same thing that the Muslims will? Do they have any witness to such an agreement? Let them bring out such witness, if they are truthful.'(68:41)

"Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious says, 'Is it that they do not think about the Quran or are their hearts sealed?' (47:24) Or as He says, '. . . their hearts were sealed and they were left with no understanding.' (9:87) Or, 'Do not be like those who said that they have heard (the Messenger's commands) but do not pay any attention to them (8:21). The wickedest beasts in the sight of Allah are the deaf and the dumb who have no understanding (8:22). Had they possessed any virtue, Allah would certainly have made them hear. Even if Allah were to make them hear, they would still turn away from (the words of Allah),' (8:23) or, 'You said that you had listened but you disobeyed.' (2:93) 'It is the grace from Allah and He grants grace to whoever He wills. Allah possesses great generosity.' (57:21)

"How can they have any right to choose the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant? The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, is a scholar who is not ignorant of anything, a shepherd who does not step back from his duty. He is the source of holiness, of purity, noble tradition, (the force) of restraint from sins, knowledge and worship. He (enjoys) the blessings of the exclusive prayers of the Messenger of Allah and of being of the progeny of the Holy lady, al-Batul (Fatimah, recipient of divine supreme covenant). There is no question about his genealogical purity. He is of the house of Quraysh and the topmost in the clan of Hashim and of the family of the Messenger of Allah. He enjoys the prestigious opportunity that Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, is happy with him. He is the noblest in all nobility. He is of the offspring of 'Abd al-Manaf. He possesses (a body of) increasing knowledge. He is perfect in forbearance, the only one to qualify for the position of Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority). He has full knowledge of politics. Obedience to him is obligatory by the command of Allah. He is appointed for Imamat by the command of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, to give good advice to the servants of Allah and to protect the religion of Allah.

"Allah grants success and support to the prophets and 'A'immah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, through His treasured knowledge and command in a way that is granted to no one else. Thus, their knowledge is above the knowledge of the people of their times as mentioned in the following words of Allah. 'Is the one who guides to the Truth a proper guide or one who himself cannot find guidance unless he is guided (by others)? What is wrong with you that you judge (so unjustly)?' (10:35) And as in His words, 'Whoever is given wisdom, certainly, has received much good . . .' (2:269). Or as about Talut in His following words, 'Allah has chosen him as your ruler and has given him physical power and knowledge. Allah grants His Authority to anyone whom He wants. Allah is Provident and All-knowing,' (2:247) or as He has said to His Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'Allah has revealed the Book to you, has given you wisdom and has taught you what you did not know. Certainly Allah's favor to you has been great.' (4:113) He also has said about 'A'immah from the family of the Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'Are they jealous of the favors that Allah has done to certain people? We have given to the family of Abraham the Book, Wisdom and a great Kingdom (4:54). Certain people have believed, others have disbelieved and tried to prevent people from believing. For these people, only the intense fire of hell is a sufficient punishment.' (4:55)

"When Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, chooses a person for the affairs of His servants, He opens his heart for the task, places in it the fountains of wisdom and inspires him with knowledge. He then never becomes tired of answering questions and never becomes confused to miss the right answer. He is infallible, divinely supported, successful and guarded. He is immune from sins and shortcomings and faults. Allah has granted him this exclusively so that he can serve as the Divine Authority over His servant, as a witness over them, and it is due to the grace of Allah that He grants to whomever He wills and Allah's grace is the greatest.

"Can one among the people have such things so they may choose him as the Imam or can their selected person have such distinctions as to be preferred over the others?

"They, I swear by the house of Allah, have transgressed against the truth and have thrown the Book of Allah behind their backs as if they do not know. In the Book of Allah there is guidance and cure but they have ignored it and have followed their own desires. For this reason Allah has criticized, expressed anger and condemned them in His words as follows: 'Who strays more than one who follows his desires without guidance from Allah? Allah does not guide the unjust people.' (28:50) '. . . the fate of the unbelievers will be to stumble and their deeds will have no virtuous results.' (47:8) 'This act greatly angers Allah and the believers. Thus does Allah seal the hearts of every arrogant oppressor.' (40:35)

"May Allah grant blessings upon Prophet Muhammad and his family Imamat, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and may He grant them peace, a great deal of peace.'"

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Isa from al-Hassan ibn Mahbub from Ishaq ibn Ghalib who has said the following:

"Abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, describing the condition of 'A'immah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and their attributes in one of his sermons has said, 'Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has explained His religion through 'A'immah of (true) guidance from the family of our Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, the Ahl al-Bayt, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and has cleared through them the path of His system and plan. He has opened through them the inside of the springs of His knowledge. Whoever of the followers of Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has recognized his obligation toward the rights of his Imam he has realized the taste of the sweetness of his belief and the superior beauty of his Islam. It is because Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has appointed the Imam as torchbearer for His creatures and authority over those who receive His blessings in His world. He has crowned him with dignity and has encompassed him in the light of His Omnipotence that extends for him a means to the heavens. He does not discontinue His blessings for him. None of the things with Allah is achieved except through its right means. Allah does not accept the good deeds of His servants without their recognition of the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant. The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, knows how to sort out the dark confusing matters and things that may obscure the Sunnah (tradition of the Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant) and the confounding matters in mischievous conditions. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has always chosen ‘A’immah from the descendents of al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, one after the other Imam. He would select and choose them for the leadership of His creatures delightfully and well satisfied with them. Whenever one Imam would leave this world He would appoint for His creatures his successor as a clear beacon and a shining guide, a guarding leader, and a knowledgeable one with Divine Authority. ‘A’immah from Allah guide people with the truth and with the truth they judge. They are Allah’s authority calling people to Him, and shepherds of His creatures. With their guidance people follow the religion and from them the land receive light. Through their holiness the bounties increase. Allah has made them life for the people and the torches in the darkness, the keys to communication and the strongholds for Islam. Thus, have the measures of Allah continued in them toward His final decision.

“The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, is the outstanding amicable one; the most trusted guide and the guardian who can make hopes come true. Allah has chosen him with such distinctions. He selected him as such (well protected) in the realm when all things were in the form of particles in the instant that He made him. He chose him as such (well-protected) in the realm in which all things were designed as He had designed him as a shadow, before He made the organisms, on the right side of His throne, gifted him with wisdom in the unseen knowledge with Him. He chose him in His knowledge and granted him outstanding nobility for his purity.

“He is an heir of Adam, the best one among the descendents of Noah, the chosen one of the family of Abraham, a descendent of Ishmael and of the most preferred ones in the family of Prophet Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, He has always been looked after by the watchful eyes of Allah Who provides him security and guards him with His shield, well protected against the evil nets of Satan and his armies. He is well defended against the approaching dark nights and the false accusations of the evildoers. All wickedness is kept away from him and he is kept safe against all forms of defects and flaws. He is veiled against all scourges.

“He is infallible in matters of sins. He is kept safe and sound against all indecencies. He is well known for his forbearance and virtuousness in the early days of his life. Chastity, great knowledge and excellence are ascribed to him toward the end of his life. The task of Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority) of his father rests with him while in the lifetime of his father he remains silent.

“When the time of the Imamat of his father ends it is the time when the measure of Allah ends up with him due to His wish. The will of Allah brings him to His love, thus, the end of the Imamat of his father comes and he passes away. The Authority from Allah shifts to him after his father. He then is made the person in charge of His religion, the Divine Authority over His servants, the guardian over His lands, he is supported with His spirit and is given of His knowledge. He raises him as a beacon for His creatures, makes him to have His Authority over the people of his world and as the light for the people of His religion and a guardian for His servants. Allah agrees to have him as Imam of the people, entrusts him with His secret, makes him a safe keeper of His knowledge and hides His wisdom in him. He protects him for His religion, calls upon him to serve His great task, and revives through him the phases of His system (of religion) and the obligations in His laws.

"The Imam then enforces justice - when the people of ignorance are confused and the disputing and quarrelling people are frustrated - with shining light, the beneficial cure and radiant truth. He does so with clear explanations of all aspects and exactly in the manner and practice his truthful father and forefathers would do before him. No one ignores the rights of such a scholar except the wicked ones. No one refuses and denies him except those who have strayed away from the right path. No one keeps away from him except those who are aggressive against Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High."

'A'immah, Recipient of Divine Supreme Covenant, Possess Divine Authority

They are envied and Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has spoken of them

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad ibn 'Amir al-Ash'ari has narrated from Mu'alla ibn Muhammad who has said that al-Hassan ibn Ali al-Washsha' narrated to him from Ahmad ibn 'A'idh from ibn 'Udhayna from Burayd al-'Ijli who said the following:

"Once I asked abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the meaning of the following words of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, 'Obey Allah and obey the Messenger and those who possess (Divine) Authority among you.' (4:59) In response he read the following words of Allah. 'Have you seen how those who had been given a share of the Book believe in idols and Satan and say, "The unbelievers are better guided than the believers."' (4:51) They say that the leaders of misguidance and those who call people to hell (may Allah condemn them) are better guided than the members of the family of Prophet Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant. The Imam then read these words from the Holy Quran, 'No one can help one whom Allah has condemned. (4:52) Do they have a share in the Kingdom (Divine Authority and Imamat)? Even if they did, they would not have given the smallest thing to the people.' (4:53) The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, thereafter said, 'The word "People" is a reference to us and the word "naqir" means the spot at the center of a seed.' The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, explained and added, in the expression, "Do they envy the favors that Allah has done to certain people?" We are the "certain people," who are envied because of the Divine Authority that Allah has given us exclusively,' he (the Imam), recipient of divine supreme covenant, explained. In the passage, "We have given to the family of Abraham the Book, Wisdom, and a great Kingdom," (4:54) Allah says that from the descendents of Abraham He has made His Messengers, Prophets and 'A'immah. How is it that these people acknowledge the case about the descendents of Abraham but they refuse to accept Imamat (the Leadership with Divine Authority) in the family of Muhammad?' He (the Imam), recipient of divine supreme covenant, further explained: 'Certain people have believed, others have disbelieved and tried to prevent people from believing. For these people, only the intense fire of hell is a sufficient punishment (4:55). We will make those who reject Our revelations suffer in hell fire. As soon as the fire destroys their skins, We will give them new skins so that they may suffer more of the torment. Allah is Majestic and All-wise.'" (4:56) his virtuous qualities and such qualities of his successors after him (Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant) altogether establish My argument against such wicked ones ever more strongly. Indeed your excellence and virtues are their ('A'immah's) excellence and virtues, obedience to you is like obedience to them; your right is like their right and disobedience to you is disobedience to them. They will be 'A'immah who possess the right guidance after you. Your spirit flows in them and so does the spirit of that which your Lord has made to flow in you. They are members of your family and from the substance of which you are made. They are your flesh and blood. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has made your traditions and the traditions of the prophets before to continue with them ('A'immah). They are the treasurers of My knowledge after you. It is a right that I owe them. I have chosen them and I have given to them nobility exclusively with pleasure. Salvation will be for those who love them, acknowledge their Divine Authority and acknowledge their excellence and virtues. The angel Jibril has brought for me their ('A'immah's) names and the names of their fathers, the names of those who love them and those who acknowledge their virtues and excellence.'"

Allah has given them my understanding and knowledge. I appeal to Allah and complain to Him about the case of my people's dealings, their denying the virtue and excellence of 'A'immah from my family. I complain to Allah for their disregard of my relationship with them. By Allah, they will murder my son (al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant). Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from Mu'alla ibn Muhammad from al-Washsha' from 'Abd Allah ibn 'Ajlan who has said the following:

"About the words of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, 'Ask the people of Dhikr if you do not know' (16:43, 21: 7) Abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said that the Messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'I am the Dhikr and 'A'immah are the people of Dhikr.' About the words of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, 'It is a Dhikr for you and for your people and you all must be asked (for guidance).' (43:44) The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'We are his "people" and we must be asked (for guidance).'"

Note: Those who have considered this Hadith confusing may not have noted that the above Hadith has dealt with two different verses of the Holy Quran. It should, however, be considered that as the Holy Quran is called Dhikr (reminder of Allah), the Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, also is Dhikr (the preacher for and reminder of Allah). Thus, the above passage is not confusing.

The issues for which I requested explanation in the letter, one was about the words of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, 'Ask the people of Dhikr (people who remind of Allah) if you do not know.' The other question was about the words of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, 'Not all believers have to become specialists in religious learning. Why do not certain persons from each group of believers seek to become specialists in religious learning and, after completing their studies, guide their group so that they will have fear of Allah?' (9:122) The above passages say that it is made obligatory upon them to ask but it is not made obligatory upon you to answer.'

"The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, answered, 'Allah the Most Holy, the Most High, has said, "If they do not do what you ask them, know that they are only following their (evil) desires. Who strays more than one who follows his desires without guidance from Allah? . . ."' (28:50)

Two Kinds of Imam

Two kinds of Imam are mentioned in the Holy Quran: 'A'immah, Recipients of Divine Supreme Covenant, who call to Allah, and 'A'immah who call to fire

١ - محمد بْن يحْيى عَنْ أَحْمد بْنِ محمدٍ عنِ الْحسنِ بْنِ محْبوبٍ عَنْ عَبْدِ اللهِ بْنِ غَالِبٍ عَنْ جابِرٍ عَنْ أَبِي جعْفَرٍ ع قَالَ قَالَ لَما نزلَتْ هذِهِ الْآيةُ يوْم ندْعوا كُل أُناسٍ بِإِمامِهِمْ قَالَ الْمسْلِمونَ يا رسولَ اللهِ أَ لَسْت إِمام الناسِ كُلِهِمْ أَجْمعِين قَالَ فَقَالَ رسولُ اللهِ ص أَنا رسولُ اللهِ إِلَى الناسِ أَجْمعِين و لَكِنْ سيكُونُ مِنْ بعْدِي أَئِمةٌ علَى الناسِ مِن اللهِ مِنْ أَهْل بيْتِي يقُومونَ فِي الناسِ فَيكَذبونَ و يظْلِمهمْ أَئِمةُ الْكُفْرِ و الضلَال و أَشْياعهمْ فَمنْ والَاهمْ و اتبعهمْ و صدقَهمْ فَهو مِني و مِعي و سيلْقَانِي أَلَا و مَنْ ظَلَمهمْ و كَذبهمْ فَلَيس مِني و لَا مَعِي و أَنا مِنْه بَرِيءٌ

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from al-Hassan ibn Mahbub from 'Abd Allah ibn Ghalib from Jabir from abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"When the following verse of the Holy Quran was revealed, 'On the day when We will call every nation with their leaders (Imam) . . .' (17:71), people asked the Messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'Are you not the Imam of all the people altogether?' The messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'I am the Messenger of Allah to all the people but after me there will be 'A'immah from my family for the people. They will rise among the people but they will be rejected. The leaders of the unbelievers and misguidance and their followers will do injustice to them. Those who support, love, follow, and acknowledge their authority, are from me, they are with me and will meet me. People must know that whoever will do injustice to 'A'immah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and reject them is not from me and is not with me. I denounce them and I have no associations with them.'"

٢ - محمد بْن يحْيى عَنْ أَحْمد بْنِ محمدٍ و محمدِ بْنِ الْحسيْنِ عَنْ محمدِ بْنِ يحْيى عَنْ طَلْحةَ بْنِ زيْدٍ عَنْ أَبِي عَبْدِ اللهِ ع قَالَ قَالَ إِن الْأَئِمةَ فِي كِتابِ اللهِ عز و جل إِمامان قَالَ الله تبارك و تعالَى و جعلْناهمْ أَئِمةً يهْدونَ بِأَمرِنا لَا بِأَمْرِ الناسِ يقَدمونَ أَمر اللهِ قَبْلَ أَمرِهِمْ و حكْم اللهِ قَبْلَ حكْمِهِمْ قَالَ و جعلْناهمْ أَئِمةً يدْعونَ إِلَى النارِ يقَدمونَ أَمرهمْ قَبْلَ أَمرِ اللهِ و حكْمهمْ قَبْلَ حكْمِ اللهِ و يأْخذُونَ بِأَهْوائِهِمْ خِلَاف ما فِي كِتابِ اللهِ عز و جل

Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High has said, (1) 'We appointed them as 'A'immah (leaders) to guide the people through Our command . . .' (21:73) They do so but not because of the commands of the people. They allow Our command to come first and before their own orders, and Our laws before their own laws and judgment. (2) Allah has also said, 'We made them the kinds of Imams (leaders) who invite people to the fire . . .' (28:41) They (this kind of Imam) make their own commands to come before the commands of Allah and their laws before the laws of Allah. They follow their desires against what the book of Allah, the Most Holy, and the Most High, requires.'"

“Once I asked abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the meaning of the following words of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, ‘To those who have said, “Allah is our Lord,” and who have remained steadfast to their belief. . . .’ (41:30) The Imam said, ‘For those who remain steadfast in respecting the Divine Authority of (Amir al-Mu’minin) Ali and his successors, ‘A’immah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, one after the other then, the angels will descend saying, “Do not be afraid or grieved. Receive the glad news of the Paradise, which was promised to you.’” (41:30)

We are the trust of Allah among the people and we are the great sanctuaries of Allah. We are the promised responsibility of Allah and we are His covenant. Chapter Thirty Two

'A'immah (pl. of Imam), Recipients of Divine Supreme Covenant, Are the Heirs of Knowledge Inherited One From the Other

H 585, Ch. 32, h1

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from al-Husayn ibn Sa'id from al-Nadr ibn Suwayd from Yahya al-Halabi from Burayd ibn Mu'awiya from Muhammad ibn Muslim from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was a man of knowledge and knowledge is inherited. Whenever a man of knowledge dies he leaves another man of knowledge behind who possesses his knowledge or whatever Allah wants."

H 586, Ch. 32, h2

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from Hammad ibn 'Isa from Hariz from Zurara and al-Fudayl from abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant,) who has said the following:

"The knowledge that came with Adam was not taken away. Knowledge is inherited. Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was the knowledgeable person of this nation (Muslims). No one from us has ever left this world without leaving behind one like himself in knowledge or whatever Allah wants."

H 587, Ch. 32, h3

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from al-Barqi from al-Nadr ibn Suwayd from Yahya al-Halabi from 'Abd al-Hamid al-Ta'i from Muhammad ibn Muslim from abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"Knowledge is inherited. No man of knowledge (Imam) dies without leaving behind one who is as knowledgeable as his predecessor or what Allah wants."

H 588, Ch. 32, h4

Abu Ali al-Ash'ari has narrated from Muhammad ibn 'Abd al-Jabbar from Safwan from Musa ibn Bakr from al-Fudayl ibn Yasar who has said the following:

"I heard abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say, 'In Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, there is the Sunnah (tradition) of a thousand prophets. The knowledge that came with Adam was not taken away. No man of knowledge (Imam) ever died along with knowledge. Knowledge is inherited.'"

H 589, Ch. 32, h5

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from al-Husayn ibn Sa'id from Fadala ibn Ayyub from 'Umar ibn Aban who has said that he heard abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say the following:

"The knowledge that came with Adam was not taken away. No man of knowledge (Imam) has ever died along with his knowledge."

H 590, Ch. 32, h6

Muhammad has narrated from Ahmad from Ali ibn Nu'man, in a marfu' manner (rafa'ahu) from abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"Abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, 'They try to absorb the little moisture but ignore the huge river.' A certain person asked him, 'What is (this) huge river?' The Imam said, 'It is the Messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and the Knowledge that Allah gave to him. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, combined in Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, the Sunnah (tradition) of all the prophets from Adam onward to Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant.' A man then asked him, 'What is the Sunnah (tradition)?' The Imam said, 'It is all the knowledge of all the prophets, recipients of divine supreme covenant. The Messenger of Allah transferred all of it to (Amir al-Mu'minin) Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant.

"The man then said, 'O descendent of the Messenger of Allah, is (Amir al-Mu'minin) Ali more knowledgeable or certain persons of the prophets?' Abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, replied, 'Everyone, Listen to what he just said. Allah opens the ears of whomever He wants. I said to him that Allah combined for Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, the knowledge of the prophets and he combined all of it and transferred to Amir al-Mu'minin (Ali), recipient of divine supreme covenant. He now asks me, "Was he (Ali), recipient of divine supreme covenant, more knowledgeable or certain persons of the prophets?"'"

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from al-Barqi from al-Nadr ibn Suwayd from Yahya al-Halabi from 'Abd al-Hamid al-Ta'i from Muhammad ibn Muslim from abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from 'Abd al-'Aziz ibn al-Muhtadi from 'Abd Allah ibn Jundab to who Imam al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, wrote the following:

"Thereafter (after thanking Allah I must say), Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was the trustee of Allah in the matters of His creatures. When he was taken away from this world, we, Ahl al-Bayt, inherited him; thus, we are the trustees of Allah over His earth. With us is the knowledge of the sufferings, the death, the genealogy of the Arabs and the birth of Islam. We know the man when we see him in the truth of belief or hypocrisy. Our followers (Shi'a) are listed (with us) by their names and the names of their fathers. Allah has established a covenant with them and with us. They land wherever we do so and enter wherever we enter. No one besides our followers and us lives the Islamic culture. We are the noble saviors and the descendents of the prophets and of the children of the successors of the prophets. people, have the first priority (closeness) to the Book of Allah. We, of all people, have the first priority (closeness) to the Messenger of Allah. For us He formed His religion.

"Allah has said in His book, 'He has established for you [family of Muhammad] a form of religion, just as the commands issued to Noah. [We have received the commandments that Noah had received]. It (religion) is what We have revealed to you (Muhammad), that (commands) which issssued to Abraham, Moses, and Jesus to follow. [He, certainly, taught and preached to us the science of the knowledge that we have and placed with us the knowledge of the prophets. We are the heirs of the commissioned Messengers, 'Ulu al-'Azm.] (He has explained it) so you [family of Muhammad] remain steadfast and united [all in a united group] in your religion. What you call the polytheists to [polytheists in the acknowledgement of the Divine Authority of Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant] is extremely grave for them. Allah [O Muhammad] guides to [the religion] whomever He wants and guides to it those who turn to Him in repentance [who obey you to acknowledge the Divine Authority of Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant].'" H 594, Ch. 33, h2

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from Ali ibn al-Hakam from 'Abd al-Rahman ibn Kathir from abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"The Messenger of Allah has said, 'The first successor and executor of the will on earth was Hibbatu Allah (gift from Allah), the son of Adam. No prophet has ever left this world without first leaving behind one who would execute his will. The prophets were one hundred twenty thousand persons. Five of them were commissioned Messengers 'Ulu al-'Azm, like Noah, Abraham, Moses, Jesus and Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant.' Ali ibn abu Talib, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was the "Hibbatu Allah" (gift from Allah) for Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant. He inherited the knowledge of the executors of the wills of the prophets and the knowledge of those who were before him. (Is not it true) that Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, inherited the knowledge of the prophets and the messengers who lived before him? It is written on the columns of the Throne ('Arsh), "Hamza is the lion of Allah and the lion of His Messenger. He (Hamza) is the master of the martyrs." On top of the Throne is written, "Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, is Amir al-Mu'minin (commander of the believers)." This is evidence against those who deny our rights and refuse to yield to us our right of inheritance. We are not forbidden to speak. Before us is all certainty. What else can serve as clearer supporting evidence than this?'"

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Salama ibn al-Khattab from 'Abd Allah ibn Muhammad from 'Abd Allah ibn al-Qasim from Zur'a ibn Muhammad from al-Mufaddal ibn 'Umar who has said the following:

"Abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, 'Solomon inherited from David. Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, inherited from Solomon and we inherited from Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant. We have the knowledge of the Torah and the Gospel (Injil), the Psalms, (al-Zabur) and the explanation of what the tablets contained.'

Ahmad ibn Idris has narrated from Muhammad ibn ‘Abd al-Jabbar from Safwan ibn Yahya from Shu‘ayb al-Haddad from Durays al-Kunasi who has said the following:

“Once I was in the presence of abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and abu Basir also was there. The Imam said, ‘David inherited knowledge from the prophets. Solomon inherited from David. Prophet Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, inherited from Solomon and we inherited from Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant. Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Muhammad ibn ‘Abd al-Jabbar from Muhammad ibn Isma‘il from Ali ibn an-Nu‘man from ibn Muskan from abu Basir who has said the following:

“Imam abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, once said to me, ‘O abu Muhammad, whatever Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has given to the prophets He has given to Prophet Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, also.’ The Imam further said, ‘Allah gave to Prophet Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, all that He had given to the prophets. With us is the Book about which Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, said, ‘The books of Abraham and Moses.’(87:19)

“I then said, ‘May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, are they the tablets?’ The Imam said, ‘Yes, they are the tablets.’” said, ‘Solomon son of David could understand the language of the birds. The messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was also capable of doing such things.’ The narrator has said that the Imam then said, ‘Solomon son of David said about the Hud-Hud (Hoopoe), when he found him missing and had doubts about the bird, “How is it that I cannot see the hoopoe? [When he did not find him present and became angry]. Is he absent? (27:20). I shall certainly punish him severely or slaughter him unless he has a good reason for his absence.” (27:21) He became angry; the bird would show him how to find water. This was only a bird but had received something that was not given to Solomon. The wind, ants, man, Jinn, devils and the rebels obeyed him in submission but he did not know about the water under the space (in the surroundings), but the bird knew.

“On the other hand, Allah says in His Book, ‘Even if the Quran would make mountains move, cut the earth into pieces and make the dead able to speak. . . .’ (13:31) We have as inheritance this Quran which contains such things that can make the mountains move, crisscross the lands and make the dead to come to life. We know there is water under the space (in the surroundings). In the book of Allah there are verses that are indicative of certain issues only if Allah gives permission. This is along with the fact that Allah sometime grants permission to make use of the things that people of the past had written. Allah has set them for us in the origin of the Book as Allah says, ‘All the secrets in heavens and earth are recorded in the illustrious Book.’ (27:75) Allah has also said, ‘We gave the Book as an inheritance to Our chosen servants,’ (35:32) We are the ones whom Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has chosen and has given this (Book) which contains the explanation of all things.’”

Chapter Thirty Four

‘A’immah (pl. of Imam), Recipients of Divine Supreme Covenant, Have All the Books That Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, Has Revealed and They Know Them Even though the Languages Differ

H 600, Ch. 34, h1

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from al-Hassan ibn Ibrahim from Yunus from Hisham ibn al-Hakam who has said the following about the narration of Burayh:

“With Burayh I once went to see abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, but we met abu al-Hassan Musa ibn Ja‘far, recipient of divine supreme covenant. I (Hisham) explained to the Imam about Burayh. When I (Hisham) finished speaking, abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, asked, ‘O Burayh, how is your knowledge of your book?’ He replied, ‘I know it.’ The Imam then asked, ‘What is the degree of your confidence in its interpretation?’ He said, ‘My knowledge of it is very reliable to me.’ The narrator has said, ‘Abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then began to read (from) the Gospel. Burayh then said, ‘It is you for whom I was searching for fifty years or someone like you.’ He (Hisham) has said that Burayh accepted the faith and also the lady who was with him. Burayh, the lady and I (Hisham) then came to abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant. I (Hisham) informed the Imam about what had happened between Burayh and abu al-Hassan, Musa, recipient of divine supreme covenant. Abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then read this from the Holy Quran, ‘. . . These are offspring one from the other, and Allah hears and knows best.’

(3:34) Burayh then asked, ‘How have you possessed the Torah and the Gospel and the books of the prophets?’ The Imam said, ‘We have received them in the form of inheritance from them (prophets). We read them as they did and speak about them, as the prophets would do. Allah does not grant Divine Authority on His earth to those who if questioned are not able to give the right answer and say I do not know.’”

Ali ibn Muhammad and Muhammad ibn al-Hassan have narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad from Bakr ibn Salih from Muhammad ibn Sinan from Mufaddal ibn ‘Umar who has said the following:

“Once we went to abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and wanted permission to visit him. We heard him speaking in a non-Arabic language and we thought it was Suryani (Syrian) language. The Imam then wept and we also did so because of his weeping. A boy then came out to give us permission for a meeting. In the meeting I asked him, ‘May Allah keep you well, we came to ask permission for a meeting and we heard you speak in a non-Arabic language and we thought it was Suryani language. Then we heard you weeping and because of that we also wept.’

“The Imam said, ‘Yes, I remembered prophet Ilyas, one of the Israelite prophets devoted in worship. I then said what he used to say in his prostration. He then went into it in Suryani language. I swear by Allah, we had not seen any monk or minister as eloquent in it as he was. He then explained it to us in Arabic saying: ‘Ilyas would say in his prostration, “O Lord, will I find You punish me even though I have endured so much thirst in the heat of the midday for your sake? Will I find You punish me although You know that I rub my face on earth to worship You? Will I find You punish me although You know that I give up sins for Your sake? Will I find You punish me although You know that I stay awake all night just for You?” The Imam then said, ‘Allah then told him through inspiration, “Raise your head from the earth. I will not punish you.” The Imam then said that he (Ilyas) said to Allah, ‘What if You say, “I will not punish you” but then You punish me? After all, am I not your slave and You are my Lord?’ The Imam said, ‘Allah then spoke to him through inspiration, “Raise your head. I will not punish you because when I promise I then keep My promise.”’”

The Degree of the Great Names Of Allah That Are Given to 'A'immah, Recipients of Divine Supreme Covenant

Muhammad ibn Yahya and others have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from Ali ibn al-Hakam from Muhammad ibn al-Fudayl who has said that Shurays al-Wabishi narrated from Jabir from abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"The greatest name of Allah has seventy-three letters. There was only one of these letters with A'sif (spoken of in (27:40). He spoke that one letter and the land between him and throne of the Queen of Sheba (Bilqis) sank down as such that he could reach her throne with his hand and the land returned to the original state. This happened in a blinking of the eye. Of the greatest name of Allah there are seventy-two letters with us. Allah has kept one letter exclusively for Himself in the knowledge of the unseen. There are no means and no power except by the help of Allah, the Most High, the Most Great."

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad al-Ash'ari has narrated from Mu'alla ibn Muhammad from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Abd Allah from Ali ibn Muhammad al-Nawfali who has said that he heard abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, Sahib al-'Askar say the following:

"The greatest name of Allah has seventy-three letters. There was only one letter with A'sif. He spoke with it and the land between him and the throne of the Queen of Sheba (Bilqis) sank down as such that he took her throne and placed it before Solomon. The land then came to normal state within less than a blinking of an eye. There are seventy-two of those letters with us. One letter is with Allah which He has kept exclusively in the knowledge of the unseen."

When Abraham was about to die, he placed it in a covering and affixed it upon Isaac (Ishaq) who affixed it upon Jacob (Ya'qub). When Joseph was born it was affixed upon him and he had it on his shoulder until the event of the things that happened to him. When he (Joseph) took it out of its covering in Egypt, Jacob (Ya'qub) felt its fragrance as he said, "I smell Joseph's scent. I hope that you will not accuse me of senility." (12:94) It was the same shirt that was sent from paradise.' I then said, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, to whom did that shirt go thereafter?' The Imam said, 'It went to its (people) owner.' Then he said, 'Every prophet who inherited knowledge or other things, they all ended with the family of Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant.'"

Chapter Thirty Eight

The Armaments and Sacred Articles Belonging to the Messenger of Allah, Recipient of Divine Supreme Covenant, That Were Transferred to 'A'immah, Recipients of Divine Supreme Covenant

H 616, Ch. 38, h1

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Isa from Ali ibn al-Hakam from Mu'awiya ibn Wahab from Sa'id al-Samman who has said the following:

"Once, I was in the presence of abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, when two people from the Zaydia sect came to him. They asked, 'Is there with you an Imam to whom obedience is obligatory?' The narrator has said that the Imam said, 'No, there is no one as such.' They then said, 'Reliable people have informed us about you that you issue fatwas (rules of Shari'a) and that you affirm and speak of it. We can point out what their names are. They are very pious and alert people. They are such that cannot be rejected.' The Imam became angry and said, 'I have not ordered them to say so.' When the two men noticed anger on the face of the Imam they left.

"The Imam then asked me, 'Do you know these two?' I said, 'Yes, I know them. They are from our Suq (shopping place). They belong to the Zaydia sect and they think that the sword of the Messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, is with 'Abd Allah ibn al-Hassan.' The Imam said, 'They have lied, may Allah condemn them. I swear by Allah, ''Abd Allah ibn al-Hassan has not seen it with his own eyes, not even one of his eyes has seen it. Even his father had not seen it except if he might have seen it with Imam Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant. If they are truthful let them explain what kind of mark does its hilt have and what is the mark on its blade? With me is the sword of the Messenger of Allah. With me is the flag of the Messenger of Allah, his coat of arms, his Lamma (insignia) and his helmet. If they are truthful let them say what kind of mark does the coat of arms of the Messenger of Allah have? With me is the flag of the Messenger of Allah, the victorious. With me is the staff of Moses. With me is the ring of Solomon son of David. With me is the tray on which Moses used to offer offerings. With me is the name that whenever the Messenger of Allah would place it between the Muslims and pagans, no arrow from the pagans would reach the Muslims. With me is the similar object that angels brought. (Perhaps the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has hinted of the following verse: 'Their Prophet further told them, as the evidence of his authority, he will bring to you the Ark which will be a comfort to you from your Lord and a legacy of the household of Moses and Aaron. The angels will carry it. This is the evidence for you if you have faith.') (2:248)

"The case of the Arms with us is like the case of the Ark in the Israelites. Whichever family had the Ark at their door-front that family received prophecy. To whomever of us the Arms are transferred he receives Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority). My father wore the coats of arms of the Messenger

Muhammad ibn al-Husayn and Ali ibn Muhammad have narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad from Muhammad ibn al-Walid Shabab al-Sayrafi from Aban ibn 'Uthman from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"When the Messenger of Allah was about to die, he called al-'Abbass ibn 'Ad al-Muttalib and (Amir al-Mu'minin) Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, to meet him. He said to al-'Abbass, 'O uncle of Muhammad, will you accept the legacy of Muhammad, pay his debts and fulfill his promises and commitments?' He responded, 'O the Messenger of Allah, may Allah keep my soul and the souls of my parents in service for your cause, I am an old man with a large number of dependents and with very few belongings while you in generosity compete with the winds.' The Imam then said, he (the Messenger of Allah) remained quiet for a moment and then said, 'O 'Abbass, will you take the legacy of Muhammad, fulfill his promises, pay off his debts?' He responded, 'O the Messenger of Allah, may Allah keep my soul and the souls of my parents in service for your cause, I am an old man with a large number of dependents and with very few belongings while you in generosity compete with the winds.'

"The Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, 'I will give them away to whoever would want them along with their rights and responsibilities.' Then the Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'O Ali, brother of Muhammad, will you pay off the liabilities of Muhammad, pay off his debt and take possession of his legacy?' He said, 'Yes, may Allah keep my soul and the soul of my parents in service for your cause, it is my responsibility and in my favor.' Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'I looked at him and saw him take off even his ring from his finger and say to me "Wear this ring in my lifetime." He (Ali), recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'I looked at the ring when wearing it on my finger and wished to have it out of all his properties.' He then called upon Bilal loudly, 'Bring me my helmet, the coat of arms, the flag, the shirt, the Dhul faqar, (famous sword), al-Sahab (the turban), al-Burd (the clothe), al-Abraqa (the belt), and the staff.' Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'I had never before seen that belt. When it was brought its shine almost took away one's sight. It was of the belts of paradise.' He (the Messenger of Allah) then said, 'O Ali, Jibril brought this for me and said, 'O Muhammad, place it (the belt) in the ring of the coat of arms and use it as a belt around your midsection. Then he asked that the two pairs of Arabian shoes be brought to him along with the shirt. One of them was already stitched and the other was not yet stitched. It was the shirt with which he was taken for the 'Isra' (the night journey to the heavens), the shirt while wearing it he came out on the day of 'Uhud. Three caps were brought: the cap used while on a journey, the cap used on the 'Id days and the cap used on Fridays. Also the cap that was used during his meeting with his companions was brought to him.

"Then he (the Messenger of Allah) said, 'O Bilal, bring to us the two mules, the grey one and Dul-dul and the two camels, al-'Adba' and al-Qaswa' and the two horses, al-Janah, that would have been kept near the door of the Mosque in case the Messenger of Allah needed. Whenever he would need anything he would allow a man to ride on it to go for the task and the horse would run for the needs of the Messenger of Allah. Also Hayzum (the horse) was brought to him. It was that to which he would say, 'Go on, Hayzum.' The donkey called 'Ufayr was brought to him. He then said, 'Take possession of these in my lifetime.' (Amir al-Mu'minin) Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, 'The first one of the animals that died was 'Ufayr which died within the hour that the Messenger of Allah died. He broke off the rope that bound him and began to run until he came to the well of banu Khatmah in Quba and threw himself into it and it became his grave.' It is narrated that (Amir al-Mu'minin) Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'The donkey spoke to the Messenger of Allah saying, "May Allah keep my soul and the soul of my parents in service for your cause, my father related to me from his father from his grandfather from his father who lived with Noah in the Ark. Once Noah came to him and touched him on his back and said, "From the descendents of this donkey there will be a donkey on whose back the master and the last of the prophets will ride. I thank Allah who has made me that donkey.'"

"Once I went to see abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and said, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, I like to ask you a question. Is there anyone else in this house that may hear my words? The Imam then folded the curtain between his room and the next room and looked into it. Then the Imam said, 'O abu Muhammad, ask whatever you wish.'

"I said, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, your followers say that the Messenger of Allah taught Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, a chapter of knowledge. From this chapter there open a thousand chapters.' The Imam said, 'The messenger of Allah taught Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, a thousand chapters from each of which there open a thousand chapters.' I then said, 'This, I swear by Allah, is knowledge!' He would mark the ground with his staff for a while. He then said, 'That is knowledge but it is not that knowledge.' The narrator has said that the Imam then said,

‘O abu Muhammad, with us there is al-Jami‘ah. Do they know what al-Jami‘ah is?’

“I then asked, ‘May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause. What is al-Jami‘ah?’ The Imam said, ‘It is a parchment seventy yards long by the yards of the Messenger of Allah. It contains his dictations from his very own mouth that were recorded onto it in the handwriting of Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant. It contains all the lawful and unlawful, and all matters that people need. Even the law of compensation for a scratch caused to a person.’ He then stretched his hand toward me and asked, ‘May I, O abu Muhammad?’ I then replied, ‘May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, I am entirely at your disposal.’ He pinched me with his hand and said, ‘The law of compensation for this much is also included therein.’ He looked angry. I then said, ‘This, I swear by Allah is knowledge.’

“The Imam said, ‘It certainly is knowledge but not that one.’ The Imam remained silent for a while and then said, ‘With us there is al-Jafr. Do they know what al-Jafr is?’ I then asked, ‘What is al-Jafr?’ The Imam said, ‘It is a container made of skin that contains the knowledge of the prophets and the executors of their wills. It is the knowledge of the scholars in the past from the Israelites.

“I then said, ‘This certainly, is the knowledge.’ The Imam said, ‘It certainly is knowledge but not that knowledge.’ The Imam remained silent for a while and then said, ‘With us there is the book (Mushaf) of Fatimah, recipient of divine supreme covenant. Do they know what Mushaf of Fatimah is?’ I then asked, ‘What is Mushaf of Fatimah?’ The Imam said, ‘Mushaf of Fatimah is three times bigger than your Quran. I swear by Allah, not even a single letter therein is from your Quran.’

“I then said, ‘This, I swear by Allah, is the knowledge.’ The Imam said, ‘This certainly is knowledge, but it is not that knowledge.’ The Imam remained silent for a while and then said, ‘With us there is the knowledge of whatever has been, and the knowledge of everything that will come into being to the Day of Judgment.’

“I then said, ‘May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, this, I swear by Allah, is certainly the knowledge!’ The Imam said, ‘It certainly is knowledge but not that knowledge. A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from ‘Umar ibn ‘Abd al-‘Aziz from Hammad ibn ‘Uthman who has said that he heard abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say the following:

“The heretics will appear in the year 128 A.H. (745/746A.D.) because I have found it in the Mushaf of Fatimah, recipient of divine supreme covenant.” I (the narrator) then asked the Imam, “What is the Mushaf of Fatimah?”

“The Imam said, ‘When Allah, the Most High, took the Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, from this world, it caused such a degree of grief to Fatimah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, that only Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, knows its extent. Allah then sent an angel to her to offer solace and speak to her. She complained about it to (Amir al-Mu’minin) Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who asked her to inform him whenever the angel spoke to her. She then informed him when the angel came to speak. (Amir al-Mu'minin) Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then would write down all that he would hear of the conversations of the angel, so much so that his notes took the shape of a whole book.

"The Imam then said, 'There is nothing in it of the knowledge of the lawful and unlawful matters but it had the knowledge of things that had happened and things to happen in future.'"

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from Ali ibn al-Hakam from al-Husayn ibn abu 'Ala' who has said that he heard abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say the following:

"With me is the white Jafr." I (the narrator) then asked the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, "What is in it?" The Imam said, "In it there are the psalms of David, the Torah of Moses, the Gospel of Jesus, the Books of Abraham, the laws that explain the lawful and unlawful matters and the Mushaf of Fatimah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, in which I do not think there is anything from the Holy Quran. In it there is all that people need us to do for them, so that we would not need anyone else. In it there is information even about a lash, half of a lash and one forth of a lash and about the amount of compensation for a scratch caused to someone.

"With me there is the red Jafr. I (the narrator) then asked the Imam, 'What is in the red Jafr?' The Imam said, 'In it there are the Armaments. It is because it only is opened for bloodshed. The owner of the sword opens it (to settle cases) of murder.'

"The narrator has said that 'Abd Allah ibn abu Ya'fur asked the Imam, 'May Allah keep you well, do the descendents of al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, know this? The Imam, said, 'Yes, I swear by Allah, they know it just as they know the night that it is night and the day that it is day, but jealousy and worldly gains cause them to act in denial and rejection. Had they sought the truth with the truth it would have been better for them.'"

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from Muhammad ibn 'Isa from Yunus from the person that he mentioned from Sulayman ibn Khalid from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"The Jafr of which they speak certainly disappoints them because they (the Zaydis) do not speak the truth while Jafr does contain the truth. Allow them bring to light therefrom the judgments of Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and his rules of inheritance if they are truthful. Ask them about (the inheritance) of paternal and maternal aunts. Allow them show the Mushaf of Fatimah, recipient of divine supreme covenant. In it, certainly, there is the will of Fatimah, recipient of divine supreme covenant. With it there are the Armaments of the Messenger of Allah. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has said, 'Bring me a Book, revealed before this Quran, or any other proof based on knowledge to support your belief, if indeed you are truthful.'" (46:4)

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from ibn Mahbub from ibn Ri'ab from abu 'Ubayda who has said the following:

"People from our group asked abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about Jafr and the Imam said, 'It is the skin of a bull which is full of knowledge.' They then asked the Imam about al-Jami'ah. The Imam replied, 'It is a parchment that is seventy yards long with the width of a hide like that of the leg of a huge camel. It contains all that people may need. There

"I (the narrator) then asked the Imam, 'What is the Mushaf of Fatimah?' The Imam waited for quite a while. Then he said, 'You ask about what you really mean and what you do not mean. Fatimah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, lived after the Messenger of Allah for seventy-five days. She was severely depressed because of the death of her father. Jibril (peace be upon him) would come to provide her solace and condolence due to the death of her father. Jibril would comfort her soul, inform her about her father, his place, of the future events and about what would happen to her children. At the same time Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, would write all of them down and thus is the Mushaf of Fatimah, recipient of divine supreme covenant.'"

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from Salih ibn Sa'id from Ahmad ibn abu Bishr from Bakr ibn Karib al-Sayrafi who has said that he heard abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say the following:

"With us there are such things because of which we do not become needy to people, instead, people need us. With us there is a book that the Messenger of Allah had dictated and Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, had written it down. It is a book. Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from ibn abu 'Umayr from 'Umar ibn Udhayna from Fudayl ibn Yasar, Burayd ibn Mu'wiya and Zurara who have said that 'Abd Allah ibn 'Abd al-Malik said the following to abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant:

"The Zaydi sect and al-Mu'tazali group circle around Muhammad ibn 'Abd Allah. Does he have any authority? The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'I swear by Allah, with me there are two books in which there are the name of every prophet and the name of every king that will rule on earth. Chapter Forty One

The Issues in Chapter Ninety-seven of the Holy Quran and Its Interpretation

H 637 Ch. 41, h1

Muhammad ibn abu 'Abd Allah and Muhammad ibn al-Hassan have narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad and Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn

Muhammad, both of them from al-Hassan ibn al-'Abbass ibn al-Harish from abu Ja'far al-Thani, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"Abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, 'Once while my father was walking around the Ka'ba for Tawaf (walking seven times around the Ka'bah) a man who had covered his face partially with his turban suddenly came by. He cut out (or cut short) his Tawaf and took him (the Imam) to a house adjacent to al-Safa (name of a place in Makkah). He sent for me also and then we were there three of us.'

"He said to me, 'Welcome, the child of the Messenger of Allah.' He then placed his hand over my head and said, 'May Allah place blessings in you, the trustworthy one before Allah after his ancestors.' (He then said to my father), 'O abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, if you like you may tell me, and if you like I can tell you. If you like you may ask me. Also if you want I will ask you. If you like affirm what I will say, and if you want I will affirm what you will say.'

"The Imam said, 'I like all of it.' The man then said, 'You must never permit your tongue to answer me with something that is otherwise in your consciousness.' The Imam said, 'That can be the doing of one in whose heart there are two kinds of knowledge, one opposing the other. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, disdains to have the kind of knowledge that is not harmonious.'

"He then said, 'This is the topic of my question. You just explained one part of it. Tell me about this "knowledge" that is so harmonious and without difference. Who has (knows) it?' The Imam said, 'The whole of knowledge is before Allah, Majestic is whose name. The knowledge that people need is with the executor of the will of (prophets).

"The narrator has said that he (the man) then removed the covering from his face and sat down straight. His face looked more cheerful and he said, 'This is what I wanted and for this I have come. You think that the "knowledge" that is free of differences is with the executors of the wills of the prophets. How do they know it?' The Imam said, 'Just as the Messenger of Allah knew it except that they do not see what the Messenger of Allah would see. It is because he was a prophet and they are the Muhaddathun (people to whom angels speak without being visible to them). The Messenger of Allah, during his delegation before Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, heard whatever was communicated to him Divinely (through Wahy, Divine inspiration) but they (executor of wills of the Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant) do not hear such communications.'

"He then said, 'You have spoken the truth, O child of the Messenger of Allah. I now ask you a more difficult question. Tell me, why does this "knowledge" not appear as it was with the Messenger of Allah?' (Not all Muslims acknowledge the 'A'immah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, as Leaders with Divine Authority. (In other words, 'knowledge' discussed here refers to the domination of the religion of Allah. The man has hinted that the religion of Allah and the authority of the Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, were dominant in his time. Why are that 'knowledge', and authority not dominant in the time of 'A'immah?)

"The narrator has said that my father then smiled and said, 'Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, disdains to allow those people whom He has not yet tested with belief to have information about His knowledge. Allah decreed on His Messenger to endure the sufferings his people caused to him so much so that he would struggle against them only with His permission. Many times he would withhold matters that might disappoint his people until he was commanded sternly to convey to them the commandments that he had received and disregard the pagans. The Holy Quran says, “Preach what you have been commanded to and stay away from the pagans.” (15:94)

“I swear by Allah, had he conveyed the commandments he would have been perfectly safe. He, in fact, considered obedience (to Allah) and feared the emergence of differences (among his people). For this reason he would withhold (speaking out about the Divine Authirity of 'A'immah). I love that you keep your eye upon the advent of al-Mahdi (the guide and his rise with Divine Authority) of this nation. At such time the angels with the sword of the family of David will make the dead spirits of the unbelievers between the heavens and the earth taste the results of their evil deeds and force likewise spirits of the living ones to join the unbelievers.’ He (the man) then drew a sword and said, ‘Here it is. This is one of them.’

“The narrator has said, ‘Then my father said, “Yes, that is very true, I swear by the One Who chose Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, from among mankind.”’ The narrator has said that then the man drew the cover over his face and said, ‘I am Ilyas. I did not ask you those questions about your issue because I did not know them. I loved this conversation and narration only because they could strengthen your followers. I will tell you about a sign and supporting evidence (of your cause). You know if they (your followers) choose to debate others with such evidence, your followers will win.’

“The narrator has said that my father then said to him, ‘If you like I can tell you about it (the sign and evidence).’ The man then said, ‘I wish to hear it from you.’ The Imam said, ‘If our followers say to those who differ from us, “Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High says to His Messenger:

“We revealed the Quran on the Night of Destiny (97:1). Would that you had known what the Night of Destiny is! (97:2). (Worship on) the Night of Destiny is better than (worship) for a thousand months (97:3). On this Night, the angels and the spirit descend by the permission of their Lord with His decree (to determine everyone's destiny) (97:4). This Night is all peace until the break of dawn.” (97:5)

‘And ask, “Did the Messenger of Allah know that (besides) the knowledge of things that would come down at that night or what Jibril would bring to him at other times there is such knowledge that he knew (from other sources)?”’ The opposition will say, ‘No, there was nothing the Messenger of Allah knew (from other sources).’ Say to the opposition, ‘Could the Messenger of Allah do anything but to express such “knowledge” that comes on the night of destiny?’ The opposition will say, ‘It was necessary (for the Holy Prophet) to express.’ Say to them, ‘Was there any difference or disharmony in the “knowledge” that the Messenger of Allah had received from Allah, the Most High?’ If the opposition say, ‘No, there was no disharmony,’ ask them, ‘If one would judge in the name of the laws of Allah with disharmony, has he not opposed the Messenger of Allah?’

“They will say, ‘Yes, he has opposed the Messenger of Allah.’ However, if they say, ‘No, he has not opposed the Messenger of Allah, they have invalidated their starting point (where they affirmed harmony in the “knowledge” from Allah).’ Say to them, ‘No one knows its (knowledge from Allah) interpretation except Allah and those who are well established in knowledge.’ If they ask, ‘Who are the ones well established in knowledge?’

Say, ‘They are those in whose knowledge there is no disharmony.’ If they ask, ‘Who are they?’ Say, ‘The Messenger of Allah was (one of) such persons and ask them did he convey such “knowledge” to his first (Khalifa) successor?’

“If they say, ‘Yes, the Messenger of Allah did convey it.’ Ask, ‘Did the Messenger of Allah die and the Khalifa after him have the “knowledge” free of disharmony?’ If they say, ‘No, there was no such Khalifa with the “knowledge” free of disharmony.’ Say, ‘(this is not logical); the successor of the Messenger of Allah is supported (has the Divine support) and the Messenger of Allah does not appoint a Khalifa who would not judge by the laws of Allah. The Messenger of Allah will not appoint a Khalifa other than one who (possesses the noble quality of) justice like him, excluding prophet-hood. If the Messenger of Allah did not appoint anyone as Khalifa (executor of his will) for his “knowledge”, he (Allah forbid) caused the people of coming generations to go astray.’

“If the opposition says, ‘The “knowledge” of the Messenger of Allah was from the Holy Quran,’ say, ‘What about the following verses of the Holy Quran that speak about the matters after the death of the Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, “I swear by the illustrious Book (44:2) that We have revealed the Quran on a blessed night to warn mankind. (44:3) On this night, every absolute command coming from Us becomes distinct (44:4). The command that We have been sending (44:5) as a mercy (for the human being) from your Lord . . ”? (44:6)

“If the opposition says, ‘Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, sends (angels and the Spirit) to prophets only,’ say, ‘These “distinct commands” that come are from the angels and the Spirit, do they come from one heaven to the other heaven? (It is not proper); in the heavens there is no one to whom obedience (to commands) and disobedience would apply. ‘

“If the opposition says, ‘They come from the heavens to earth and the people of earth are in dire need of such “commands”,’ say to them, ‘Is it necessary for them (people) to have a leader who would judge among them?’ If they say, ‘The Khalifa will judge for them,’ ask them about the meaning of the following verse of the Holy Quran: ‘Allah is the Guardian of the believers and it is He who takes them out of darkness into light. The Devil is the guardian of those who deny the Truth and he leads them from light to darkness. These are the dwellers of hell wherein they will live forever.’ (2:257)

“I swear by my life, all those in the heavens and on earth who are under the guardianship of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, are supported (Divinely) and protected. Those who are supported and protected do not make mistakes. All the enemies of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, in the heavens and on earth suffer defeat. Those who are defeated they do not deal in a rightful way. Just as it is necessary that the “commands” must come from the heavens for the people of earth, in the same way it is necessary to have a Wali (mentioned in (2:257), one who possesses perfect knowledge and Divine Authority) to guide the people.

“If the opposition says, ‘We do not know such a person,’ say to them, ‘Say whatever you may like. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, disdains to leave, after Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, the servants without the existence of one who possesses perfect knowledge and Divine Authority.’

“The narrator has said that he (the man) then stopped and said, ‘This, O child of the Messenger of Allah, is a delicate point. Consider if they (opposition) would say, ‘The Holy Quran is the Divine Authority.' The Imam said, 'Then I will say, "The Holy Quran does not speak, does not issue commands or prohibitions. The people of the Quran issue commands and prohibitions.' I would further say, 'Allah disdains to see a certain affliction (difficult issue) befall the people of earth, and there is no law about it in the Sunnah or a ruling free of differences and it is not in the Quran also to solve such difficulty. He disdains to have such a thing in His knowledge or permit it to take place on earth while there would be nothing in His judgment to stop it (misery of lawlessness) from happening or the means to provide relief.

"He (the man) then said, 'Here you gain victory, O child of the Messenger of Allah. I testify that Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, certainly knows what kinds of afflictions and sufferings may befall people of the earth in their lives and in their religion and so forth. He then has sent the Holy Quran as a guide.

"The narrator has said that the man then said, 'Do you, O child of the Messenger of Allah, know what kind of guide it (the Holy Quran) is?' Abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'Yes, in it there are the general principles of laws and its interpretation (rests with the judge) when judgment is issued.' He said, 'Allah disdains to see His servant is afflicted with hardships in his religion, his life or his property. He disdains to see that there is no one on His earth who can judge and decide truthfully and in the right way to remove the suffering.'

"The narrator has said that the man then said, 'In this matter also you have gained victory unless your enemies falsely ascribe lies to Allah and say, "Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, does not have anyone who possesses Divine Authority." However, tell me, about the interpretation of the words of Allah: ". . . so that you would not grieve over what you have lost nor become extremely happy about what Allah has granted to you. . .'" (57:23)

"The Imam said, 'It refers to Abu so and so and his people. One of the verses is placed before and the other is placed afterward (two verses on two issues were placed together during the compilation of the existing copy of the Holy Quran). "Grief over the loss" refers to the case of (Amir al-Mu'minin) Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and the Divne position that was particularly for him' and the words of Allah: ". . . nor become extremely happy about what Allah has granted to you. . ." refers to the mischief (the government formed) after the death of the Messenger of Allah.

"The man then said, 'I testify that you are the Divine Authority in whose judgment there is no disharmony.' The man then stood up and went and I did not see him any more.'"

(Through the same chain of narrators) it has been narrated from Abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"Once in a meeting, in the presence of my father and a group of people also gathered, my father smiled and (the intense feeling caused) tears to flood his eyes. He then asked, 'Do you know what made me laugh?' The narrator has said that they said, 'No, we do not know the reason.' The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'Ibn 'Abbass thinks he is of the people mentioned in the following verse of the Holy Quran: "To those who have said, 'Allah is our Lord,' and who have remained steadfast in their belief, the angels will descend saying, 'Do not be afraid or grieved. Receive the glad news of the Paradise which was promised to you.'" (41:30).

"I asked him, 'Have you seen the angels, O ibn 'Abbass, telling you of the fact that they guard and protect you in this and the next world and provide you complete protection and security from fear and sadness?' The Imam then quoted ibn 'Abbass who said that Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, says, "Believers are each other's brothers. . . ." (49:10) the whole community is included in this verse.'

"The Imam said, 'I then, almost, laughed.' Then I said, 'O ibn 'Abbass, you (perhaps) are right. However, I ask you to swear by Allah and answer me truthfully. Is there any disharmony in the judgment of Allah, Majestic is whose name?' He said, 'No, there is no disharmony in His judgment.' I then asked him, 'How would you judge the case in which a man strikes the fingers of another man with a sword until they fall off? Then another man comes and cuts off his palm. He is brought to you and you are the judge. How will you then judge?' He said, 'I will order the one who cut off the palm to pay compensation for the whole hand. I will ask the affected party to reach a settlement with the defendant and for this purpose I send them to the people of justice (arbitrator).'

"I said, '(Your judgment as such assuming to be true shows that) disharmony has come in the laws of Allah, Majestic is whose name. Thus, you invalidated what you said before (that there is no disharmony in the laws and judgment of Allah). Allah, Majestic is whose name, in fact, disdains to let a judicial case remain on earth without a clarified rule. You must order, as a judge, to cut the palm of the defendant totally and pay him compensation for the fingers. Thus, is the judgment of Allah at the "night" wherein His orders descend (the night of Destiny). If you reject the order after hearing from the Messenger of Allah then Allah will send you to fire just as He blinded you on the day you hid the (truth) that existed in support of Ali ibn abu Talib, recipient of divine supreme covenant.'

"Ibn 'Abbass then said, 'Is that a reason that my eyes have become blind?' He further said, 'How do you know that? I swear by Allah that my eyes turned blind only because of the flapping of the wing of the angel.' The Imam said, 'It made me, almost, laugh. I left him that day because of the silliness (darkness and dullness) in his intellect and reason. I then met him later and said to him, "O ibn 'Abbass, you have never spoken as true as you did yesterday (spoke of angel flap his wing). Ali ibn abu Talib, recipient of divine supreme covenant, told you that the "Night of Determination and Destiny" comes every year. On that night the commands for the whole year come down. It is the people with Divine Authority who receive such matters and commands, after the Messenger of Allah. You then asked him (Imam) Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'Who are these people?' He (Ali), recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'I myself and the eleven men from my descendents will be 'A'immah (Leaders with Divine Authority) and the (people to whom angels speak) Muhaddathun.'"

"You then said, 'I have not seen it (Night of Determination) except with the Messenger of Allah. Then the angel appeared to you (in the form of a human being). The angel who was speaking to him (Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, 'O 'Abd Allah ibn 'Abbas, you have lied. My eyes see it (the Night of Determination), of which Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, spoke to you. [His (Ali's) eyes did not see him (the angel) but his heart understood (the presence of the angel) and his voice reverberated in his ears]. Then he (angel) flapped you with his wing and you turned blind.'"

Through the same chain of narrators it is narrated from abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has said about the Night of Determination, '. . . in this night every absolute command coming from Us becomes distinguishable.' (44:4) He has spoken of absolute and strong command. Absolute and strong command is not two things. It is only one thing. One who judges without disharmony and differences, his judgment is of the judgment of Allah, the Most Holy and the Most High. Whoever judges in a disharmonious manner, with differences, and considers it as the rightful way of judging he has judged with the judgment of the devil.

"It is certain that on the Night of Determination the explanation and clarification of all issues of the year come to the man who possesses Divine Authority. On that Night the Wali al-'Amr (the man who possesses Divine Authority) receives commands about himself, for so and so, and about the affairs of the people in so and so. It also is certain that for the man with Divine Authority, besides this, there comes the knowledge of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High. His exclusive knowledge, the hidden, the wonderful and the treasured knowledge of Allah comes to him every day just as it comes in the Night of Determination in the form of commands.' Then he recited from the Holy Quran: 'If all the trees in the earth were pens, and the ocean, with seven more oceans, were ink, still these could not suffice to record all the Words of Allah. Allah is Majestic and All-wise.'" (31:27)

"Imam Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, would read, 'We revealed the Quran on the Night of Destiny,' (97:1) and say, 'Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has certainly said the truth. He has revealed the Holy Quran on the Night of Determination. "Would that you had known what the Night of Destiny is!" (97:2) The Messenger of Allah said, 'I do not know.' Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, said, '(Worship) on the Night of Destiny is better than (worship) for a thousand months (that are other than the Night of Determination and Destiny).' (97:3) He asked the Messenger of Allah, 'Do you know why it is better than a thousand nights?' The Messenger of Allah said, 'No, I do not know.' He said, 'It is because "on that Night the angels and the Spirit come down by the permission of their Lord for all matters"'. When Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, grants permission for a matter it means that He has agreed. 'This Night is all peace until the break of dawn,' (97:5) means that He says, 'O Muhammad, My angels salute you and My Spirit with peaceful greetings from the beginning of time they would come down until dawn of that night.' Then He has said in another part of His book, 'Guard yourselves against discord among yourselves so that it will not mislead any one of you, especially the unjust, and know that Allah's retribution is most severe.' (8:25) It is about the Night of Determination. He has also said in His book, 'Muhammad is only a Messenger. There lived other messengers before him. Should (Muhammad) die or be slain, would you then turn back to your pre-Islamic behavior? Whoever does so can cause no harm to Allah. Allah will reward those who give thanks.' (3:144)

"In the above verse He has said that when Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, will die those opposing the command of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, will say, 'The Night of Determination has gone along with the Messenger of Allah.' This will be the first calamity that will befall them exclusively. With this they return back to their old ways. Had they not said so, it would have been necessary to believe that Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has His commands on that Night. Once they affirm and acknowledge the command (delegation of Divine Authority) it becomes necessary to believe in the existence of the man who possesses Divine Authority.'"

It is narrated from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"(Imam) Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, would very often say, 'Whenever al-Taymies and al-'Adawies would come together in the presense of the Messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, He, the Messenger of Allah, would read, "We have revealed it on the Night of Determination" very humbly and tearfully. They (al-Taymi and al-'Adawi) would say, 'How intense is the tenderness that this chapter causes to your heart!' The Messenger of Allah would say, 'It is because of what my eyes see and my heart has stored and for what the heart of this (Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant) will experience after me.'

"They would ask, 'What is it that you have seen and what is it that he will experience?'

"Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, 'He (messenger of Allah) then would write for the two on the soil, 'On this Night, the angels and the spirit descend by the permission of their Lord with His decree (to determine everyone's destiny).' (97:4) Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, 'The Messenger of Allah then would say, "Has anything else been left (untold) after the words of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, "For all matters"?" The two would say, 'No, nothing is left untold.' He (the Messenger of Allah) then would ask them, 'Do the two of you know to whom it will be revealed?' The two would say, 'To you, O the Messenger of Allah.' He then would say, 'Will there be the Night of Determination after me?' The two would say, 'Yes, there will be that night.' He then would ask, 'Will then the "matters" come down in that night?' The two would say, 'Yes, it will come down?' He (the Messenger of Allah) then would ask them, 'Do the two of you know to whom the "matters" will be revealed?' The two would say, 'We do not know. He then would hold my head in his hand and say, 'If the two of you do not know, now you must know, he (whose head is my hands now) is it after me' (to receive the "matters").

"Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said that after the Messenger of Allah whenever they experienced severe anxiety and apprehension they would realize that that night was the Night of Destiny.'"

‘. . . We have revealed on the Night of Determination. . . .’ you will gain victory. I swear by Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, that this is the solid evidence from Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, against the creatures after the Messenger of Allah. This is the lead evidence in your religion. It, certainly, is the goal of our knowledge.

“O the community of our followers (the Shi‘a), reason against the opposition by means of, ‘I swear by the illustrious Book (44:2) that We have revealed the Quran on a blessed night to warn mankind.’ (44:3) This verse is exclusively about the people who possess Divine Authority after the Messenger of Allah. O the community of our followers, Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has said, ‘. . . No nation who lived before was left without a Warner . . .’(35:24) A person then said, ‘O abu Ja‘far, the Warner is Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant,’ The Imam said, ‘What you just said is true. Had he commissioned a Warner for the different parts of the land, while he (the Messenger of Allah) was living?’ The person questioning said, ‘No, there was no Warner.’ Abu Ja‘far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, ‘Consider the person he commissioned. Was he not his Warner also, just as the Messenger of Allah, in being commissioned from Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, was a Warner?’ The person said, ‘Yes, it is true.’ The Imam said, ‘In the same way Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, did not die without having someone as his delegate and Warner.’

“The Imam said, ‘If I say, “Delegating his mission to his successor was not necessary for the Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant,” it would mean that the Messenger of Allah has lost and left without guidance those of his followers who are still to be born.’

“The person then said, ‘Is the Holy Quran not enough for them?’ The Imam said, ‘It is enough only if they find an interpreter for it.’ The person then asked, ‘Has the Messenger of Allah not interpreted it?’ The Imam said, ‘Yes, he has done so just for one man and he has interpreted the conditions of that man to identify him for his followers. That man is Ali ibn abu Talib, recipient of divine supreme covenant.’

“The man asking the question then said, ‘O abu Ja‘far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, this was a special matter. Common people are not able to bear it.’ The Imam said, ‘Allah, disdains His not being worshipped in secrecy until the time when His religion becomes public. It is just like the case of the Messenger of Allah and Khadija who would not make their religion public until they were commanded to do so.’ The man then said, ‘Is it proper for the author of this religion to hide?’ The Imam said, ‘Did Ali ibn abu Talib, recipient of divine supreme covenant, not hide his religion on the day he became a Muslim along with the Messenger of Allah until this matter became public?’ He said, ‘Yes, that was the case.’ The Imam then said, ‘So also is our case (the publicity of Divine Authority) until the appointed time will come.’

٧- و عنْ أَبِي جْعْفَرٍ ع قَالَ لَقَدْ خلَق الله جل ذِكْره لْيلَةَ لْقَدْرِ أَولَ ما خلَق الدنْيا و لَقَدْ خلَق لِفيها أَولَ نِبي يكُونُ و أَولَ وصِي يكُونُ و لَقَدْ قَضى أَنْ يكُونَ لِفي كُل سنةٍ لْيلَةٌ يهْبِطُ لِفيها لِبتفْسِيرِ لْأُمورِ لِإلى مِثْلِها مِن السنةِ لْمقْبِلَةِ مْنْ جحد ذَلِك قَقَدْ رد علَى اللهِ عز و جل لِعِلْمه لِأَنه لْا يقُوم لْأَنِبياءُ و الرسلُ و لْمحدثُونَ لِإا أَنْ تكُونَ علَيهِمْ حجةٌ لِبما يأْتِيهِمْ لِفي لِتلْك لْلَيلَةِ مع لْحجةِ لِتي يأْتِيهِمْ

Through the same chain of narrators it is narrated from abu Ja‘far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

“Allah, Majestic is Whose name, created the Night of Determination when He first created the world and created in it (the world) the first prophet to come and the first executor of the will (of prophet) to come. He decreed that in every year there must be one night in which the interpretation and the clarification of the issues be sent until another such night in the coming year. Whoever would deny it has certainly rejected the knowledge of Allah, the Majestic, the Glorious. It is because the prophets, the Messengers and Muhaddathun (people to whom angels speak without being visible to them) would remain without receiving Divine command and Authority through what comes to them on that night along with the authority that Jibril brings for them.'

"I (the narrator) then asked the Imam 'Do the Muhaddathun also experience the coming of Jibril and other angels?' The Imam said, 'The prophets and the Messenger, recipients of divine supreme covenant, certainly experience it. For the others, besides the prophets and the Messenger, recipients of divine supreme covenant, from the first day the earth was created to the end and perishing of the world there must be the Divine Authority. For the people of the earth Divine commands come down on that night to the one most beloved among His servants.

"I swear by Allah, the Spirit and the angels came with the command on the "Night of Determination" to Adam. I swear by Allah, that Adam did not die until he had the executor of his will. To every prophet after Adam the command came on that night and he assigned it to the executor of his will after him. I swear by Allah, that every prophet had been commanded, on that night, from Adam to Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, to make a will in favor of so and so. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has said in His book, particularly, to the people who possess Divine Authority after Prophet Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'Allah has promised the righteously striving believers to appoint them as His deputies on earth, as He had appointed those who lived before. He will make the religion that He has chosen for them to stand supreme. He will replace their fear with peace and security so that they will worship Me alone and consider no one equal to Me. Whoever becomes an unbeliever after this will be a sinful person.' (24:55) "He says that He has made you (true successors of Muhammad) His deputies in the matter of His knowledge, religion and worship after your Prophet just as Adam made a will to appoint the executor of his will after him until the time Allah sent another prophet. He (Allah) has said, '. . . so that they will worship Me alone and consider no one equal to Me.' (24:55) He has said that you must worship Him with faith in the fact that after Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, there is no other prophet. Those who say otherwise 'Are sinful persons.'

"He has enabled the people who possess Divine Authority with knowledge. We are such people. Ask us. If we will acknowledge you then be steadfast, but you will not do so. Our knowledge is clear. The appearance of the appointed time for us in which religion will stand supreme through us so much so that there will remain no differences among people, for such time there is an appointed time that passes through the nights and days. When that time comes, the command of Allah will be only one.

"I swear by Allah, it is already decreed that there will be no differences among the believers. For this reason they are made to witness the deeds of the people so that Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, will be witness over us and we will be the witnesses over our followers and our followers will be witnesses over the people. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, disdained to allow differences take place in His judgment or contradictions to take place among those who possess His knowledge.

"Abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said the following: 'The excellence of the faith and belief in and his acceptance of, "We have revealed it in the Night of Determination," and its interpretation, over those who are not like him, in the matters of faith in that Night, is like the excellence of man over the animals. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, defends, in this world, through those who believe in it those who disbelieve it. He, however, completes the punishment for it in the next life for those whom He knows will not repent from rejecting such belief. He defends them just as He defends through those who strive (do Jihad) for His cause those who sit comfortably. I do not know if there is any Jihad striving for His cause, these days, other than Hajj, 'Umra and to be good neighbors.'"

The narrator has said that once a man said to abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant:

"O child of the Messenger of Allah, please do not be angry with me. The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'Why should I be angry?' The man said, 'It is because of the question that I want to ask you.' The Imam said, 'Ask your question.' He said, 'Please do not be angry.' The Imam said, 'I will not be angry.' The man said, 'Consider your words about the "Night of Determination" in which the Spirit and the angels descend to the executors of the will (of Prophet). Do they bring them the command of which the Messenger of Allah had no knowledge or bring them the commands that the Messenger of Allah knew? As I know the Messenger of Allah died and there was nothing of his knowledge that Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, had not heard (and preserved).'

"Abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'Why should I bother with you and why did someone allow you come in?' He said, 'Fate has let me come in, seeking religion.' The Imam said, 'Try to understand what I will say.

'When the Messenger of Allah was taken for a trip (by the angels) he did not come back before Allah, Majestic is Whose name, taught him the knowledge of the things of the past and the things in future. A great deal of such knowledge was in a whole form the interpretation of which would have to come in the "Night of Determination." In the same way Ali ibn abu Talib, recipient of divine supreme covenant, had learned the knowledge in a whole form, the interpretation of which had to come in the "Night of Determination" as was the case with the Messenger of Allah.'

"The man said, 'Was there no interpretation of the whole available?' The Imam said, 'It was available but it comes through the commands of Allah in the "Night of Determination" to the Prophet and the executors of his will telling them to do so and so. It is for the matters of which they already had knowledge, but they receive the command how to act in it.'

"The man said, 'Explain it to me.' The Imam said, 'The Messenger of Allah did not die without knowing a whole body of knowledge with its interpretation.' The man said, 'What was that which would come to him in the "Night of Determination"?'

"The Imam said, 'It was the command and ease in what he already knew.' The man said, 'What then happens to them in the "Night of Determination," is it a knowledge other than what they knew before?'

"The Imam said, 'This is what they are commanded not to tell to anyone. No one knows the interpretation of what you just asked except Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High.' The man asked, 'Do the executors of the will know what the prophets did not know?' The Imam said, 'No, because how would the executor of the will know what is other than what is willed for.'

"The man asked, 'Can we say that what one executor of the will may know, may not be known to another executor of the will?' The Imam said, 'No, because no prophet dies before his knowledge is transferred to the executor of his will. The angels and the Spirit descend in the "Night of Determination" with the judgment with which they judge among the people.' The man asked, 'Is it that they did not know that judgment?' The Imam said, 'Yes, they knew it but they could not approve anything of it until they were commanded in the "Night of Determination" how to implement and accomplish them until the next year.'

"The man said, 'O abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, I can not deny this.' The Imam said, 'Those who deny it are not from us.' The man asked, 'O abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, do you think in the "Night of Determination" there would come things to the Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, that he did not know?' The Imam said, 'It is not lawful for you to ask this. However, the knowledge of things of the past and the knowledge of the things in future are such that no prophet or executor of the will dies before the executor of the will after him would know it. However, this knowledge about which you ask is such that Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, disdains that the executors of the will inform anyone of it except themselves.'

"The man asked, 'O child of the Messenger of Allah, how can I know that the "Night of Determination" takes place every year?' The Imam said, 'When the month of Ramadan comes read chapter 44 of the Holy Quran 100 times every night. In the twenty-third night you will see the confirmation of what you have asked for.'"

The narrator has said that abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said the following:

"You, certainly, find - those whom Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has sent to induce misfortune into the heretics and misleading people of the army (followers) of Satan and their companions – to be in greater numbers than the angels sent to the deputy of Allah, for justice and truth."

It was said to him, "O abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, how can there be anything in greater number than the angels?" The Imam said, "It is just as Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has wished." The man asked, "O abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, if I will narrate this Hadith to any of your followers they will reject it." The Imam asked, "Why will they do so?" The man said, "They will say that the angels are of greater number than the Devils." The Imam said, "What you say is true. However, try to understand what I will say. There is no day or night in which all the Devils and all Satans would not visit the heretic and misleading leaders and of the same number the angels visit the Imam of true guidance (leaders who possess Divine Authority) until it is the "Night of Determination." On that night the angels descend to those who possess Divine Authority in a number equal to the number of the Devils and Satan that Allah has created, or as he said, has determined."

"The Devils and Satans will come to the corrupt and misleading authorities with fabrications and lies until, perhaps, dawn and such leader says, 'I saw, this night, such and such.' It is because of the words of the Messenger of Allah to people about Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, when the time of his death was about to approach: 'This is your guardian who possesses Divine Authority after me. If you obey him, you will enjoy a well guided way of life.' However, those who do not acknowledge what is in the "Night of Determination" they are unbelievers in it. If such people say that they (angels with the Spirit) come to the Khalifa in whom they believe, this is of no ground. If they say, "No one descends at that night to anyone," the fact is that something does not come to nothing. Ahmad ibn Idris al-Qummi and Muhammad ibn Yahya have narrated from al-Hassan ibn Ali al-Kufi from Musa ibn Sa'dan from 'Abd Allah ibn Ayyub from abu Yahya al-San'ani from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"O abu Yahya, on every Friday night there is a special task for us to pursue." I (the narrator) then asked the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, "May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, of what nature is this special task?" The Imam said, "The spirits of the deceased prophets and the spirits of the deceased executors of the will of the prophets and the spirit of the executor of the will of the Holy Prophet living with you now are all taken to the heavens until they arrive at the throne of their Lord and then walk around it seven times. They perform prayers near every column of the columns of the throne, in a two Rak'at form after which they are returned to their bodies in which they were before. The prophets and the executors of the will of the prophets become full of joy and the executor of the will of the Holy Prophet living with you receives a huge increase in his knowledge."

He said, 'Every Friday night it is a time of happiness for us.' I said, 'May Allah increase such a happiness for you. Of what nature is this happiness?' The Imam said,

‘When Friday night comes the Messenger of Allah arrives at the throne of Allah and 'A'immah (the leaders who possess Divine Authority) also arrive there with him and we also arrive with them. We know whatever is revealed to the angels, the Messengers of Allah and the prophets, also. The other is the kind which is exclusively for Allah. When Allah wants to make public anything from it, it is taught to us first and it is presented to 'A'immah before us also."

Ali ibn Muhammad and Muhammad ibn al-Hassan have narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad from Musa ibn al-Qasim and Muhammad ibn Yahya from al-'Amrakiy ibn Ali all of them from Ali ibn Ja'far from his brother Musa ibn Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, a similar Hadith.

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from al-Husayn ibn Sa'id from al-Qasim ibn Muhammad from Ali ibn abu Hamza from abu Basir from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

The Unique Ahadith About the Hidden Facts

بَابٌ نَادِرٌ فِيهِ ذِكْرُ الْغَيْبِ

H 657, Ch. 45, h1
A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn ‘Isa from Mu’ammar ibn Khallad who has said that a man from Persia asked abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, the following:

“Do you know al-Ghayb (the hidden facts)? The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘Abu Ja‘far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, “If it opens to us, then we know it, and if it is withheld from us then we do not know.”’ The Imam then said, ‘It is the secret of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, Who has secretly given it to Jibril and Jibril has secretly given it to Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has secretly given it to whoever Allah wished.’”

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from ‘Abd Allah ibn Muhammad ibn ‘Isa from al-Hassan ibn Mahbub from Ali ibn Ri’ab from Sadir al-Sayrafi who has said the following:

“I heard Humran ibn A’Yan ask abu Ja‘far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the words of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High Allah, ‘. . . One Who is the Originator of the heavens and the earth . . .’ (6:101) Abu Ja‘far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, originated all things through His knowledge. It was unprecedented. He invented the heavens and the earths and there were no heavens and earths before. Have you not considered the words of Allah, the Most High, ‘. . . His Throne existed on water. . . .’ (11:7)

“Humran then said, ‘Have you considered His words, Majestic is Whose name, “He knows the unseen and He does not allow anyone to know His secrets. . . .”’ (72:26) Abu Ja‘far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, ‘Except those of His Messengers whom He chooses.’ (72:26) Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, I swear by Allah, was one of those whom Allah had chosen. However, there are His words: ‘He knows the hidden facts.’ The facts that Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, knows what is hidden from His creatures of the things that He measures and determines and decrees in His knowledge before creating it and before assigning to the angels, it is because of the following. O Humran, there is the knowledge withheld before Him in which He has a wish. He then decrees it when He wills. Al-Bada’ may take place in it and He then will not decree it. The knowledge that, however, Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, measures and determines and approves is the knowledge that reaches the Messenger of Allah and then it reaches us.”

“Once abu Basir, Yahya al-Bazzaz, Dawud ibn Kathir and I were in the presence of abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, The Imam came to us while he was angry. When he settled in his seat he then said, ‘How strange it is that certain people think we know the hidden facts. No one knows the hidden things except Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High. We said to him, 'May Allah keep our souls in service for your cause, we heard you say so and so about the matter of your house maid but we know that you have a great deal of knowledge. We do not say that you possess the knowledge of (al-Ghayb) "hidden facts".' The narrator has said that the Imam said, 'O Sadir, Do you not read the Holy Quran?' I said, 'Yes, I do read the Holy Quran.' The Imam then asked, 'In your reading have you found the following words of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High: 'The one who had knowledge from the Book said, "I can bring it to you before you even blink your eye . . ."'? (27:40) I (the narrator) then said that he has read those words. The Imam asked, 'Do you know who the man is? Do you know how much knowledge of the Book he had?' I (the narrator) then asked the Imam 'Please tell me about his knowledge.' The Imam said, 'His knowledge of the Book was like one drop compared to the green ocean (Atlantic).' I (the narrator) then said, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, that is very little.' The Imam then said, 'O Sadir, you may indeed say, "What a great knowledge is that!" if you hear about the knowledge of which Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has spoken in the Holy Quran and I am about to speak and explain to you. Have you found in the book of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, the following: 'Say, "Allah and those who have the knowledge of the Book are sufficient witness (to my prophet-hood)."' (13:43)

"I (the narrator) then said to the Imam, 'Yes, may Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, I have read it.' The Imam then said, 'Is the knowledge of one who possesses the knowledge of the whole book greater or that of the one who possesses something of the knowledge of the Book?' I said, 'The knowledge of one who possesses the knowledge of the whole book is greater.' The narrator has said that the Imam pointing to his chest said, 'The knowledge of the whole Book, I swear by Allah, is with us. The knowledge of the whole Book, I swear by Allah, is with us.'"

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from ibn Mahbub from ibn Ri'ab from Durays al-Kunasi who has said the following:

"I heard abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, saying to an audience of his companions, 'What an strange case is the case with a group of people! They acknowledge us as the Divine Authority over their own selves, accept us as their Imam and say that obedience to us is obligatory just as is the case with the Messenger of Allah. They then destroy the veracity of their belief as such and dispute against themselves due to weakness of their hearts. They then diminish our right and blame those whom Allah has granted evidence to know us as it should be and the (ability) to submit themselves to our Divine Authority. Do you not consider how would Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, make it obligatory to obey those who possess Divine Authority over His servants and then hide from them (people who possess Divine Authority) the news of the heavens and the earth? How would He cut them off of the sources of knowledge that might come to them to maintain their religion?' Humran then said to the Imam, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, how do you explain the case of the uprising of Ali ibn abu Talib, al-Hassan and al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant? They came out and rose up for the cause of Allah, Whose name is so Majestic. How much they suffered and how mercilessly were they murdered at the hands of the rebels? They were defeated, murdered and overpowered.' Abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, 'O Humran, Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, had determined it for them. He had decreed, approved and made it unavoidable in a voluntary manner. He then allowed it to take place. It thus happened with a pre-existing knowledge that had come to them from the Messenger of Allah. Ali, al-Hassan and al-Husayn, recipients of divine supreme covenant, stood up for the cause of Allah with full knowledge of the consequences and there were those of us who remained silent. Had they, O Humran, when facing what Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, made them to face and suffer defeat at the hands of the rebels, asked Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, to remove their suffering and implored Him to destroy the government and kingdom of the rebels He would have answered their prayers and granted them relief. In such cases the destruction of the governments of the rebels and the ending of their time would take place quicker than the dispersal, under a great pressure, of beads threaded together. The suffering, O Humran, that befell them, was not because of the sins that they might have committed or the punishment for their opposition to Allah. It was because of the high marvelous position that Allah had prepared and wanted them to reach. Do not allow people's opinions take you away from the right path.'"

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from Ali ibn Ma'bad from Hisham ibn al-Hakam who has said the following:

"Once I asked abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, at Mina five hundred letters (questions) from al-Kalam (theology). I asked the Imam, 'They say that he has said so and so.' Then he says, 'You say so and so.' I then said to the Imam, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, this is lawful and that is not lawful. I know that you are the authority in this and you are the most knowledgeable person in it and this is al-Kalam.' The Imam said to me, 'O poor, Hisham, Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, does not require any duty from His

"I heard abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say, 'No, I swear by Allah, the scholar (who possesses Divine Authority) is never ignorant or knowledgeable in something and ignorant of other things.' The Imam then said, 'Allah, the Most Holy, Most High and Most Gracious, is by far exalted and above imposing the obedience of a servant (of His) on the others and then hiding the knowledge of things in the heavens and on earth from him. He (Allah) does not hide knowledge from him,'" the Imam added.

"Once Jibril came to the Messenger of Allah and brought him two pieces of pomegranate. The Messenger of Allah ate one of them and broke the other one into two pieces. He then ate one half and fed the other half to Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant. The Messenger of Allah said, 'O my brother, do you know what those pieces of pomegranate were?' He said, 'No, I do not know.' He then said, 'The first one was prophecy. There is no share in it for you. The other one is knowledge in which you are my partner.' I then said, 'May Allah keep you well, how was that? He would be his partner in it?' He said, 'Allah did not teach any knowledge to Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, but that He commanded him to teach it to Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant.'"

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from Muhammad ibn Isma‘il from his paternal uncle Hamza ibn Bazi‘ from Ali al-Sa’i from abu al-Hassan, the first, Musa, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

“The totality of our knowledge is of three aspects. There is the knowledge of the past, knowledge of the future and that coming into being. The knowledge of the past is that which is interpreted. The knowledge of the future is that which is written and the knowledge of that which comes into being is the kind that is thrown into the hearts and is heard by the ears and this is the best aspect of our knowledge, and there is no prophet after our Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant.”

That which is written is the kind that will come in future. That which is written in the hearts is the inspired kind and that which is resonated against the ears is the order of the angel.’”

If Secrets Would Be Kept 'A'immah, Recipients of Divine Supreme Covenant, Can Tell everyone What Is for and Against Them

H 684, Ch. 51, h1

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from al-Husayn ibn Sa'id from Fadala ibn Ayyub from Aban ibn 'Uthman from 'Abd al-Wahid ibn al-Mukhtar who has said the following:

"Abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, 'Had there been a thing (bag) to contain (to stop) your tongues I would have spoken to everyone about what is for or against him.'"

Through the same chain of narrators it is narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from ibn Sinan from 'Abd Allah ibn Muskan who has said that he heard abu Basir who has said the following:

"Once I asked abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'What made the supporters of Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, suffer the troubles despite the fact that they knew about their deaths and (causes of their) suffering?' The Imam replied to me as if he were angry, 'From whom could it come except from their own selves?' I then asked, 'What prevents you, may Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, from telling it all (to your friends).' The Imam said, 'It is a door that is closed except that al-Husayn ibn Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, opened it to a small degree (told a few things about the future to his supporters just before their martyrdom).' The Imam then said, 'O abu Muhammad, those people had a tie (a stop) over their mouths.'"

Allah's Giving Charge of the Religious Matters to the Messenger of Allah and to the 'A'immah, Recipient of Divine Supreme Covenant

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn abu Zahir from Ali ibn Isma'il from Safwan ibn Yahya from 'Asim ibn Humayd from abu Ishaq al-Nahwi who has said the following:

"Once I went to see abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and I heard him saying, 'Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, disciplined and educated His prophet upon His own love and said, "You certainly possess a high degree of moral discipline and education." (64:4) He then allowed him to be in charge as He, the Most Holy, the Most High, has said, '. . . whatever the Messenger brings to you, you must take (obey) and whatever he prohibits you, you must desist from. . . .' (59:7) Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has said, '. . . whoever obeys the Messenger, has obeyed Allah. . . .' (4:80)

"The narrator has said that then the Imam said, 'The Prophet of Allah then made Ali and 'A'immah, recipients of divine supreme covenant, in charge (of the religious matters). You then acknowledged it (the Divine Authority of 'A'immah) while other people have denied it. I swear by Allah, we love you to speak when we speak and remain silent when we remain silent. We are between you and Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High. Allah has not placed any goodness in the opposition to us.'"

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from Yahya ibn abu ‘Umran from Yunus from Bakkar ibn Bakr from Musa ibn ’Ushaym who has said the following:

“Once I was in the presence of abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, when a man asked him about a verse of the Book of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High. The Imam explained it to him. Then another person came to see the Imam and asked him about the same verse. The Imam gave him a different explanation. This made as many things come to my mind as Allah willed. My heart felt as if it were being shredded with knives. I then said to myself, ‘I left abu Qatada in Syria who did not make a mistake in even the letter ‘Waw’ and now I have come to this man who makes all these mistakes.’ At this time another person came in to see him and asked him about the same verse. His explanation to him was completely different from what he had explained to me and to the man just before. My soul relaxed at this point and I came to know that it was because of fear. He has said that then he (the Imam) turned to me and said, ‘O ibn ’Ashyama, Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, made Solomon son of David in charge (of religious matters) and said, “This is Our gift to you, you may do with it favors to others or withhold without being held responsible for anything . . .” (38:39) He also made His Prophet the in charge person and said, “. . . what the Messenger (of Allah) gives you, you must take (obey) and what he prohibits you, you must desist from. . .” (59:7) Of whatever the Messenger of Allah is made in charge he has made us the in charge person thereof.’”

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from al-Hajjal from Tha‘laba from Zurara who has said the following:

“I heard abu Ja‘far and abu ‘Abd Allah, recipients of divine supreme covenant, say, ‘Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High has made the Holy Prophet in charge of the affairs of His creatures to see how their obedience is. Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from ibn abu ‘Umayr from ‘Umar ibn ’Udhayna from Fudayl ibn Yasar who has said the following:

“I heard abu ‘Abd Allah saying to certain persons of the companions of Qays al-Masir, ‘Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, disciplined and educated His Messenger. He then made his discipline and education to be the best. When his discipline and education were complete He said, “O Muhammad, you certainly possess a high degree of moral discipline and education.” (64:4) He then made him in charge of the affairs of the religion and the nation (Muslim) so he would manage the social matters of His servants with wisdom. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, said, “. . . what the Messenger (of Allah) gives you, you must take (obey) and what he prohibits you, you must desist from. . . .” (59:7) The Messenger of Allah was protected, made successful and supported by the Holy Spirit. He (the Messenger of Allah) does not slip, make a mistake in any of the matters of the management of the social matters of the creatures.

“He is educated with the education of Allah. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, commanded him to perform the prayer in two and two Rak‘at form totaling ten Rak‘ats. The Messenger of Allah added two more Rak‘ats to each prayer and only one Rak‘at to the Maghrib prayer (the prayer at sunset), which remained obligatory at home and on a journey. Such additions became just as the obligatory ones and it is not permissible to disregard them. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, granted him permission in all of it. Thus, the obligatory prayers became seventeen Rak‘ats. The Messenger of Allah then set up the tradition of optional prayers totaling thirty-four Rak‘ats, which is twice the number of the obligatory prayers. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, granted him permission for this. All the optional and obligatory prayers total fifty-one Rak‘ats of which there are two Rak‘ats in a sitting position after al-‘Atma, ‘Isha (late evening prayer), which is counted as one Rak‘at in place of Witr.

“Allah made fasting of the month of Ramadan obligatory. It comes only once in a year. The Messenger of Allah set up the tradition of fasting in the month of Sha‘ban and three days of fasting every month and the number of days in it totals twice as much as the obligatory fast. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, granted him permission for all of this.

“Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, made just the substance of wine unlawful to consume. The Messenger of Allah pronounced all intoxicating liquors unlawful. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, granted him permission in this case also. The Messenger of Allah pronounced certain things as permissible and pronounced other things as detestable but did not declare them prohibited and unlawful. He only pronounced them prohibited in a permissible prohibition and detestable. He then spoke of such prohibition as permissible but then such permissible matters became obligatory for the servants (of Allah) such as the obligation of abiding by what is prohibited and determined.

“The Messenger of Allah did not grant permission in the matters that were prohibited as unlawful (to violate) prohibitions or what he pronounced as an order to follow as an obligation and binding. A great deal of the intoxicating liquors he pronounced as unlawful to consume and he did not grant permission to any one to consume them. The Messenger of Allah did not grant permission to anyone to further shorten the prayers that consisted of two Rak‘ats that were added to what Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, had made obligatory. In fact, He made them binding and necessary like an obligation. He did not grant permission to anyone in this matter except those on a journey.

“No one has the right to give permission in such issues until the Messenger of Allah grants permission. Thus, the orders of the Messenger of Allah concur and agree with the orders of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High. The prohibitions of the Messenger of Allah concur and agree with the prohibition of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High. It has become obligatory for the servants (of Allah) to submit to his commands as it is obligatory for them to submit to the commands of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High.’”

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from al-Barqi from abu Talib from Sadir who has said the following:

“Once I asked abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, ‘A certain group of people believes that you ('A'immah) are gods. They read to us from the the Holy Quran about it such as, “And it is He Who in heaven is the Lord and on earth is the Lord.” (43:84) The Imam said, ‘O Sadir, my hearing, my sight, my skin, my flesh, my blood and my hair all disdain such people, and Allah also disdains them. They do not follow my religion and the religion of my ancestors. I swear by Allah, Allah will not place me with them on the Day of Resurrection. The only thing from Allah to them will be His anger.’ I (the narrator) then said, ‘Among us there is a group of people who believe that you are messengers and they read to us from the Holy Quran: “O messengers, eat of the good things and do righteousness; surely I know the things you do.”’ (23:51)

“The Imam said, ‘O Sadir, my hearing, my sight, my skin, my flesh, my blood and my hair all disdain such people, and Allah and His Messenger also disdain them. They do not follow my religion and the religion of my ancestors. By Allah, Allah will not place me with them on the Day of Judgment. The only thing from Allah toward them will be His anger.’

“I (the narrator) then asked, ‘What are you then?’ The Imam said, ‘We are the treasuries of the knowledge of Allah. We are the translators of the commands of Allah. We are infallible people. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has commanded people to obey us and prohibited them from disobeying us. We are well advocated Divine Authority over all that is below the heavens and above the earth.’”

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from al-Husayn ibn Sa‘id from ‘Abd Allah ibn Bahr from ibn Muskan from ‘Abd al-Rahman ibn abu ‘Abd Allah from Muhammad ibn Muslim who has said the following:

“I heard abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say, ‘'A'immah, recipients of divine supreme covenant, possess the position of the Messenger of Allah except that they are not prophets and the number of wives permissible for the Holy Prophet is not permissible for them. In the aspects other than these they possess the same positions as the Messenger of Allah did.’”

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from al-Hajjal from al-Qasim ibn Muhammad from ‘Ubayd ibn Zurara who has said the following:

“Once abu Ja‘far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, sent (message) to Zurara to inform al-Hakam ibn ‘Utayba that the executors of the will of Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, are Muhaddathun (people to whom angels speak).”

Muhammad has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from ibn Mahbub from Jamil ibn Salih from Ziyad ibn Suqa from al-Hakam ibn ‘Utayba who has said the following:

“One day I went to see Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, He said, ‘O Hakam do you know the verse (of the Holy Quran) from which Ali ibn abu Talib, recipient of divine supreme covenant, learned who his assassin was and the extraordinary great matters of which he would speak to people?’ Al-Hakam has said that I thought, ‘I have now a chance to learn of the knowledge of Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, with which I will learn of those extraordinary great matters.’ I (the narrator) then replied to the Imam, ‘No, by Allah, I do not know.’

“I (the narrator) then said, ‘Please tell me, O child of the Messenger of Allah, which verse is it.’ The Imam said, ‘It, I swear by Allah, is the words of Allah, Majestic is Whose name, “We have not sent any messenger or prophet before you [or a Muhahhdath] (one to whom angels speak).” (22:52) Ali ibn abu Talib, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was a Muhaddath.’ At this point a man called ‘Abd Allah ibn Zayd, who was a brother of Ali ibn al-Husayn (his mother had nursed Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant,) from his mother’s side, said, “Glory belongs to Allah, a Muhaddath!” It seemed as if he did not believe it. Abu Ja‘far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, (also present) then turned to us and said to him, ‘Do not have any doubts, I swear by Allah, that the son of your mother did have knowledge of this fact after all.’ The narrator has said that when abu Ja‘far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said so the man kept silent. Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, ‘This is the issue in which abu al-Khattab perished. He never learned what was the explanation of the prophet and a Muhaddath.’”

"Once Muhaddath was mentioned in the presence of abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and he said, 'He, Muhaddath, hears the voice but does not see the persons of the angels.' I then said to him, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, how can he know that the voice and words are from the angels?' Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from al-Husayn ibn Sa'id from Hammad ibn 'Isa from al-Husayn ibn al-Mukhtar from al-Harith ibn al-Mughirah from Humran ibn A'yan who has said the following:

"Once abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was a Muhaddath.' I then returned to my associates and said, 'I have brought you very strange news.' They asked, 'What is it?' I then said that I heard abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say that Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was a Muhaddath. They then said, 'What did you do? Would that you had asked him about who would speak to him (Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant).' I then went back to abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and said to him, 'I went to my associates and told them about what you had told me and they said, 'What did you do? Would that you had asked him who would speak to him (Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant).'

"The Imam said to me, 'The angel would speak to him.' I then asked, 'Do you say that he was a prophet?' He then said, 'He moved his hand like this (a certain hand gesture); (he was) similar to the companion of Solomon or the companion of Moses or like Dhul Qarnayn. Have you not heard that he (the Messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant) has said, "Among you there is one like him?"'"

(A Hadith of the Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, says that Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, is the Dhul Qarnayn of this Umma.)

The Spirits That Exist in 'A'immah, Recipients of Divine Supreme Covenant

"O Jabir, Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High has created the creatures in three categories as mentioned in the words of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High. 'On that day, you (mankind) will be divided into three groups: (56:7) the people of the right hand (those whose books of records will be placed in their right hands). How happy they will be! (56:8) The people of the left hand (those whose books of records will be placed in their left hands). How miserable they will be! (56:9) The foremost ones (in belief and virtue) are the foremost ones in receiving their reward.' (56:10)

"The foremost group are the messengers and the people of special status with Allah among His creatures. Allah has placed in them five spirits and has supported them with the Holy Spirit. Through this (the Holy Spirit) they recognize things. He has supported them with the spirit of belief because of which they maintain fear of Allah, the Majestic, the Glorious, (in their souls). They are supported also with the spirit of power because of which they are able to obey Allah. They are also supported with the spirit of desires with which they maintain their desire of worshipping and obeying Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, and dislike disobedience to Him. He has placed in them the social spirit to socialize and establish proper relations among people. In the believers and the people of the right hand He has placed the spirit of belief because of which they maintain fear of Allah. He has placed in them the spirit of power. With it they obey Allah. He has placed in them the spirit of desire. With it they desire to obey Allah. He has also placed in them the social spirit and because of this they maintain social relations."

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from Musa ibn 'Umar from Muhammad ibn Sinan from 'Ammar ibn Marwan from al-Munakhkhal from Jabir who has said the following:

"Once I asked abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the knowledge of the scholar. He said, 'O Jabir, in the prophets and in the executors of their will, there are five spirits. They are the (1) Holy Spirit, (2) the spirit of belief, (3) the spirit of life, (4) the spirit of power and (5) the spirit of desire. Through the Holy Spirit, O Jabir, they receive the knowledge of all that is below the Throne as well as what is below the land.' He then said, 'O Jabir, these four spirits are the kind of spirits that may become affected by events that take place. Only the Holy Spirit is that which does not trifle and wander around.'"

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from al-Mu'alla ibn Muhammad from 'Abd Allah ibn Idris from Muhammad ibn Sinan from al-Mufaddal ibn 'Umar who has said the following:

"I asked abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the knowledge of Imam about the regions of the earth when he was in his house secluded behind the curtains. The Imam said, 'O Mufaddal, Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has place five spirits in the Prophet. Of such one is the spirit of life from which comes movement and activities. There is the spirit of power from which comes uprising and diligence and the spirit of desire from which comes utilization of nutrients and reproduction in lawful ways. There is the spirit of belief from which comes peace and justice. There is the Holy Spirit whereby prophet-hood is carried. When the prophet passes away the Holy Spirit transfers and comes over to the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant. The Holy Spirit does not sleep or become unaware. It does not trifle or maintain false hopes. The other four spirits sleep, become unaware, may maintain false hopes or trifle. With the Holy Spirit things are seen.'"

"I asked abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the knowledge, 'Is it a knowledge that the scholar learns from the mouths of the people or is it in the book with you from which you read and then learn therefrom.' The Imam said, 'The issue is greater and more urgently needed. Have you not heard the words of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, "Thus, We have revealed a Spirit to you (Muhammad), by Our command. Before, you did not even know what a book or belief was. . . ." (42:52)

"The Imam said, 'What do your people say about this verse? Do they read that he was such that he did not know what the book or the belief was?' I said, 'I do not know, may Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, what they say.' The Imam then said, 'Yes, he lived in a condition wherein he did not know the book and the belief until Allah, the Most High, sent the Spirit who is mentioned in the Book. When the Spirit was sent to him he learned through him the knowledge and understanding. He is the Spirit whom Allah, the Most High, grants to whomever He wants. When He grants him to a servant he teaches him understanding.'"

The man said, 'You have said something very extraordinary. No one other than you thinks that the Spirit is someone other than Jibril.' (Amir al-Mu'minin) Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said to him, 'You are misled and narrate from the misled people. 'A'immah, Recipients of Divine Supreme Covenant, Are All Equal in Knowledge, Courage and Obedience

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn abu Zahir from al-Khashshab from Ali ibn Hass'an from 'Abd al-Rahman ibn Kathir from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"About the words of Allah, the Most High, 'The offspring of the believers will also follow them to paradise. So we shall join their offspring to them because of their belief. We shall reduce nothing from their deeds. . . .'(52:21) the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, "Believers" refers to the Holy Prophet and (Amir al-Mu'minin) Ali, recipients of divine supreme covenant, "Offspring" refers to 'A'immah and the executors of the wills, recipients of divine supreme covenant. "We make them follow" means: Allah will not reduce anything from the Divine Authority of their offspring. It will be the same as that which Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, had transferred to Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant.. Their authority is one and the same and obedience to them is of the same degree."

Every Imam Knows the Succeeding Imam, Recipient of Divine Supreme Covenant

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from Mu'alla ibn Muhammad from al-Hassan ibn Ali al-Washsha' from Ahmad ibn 'A'idh from ibn 'Udhayna from Burayd al-'Ijli who has said the following:

"Once I asked abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the words of Allah, the Majestic, the Glorious: 'Allah commands you to return that which had been entrusted to you to the rightful owners. Be just when passing judgment among people. . . .' (4:58) The Imam said, 'We are intended thereby. The preceding Imam must transfer to the succeeding Imam the books, the knowledge and the Armaments. "Be just when passing judgment among people" means (judge by) what is in your possession (in the form of laws and rules). Then Allah has said to people, 'Believers, obey Allah, His messenger, and your leaders (who possess Divine Authority). . . .' (4:59) He has intended us thereby particularly. He has commanded all believers to the Day of Judgment to obey us saying, 'If you fear disputes, then refer for a solution to Allah, the messenger and those who possess Divine Authority over you,' and this is how it was revealed. How would Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, command them to obey the people who possess authority and then allow people to dispute them (people who possess Divine Authority)? This, (verse 59 of Chapter 4) is addressed to people who possess Divine Authority mentioned in: 'Believers, obey Allah, His Messenger, and your leaders (who possess Divine Authority). . . .'" (4:59)

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from Mu‘alla ibn Muhammad from Ali ibn Muhammad from Bakr ibn Salih from Muhammad ibn Sulayman from ‘Aytham ibn Aslama from Mu‘awiya ibn ‘Ammar from abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

“Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority) is a covenant from Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, pledged to a particularly known man. The Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, does not have the right to divert it from the succeeding Imam. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, sent inspiration to David to appoint the executor of his will from among the members of his family saying, ‘It has occurred in My knowledge that I shall not send any prophet except that he will have the executor of his will from among the members of his family.’

"David had several children. Among the family members of David there was a son whose mother lived with David and he loved her very much. David came to her when the Divine inspiration came to him and he said to her, Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has sent me inspiration and He wants me to appoint the executor of my will from among the members of my family. His wife asked him to appoint her son for this task. He said, 'I, also, want what you said.'

"In the foregone knowledge of Allah it already decisively existed that the executor of the will of David was Solomon. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, sent inspiration to David commanding him not to make hasty decisions before the coming of His order. It was not long after that two men came to David to settle a dispute over the sheep and grapes among them. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, sent inspiration to David to gather all of his sons together and let them judge the case. 'Whoever of your sons then can judge the case rightly he will be the executor of your will.' David gathered all his sons. When the case was stated Solomon said, 'O owner of grapes, when did the sheep of this man enter your vineyard?' He replied, 'They entered at night.' Solomon said, 'O owner of sheep, I have judged against you. You must give the young and the wool of your sheep to him this year.' David then said, 'Why did you not judge giving away the very sheep just as the Israelite scholars have already evaluated them and the price of sheep is equal to the value of grapes?' Solomon answered, 'The vines are not consumed from their roots but only the fruit is consumed. (The vine) will come back in future.' Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, sent inspiration to David that the judgment in this case is the judgment of Solomon. O David, 'You wanted one thing and We had wanted other than that.'

"David came to his wife and said, 'We wanted one thing but Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, wanted a thing other than that. Nothing happens other than what Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, had wanted. We accept the command of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, and submit (to His will).'

"The Imam then said, 'And so are the executors of the wills. They have no right to go beyond the limit to make it available to the other people.'"

Al-Kulayni has said, "The meaning of the first Hadith is that had the sheep entered the vineyard during the day the owner of the sheep would not have to pay anything. The sheep owner must allow them to graze during the day and the vineyard owner must guard his vineyard. The owner of the sheep must guard his sheep at night and the owner of the vineyard can rest at home."

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from ibn abu 'Umayr from ibn Bukayr and Jamil from 'Amr ibn Mu'ab who has said the following:

"I heard abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say, 'Do you think that a testator from us chooses whomever he wants as the executor of his will? No, I swear by Allah, it is not so. It (will) is a covenant of the Messenger of Allah with man and then to the next man. (The Imam mentioned all the preceeding 'A'immah, recipients of divine supreme covenant, until the Imam (abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant,) ended up with himself.' So the Imam said six times, 'To the next man.'"

(The case with David and Solomon, peace be upon them, is mentioned in the Holy Quran. (21:78 – 79)

Chapter Sixty One

The Covenant of Allah, the Limit for the Activities of 'A'immah', Recipients of Divine Supreme Covenant

'A'immah, recipients of divine supreme covenant, never did and would not do anything except because of the covenant of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, and a command from Him, and they did not go beyond such limits.

Muhammad ibn Yahya and al-Husayn ibn Muhammad have narrated from Ja'far ibn Muhammad from Ali ibn al-Husayn ibn Ali from Isma'il ibn Mihran from abu Jamila from Mu'adh ibn Kathir from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"The will came from the heavens to Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, in a book (written) form. Nothing came to Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, from the heavens in a written sealed document form except the will. Jibril (Gabriel peace be on him) said, 'O Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, this is your will to your followers about your family. The Messenger of Allah asked, 'Which family of mine O Jibril.' Jibril replied, 'The one whom Allah has granted nobility among them (your family) and his descendents so they inherit knowledge of prophecy as Abraham left it (knowledge) as his legacy. This legacy of Abraham is for Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and your descendents from his lineage.'

"The Imam said, 'The document had several seals on it.' He further said, 'Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, opened the first seal and followed the instructions therein. Then al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, opened the second seal and followed the commandments and instructions therein. When al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, passed away then al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, opened the third seal and found therein instruction that said, 'Fight to do away with the enemy and be murdered and rise up (against the enemy) with a group of people for martyrdom. There will not be any martyrdom for them without you.' The Imam said, 'Al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, followed the instructions (entirely) and when he left this world he delivered it to Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, just before his martyrdom. Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, opened the fourth seal and found in it instruction to remain silent and gaze in front because of the concealment of knowledge (widespread injustice and ignorance). Just before his passing away he delivered it to Muhammad ibn Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant. He opened the fifth seal and found therein instructions that said, 'Interpret the Book of Allah, the Most High, affirm veracity of his father and leave it as his legacy for his son. Do good to the 'Umma (nation), stand up for the right of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, say the truth in fear and in peace and do not be afraid of anyone except Allah.' He did as he was instructed and delivered it to the succeeding Imam.'

"I (the narrator) said to the Imam, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, are you then the succeeding Imam?' He then said, 'There is nothing wrong in a positive answer to your question except if then you go, O Mu'adh, and narrate to people things that may harm me.'

"I (the narrator) then said to the Imam, 'I pray to Allah who has granted you, through your noble ancestors, this high position to grant to your successor the same high position before you will die.' The Imam said, 'Allah has already done so, O Mu'adh.'

" I (the narrator) then asked the Imam, 'Who then is he, may Allah keep my soul in service for your cause?' The Imam replied, 'This sleeping one.' He pointed with his hand to the righteous servant of Allah who was asleep (Musa ibn Ja'far), recipient of divine supreme covenant."

فَأنت هو قَالَ فَقَالَ ما بِي إِلا أَنْ تذْهب يا معاذُ فَتروي علَي قَالَ فَقُلْت أَسْأَلُ الله الذِي رزقَك مِنْ آبائك هذِهِ الْمنزِلَةَ أَنْ يرزقَك مِنْ عقِبك مِثْلَها قَبلَ الْمماتِ قَالَ قَدْ فَعلَ الله ذَلك يا معاذُ قَالَ فَقُلْت فَمنْ هو جعِلْت فِداك قَالَ هذَا الراقِد و أَشار بِيدِهِ إِلَى الْعبدِ الصالِحِ و هو راقِد

Ahmad ibn Muhammad and Muhammad ibn Yahya have narrated from Muhammad ibn al-Husayn from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from abu al-Hassan al-Kinani from Ja'far ibn Najih al-Kindi from Muhammad ibn Ahmad ibn 'Ubayd Allah al-'Umari from his father from his grandfather from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High sent a document to His prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, before his death. He then said, 'O Muhammad, this is your will to the noble ones in your family.' He asked, 'Who are the noble ones in my family, O Jibril (Gabriel)?' He then said, 'They are Ali ibn abu Talib and his sons, recipients of divine supreme covenant,' On the document there were several seals of gold. The Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, delivered it to (Amir al-Mu'minin) Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and commanded him to open one seal and follow the instructions for him therein. (Amir al-Mu'minin) Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then opened one seal and followed the instruction in it. Then he delivered it to his son al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant. He opened a seal and followed that which was therein (to follow). He then delivered it to al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant.. He opened one seal and found therein instructions that asked him to rise for martyrdom with a group of people. That there will be no martyrdom for them except along with you and sell yourself to Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High. He followed all the instructions. Then he delivered it to Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant. He opened one seal and found therein instructions that asked him to fix his gaze just before him and remain silent, secluded in his house, and worship his Lord until his death will arrive. He did as he was instructed and then delivered it (the sealed document) to his son Muhammad ibn Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant. He opened one seal and found therein instructions that asked him to speak to people and make them learn. That he should not fear anyone except Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High; no one can harm him. He followed the instructions and then delivered it to his son Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant.. He opened one seal and found therein instructions that asked him to speak to people, make them learn, propagate the knowledge of his family (Ahl al-Bayt) and affirm the veracity of his righteous ancestors. That he should not be afraid of anyone except Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High; he is secure and safe. He did as was instructed and then delivered it to his son Musa, recipient of divine supreme covenant.. In the same way Musa, recipient of divine supreme covenant, will deliver it to the succeeding Imam and so on up to the appearance of al-Mahdi, recipient of divine supreme covenant.'"

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from ibn Mahbub from ibn Ri'ab from Durays al-Kunasi from Humran who has said the following:

We know about their rising and coming out for the religion of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, about their suffering and being murdered at the hands of the rebellious devils and their defeat until they all were murdered and defeated.'

"Abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, 'O Humran, Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, had destined it for them. So it was decreed, approved and was made unavoidable. Then He executed it but it all happened with the prior knowledge of the same through the Messenger of Allah. Ali, al-Hassan and al-Husayn, recipients of divine supreme covenant. They all stood up for the cause of Allah, with the knowledge of the consequences. There were those of us who remained silent (without armed uprising against the enemies).'"

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad al-Ash'ari has narrated from Mu'alla ibn Muhammad from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from al-Harith ibn Ja'far from Ali ibn Isma'il ibn Yaqtin from 'Isa ibn al-Mustafad, abu Musa al-Darir who has said the following:

"Musa ibn Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, narrated to me: 'I said to abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, "Was (Amir al-Mu'minin) Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, not the writer of the will, the Messenger of Allah dictating, Jibril and the prominent angels witnessed?'"

"The Imam (Musa ibn Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant) said that he remained silent for quite a while and then said, 'O abu al-Hassan what you said was true, however, when the command descended upon the Messenger of Allah, the will also came in the form of a sealed document. Jibril brought it along with the trustees of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, from among the angels. Jibril then said, "O Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, order every one to leave you except the executor of your will so he can take possession of the same and make us to bear witness that you delivered it to him and he (Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant) took charge of the same in our presence. The Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, ordered everyone else to leave the house, except Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant. Fatimah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was present between the door and the curtain. Jibril then said, 'O Muhammad, your Lord declares peace and safety to you and says, "This is the documentation of My covenant that I had made with you, the conditions that I had set up and I had made My angels to bear witness to it. In fact, O Muhammad, I Myself am sufficient as a witness."'

"The Imam has said, 'At that time all the joints in the body of Muhammad began to shake and shiver. He then said, 'O Jibril my Lord Himself is peace, from Him comes peace and to Him returns peace. He, Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has spoken the truth and has granted favors. Please allow me to have the document.'

"Jibril then delivered it to him and commanded him to deliver it to (Amir al-Mu'minin) Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant. He asked Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, to read it. He then read it word by word. The Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, 'O Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, this is the (text of the) covenant of my Lord, the Most Holy, the Most High, to me and His conditions upon me and His trust with me. I have now delivered it, given good advice and fulfilled my responsibility.'

"Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, 'I testify in your favor, may Allah keep my soul and the souls of my parents in service for your cause, for delivering the trust, granting good advice and affirmation of your speaking the truth. My ears, my eyes, my flesh and my blood all bear witness to this.' Jibril then said, 'I also am of the witnesses to this fact for both of you.'

"The Messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, 'O Ali, have you taken possession of my will, learned its contents and offered a guarantee to Allah and to me to follow the instructions therein?'

"Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, 'Yes, may Allah keep my soul and the souls of my parents in service for your cause, it is my responsibility to follow the instructions therein and from Allah comes support for me and my success in the fulfillment of my responsibility.' The Messenger of Allah then said, 'O Ali, I want to ask you to bear testimony to my promise of rewarding for it (your executing my will) on the Day of Judgment.'

"Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'Yes, I do bear such testimony.' The Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, 'Jibril and Mika'il are between us now and with them present are the prominent angels. Would you agree if I ask them to bear testimony to this fact?' He then said, 'Yes, they may bear testimony and I, may Allah keep my soul and the souls of my parents in service for your cause, also ask them to bear testimony.' Then the Messenger of Allah made them to bear testimony. Of the matters that the Messenger of Allah set as conditions upon Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, on orders from Jibril of the commands of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, were the following:

"O Ali, you must follow the instruction in the will about loving those who love Allah and His Messenger and to disdaining and maintaining an unfriendly attitude toward those who are enemies of Allah and His Messenger. It requires patience on your part and control over your anger for the usurpation of my right and the usurpation of one fifth that belongs to you and for the disregard of your respect and honor."

"Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, 'Yes, O the Messenger of Allah, I accept it (this condition). Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, 'I swear by the One Who helps the seed to burst open and shapes the fetuses that I heard Jibril say to the Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, this, "O Muhammad, explain to him that people will disregard his respect and honor which is the respect and honor of Allah and His Messenger and that his beard will be tainted with fresh blood (from his head)."

"(Amir al-Mu'minin) Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, 'A loud sigh came out of my mouth when I understood the very words of Jibril, the trustworthy one. I fell upon my face to the ground and I said, "Yes, I accept and agree even if it will end up with the disregard of respect to my honor and me. (I agree) even if (people) will disregard the noble traditions, insult the Book, destroy the Ka'ba and taint my beard with fresh blood from my head. (I accept it) with patience and leave to Allah for judgment for all times until I will arrive to meet you."'

"The Messenger of Allah then called Fatimah, al-Hassan and al-Husayn, recipients of divine supreme covenant, to his presence and informed them of what he had explained to (Amir al-Mu'minin) Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant. They all said just what Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, had said. The will was then sealed with the seals of gold that fire had not touched. It was delivered to (Amir al-Mu'minin) Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant.

"I (the narrator) then asked the Imam, abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'May Allah take my soul and the souls of my parents in service for your cause, would you please describe what was there in the will?' The Imam said, 'It contained the traditions of Allah and the traditions of His Messenger.' I then asked, 'Was there anything about their (enemies) attacking and opposition to (Amir al-Mu'minin) Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant?' The Imam said, 'Yes, I swear by Allah, all and everything was there letter by letter. Have you not heard the words of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, "It is We that bring the dead to life and record the deeds of human beings and their consequences (of continual effects). We keep everything recorded in an illustrious Imam (Book)." (36:12) I swear by Allah that the Messenger of Allah said to (Amir al-Mu'minin) Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and Fatimah, 'Did you understand well my presentation of the matter to you and did you agree to and accept it?' They replied, 'Yes, we did so. We will exercise patience to face what will disappoint us and cause us anger.'"

In the script of al-Safwan there is the following addition:

"Ali in Ibrahim has narrated from his father from 'Abd Allah ibn 'Abd al-Rahman al-'Assam from abu 'Abd Allah al-Bazzaz from Hariz who has said the following:

"I said to abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, why is it that you, members of the family of the Prophet, recipients of divine supreme covenant, live such short lives? Your deaths are so close and soon after the other Imam even though people need you so much?'

"The Imam said, 'For every one of us there is a document that contains what he needs to do within his time. When his assignment according to the commandments therein is complete, he learns that his time of death has arrived. The Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, comes to him to give the news of his death and informs him of all that is for him with Allah.'

"Al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, read the document that was given to him and the news of his death was explained to him, however, certain things were not yet complete. He came out to face the enemy, and those matters that were not yet complete were that the angels had asked Allah to grant them permission to support al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, against his enemies, which He granted them. In readying themselves they were delayed and when they were prepared to fight, he was murdered. They descended but his time was over and he was already killed. The angels said, 'Lord, You granted us permission to descend and to help him. We descended but You have already taken his soul away. Allah then sent them inspiration that said, 'Remain on his grave until you see him come out, then help him. Weep for him and for your loss of the opportunity to provide him help and support. You were certainly assigned for his support and help and to weep for him. The angels then wept in mourning and sadness for their loss of the opportunity to help and support to him. When he comes out they will be of his helpers.'"

Evidence of Imam's, Recipient of Divine Supreme Covenant, Possessing Divine Authority

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from ibn abu Nasr who has said the following:

"Once I asked abu al-Hassan al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'When the Imam dies, through what means can one know the succeeding Imam?' He said, 'For the Imam there are certain signs. Of such signs one is that he must be the eldest son of his father (of the living ones). The "will" and distinction in excellence must be found in him and when people come to ask who is appointed the executor of the will in answer it can be said that so and so is appointed the executor of the will. The Armament with us is like the Ark of Covenant in the Israelites. Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority) is always with the Armament wherever it may go.'"

H 739, Ch. 62, h 2
Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Muhammad ibn al-Husayn from Yazid Sha'r from Harun ibn Hamza from 'Abd al-A'la who has said the following:

"I asked abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'In the case of those who rush to hold control of this matter (leadership) and who claim to be for it, how can one verify their possessing Divine Authority?'

"The Imam said, 'They are asked about the rules of lawful and unlawful matters.'

"The Imam then turned to me and said, 'There are three forms of evidence that are not found in one person except the rightful owner of this status. He must be the closest person to the preceding Imam, the Armament must be with him and he must be appointed the executor of the will in a public manner, so much so that if one comes to the town and asks the common people, even the children, about who the executor of the will of so and so is, they say so and so is the executor of the will of so and so.'"

H 740, Ch. 62, h 3
Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from ibn abu 'Umayr from Hisham ibn Salim and Hafs ibn al-Bakhtari who has said the following:

"Once a certain person asked abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'By what means is the Imam recognized?' He said, 'He is recognized through a publicly established will and through distinctive excellence in perfection. In the case of Imam no one must be able to raise objections against him in matters of (the words from) his mouth, his consumption of food and sexual matters. People must not be able to say, "He is a liar, usurping others' properties and such similar things."

٣- علي بن إبراهيم عن أبيه عن ابن أبي عمير عن هشام بن سالم و حفص بن البختري عن أبي عبد الله ع قال قيل له بأي شيء يعرف الإمام قال بالوصية الظاهرة و بالفضل إن الإمام لا يستطيع أحد أن يطعن عليه في فم و لا بطن و لا فرج فيقال كذاب و يأكل أموال الناس و ما أشبه هذا

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Muhammad ibn Isma'il from Ali ibn al-Hakam from Mu'awiya ibn Wahab who has said the following:

"I asked abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'What is the sign of being an Imam after the preceding Imam?' The Imam said, 'Being of pure birth, having good upbringing and not trifling or engaging in amusement.'"

٤- محمد بن يحيى عن محمد بن إسماعيل عن علي بن الحكم عن معاوية بن وهب قال قلت لأبي جعفر ع ما علامة الإمام الذي بعد الإمام فقال طهارة الولادة و حسن المنشإ و لا يلهو و لا يلعب

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from Muhammad ibn 'Isa from Yunus from Ahmad

٥- علي بن إبراهيم عن محمد بن عيسى عن يونس عن أحمد

ibn ‘Umar who has said the following:

“I asked abu al-Hassan al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, ‘What is the proof that establishes one’s possessing Divine Authority or being the person in charge of leadership?’ ‘Of such proofs are being the eldest (among the sons of the preceding Imam), possessing superior moral achievements and being appointed as the executor of the will. So much so that if people come to the town and ask who is appointed as the executor of the will of so and so it can be said to them so and so, son of so and so and these go along wherever the Armament go. Asking questions does not establish any authority,’ said the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant.”

H 743, Ch. 62, h 6

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from abu Yahya al-Wasiti from Hisham ibn Salim from abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

“The leadership is with being the eldest (of the sons of the preceding Imam) as long as he is free of defects.”

H 744, Ch. 62, h 7

Ahmad ibn Mihran has narrated from Muhammad ibn Ali from abu Basir who has said the following:

“I asked abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, ‘May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, by what proofs can one know the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant?’ He said, ‘Through several qualities. The first thing is that his father must have spoken about him in this matter so that it could be considered a proof. That when asked he would answer, and if one remained silent he would begin to speak on the issue and inform of the things that would happen the next day. That he can speak to people in everyone’s own language.’ Then he said, ‘O abu Muhammad, allow me to give you a sign before you stand up to go. Not very long after this a man from Khurasan came in. The man from Khurasan spoke to the Imam in Arabic but abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, answered him in Persian. The man from Khurasan said, ‘I swear by Allah, may Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, the only thing that stopped me from speaking to you in Persian was I thought you might not know Persian.’ He then said, ‘Glory belongs to Allah, if the Imam would not be able to answer you (in Persian) then how would he have any distinctive excellence over you?’ He said to me, ‘O abu Muhammad, no one’s language is unknown to the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, the language of birds, animals and any living thing. Whoever does not have these qualities he is not an Imam.’”

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from Muhammad ibn ‘Isa from Yunus from al-Husayn ibn Thuwayr ibn abu Fakhta from abu ’Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

“Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority) will never go to two brothers after al-Hassan and al-Husayn, recipients of divine supreme covenant. It has continued from Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, as Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has said, ‘The relatives are closer to each other, according to the Book of Allah. . . .’ (33:6) After Imam Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority) will only be found in the descendents one after the other.’”

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Muhammad ibn al-Husayn from ibn abu Najran from ‘Isa ibn ‘Abd Allah ibn ‘Umar ibn Ali ibn abu Talib, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

“I asked abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, ‘If there happens what is to happen - I wish Allah does not show me such a day (the of the death of the Imam) - who then must I follow as my Imam?’

“The Imam pointed to his son, Musa, recipient of divine supreme covenant. I (the narrator) then asked the Imam, ‘What if something were to happen to Musa, recipient of divine supreme covenant. Whom then must I follow?’ The Imam said, ‘Follow a son.’ I then asked, ‘What if something were to happen to the son and the Imam left behind an elder brother or a small son, then whom must I follow?’ The Imam said, ‘Follow his son and so on one after the other.’” In the script of Safwan it says, “ . . . and so on forever.”

H 750, Ch. 64, h 1

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from Muhammad ibn ‘Isa from Yunus and Ali ibn Muhammad from Sahl ibn Ziyad, abu Sa‘id from Muhammad ibn ‘Isa from Yunus from ibn Muskan from abu Basir who has said the following:

“I asked abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the words of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High: ‘Believers, obey Allah, His Messenger, and your leaders (who possess Divine Authority). . . .’ (4:59)

“The Imam said, ‘This was sent from the heavens about Ali ibn abu Talib, al-Hassan and al-Husayn, recipients of divine supreme covenant.’ I then said, ‘People say, “Why did He not specify Ali and his family by their names in the Book of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High?’

“The Imam said, ‘Say to them, “The command for prayer came to the Messenger of Allah but He has not specified (the number of the Rak‘ats) for them as being three or four. It, in fact, was the Messenger of Allah who explained to them this matter. The command for Zakat (a form of income tax) came to the Messenger of Allah and there was no specific taxable number such as one Dirham on every forty Dirham. It was the Messenger of Allah who explained it for them. The command for Hajj came to the Messenger of Allah. It did not say walk seven times around the Ka‘ba. It was the Messenger of Allah who explained it for them. The verse about obedience came, ‘Believers, obey Allah, His Messenger and your leaders (who possess Divine Authority). . . .’ (4:59) It came to declare that Ali, al-Hassan and al-Husayn, recipients of divine supreme covenant, were the Leaders who possessed Divine Authority. The Messenger of Allah then said about Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, ‘Over whomever I have Divine Authority, Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, also has Divine Authority over him.’ He also has said, ‘I enjoin you to follow the Book of Allah and my family. It is because I have prayed to Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, not to separate these two from each other until He will make them arrive at al-Kawthar (the pond of paradise) to join me. He has granted my prayer as such.’

“The Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, ‘Do not try to teach them (‘A’immah); they are far more knowledgeable than you.’ The Holy Prophet has said, ‘‘A’immah, recipients of divine supreme covenant, will never take you out of the gate of guidance and they will never make you enter the gate of error.’ Had the Messenger of Allah remained silent and had not explained anything about his Ahl al-Bayt (the family) the family of so and so would have advanced their claim for Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority). However, Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has revealed it in His book to confirm the explanations of His Prophet about Ahl al-Bayt (in the following verse): ‘People of the house, Allah wants to remove all kinds of uncleanness from you and to purify you thoroughly.’ (33:33) Ali, Fatimah, al-Hassan and al-Husayn, recipients of divine supreme covenant, were there and the Holy Prophet made them to enter under al-Kisa’ (the Cloak) in the house of ’Umm Salama and then said, ‘O Lord, every prophet had a family and a heaviness and credence, and these are my family, my heaviness and credence.’ ’Umm Salama at this point said, ‘Am I not of your family?’ The Holy Prophet said, ‘You are in goodness but these are my family, my heaviness and credence.’

“When the Messenger of Allah passed away Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, had the utmost priority and guardianship of the people because of what the Messenger of Allah had preached about him. It was because of raising him up for the people and holding his hand in his hand. When Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, (was about to) pass away he could not (and would not) enter Muhammad ibn Ali or al-'Abbass ibn Ali or any one of his other sons in the position of Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority). Otherwise, al-Hassan and al-Husayn, recipients of divine supreme covenant, would have said, 'Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has revealed about us just as He has done so about you, and He has commanded people to obey us just as He has commanded people to obey you. The Messenger of Allah has preached to people about us just as he has done so about you. Allah has removed al-Rijs (uncleanness) from us just as He has done so to you.'

"When Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, left this world, al-Hassan had the utmost priority for Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority); he was the eldest. When he was about to die he could not, and would not, enter his sons in the position of Imamat. It is because Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, says, '. . . The relatives are closer to each other, according to the Book of Allah, than the believers and the emigrants. . . .' (33:6) Had he then placed Imamat in his sons, al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, would have said, 'Allah has commanded people to obey me just as He has commanded people to obey you and to obey your father. The Messenger of Allah has preached to people about me just as he has preached to people about you and your father. Allah has removed al-Rijs (unleanliness) from me just as He has removed it from you and your father.'

"When Imamat was in full force with al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, there was no one in his family who could claim against him as he could claim against his brother and father. He could do so in case they had (his father and brother) wanted to divert it from him but they did not and would not do so. After them it found its place with al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and the interpretation of this verse continued to remain valid, '. . . The relatives are closer to each other, according to the Book of Allah, than the believers and the emigrants. . . .' (33:6)

"After al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, Imamat found its place with Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant. After Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, it (Leadership with Divine Authority) found its place with Muhammad ibn Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant. The Imam said, 'Al-Rijs means doubts. I swear by Allah that we never doubt in our Lord.'"

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Isa from Muhammad ibn Khalid and al-Husayn ibn Sa'id from al-Nadr ibn Suwayd from Yahya ibn 'Imran al-Halabi from Ayyub ibn al-Hurr and 'Imran ibn Ali al-Halabi from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, a similar Hadith.

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Isa from his father from 'Abd Allah ibn al-Mughira from ibn Muskan from 'Abd al-Rahim ibn Ruh al-Qasir who has said the following:

"Once I asked abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about whom this verse of the words of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has come? 'The Prophet has more authority over the believers than they themselves do. His wives are their mothers. The relatives are closer to each other, according to the Book of Allah, than the believers and the emigrants. However, you may show kindness to your guardians. This also is written in the Book.' (33:6) He (the Imam) then said,

أم سلمة ثم قال اللهم إن لكل نبي أهلا و ثقلا و هؤلاء أهل بيتي و ثقلي فقالت أم سلمة أ لست من أهلك فقال إنك إلى خير و لكن هؤلاء أهلي و ثقلي

فلما قبض رسول الله ص كان علي أولى الناس بالناس لكثرة ما بلغ فيه رسول الله ص و إقامته للناس و أخذه بيده

'It (the above verse) came about the governance (Leadership with Divine Authority). This verse continued to apply to people of the lineage of al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, after him. We, have the right to exercise governance (Leadership with Divine Authority) and we are closer to the Messenger of Allah than the believers of immigrants and the Ansar.'

'I (the narrator) then asked the Imam 'Do the sons of Ja'far have any share in it?' The Imam said, 'No, they do not have any share in it.' I asked, 'Do the sons of al-'Abbass have any share in it?' He said, 'No, they do not have any share in it.' I counted for him the people from the descendents of 'Abd al-Muttalib and in answer to all he said, 'No.'

"I (the narrator) forgot the sons of al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant. I went to see him at another time and asked him, 'Do the sons of al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, have any share in it?' He replied, 'No, I swear by Allah, O 'Abd al-Rahim, no one related to Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has any share in it except us.'"

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from Mu'alla ibn Muhammad from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from al-Hassan ibn Muhammad al-Hashimi from his father from Ahmad ibn 'Isa from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

About the words of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, 'Only Allah, His Messenger, and the true believers who are steadfast in prayer and pay alms, while they kneel during prayer, are your guardians,' (5:55) the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, 'It means to have greater right and authority to deal with your affairs, your souls and your property. Such right, priority and authority belong to Allah, His Messenger and the believers. Thus, Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and his descendents are 'A'immah until the Day of Judgment. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has then described them saying, ". . . the true believers who are steadfast in prayer and pay alms, while they kneel during prayer. . . ." (5:55) "True believers" in the above verse stand for Amir al-Mu'minin, Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant; he was praying Zuhr prayer (early afternoon). He was in the second Ruku' (bowing down on his knees in prayer), wearing a gown worth a thousand Dinars (unit of money), which the Holy Prophet made him to wear and King Najashi had sent as a present to him. At such time a beggar came and said the Islamic greeting words, "Be in peace O Allah's authority and the authority over the believers who possesses greater right and priority over them than themselves. Give charity to a destitute person." He (Imam Ali) threw the gown to the beggar and pointed with his hand to pick up and take it. About this happening Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, sent verse 55 of Chapter 5 of the Holy Quran. He granted him His blessings in the form of his children. Whoever of his children with whom Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority) found place, in the matters of charity was like him. They would give charity while bowed down in Ruku' of prayer. The beggar that asked (Amir al-Mu'minin) Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, for charity was from the angels. Those who ask 'A'immah from his children will also be from the angels.'"

H 753, Ch. 64, h 4

Ali ibn Ibrahim from his father from Ibn Abu 'Umayr from 'Umar ibn Udhayna from Zurara and Fudayl ibn Yasar and Bukayr ibn A'yan and Muhammad ibn

Muslim and Burayd ibn Mu'awiya and abu a1-Jarud, all have said that abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said the following:

"Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, commanded His Messenger to declare the Leadership with Divine Authority of Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and sent down to him this: 'Only Allah, His Messenger, and (also) the true believers who are steadfast in prayer and pay alms, while they kneel during prayer (in Ruku'), are your guardians (with Divine Authority).' (5:55) He made obedience to those in authority obligatory. The people did not know who they were. Allah commanded Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, to interpret (and explain) the 'Authority' for them as he had interpreted (and explained) Prayer, Zakat, Fasting and Hajj. When this command (to obey those who possess Divine Authority) came to him from Allah, the Messenger of Allah felt pressured (and afraid of people's abandoning their religion). He prayed to Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, about it and Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, revealed to him this: 'O Messenger, preach what is revealed to you from your Lord. If you do not preach, it will be as though you have not conveyed My message. Allah protects you from men. He does not guide the unbelieving people.' (5:67) He executed the command of Allah, Most Exalted is Whose mention, and declared that Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, had received Divine Authority for leadership over His creatures. He made this declaration on the day of Ghadir-e Khumm (18th of Dhu al-Hajja). After the prayer in congregation he convened the command and asked people present to bear testimony and inform those who were absent.

"'Umar ibn 'Udhayna has said, 'All, except abu al-Jarud, have narrated this Hadith.'

"Abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said: 'One commandment would come after the other and the commandment about Leadership and Guardianship with Divine Authority was the last of such commandments. Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, then sent down this: 'On this day I have perfected your religion, completed My favors to you, and chosen Islam as your religion. . . .' (5:3) Abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, said, 'I will not send down any other commandments thereafter. I have completed for you the commandments.'"

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from Salih ibn al-Sindi from Ja'far ibn Bashir from Harun ibn Kharija from abu Basir who has said the following:

"Once I was in the presence of abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and a man asked him, 'Please speak to me about the Divine Authority of Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant. Is it from Allah or from His Messenger?'

"The Imam who seemed angry said, 'Fie upon you, the Messenger of Allah was the most God fearing person. He would never declare it before Allah command him to do so. In fact, He made it obligatory as He has made Prayer, Zakat, Fasting and Hajj obligatory.'" fulfill five obligations. They have undertaken the responsibility for four of these obligations but they have ignored one.'

"The narrator has said, 'I asked the Imam, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, will you please, describe them for me?' The Imam said, 'The Prayer is one of such obligations. People did not know how to perform the Prayer. Jibril (Gabriel) descended and said, "O Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, explain to them the timing for the Prayer." Then the command to pay Zakat came. Jibril then said, 'O Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, explain to them how to pay Zakat as you have explained to them about the Prayer.' Then the command to fast came. The Messenger of Allah would send information to the nearby towns and would ask people to fast on the day of 'Ashura' (tenth of the month of Muharram) and people would fast on that day. Then the month of Ramadan came between the month of Sha'ban and Shawwal. Thereafter came the command for Hajj. Jibril descended and said to the Holy Prophet, "Explain to them the rules of Hajj as you have explained to them about the Prayer, Zakat and Fasting."

"Thereafter came the command in the verse about the people who possess Divine Authority. It came to him on Friday, the Day of 'Arafa on the ninth of the month of Dhu al-Hajja. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, sent the following verse of the Holy Quran: '. . . On this day I have perfected your religion, completed My favors to you, and chosen Islam as your religion. . . .' (5:3) 'The perfection of religion came about with the declaration of the fact that Ali ibn abu Talib, recipient of divine supreme covenant, possessed Divine Authority over the people. The Messenger of Allah then said at that time, 'My followers have lived very close to the age of darkness and ignorance. When I speak of the Divine Authority of my nephew, one says this and one says that. I say this to myself in my soul without speaking it out with my tongue. Then the decisive command of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, came in which He had warned me of punishment for not preaching to people about the Divine Authority (of Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant). And then the following verse of the Holy Quran was sent: 'O Messenger, preach what is revealed to you from your Lord. If you do not preach, it will be as though you have not conveyed My message. Allah protects you from men. He does not guide the unbelieving people.' (5:67) The Messenger of Allah then holding the hand of Ali raised it up high and said, 'O people, there had lived no prophet before me whom Allah would not cause to become old. After such age Allah would call them to die. I may be called to die any time very soon but would remain responsible as well as you. What then would you say?' They replied, 'We will testify and say that you preached, gave good advice and fulfilled your responsibilities. May Allah grant you the best of the rewards that He has granted to the messengers.' He (the Holy Prophet) then said, 'O Lord, bear testimony.' He said so three times. Then he said, 'O the community of the Muslims, this is the person who possesses Divine Authority over you after me. Those of you present here must inform about this declaration those who are absent from here.'

"Abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, 'I swear by Allah, that Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was the guardian of the trust of Allah in His creature, the guardian of His secrets and religion which He has chosen for Himself. Then the Holy Prophet experienced what is to be experienced and called Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, near and said, "O Ali, I want to appoint and entrust you with that which Allah has entrusted me of His secrets, His knowledge, His creatures and His religion which He has chosen for Himself." The Imam then said, 'O Ziyad, I swear by Allah that no one besides Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, had any share in it (appointed as Divine Authority over the people). Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, thereafter experienced what was to be experienced (the time of his leaving this world). He then called his children who numbered twelve sons. He said to them, 'My children, Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has decided to place in me the noble tradition that He had placed in Jacob (Ya'qub). Jacob called all of his children who numbered twelve sons and he informed them about (the status of) their companion (brother, Joseph). Please note that I also want to inform you about your companion. These two, al-Hassan and al-Husayn, recipients of divine supreme covenant, are the children of the Messenger of Allah. You must listen to them, obey and support them. I have entrusted them with that which the Messenger of Allah had entrusted me in the matters of the creatures of Allah, His secrets and His religion, which He has chosen for Himself. Allah has made of the responsibility of Ali toward them just like the responsibility of the Messenger of Allah toward Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant. All of their virtuous perfection is equal except the elderliness in age. Al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, would never raise his voice in a meeting in the presence of al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, before he would leave the place.'

"Al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then experienced (the coming of the time of his death) what is to be experienced. He delivered and submitted it (the Divine trust) all to al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant.. When the time of the death of al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, came he called his eldest daughter, Fatimah, and gave to her a sealed document and his publicly declared will. Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was ill with internal illness and they thought he was about to die. Fatimah gave the document to Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and thereafter, I swear by Allah, that document came to us.'"

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from Mu'alla ibn Muhammad from Muhammad ibn Jumhur from Muhammad ibn Isma'il ibn Bazi' from Mansur ibn Yunus from abu al-Jarud from abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, a similar Hadith.

Muhammad ibn al-Hassan has narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad from Muhammad ibn 'Isa from Safwan ibn Yahya from Sabbah al-Azraq from abu Basir who has said the following:

"Once I mentioned to abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'I met a man from al-Mukhtaria (followers of al-Mukhtar) who believed that Muhammad ibn al-Hanafiya (one of the sons of Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, but not from Fatimah, recipient of divine supreme covenant) is the Imam.' Abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, became angry and then said, 'Did you then say anything to him?'

"I said, 'No, I swear by Allah, I did not know what to say.' The Imam then said, 'Why did you not say, "The Messenger of Allah appointed Ali, al-Hassan and al-Husayn, recipients of divine supreme covenant, as the executors of his will. When Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was about to leave this world he appointed al-Hassan and al-Husayn, recipients of divine supreme covenant, as the executors of his will. Had Ali,

Tacit and Explicit Testimony as Proof of (Amir Al-Mu'minin) Ali's, Recipient of Divine Supreme Covenant, Divine Authority Over the People After the Messenger of Allah

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Muhammad ibn al-Husayn from Muhammad ibn Isma'il from Mansur ibn Yunus from Zayd ibn al-Jahm al-Hilali who has said the following:

"I heard abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say, 'When Wilayah (the declaration that) Ali ibn abu Talib has (Divine Authority over the people) descended and it was in the words of the Messenger of Allah they all greeted and congratulated Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, as the commander of the believers. Of the matters that Allah had stressed upon the two of them on that day, O Zayd, was what came through the words of the Messenger of Allah for the two of them: "The two of you stand up and congratulate him (Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant) as the commander of the believers." The two of them asked, 'Is it from Allah or from the Messenger of Allah, O the Messenger of Allah?' The Messenger of Allah then said to the two of them, "It is from Allah and from His Messenger." Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, then sent the following. '. . . (He commands people) to keep their established covenants with Allah and must not disregard their firm oaths; they have already appointed Allah as their Guarantor. Allah, certainly, knows what you do.'" (16:91) The Imam then said, 'It refers to the words of the Messenger of Allah to the two of them. It also refers to their words to the Messenger of Allah that said, "Is it from Allah or from the Messenger of Allah, O the Messenger of Allah?" Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, then said this: 'Do not be like the lady behind the spinning wheel who has broken the yarn by pulling it with unnecessary force. You must not consider your oaths as means of deceit to benefit one party and incur loss upon the other, . . .' (16:92) just because they are such*'A'immah* who possess and maintain higher spiritual standards than your Imam does.'

"I (the narrator) then asked the Imam, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, is the word 'A'immah (plural of Imam)? However, we read it Arba' (meaning more beneficial).'

"The Imam then said, 'What Arba' is it that you mention?' He made a gesture with his hand as an indication of throwing away something and read from the Holy Quran: 'Allah tests you through him [Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant]. He will, on the Day of Judgment, make clear to you who was right and who was wrong. (16:92) Had Allah wanted, He would have made you one single nation but He guides or causes whoever He wants to go astray. You will certainly be questioned about what you have done. (16:93) Do not take your oaths as a means of deceit lest you damage the firmness of your belief, [This may happen after what you have heard from the Messenger of Allah about Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant] and you may suffer from evil for creating obstacles in the way that leads to Allah, [a reference to Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant] and incur a great torment upon yourselves. '" (16:94)

Note: along with the verse above inside brackets are explanatory words of the Imam. In verse 91 above the words of the Holy Quran are 'Ummah and Arba' meaning a party and beneficial. The Imam, however, has considered them 'A'immah, plural of Imam and Azka', purifying. For this reason the narrator asked a question and the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, explained.

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Muhammad ibn al-Husayn and Ahmad ibn Muhammad from ibn Mahbub from Muhammad ibn Fudayl from abu Hamza al-Thumali who has said the following:

"I heard abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say, 'When Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, completed his task of prophet-hood and the duration of his life was about to end, Allah, the Most High, sent him wahy (information through the angels). It said, "O Muhammad, your task as a prophet has come to an end and the duration of your life is about to reach a close. Therefore, you must place the knowledge with you, the belief, the great name, the legacy of knowledge and the symbols of the knowledge of the prophecy in your family with Ali ibn abu Talib, recipient of divine supreme covenant. It is because I do not want to discontinue the knowledge, the belief, the great name, the legacy of the knowledge and the symbols of knowledge of the prophecy from your posterior descendents as I had not done so with descendents of the prophets.'"

Muhammad ibn al-Husayn and others have narrated from Sahl from Muhammad ibn 'Isa, Muhammad ibn Yahya and Muhammad ibn al-Husayn all of them from Muhammad ibn Sinan from Isma'il ibn Jabir and 'Abd al-Karim ibn 'Amr from 'Abd Al-Hamid ibn abu al-Daylam from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"Moses, peace be on him, prepared his will and gave it to Yusha' ibn Nun. Yusha' ibn Nun made his will to give it to the sons of Harun. He did not make a will to his own sons or to the sons of Moses. To Allah, the Most High, belong all the good choices. He chooses whomever He wants from whomever He wants. He gave the glad news about Jesus to Moses and Yusha'. When Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, raised Jesus as His Messenger Jesus, peace be on him, said to them, 'After me there will come a prophet whose name will be 'Ahmad' from the descendents of Isma'il, peace be on him. He will come and affirm my message and your message, my excuses and your excuses.' The will continued after him in the protecting disciples. Allah, the Most High, has called them 'protectors' because they preserved the greatest name and it is the Book through which such knowledge of all things is learned that existed with the prophets, peace be on them, as Allah, the Most High, has said in the following verse: 'We sent Our messengers

(before you) with clear evidence (to support their truthfulness), and sent with them the Book and the Balance. . . .' (57:25) The Book is the greatest name. Of what is known as the books are the Torah, Gospel and al-Furqan (the Holy Quran) of which also is the book of Noah, the book of Salih, Shu'ayb and Abraham. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has said, 'This is what is written in the ancient heavenly books, (87:18) the Scriptures of Abraham and Moses.' (87:19) Where then is the book of Abraham? In fact, the book of Abraham is the greatest name. The book of Moses is the greatest name. Thus, the will continued through one scholar to the next scholar until they delivered it to Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant.

"When Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, sent Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, the descendents of the "protecting" disciples accepted his faith but the lying ones of the Israelites refused to believe in him. He prayed to Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, and worked hard for His cause. Thereafter Allah, Most High is Whose mention, commanded him to declare the excellence of the executor of his will and he said, 'My Lord, the Arabs are the most rude and unjust ones. They did not have any books with them, no prophet had come to them and they do not know the virtues of the prophecy of the prophets, peace be on them, and their honor. They will not believe me if I declare to them the excellence and virtues of my family.' Allah, Most Holy is the mention of Whose name, said, 'Do not be grieved about them. . . .' (16:127) '. . . We have told him, 'Ignore them and say to them "peace". They will soon know the consequences of their deeds.' (43:89) He (the Holy Prophet) mentioned the name of the executor of his will and hypocrisy crept into their (certain Arabs) hearts. The Messenger of Allah noticed it and whatever they were to say.

"Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, said, 'O Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, We know that what they say causes sadness to your heart. They, in fact, not only reject what you say, they refuse to accept the signs of Allah also.' (6:33) However, they refused to accept them without any good reason and authority. The Messenger of Allah would associate with them and seek the support of certain ones of them against the other ones among them. He would continue to express the excellence of the executor of his will to them from time to time until the following Chapter of the Holy Quran was revealed. He presented justifications against them when he was informed of death approaching and the news of his leaving this world. Allah, Most Holy is the mention of Whose name, said, 'When you are free from (your obligations), strive hard (to worship Allah) (94:7) and be devoted to your Lord's service.' (94:8) Allah in the above verse has said to His Messenger, 'When your duty is fulfilled then establish your mark and symbol and declare who the executor of the will, will be and speak to them of his excellence and virtues.' Thus, Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, declared, 'Over whomever I have Divine Authority, this Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, also has Divine Authority over them. O Lord, support those who will support him and be the enemy of those who are hostile to him. He said so three times.'

"He has further said, 'I will commission and send the man who loves Allah and His Messenger, and Allah and His Messenger love him. He is not the one who would run away from the battlefield.' In the above statement he points out also the one who returned from the gates of the castle (of the enemy) frightening and disheartening his own people.

"He has also said, 'Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, is the leader of the believers. Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, is the pillar of religion.' He has further said, 'This is the one who will strive against certain people with his sword to defend the truth, after me.' The Holy Prophet has also said, 'The truth is with Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, wherever he inclines.'

"The Holy Prophet has further said, 'I leave among you two facts, if you hold to them firmly, you will never be misled: the Book of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, and my family, my descendents. O people, listen. I have, certainly, preached the message to you. You will arrive at the pond of al-kawthar, (in paradise) and I will ask you about your dealings with the two illustrious matters. The two illustrious matters are the Book of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, and my family. Do not proceed ahead of them lest you be destroyed. Do not try to teach them; they are by far more knowledgeable than you are.'

"Al-Hujja (solid proof of Ali's Wilayah, his Divine Authority over the people after the Holy Prophet), was established through the words of the Holy Prophet and those of the Book that people read. He still continued to express the excellence and spiritual virtues of his family in words and explain with verses of the Holy Quran such as: 'People of the house, (Ahl AlBayt) Allah wants to remove all kinds of uncleanness from you and to purify you thoroughly.' (33:33) 'Take notice that whatever property you may gain, one fifth belongs to Allah, the Messenger, the kindred (his relatives). . .' (8:41) 'Give the relatives, (of the Holy Prophet) the destitute and those who when on a journey have become needy, their dues.' (17:26)

"It was Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and his right was to have, as the executor in his possession, the will of the Holy Prophet that gave him the Leadership with Divine Authority. The will assigned to him the custodianship of the greatest name, the legacy of knowledge and the symbols of knowledge of the prophet-hood. He (Allah) also has said, '(Muhammad), say, "I do not ask you for any payment for my preaching to you except (your) love of (my near) relatives. . . ."' (42:23) In, '. . . questions are asked about al-Maw'udah; translated as (the baby girls buried alive)' (81:8) He (Allah) in fact, says, 'I question you about al-Maw'udah, the love. I had told you about its great virtue. It was the love of the relatives (family of the Holy Prophet) but for what reason did you murder them (members of the family of the Holy Prophet)? He, Most Exalted is Whose mention, has said, 'Ask those who know about the heavenly Books if you do not know about this.' (16:43) He (Allah) has said that the Book is the reminder and the people of this reminder (the Book) are the Ahl al-Bayt of Muhammad, recipients of divine supreme covenant. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has commanded them (people) to ask Ahl al-Bayt for guidance. He has not commanded Ahl al-Bayt to ask the ignorant people. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has called the Holy Quran Dhikr (reminder), thus, He, the Most Holy, the Most High, has said, 'We have revealed the Quran to you so that you can tell the people what has been revealed to them and so that perhaps they will think.' (16:44) Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High has said, 'The Quran is a reminder to you and to your people and you will soon be asked for guidance.' (43:44) Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has also said, 'Believers, obey Allah, His Messenger, and your leaders (who possess Divine Authority). . . .’ (4:59) He, the Majestic, the Glorious, has said, ‘Had they referred it to (Allah), the Messenger of Allah or to their leaders, (who possess Divine Authority) they could have used that information more properly. Were it not for the favor and mercy of Allah, all but a few of them would have followed Satan.’ (4:83)

“The words ‘Had they referred’ in the above verse are the command referenced to in the matter and the task mentioned. People must refer in such tasks to those who possess Divine Authority among them. They are the people that Allah has commanded to be obeyed and referred to.

“When the Messenger of Allah returned from his farewell pilgrimage to the sacred House in Makka, Jibril descended to him and said, ‘Messenger, preach what is revealed to you from your Lord. If you will not preach, it will be as though you have not conveyed My message. Allah protects you from men. He does not guide the unbelieving people.’ (5:67) He (the Messenger of Allah) called the people to come together at one place and they did. He ordered that the thorns and bushes be removed from the ground to make room. He, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, ‘O people, who is your guardian with Divine Authority who has greater right and control over your souls than yourselves do?’ They said, ‘Allah and His Messenger have such authority.’ The Holy Prophet then said, ‘Over whomever I have Divine Authority, this Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, also has the same degree of authority. O Lord, support those who support him (Ali) and be the enemy of those who are his (Ali’s) enemies. He said this three times. This made the thorn of hypocrisy to go deeper into the hearts of a certain group of people who said, ‘Allah, Most Great is His name to mention, has never said any such thing to Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant. He wants only to lift up the shoulder of His cousin to promote him.’ When he arrived at Madina, the Ansar (Muslims of Madina) came to see him for a certain issue. They said, ‘O Messenger of Allah, Allah, Most great is the mention of Whose name, has granted us a great deal of favors. He has granted us honor in bringing you to this town among us. In so doing He has brought joy to the hearts of our friends and sorrow to our enemies. We know that many delegates come to see you and there is not enough to give them and the enemies call it degrading. We like very much if you accept one third of our properties so that when delegates from Makka come to see you, you will find enough means to accommodate them. The Messenger of Allah did not reply to them and he was waiting for Jibril to come from his Lord. Jibril descended and said, ‘. . .Muhammad, say, “I do not ask you for any payment for my preaching to you except (your) love of (my) near relatives. . .” (42:23) He did not accept their property. The hypocrites said, ‘Allah has not said this to Muhammad. He only wants to lift up the shoulder of his cousin to promote him. He is imposing his family upon us. Yesterday he said, “Over whomever I have Divine Authority, this Ali also has the same degree of Divine Authority over them” and today he says, ‘(Muhammad), say, “I do not ask you for any payment for my preaching to you except (your) love of (my) near relatives. . . .”’ (42:23)

“Thereafter came the verse of the Holy Quran about Khums (paying one fifth of net income as tax (see 8:41 Holy Quran). They said, ‘He wants only to take away our properties and interests.’ Then Jibril came and said, ‘O Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, you have completed the task of prophet-hood and the duration of your life is coming to a close. You, now, must place the greatest name, the legacy of the knowledge and the symbols of knowledge of prophet-hood with Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant. It is because I (Allah) do not want to leave the earth without having a scholar therein so that people will learn from him how to obey Me and know through him My guardianship and authority. The scholar will be the Divine Authority for those who come to be born at a time between the passing away of one prophet and the appearance of the next prophet.'

"The Imam said, 'He (Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, bequeathed to him (Imam Ali) the greatest name, the legacy of the knowledge and the symbols of knowledge of the prophet-hood. He also bequeathed to him a thousand words and a thousand chapters whereby there opened a thousand chapters and a thousand words from each chapter and each word.'"

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father and Salih ibn al-Sindi from Ja'far ibn Bashir from Yahya ibn Ma'mar al-'Attar from Bashir al-Dahhan from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"The Messenger of Allah during the illness from which he died said, 'Call my much cherished friend to me.' We sent to call the fathers of the two of them ('A'isha and Hafsa's fathers). When the Messenger of Allah looked at them he turned away from them. He then said again, 'Call my much cherished friend to me.' Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was then called. When the Messenger of Allah looked at him, he became engrossed in talking to him. When Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, left, the two met him and asked, 'What did your much cherished friend say to you?' He (Ali) replied, 'He narrated to me a thousand chapters from each of which a thousand chapters opened.'"

Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad from Muhammad ibn al-Walid, Shabab al-Sayrafi from Yunus ibn Ribat who has said the following:

"Once Kamil al-Tammar and I went to see abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, Kamil said to the Imam, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, there is a Hadith which so and so son of so and so has narrated.'

"The Imam said, 'State and read it.' He (Kamil) then said, 'He, so and so, narrated to me that the Holy Prophet narrated a thousand chapters to Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, on the day the Messenger of Allah died. Each of those chapters opens a thousand chapters. The total becomes a million chapters.' The Imam said, 'That is how it happened.' I then said, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, has this become manifest to your followers and those who love you?' The Imam said, 'O Kamil, only one or two chapters may have become so.' I then said, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, it means not more than one or two chapters out of a milliom chapter about your merits and excellence have become known to people.' The narrator has said that the Imam then said, 'You perhaps may not be able to narrate all our excellence and virtues. You do not narrate from our excellence and virtue but only a scattered thousand (items).'"

Al-Husayn ibn al-Hassan al-Hassani has narrated in a marfu' manner, rafa'ahu, and Muhammad ibn al-Hassan from Ibrahim ibn Ishaq al-Ahmari has narrated in a marfu' manner, rafa'ahu, the following:

"When (Amir al-Mu'minin) Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was injured the visitors crowded around him saying, 'O (Amir al-Mu'minin) Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, (please, grant us) your directive will.'

"The Imam then said, 'You must fold the pillow for me (to help me sit so I can speak).' He then said, 'All praise belongs to Allah, as He is worthy of it. We follow (obey) His commands. I praise Him just as He has loved it. No one deserves to be worshipped and obeyed except Allah, Who is One, the only One. The Self-sufficient is His own description of His Ownself. O people, every man, in his running away, comes face to face with the very thing from which he runs away so badly (namely his death). The appointed time (to die) is the driver of the soul to such time. In other words, running away from death is rushing to find it. How many days have come and gone in which I searched for the secret in this matter, however, Allah, the Majestic, the Glorious, disdains to do anything else, but to keep it secret. It certainly is beyond comprehension; it is hidden knowledge.'

"Of my directive will to you is that you must not consider anything similar to Allah, Great is Whose praise. You must not disregard the Sunnah (traditions) of Prophet Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant. Keep these two pillars straight and light up these two beacons. You will not face any blame as long as you do not disperse (but remain united). Every man is held responsible for what he assiduously gains. Ignorant, (the lay) people's burden is held light and reduced. The Lord is Merciful, the Imam is knowledgeable and religion is a constructive system. Yesterday I was your companion, today (I am) a lesson (one's death is the best lesson) for you to learn and tomorrow I will depart from you. If one's feet can remain firm at this slippery position (despite the fragility of life) then that is the goal. However, if the feet wavered (and failed to hang on to life) it is because we live under the shortlived shadows of the branches, in the blowing winds, under the thin cover of dissipating clouds in the air and disappearing traces (shrinking resources) on the land.

"I was your neighbor that lived along with you with my body for a number of days. You will soon escort my dead body (to the grave). It will be a motionless body that once moved, and a silent one that once spoke (so sweetly). My silence, my closed eyes and my motionless limbs must be thought of as the best preachers. They are far better preachers to you than an eloquent orator is. I have said farewell to you as the one who expects reunion. Tomorrow you will see my days and Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, will reveal my secrets. You will know me better when you find my place vacant and see others holding my position. If I survive I will be the authority for my own self but if I die then death is my destination. If I forgive (my assassin) then forgiveness is a means of getting closer (to Allah) and for you it is a good deed. You must forgive and ignore. Do you not like it that Allah will forgive you?

"How great is the sorrow for the neglectful one, whose life will be testimony for his own condemnation or his days lead him to misfortune. May Allah place you and us among those who do not fall short in life in matters of obedience to Allah due to their desire (to obey Him) or for fear of suffering after death. We are only for Him and with Him.'

"Then he turned to al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and said, 'My son, one strike for one strike, you will not be in sin.'"

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from Bakr ibn Salih (al-Kulayni has said) and a number of our people from ibn Ziyad from Muhammad ibn Sulayman al-Daylami from Harun ibn al-Jahm from Muhammad ibn Muslim who has said the following:

"I heard abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say, 'When al-Hassan ibn Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was about to leave this world he said to al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'O my brother, I want to entrust you with my directive will. (Please) safeguard and protect it. When I die prepare and help me toward (the Shrine of) the Messenger of Allah so I can renew my covenant with him, then help me toward (the grave of) my mother, recipient of divine supreme covenant.. Thereafter return me back for burial in Baqi' graveyard. You must be aware that 'A'isha will create problems for me. Allah and the people are aware of her deeds and her hostile attitude toward Allah and His Messenger and of her animosity toward us, Ahl al-Bayt (family) of the Holy Prophet.'

"When al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, passed away his body was placed on the stretcher (Sarir) and then the procession was led to the place where the Messenger of Allah prayed for the dead people readied for burial. Al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, performed the prayer

At this time Dhul ‘Aynayn (spy) went to ‘A’isha and told her, ‘They have brought al-Hassan’s body to bury near the Holy Prophet’s grave.’ She then came out quickly on the mule with saddle. She was the first woman in the Muslim community to ride on the saddle. She then said, ‘Take your son away from my house. He will not be buried in my house (where the Messenger of Allah is buried) to violate the privacy of the Messenger of Allah.’ Al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said to her, ‘A long time ago you and your father had violated the privacy of the Messenger of Allah. You brought to his house those whose nearness he did not love. Allah will hold you responsible for this O ‘A’isha.’”

Muhammad ibn al-Hassan and Ali ibn Muhammad have narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad from Muhammad ibn Sulayman al-Daylami from one of our people from al-Mufaddal ibn ‘Umar from abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

“When al-Hassan ibn Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was about to leave this world he said, ‘O Qanbar, see if there is any believer (in Islam) other than the members of the family of Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, behind your door.’ He (Qanbar) said, ‘Allah, His Messenger and the grandson of His Messenger know better than I do.’ The Imam said, ‘Call to me Muhammad ibn Ali.’ I (Qanbar) then went to him and when I was in his presence he said, ‘I hope nothing but good has happened.’ I said, ‘Hurry up, abu Muhammad wants to see you.’ He quickly put his shoes on and could not even wear them properly. He came out with me, running. When he arrived in the presence of al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, he offered his greeting. Al-Hassan ibn Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said to him, ‘Please, sit down. A person like you must not remain absent from hearing the words that can bring the dead to life and cause death to the living. You must be the containers of knowledge and the beacons of guidance. Certain forms of the lights of the day are brighter than others are.

“Is it not in your knowledge that Allah made the sons of Abraham ‘A’immah and granted to a few of them more excellence than to the others. He gave psalms to David and you know what kind of preference He granted to Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant.. O Muhammad ibn Ali, I fear for you of envy. Allah has said it to be of the characteristics of the unbelievers. Thus, Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has said, ‘. . . out of envy, take you back to disbelief, even after the Truth has become evident to them. . . .’ (2:109) Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has not given your control in the hands of Satan, O Muhammad ibn Ali. May I state what I heard your father say about you?’ He said, ‘Yes, I want to hear it.’ The Imam said, ‘I heard your father say on the day of Basra, “Whoever wants to do good to me in this life and in the next life he should do good to my son, Muhammad.” O Muhammad ibn Ali if you like, I can inform you of the time you were, potentially only, a person in the back of your father. O Muhammad ibn Ali, have you come to know that al-Husayn ibn Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, after I die and my spirit departs my body will be the Imam (Leader with Divine Authority) after me? There is his name before Allah, Most great is Whose name, in the Book and he is the heir of the Holy Prophet. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has added it to the inheritance for him from his father and mother. You are the chosen ones from His creatures. He selected Muhammad from among you and Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, selected Ali and Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, selected me for Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority). I have chosen al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, as the Imam (Leader with Divine Authority) after me.'

"Muhammad ibn Ali then said, 'You are my Imam (Leader with Divine Authority) and you are my connection to Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant. I swear by Allah, I wish I were dead before hearing these words from you. Certainly there are a great many facts in my head (about your excellence and virtues) that even with buckets cannot be drained and by the songs of the winds cannot be changed. It is like an encyclopedia with decorated pages. I am ready myself to speak them out but I find others have preceded me like the preceding of a heavenly book or what the messengers have brought. It is a book that exhausts the speaking tongue and the writing hand. I do not find enough pens to complete writing and it can turn all papers to ashes. Thus, there is no reach to your excellence and virtues. This is how Allah rewards those who do good deeds and there is no power without Allah.

"Al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, is the most knowledgeable among us, and his forbearance is the greatest among us in gravity. He is the closest to the Messenger of Allah among us in his relationship. He was a Faqih (scholar of Shari'a) before he was created. He has read the messages of the divine revelation before he would speak. Had Allah found anyone else better He would not have chosen Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, (to receive Divine Authority). Since Allah has chosen Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, chose Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and Ali chose you as the Imam (Leader with Divine Authority) and you have chosen al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, we accept and agree. Who is he that accepts a person other than him (al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant). Who is he that seeks assistance in his difficulties from a person other than him (al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant)?'"

Through the same chain of narrators it is narrated from Sahl from Muhammad ibn Sulayman from Harun ibn al-Jahm from Muhammad ibn Muslim who has said the following:

"I heard abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say, 'When al-Hassan) ibn Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was about to leave this world he said to al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'O my brother, I want to entrust you with my will. (Please) safeguard and protect it. When I die prepare and help me toward (the Shrine of) the Messenger of Allah so I can renew my covenant with him, then help me toward (the grave of) Fatimah, my mother, recipient of divine supreme covenant. Thereafter return me back for burial in Baqi' graveyard. You must be aware that al-Humayra ('A'isha) will create problems for me. People know her deeds and her hostile attitude toward Allah and His Messenger and her animosity toward us, Ahl al-Bayt (family) of the Holy Prophet.' When al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, passed away his body was placed on the stretcher and then the procession was led to the place where the Messenger of Allah prayed for the dead people readied for burial. supreme covenant, performed the prayer therein for al-Hassan and then the body was taken to the Mosque. When (the procession) paused near the grave of the Messenger of Allah news reached ‘A’isha and she was told, ‘They have brought al-Hassan’s body to bury near the Messenger of Allah.’ She then came out quickly on the mule with saddle. She was the first woman in the Muslim community to ride on the saddle. She stood and then said, ‘Take your son away from my house. Nothing will be buried in my house and the privacy of the Messenger of Allah be violated.’

“Al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said to her, ‘A long time ago you and your father had violated the privacy of the Messenger of Allah. You brought to his house those whose nearness the Messenger of Allah did not love. Allah will hold you responsible for this O ‘A’isha. My brother commanded me to place him near his grandfather, the Messenger of Allah, so he can renew his covenant with him. You, O ‘A’isha, must know that my brother is the most knowledgeable person about Allah and His messenger. He is by far the most knowledgeable one in interpreting the Book of Allah. He does not disregard the privacy of the Messenger of Allah. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, says, “. . . do not enter the houses of the Prophet for a meal without permission, . . .” (33:53) but you have admitted into the house of the Messenger of Allah men without his permission. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has said, ‘. . . do not raise your voices above the voice of the Prophet. . . .’ (49:2) I swear, it was you who constructed a construction and used picks for your father and his Faruq (discerning) near the ears of the Messenger of Allah. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has said, “The hearts of those who lower their voices in the presence of the Messenger of Allah are tested by Allah through piety. . . .” (49:3) I swear, your father and his Faruq coming so close, (the two are buried near the grave of the Messenger of Allah), have brought trouble for the Messenger of Allah. The two of them did not maintain any respect for the Messenger of Allah, when Allah had commanded them, through the words of His Messenger, to maintain. What Allah has made unlawful about a believer who is dead He has also made unlawful about a living believer. I swear by Allah, O ‘A’isha, if the burial of al-Hassan that you dislike to take place near his grandfather, the Messenger of Allah would have been permissible in our view and by Allah, you would have seen it to happen before your eyes, despite your opposition.’

“The narrator has said that Muhammad ibn al-Hanafiya then spoke and said, ‘O ‘A’isha, one day you ride a mule and the other day you rode a camel. You do not control yourself. You cannot own the earth to keep your animosity against banu Hashim.’

“The narrator has said that she then turned to him and said, ‘O ibn al-Hanafiya, these are the sons of Fatimah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who speak. What for do you speak?’

“Al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said to her, ‘Which way do you want to distance Muhammad from the sons of Fatimah, recipient of divine supreme covenant? Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Muhammad ibn al-Husayn and Ahmad ibn Muhammad from Muhammad ibn Isma'il from Mansur ibn Yunus from abu al-Jarud from abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"When al-Husayn ibn Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was about to leave this world he called his eldest daughter, Fatimah, and gave her a sealed document openly before the people. It was his will. Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was ill with a certain internal illness and the people could see him about to die. Fatimah then gave the document to Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant. Thereafter, that document, by Allah, came to us, O Ziyad. The narrator has said, 'I asked the Imam, "What is in that document, may Allah keep my soul in service for your cause?"' The Imam said, 'In it, by Allah, there is all that the children of Adam needed from the day Allah created Adam to the end of the world. In it, by Allah, there is the law of penalties and even the rules of compensation for a scratch on the body of the affected party.'" offered his greeting, then he held the hand of abu Ja‘far, recipient of divine supreme covenant. He took him aside for privacy and said, ‘The Messenger of Allah informed me that I will find myself with a man from Ahl al-Bayt (family the Holy Prophet, recipients of divine supreme covenant) who will be called “Muhammad ibn Ali, also called abu Ja‘far (father of Ja‘far). When I will meet him I must convey to him greetings from him (the Messenger of Allah).’ When abu Ja‘far returned to the meeting, he sat near his father, Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and his brothers. When the Imam performed the Maghrib prayer (the prayer at sunset), Ali ibn al-Husayn asked abu Ja‘far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, ‘What did Jabir ibn ‘Abd Allah al-Ansari say to you?’ He (abu Ja’far) said, ‘Jabir said that the Messenger of Allah said to him the following, “You will soon find yourself with a man from my Ahl al-Bayt, (family) whose name is Muhammad ibn Ali, also called abu Ja‘far (father of Ja‘far). Convey my greetings of peace to him.” His father (abu Ja‘far’s father) then said, ‘Success for you, my son, for what Allah has granted to you exclusively through His messenger from among the members of your family. Do not tell it to your brothers, lest they may plan against you as the brothers of Joseph did.’”

He (the Imam) said, 'You must seek refuge with and guidance from the man who has two pieces of yellow clothes on him and a twined bunch of hair, who will shortly appear to you from this door, opening both halves of the door with his both hands.' Then I asked, "What if something will happen to his son who will leave behind an elder brother and a son, then whom should I follow?' He said, 'Follow his son.'

Then he said, ‘In this way forever.’ I then asked, ‘What if I will not know him and will not know his place?’ The Imam said, ‘Say, “O Lord, I love and take as my guardian whoever is left (on earth) as Your Authority of the sons of the preceding Imam.” This will be enough for you if Allah may so will.’”

Hisham tapped his forehead with his palm and said, ‘Fie up on you! How did you say it?’ Ali ibn Yaqtin said, ‘I heard, by Allah, from him just as I said.’ Hisham then asked, ‘Did he (Imam Musa, recipient of divine supreme covenant) inform you that after him the task (Leadership with Divine Authority) will be with him (his son)?’”

Makka) and I said, ‘May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, do you remember this place where we are now?’ He said, ‘Yes, but do you remember it?’ I said, ‘Yes, my father and I met you at this place with abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and your brothers were also present. My father said to him, ‘May Allah keep my soul and the souls of my parents in service for your cause, all of you are purified 'A'immah. However, no one is immune from death. Instruct me with a few things that I may say to my predecessors so that they may not go astray.’

“The Imam said, ‘Yes, O abu ‘Abd Allah, I will tell you what you need. These are my sons and this one is their master. He pointed to you. He said that you have been taught laws, understanding, generosity, the knowledge of whatever people need, and how to settle their disputes in the matters of religion and worldly matters. In him there are good moral qualities and good answers. He is a gate of the gates of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, and in him there is another quality that is better than all of these.’

“My father asked, ‘What is that quality, may Allah keep my soul and the souls of my parents in service for your cause?’ The Imam said, ‘Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, will bring about from him the savior of this ’Umma and her blossom, her banner, her light, distinction in excellence and her wisdom. He will be the best child and the best flourishing. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, will spare through him lives, bring peace among the hostile parties, harmonize the divisiveness, fill the gap of differences, clothe the naked, feed the hungry and give protection to the frightened ones. Through him Allah will send down rain and mercy to the servants. He will be the best as an aged man and the best of the flourishing ones. His words will be rules and his silence knowledge. He will clarify for people their differences and he will administer his relative (associates) before his age of puberty.’

“My father asked, ‘May Allah keep my soul and the souls of my parents in service for your cause, is he yet born?’ The Imam said, ‘Yes, he is born and several years have passed.’ Yazid has said, ‘At this point a person came and in his presence we could not speak.’

“Yazid has said that I then said to abu Ibrahim, recipient of divine supreme covenant, ‘Inform me just as your father informed you.’ The Imam said, ‘Yes, I can do so. My father lived in a time that was not like this time.’ I said, ‘Whoever contents himself with only this much (of your words) then, may Allah’s condemnation be upon him.’ He (Yazid) has said, ‘The Imam laughed quite intensely.’ Then he said, ‘O abu ‘Umara, I can inform you that when I came out of my house, I gave my will to my son, so and so. In public I allowed my other sons to take part in my instructions with him but I gave my will to him in private and wanted him to be alone. Had it been up to myself I would have placed my will with my son al-Qasim because of my love and sympathy for him. However, it is up to Allah, the Most Holy, and the Most High, who places it (Leadership with Divine Authority) wherever He wants. The messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has brought me this information. He showed him to me as well as the people who will be with him. Such it is with us. No one of us places his will with anyone until the Messenger of Allah brings its news, and so did my great, great, great, great grandfather Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant. With the Messenger of Allah I saw a ring, a sword, a staff, a book and a turban. I asked, ‘What is it, O

Messenger of Allah?' He replied, 'The turban is the authority of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High. The sword is the majesty of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High. The book is the light of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High. The staff is the power of Allah. The ring consists of all the above matters.' Then he said to me, 'The task (Leadership with Divine Authority) has left you for one other than you.' I then said, 'O Messenger of Allah, show me which of them is he.' The Messenger of Allah said, 'I have not seen any of 'A'immah more impatient for the departure of this task from them more than you are. Had Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority) been based on love, Isma'il had been more beloved to your father than you were. However, that is from Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High.

"Then abu Ibrahim said, 'I saw all of my sons, the living and the dead. Amir al-Mu'minin, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said to me, 'This one is their master, and he pointed to my son Ali, (al-Rida). Thus, he is from me and I am from him and Allah is with the people of good deeds.'

"Yazid has said that abu Ibrahim, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, 'O Yazid, this is a trust with you. Do not inform about it anyone other than a person of reason or a servant (of Allah) whom you know is truthful. If you will be asked to testify to it you must do so as Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has said, 'Allah commands you to return that which had been entrusted to you, to the rightful owners. . . .' (4:58) He also has asked, 'Who is more unjust than one who refuses to testify to the truth that Allah has given to him . . .?'(2:140)

"He has said that abu Ibrahim, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, 'I then went close to the Messenger of Allah and asked, 'May Allah keep my soul and the souls of my parents in service for your cause, you have mentioned them in a plural form. Which one of them is he (the Imam)?' The Messenger of Allah said, 'It is he who sees with the light of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, hears with His undersrstanding and speaks with His wisdom. He finds the truth without making mistakes. He knows, thus, he is not ignorant. He is taught the rules and knowledge. He is this, and he held the hand of my son, Ali.' Then he said, 'How little is (the time) you will be with him! When you will return from your journey (to Makka), prepare your will, organize your affairs and complete whatever you intended to complete. You are about to move away from them to become the neighbors of people other than them. When you will make such a decision, call Ali (al-Rida) to give you a bath and shroud you; it will cleanse you and anything otherwise will not be acceptable (other people giving you a bath). This is a well-established tradition of the past. Thereafter lie on your back before him and line up his brothers and uncles behind him and then command him to say Allahu Akbar (Allah is the Most Great) nine times over you. This establishes his position as the executor of your will and as your guardian when you still are alive. Then call all of your sons after them to bear the testimony and ask Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, to bear testimony, and Allah is a sufficient witness.

"Yazid has said that abu Ibrahim, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said to me, 'In this year I will be taken (to the next life) and the task (of Leadership with Divine Authority) will rest with my son Ali synonymous with Ali and Ali, recipients of divine supreme covenant. The first Ali is Ali ibn abu Talib and the other Ali is Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipients of divine supreme covenant. He has received the intelligence like the first Ali, forbearance like him, a victory like him and sufferings like his sufferings. He also has received a suffering like the other Ali, a patience like him against disappointments, and he must not speak soon after the death of Harun at least for four years.'

"The Imam said, 'O Yazid, whenever you will pass through this place and meet him, and you will soon meet him, give him the glad news of the birth of a trustworthy son to him, a protected and Holy one. He will inform you of your meeting with me. You then inform him that the girl from whom this boy will be born is a girl from the family of Mary (Ma'ria), the maiden girl of the Messenger of Allah, mother of Ibrahim. If you will be able to convey my greetings of peace to her, please do so.'

"Yazid has said, 'After the death of abu Ibrahim, recipient of divine supreme covenant, I met Ali (al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant) and he began to speak to me.' He said, 'O Yazid, what do you say about performing 'Umra (visit to Makka out of Hajj season)?' I said, 'May Allah keep my soul and the souls of my parents in service for your cause; it will be as you will decide. I do not have the means to journey.'

"The Imam said, 'Glory belongs to Allah, we would not have asked you without first taking responsibility for your expenses.' We then left for 'Umra until we reached that place. The Imam began to speak and he said, 'This is the place wherein you meet your neighbors and uncles very often.' I said, 'Yes, it is true and then I related to him the story (about his father).'

"He then said to me, 'The girl has not come yet. When she will come I will convey his greetings to her.' Then we left for Makka and he bought her that year (people in those days bought and sold slaves). Shortly afterwards she gave birth to that boy (the news of whose birth was given by his grandfather).

"Yazid has said, 'The brothers of Ali (al-Rida) wanted to have a part in the leadership and they became my enemies without good reason. Ishaq ibn Ja'far told them, by Allah, I have seen him sit so near to abu Ibrahim, recipient of divine supreme covenant, that even I could not sit so close.'"

Ahmad ibn Mihran has narrated from Muhammad ibn Ali from abu al-Hakam who has said that 'Abd Allah ibn Ibrahim al-Ja'fari and 'Abd Allah ibn Muhammad ibn 'Umara both from Yazid ibn Salit who has said the following:

"When abu Ibrahim, recipient of divine supreme covenant, prepared his will, he called the following people to bear testimony. They were Ibrahim ibn Muhammad (ibn Ali ibn 'Abd Allah ibn Ja'far ibn abu Talib) al-Ja'fari, (his brother) Ishaq ibn Muhammad al-Ja'fari, Ishaq ibn Ja'far ibn Muhammad (the brother of al-Imam Musa, recipient of divine supreme covenant), Ja'far ibn Salih (ibn Mu'awiya ibn 'Abd Allah ibn Ja'far ibn abu Talib), (his brother) Mu'awiya al-Ja'fari, Yahya ibn al-Husayn ibn Zayd ibn Ali (Zayn al-'Abidin, recipient of divine supreme covenant), Sa'd ibn 'Imran al-Ansari, Muhammad ibn al-Harith al-Ansari, Yazid ibn Salit al-Ansari, and Muhammad ibn Ja'far ibn Sa'd al-Aslami who has said the following:

"Sa'd al-Aslami recorded the text of the first will as herein below: 'I ask them to witness and bear testimony that he testifies that there is no Lord except Allah Who is the only Lord Who has no partner and that Muhammad is His servant and His Messenger. The coming of the Hour (of Judgment) after death is true. The warning is true and that all people will be held responsible for their actions is true. The decree is true and the standing of people before Allah for judgment is true. All (guidance) that Prophet Muhammad has brought is true. All that the (great) trustworthy Spirit has descended with is true. I live with such beliefs and I die with such beliefs. I will be resurrected with such beliefs if Allah so wills. I ask them (witnesses) to bear testimony to the fact that this is my will, with my own handwriting. I have copied the will of my great, great, great, great, great grandfather (Amir al-Mu'minin) Ali ibn abu Talib, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and the will of Muhammad ibn Ali before it I had copied word for word, and the will of Ja'far ibn Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, similarly. In my will I have directed my son Ali and, afterwards, my sons with him, if he would so agree, find understanding in them and want to confirm them for the task. It will all be up to him. However, if he would dislike them and want to remove them, it will also be up to his discretion, and they will have no say against him. In my will I have given certain instructions to him about all of my charities, properties, my Mawali (slaves), my children that I leave behind, and my sons, and to Ibrahim, al-'Abbass, Qasim, Isma'il, Ahmad and mother of Ahmad. Up to Ali will be the affairs of my ladies, not up to them (other people). One third of the charities of my father and two thirds of my charities will be at his (Ali's) disposal to deal with, as he may deem proper. He, just as an owner, will deal with them in whatever way he may like. He may, if he will so decide, sell, gift, grant or give as charity to those I have specified or others. It will all be up to him. He is just as myself in my will, property, my family and my children. He may confirm his brothers (to take part in the affairs of the will) whom I have specified in this document. However, if he dislikes he can remove them from the task without it being any offense or unacceptability on his part. If he will find any changes in their attitude, which would be other than those in which I left them, and he would want to return them as in charge persons of a certain task, it will be up to him to do so. If any one of them will want to give his sister in marriage to someone, he may not do so without his permission; he is the most knowledgeable one in the matters of the marriage of his people, his relatives. Any Sultan (ruler) or other individual who would refuse him a thing, or create an obstacle for him, in the matters that I have mentioned in this document of my will, or in the matters of any of the people I have mentioned in it, such Sultan or individual will become far away from Allah and His Messenger. The later ones will become far away from him. Such a person will be subject to the condemnation and anger of Allah, those who (have the right to) condemn, the angels close to Allah, the prophets, the messengers and all the believers.

"No Sultan will have the right to prevent him from carrying the task of his executing my will. I neither demand anything from him nor have any complaints against him. No one of my sons has any property with me. He is the one to verify what is mentioned in the will. In all shortages and excessive matters he is the authority to judge. My including certain ones of my sons, in the matters of dealing with my will with him, is just to respect and honor them.

"The mothers of my children will be maintained just as they were in my lifetime, provided they observe Hijab (modest dress) and if he would consider it proper. If any of them remarries then she has no right to return to my place except if Ali decides otherwise. The same conditions apply to my daughters. No one of the brothers, real or half, will have the right to give any of my daughters in marriage. Also no Sultan or uncle will have any such right without his (Ali's) approval and agreement. If they would do otherwise, they have opposed Allah and His Messenger and they have rebelled against Him in His own dominion. He (Ali al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant), knows best about the marriage of his people, his relatives. If he will decide to give in marriage he may do so, and if he will decide to refuse he may refuse. I have recommended my daughters with similar recommendation as I have recorded in this document of my will. I have appointed Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, as the witness to bear testimony to the facts (about my daughters). He and the mother of Ahmad are two witnesses to bear testimony to this fact. No one has the right to open the document of my will or publicize if different from what I have said and specified. Whoever does evil it is against hisown self and whoever does good deeds it is for his own good. Your Lord is not unjust to anyone. May Allah send blessings up on Muhammad and his family. A Sultan or individual must not open or tear this document of my will, which I have signed below. Whoever will do so will be subject to the condemnation and anger of Allah and those who condemn of the angels close to Allah, all the messengers of Allah, all the believers and Muslims. This applies to those who may forcefully open this document of my will. Written and sealed by abu Ibrahim, recipient of divine supreme covenant, May Allah send His blessings up on Muhammad and his family."

Abu al-Hakam has said that abu 'Abd Allah ibn Adam al-Ja'fari narrated to me from Yazid ibn Salit the following:

"Abu 'Imran al-Talhi was a judge in Madina. When Musa, recipient of divine supreme covenant, passed away Ali al-Rida's brothers brought him before the judge, abu 'Imran al-Talhi. Al-'Abbass ibn Musa said, 'May Allah keep you well and allow people to benefit from you. At the bottom of this document there are (mentioned) treasures and pearls and he wants to hide and keep them for himself without us. My father, may Allah grant him blessings, has left nothing that is free from being referred to him. He has left us all poor. Had I not controlled myself I would have told you something in public.' At such time Ibrahim ibn Muhammad rushed toward him asking, 'Will you speak up about a thing that no one of us will accept or believe? You will then be blamed and defeated among us. We know that you have been lying when still young and when you grew up. Your father knew you very well. If there was anything good in you even though he knew you inside and out, he would not trust you even with two pieces of date.'

"At this time Ishaq ibn Ja'far, his uncle, rushed toward him and grabbed both sides of his collar saying, 'It shows that you are foolish and feeble minded altogether, in addition to your poor performance yesterday,' and all others supported him. Abu 'Imran, the judge then said to Ali (al-Rida), recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'Stand up O abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant. Your father's condemnation upon me is enough damnation for me today. He has certainly given you a wide range of authority. By Allah, no one knows a person better than his father does. By Allah, abu 'Abd Allah to us was not a light-minded person, or weak in his opinions.'

"Al-'Abbass then said to the judge, 'May Allah keep you well, open the document and read what is below therein.' Abu 'Imran said, 'I will not open it. The condemnation of your father is enough damnation for me today.'Al-'Abbass said, 'I will tear it down.' He said, 'That is up to you.'

"Al-'Abbass then removed the seal and they found themselves all removed as executors of the will and the confirmation of Ali (al-Rida), recipient of divine supreme covenant, as the sole executor of the will. They found out therein the appointment of Ali (al-Rida), recipient of divine supreme covenant, as their guardian (with Divine Authority), whether they liked or disliked it. They also found out therein that they were all removed from the list of the recipients of charities and other benefits. Opening the document turned out to be a misfortune, disgrace and humiliation to them. It proved to be very good for Ali (al-Rida), recipient of divine supreme covenant. In the will from which al-'Abbass removed the seal, the following names were the signatories:

"Ibrahim ibn Muhammad, Ishaq ibn Ja'far, Ja'far ibn Salih and Sa'id ibn 'Imran were the ones who uncovered the face of the mother of Ahmad (who was brought) in the presence of the judge, qadi, using as an excuse the claim that she was not mother of Ahmad, until they had uncovered her face and was recognized. Whereupon she said, 'By Allah, my master (husband) said, 'You will be compelled to go before a judge.'

"Ishaq ibn Ja'far admonished her, saying, 'Be quiet, women suffer from weakness. I do not think he has said any such thing.' Ali (al-Rida), recipient of divine supreme covenant, then turned to al-'Abbass and said, 'My brother, I understand that debts and liabilities upon you have forced you to this. O Sa'id come with me so we can help. Tell me how much they owe so we can pay for them. By Allah, I will not fail to help you and cooperate with you as long as I will walk on earth. You may say whatever you like.'

"Al-'Abbass then said, 'You are not giving us anything other than the extra of our own properties which are with you. In fact, our properties with you are more than that.' He (Ali al-Rida), recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'Say whatever you want. Honor is your own honor. If you do good it will be for your own selves before Allah, and if you do evil Allah is forgiving, (and) merciful. By Allah, you know that today I have no son and heir other than you. If I will keep anything that you think I might have kept away from you or stored it in hiding, it will be for you and will return to you. By Allah, from the day your father, may Allah be pleased with him, left this world, I have not owned anything but that I have disposed of it as you have seen.'

"Al-'Abbass moved forward and said, 'By Allah, it is not so. Allah has not imposed any of your opinions on us. Only our father was jealous against us. His decisions are neither justifiable before Allah nor are your decisions. You know that I know Safwan ibn Yahya who sells al-Sabiry (fine fabrics) in Kufa. If you admit I can make it very difficult for both of you to swallow your saliva.'

"Ali (al-Rida), recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, 'There is no means and no power except with Allah, the Most Holy, the Most Great. My brothers, I am very keen to see you happy. Allah knows it. O Lord, You know best that if I love to see them prosper, do good to them, maintain good relations with them, show kindness to them, then help me day and night and reward me for my efforts. Otherwise, You are the One who knows the hidden facts, then reward me for what I deserve, good for good and evil for evil. O Lord, grant them well-being and grant well-being through them. Make Satan despair about us. Help them to obey You and grant them the opportunity to learn Your guidance. My brothers, I wish and work to make you happy and strive for your well being. Allah guards whatever we say.'

Muhammad ibn al-Hassan has narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad from Muhammad ibn Ali and 'Ubayd Allah ibn al-Marzuban from (Muhammad) ibn Sinan who has said the following:

"Once I went to see abu al-Hassan Musa, recipient of divine supreme covenant, one year before he would leave for Iraq. His son Ali (al-Rida), recipient of divine supreme covenant, was also in the meeting. He looked at me and said, 'O Muhammad, during this year a movement will take place but do not allow it to disturb you.'

"I then asked the Imam, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, what will that be? What you said has made me very anxious.' The Imam said, 'I will journey to the tyrant. From him and one after him I will not suffer any serious harm.' I then asked the Imam, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, what then will happen?' The Imam said, 'Allah causes the unjust to go astray and He does whatever He wills.'

"I then asked the Imam, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, what is it that will happen?' The Imam said, 'Whoever will do injustice to my son, (Ali al-Rida), reject his Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority) after me will be like doing injustice to Ali ibn abu Talib, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and reject his Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority) after the Messenger of Allah.'

"I then said to the Imam, 'By Allah, if Allah will grant me a long life I will acknowledge his right and affirm his Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority).'

"The Imam said, 'You have spoken the truth, O Muhammad. Allah will grant you a long life. You will acknowledge his right and affirm his Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority), and the Imamat of the one after him.' I then asked the Imam, 'Who will he be?' The Imam said, 'He will be Muhammad, his son.' I then said to the Imam, 'I agree and accept (his Leadership with Divine Authority).'"

Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad from Muhammad ibn al-Walid from Yahya ibn Habib al-Zayyat who has said the following:

"A man who was present in a meeting (of people) with abu al-Hassan al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, spoke to me of the following information: 'When people readied themselves to leave the meeting, the Imam said to them, 'Meet abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, (before you leave) offer to him greeting of peace and renew your covenant with him.' When they left, he (the Imam) said to me, 'May Allah grant well being to al-Mufaddal. He, even without it (the command to renew their covenant), would have accepted this matter (Leadership with Divine Authority of the succeeding Imam).'"

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from Mu'ammar ibn Khallad who has said the following:

"I heard (abu al-Hassan) al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who said something about (Leadership with Divine Authority) and then said, 'I do not think you need what I just said. This is abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant. I have placed him in my own place to assume my position. We are of the family (Ahl al-Bayt) whose younger ones inherit from elder ones everything exactly and of equal measure.'"

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from Ja'far ibn Yahya from Malik ibn Ashyam from al-Husayn ibn Bashshar who has said the following:

"Ibn Qiyaman wrote a letter to abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, in which he had asked, 'How can you be an Imam when you do not have a son?'

"Abu al-Hassan al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, replied to him with signs of anger, 'How do you know that I will not have a son? By Allah, not many days and nights will pass before Allah will grant me a male child and through him He will make the truth distinct from falsehood.'"

٤- عدةٌ من أصحابنا عن أحمد بن محمدٍ عن جعفر بن يحيى عن مالك بن أشيم عن الحسين بن بشارٍ قال كتب ابن قياما إلى أبي الحسن ع كتاباً يقول فيه كيف تكون إماماً و ليس لك ولد فأجابه أبو الحسن الرضا ع شبه المغضب و ما علمك أنه لا يكون لي ولد و الله لا تمضي الأيام و الليالي حتى يرزقني الله ولداً ذكراً يفرق به بين الحق و الباطل

Ahmad ibn Mihran has narrated from Muhammad ibn Ali from Mu'ammar ibn Khallad who has said the following:

"Once in the presence of abu al-Hassan (al-Rida), recipient of divine supreme covenant, we spoke about an issue, Imamat, (Leadership with Divine Authority). It was after the birth of abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant.. The Imam said, 'You do not need any such thing (thinking who the Imam will be). "Once I went to see Ali ibn Musa, recipient of divine supreme covenant. (During the meeting) I asked him, 'Can there be more than one Imam, such as two, at the same time?' He replied, 'No, one of them must remain silent.' I then said to him, 'This applies to you. You are the Imam and there is no silent Imam with you.' At that time his son abu Ja'far was not yet born. He said to me,

The Imam placed him in my lap and said to me, 'Move his shirt aside.' When I did so, the Imam said, 'Look in between his shoulders.' I looked and I found in the skin of one shoulder something like an imprint of a seal. The Imam then asked, 'Do you see this? Similar to this there was one in the shoulder of my father.'"

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from Safwan ibn Yahya who has said the following:

"Once I said to al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, before Allah's granting you the blessing of the birth of abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, we would ask you and you would say, 'Allah will grant me a son,' and He has granted you one. His birth is the delight of our eyes. May Allah spare us from experiencing your (sad) day. However, if something will happen, to whom then will it (Leadership with Divine Authority) go?' The Imam pointed out with his hand toward abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and he was standing before him. I then asked, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, a child of three years?'

"The Imam said, 'That will be of no harm to him. Jesus rose with Divine Authority when he was a three year old child.'"

Grace him with passing your hand over his head and pray for him. He is your Mawla (dependent).' The Imam said, 'He is a Mawla (dependent) of abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant. Send him tomorrow to him (abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant).'"

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from Muhammad ibn Ahmad al-Nahdi from Muhammad ibn Khallad al-Sayqal from Muhammad ibn al-Hassan ibn 'Ammar who has said the following:

"Once I was in a meeting with Ali ibn Ja'far ibn Muhammad in Madina. I stayed with him for two years to write down what he had heard from his brother, abu al-Hassan (al-Rida), recipient of divine supreme covenant. At such time abu Ja‘far Muhammad ibn Ali al-Rida, recipients of divine supreme covenant, came in the mosque, the mosque of the Messenger of Allah. Ali ibn Ja‘far rushed toward him barefoot and without his gown. He kissed his hand and showed great respect for him. Abu Ja‘far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said to him, ‘Uncle, please sit down, may Allah grant you well being.’ He asked, ‘My master, how can I sit when you are standing?’ When Ali ibn Ja‘far returned to his place his companions began to blame him, saying, ‘You are the uncle of his father, how can you act as such before him?’ He said to them, ‘Calm down, when Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, has not qualified this beard, holding his beard in his hand, but has qualified this young man and has given him such position, should I then deny his excellence and virtue? I seek refuge before Allah from what you say. In fact, I am a servant for him.’”

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from al-Khayrani, from his father who has said the following:

“Once I was standing before abu al-Hassan (al-Rida), recipient of divine supreme covenant, in Khurasan and someone asked him, ‘O my master, if something will happen, to whom will it (Leadership with Divine Authority) go?’ The Imam said, ‘It will go to abu Ja‘far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, my son.’ The person asking the question thought of abu Ja‘far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, as very young for such task. Abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, sent Jesus, son of Mary as a messenger, a prophet and the owner of a whole legal system. He began his task when he was younger in age than abu Ja‘far, recipient of divine supreme covenant.’”

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father and Ali ibn Muhammad al-Qasani all from Zakariyya ibn Yahya ibn al-Nu‘man al-Sayrafi who has said the following:

“I heard Ali ibn Ja‘far speaking to al-Hassan ibn al-Husayn ibn Ali ibn al-Husayn as follows, ‘By Allah, Allah has supported abu al-Hassan al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant.’ Al-Hassan then said, ‘Yes, by Allah, may Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, his brothers have rebelled against him.’ Ali ibn Ja‘far then said, ‘Yes, by Allah, and we, his uncles, rebelled against him.’ Al-Hassan said to him, ‘May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, how did you deal with it, I was not present with you?’

“He said, ‘His brothers said to him and so did we, “There has never been an Imam with a dark complexion from us.”’ Then al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said to them, ‘He is my son.’ They said, ‘Messenger of Allah did judge on the basis of physiognomy, thus, we can also have a judgment on that basis.’ The Imam said, ‘You may call one who knows physiognomy, but I will not do so. You should not give information about why you have called them. You must stay home. When they will come, we should, all of us, be in the garden. His uncles, brothers and sisters should all line up.’

“They dressed al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, in a gown made of wool with a hat of wool on his head and a spade in his hand. They asked the Imam to act as the gardener in the garden. Then abu Ja‘far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was brought in and they asked them (physiognomists) to find his father in the people present. They said, ‘His father is

1 - Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father that 'Isma'il ibn Mihran who has said the following:

"When abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, left Madina for Baghdad, the first time of his two journeys, on his leaving I said to him, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, I am afraid about your condition. To whom, after you, will belong the task (Leadership with Divine Authority)?'

"He turned to me laughing and said, 'The disappearance, as you have thought, will not take place this year.' When he was about to be taken to al-Mu'tasam, (179/795-Caliph 218/833-227/841), for the second time I went to him and said, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause. You are leaving. To whom, after you, will go this task (Leadership with Divine Authority)?' He wept and tears soaked his beard. He then turned to me and said, 'This time you should be afraid for my life. The task (Leadership with Divine Authority) after me will rest with my son Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant.'"

2 - Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from al-Khayrani who has narrated from his father the following:

"My father was a security guard at the door of the house of abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, to serve the task for which he was assigned. Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Isa would come every day at dawn for information about the health of abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant.

H 838, Ch. 74, h 2

“A messenger would come and go between abu Ja‘far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and my father. Upon the arrival of the messenger Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn ‘Isa would leave and my father would remain with him (the messenger) privately. One night I went out and Ahmad also left the meeting. My father and the messenger remained in complete privacy. Ahmad, however, walked around the meeting place in such a way that he could hear the conversation.

“The messenger said to my father, ‘Your master sends you greetings of peace and says to you, “I am leaving this world and the task (Leadership with Divine Authority) goes to my son, Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant. His rights upon you after me will be just as my rights upon you after my father.”’

“The messenger then left and Ahmad came back to his place asking, ‘What did he say to you?’ My father said, ‘He said good things.’ Ahmad said, ‘I heard what he just said to you. Why do you hide it?’ He then stated all that he had heard. My father said to him, ‘Allah has made it (what he just did) unlawful; Allah, the Most High, has said, “Do not spy. . . .” (49:12) However, you must keep this trust (the testimony), perhaps we will need it one day, but you must not make it public before the proper time.’ In the morning my father wrote down the text of the message (and placed it) in ten sealed envelops. He sent them to the leaders of the community. He wrote to them, ‘If my death may take place before I will ask you about this message, you may open to learn about it.’

“My father has mentioned that when abu Ja‘far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, left this world, he did not come out of his home until about four hundred people had expressed their belief with certainty in abu al-Hassan, Ali ibn Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, as their Imam (Leader with Divine Authority). The leaders in the community gathered together in the house of Muhammad ibn al-Faraj consulting each other about this task (Leadership with Divine Authority). Muhammad ibn al-Faraj then wrote to my father to inform him of the gathering at his house. He said that had it not been for fear of publicity he would have personally come to my father and asked him to join (them). My father rode and went to him. He found the community gathered at his place. They asked my father, ‘What do you say about this issue (of Leadership with Divine Authority)?’ My father asked for a copy of the text of the message from those whom he had sent one. They were brought and he said, ‘This is what I was commanded to do.’

“Certain persons of them then said, ‘We would have loved if you had asked another person also to bear witness and testimony to this fact.’ He (my father) then said, ‘Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, has, in fact, brought for you such witness. This is abu Ja‘far al-Ash’ari (Ahmad ibn ‘Isa) who can testify to my hearing this message.’ He asked him to testify but Ahmad denied his hearing the message as such. My father then asked him for a mubahala (disputing party’s pleading before Allah to condemn the untrue party). He has said that when the case was proved against Ahmad he then said, ‘Yes, I did hear the message and it is an honor. I loved that it should go to an Arab man and not to a non-Arab person (al-Khayrani was a non-Arab). Upon this the people there acknowledged the truth altogether.’” from Muhammad ibn al-Husayn al-Wasiti who has said the following:

"I heard Ahmad ibn abu Khalid, stating that he (the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant) had appointed him as witness to bear testimony to his documented will in the following words:

"'Ahmad ibn abu Khalid, the slave of abu Ja'far, bears testimony that abu Ja'far, Muhammad ibn Ali ibn Musa ibn Ja'far ibn Muhammad ibn Ali ibn al-Husayn ibn Ali ibn abu Talib, recipients of divine supreme covenant, has appointed his son, Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, the executor of his will, about himself and about his sisters and the in charge person of the affairs of Musa when he (the Imam) will attain maturity (physically). He has appointed 'Abd Allah ibn al-Musawir as the supervisor of his legacy, his estate, property, expenditures and slaves and so forth, until Ali ibn Muhammad will reach the age of maturity (physically). At such time 'Abd Allah ibn al-Musawir will transfer the overseeing position to him (Ali ibn Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant). He thereafter will take charge of his own affairs and sisters. The management of the affairs of Musa will also be left to him. Musa will take charge of his own affairs after the two (overseers), according to the conditions set forth by the father of the two, (Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and Musa) in the matters of his charities. This has been documented on Sunday 3rd Dhu al-Hijja, in the year two hundred twenty.' Ahmad ibn abu Khalid has transcribed his own testimony with his own handwriting. He has asked al-Hassan ibn Muhammad ibn 'Abd Allah ibn al-Hassan ibn Ali ibn al-Husayn ibn Ali ibn abu Talib, recipients of divine supreme covenant, also known as al-Jawani to bear testimony to his testimony. Al-Jawani also has a testimony just like the testimony of Ahmad ibn abu Khalid at the beginning of this document. He also has written his testimony with his own handwriting and the witness to bear testimony in the document is Nasr, the servant and he has written his testimony with his own hand."

"The Imam said, 'No, your master and Imam after me will be al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant.'"

Note: This abu Ja‘far Muhammad ibn Ali is the eldest son of Imam al-Hadi, recipient of divine supreme covenant. He died before his father (230/845- 252/866). Muhammad ibn Yahya and other people have narrated from Sa‘id ibn ‘Abd Allah from a group of banu Hashim, among whom was al-Hassan ibn al-Hassan al-Aftas, the following:

“They were present, on the day Muhammad ibn Ali (al-Hadi), recipient of divine supreme covenant, ibn Muhammad (al-Jawad), recipient of divine supreme covenant, passed away, at the door of abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, to offer condolences. A place in the compound of his (abu al-Hassan’s, recipient of divine supreme covenant) house was prepared for him and people were sitting around him. They said, ‘We estimated that at that time from the descendents of abu Talib, Hashim and Quraysh there were about one hundred fifty men besides his slaves and other people. At such time he abu al-Hassan (Ali ibn Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant), looked at (his son) al-Hassan ibn Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, coming and the front of his shirt was torn. He stood at the right of his father and we did not know him. Abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, looked at him after a while and said, ‘My son, renew your thanks to Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious; He has granted you a new task (Leadership with Divine Authority).’

“The young man wept, praised Allah, and said, ‘We are for Allah and to Him we shall return.’ He then said, ‘All praise belongs to Allah, Lord of the worlds. I pray to Allah to complete the blessings for us in you. We are for Allah and to Him we shall return.’

“We asked about him and it was said that he was al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, the son of the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant. We estimated his age at that time to be around twenty years or more. On that day we learned and came to know that he had tacitly made a statement about the succeeding Imam (Leader with Divine Authority).”

Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from Ishaq ibn Muhammad from Muhammad ibn Yahya ibn Daryab who has said the following:

“Once I went to see abu al-Hassan after the death of abu Ja‘far, recipients of divine supreme covenant, and offered condolences for this reason. Abu Muhammad (al-Hassan), recipient of divine supreme covenant, was also present. Abu Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, wept and abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, turned to him and said, ‘Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has made you to succeed his (Imam abu Ja‘far’s) successor. You must thank Allah.’”

Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from Ishaq ibn Muhammad from abu Hashim al-Ja‘fari who has said the following:

“Once I was in the presence of abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, after the death of his son, abu Ja‘far. I thought to myself, ‘The two, abu Ja‘far and abu Muhammad, at this time are like abu al-Hassan Musa and ’Isma‘il, the sons of Ja‘far ibn Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant.’ Either one, abu Ja‘far or abu Muhammad, was considered an Imam to be. At such time abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, turned to me before I would say anything and said, ‘Yes, O abu Hashim, Allah applied al-Bada’ (a special change) in the case of abu Muhammad after abu Ja‘far, a fact that was not known about him. In the same way, He applied al-

Bada' in the case of Musa, recipient of divine supreme covenant, after the death of 'Isma'il, as an issue through which his condition came to light. That is what you thought to yourself. Even though people of falsehood may dislike, abu Muhammad, my son will be the succeeding Imam after me. With him is the knowledge that he will need and with him is the means of Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority).'"

Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from Ishaq ibn Muhammad from Muhammad ibn Yahya ibn Daryab from abu Bakr al-Fahfaki who has said the following:

"Once abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, wrote to me as below, 'My son, abu Muhammad, instinctively, is the most considerate in the family of Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant. He possesses the strongest authoritative supporting evidence among them (family of Muhammad) and he is the eldest of my sons. Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from Ishaq ibn Muhammad from Shahwayh ibn 'Abd Allah al-Jullab who has said the following:

"Once Abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, (Ali al-Hadi) wrote to me in a letter as herein below: 'You wanted to ask about the succeeding Imam after (the death) of abu Ja'far and you were anxious about it. Do not feel sad' He cited this: 'Allah, the Majestic, the Glorious, does not misguide a nation after having given them guidance until the means of piety are made known to them. . . .' (9:115)

"Your master Imam after me will be my son, abu Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant. With him there is whatever you will need. Allah allows to precede whatever He wants, and Allah allows to succeed whatever He wants as He has said, 'For whatever sign We change or eliminate or cause to recede into oblivion, We bring forth a better sign, one that is identical. . . .' "Once I heard abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, (Ali al-Hadi) say, 'The succeeding Imam after me will be al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant. How will you deal (with your difficulty) with the successor of the succeeding Imam?' I then asked, 'Why will there be difficulty, may Allah keep my soul in service for your cause?'

"He said, 'You will not see him in person. It will not be lawful for you to pronounce his name.' I then asked, 'How then will we speak of him?' He said, 'Say, "The Divine Authority from the family of Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant."'"

He said, 'Yes, you may ask.' I asked, 'My master, do you have a son?' He said, 'Yes, I do have a son.' I then asked, 'If anything will happen to you, where would I ask him (about my religion)?' He replied, 'Ask him in Madina.'"

Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from Hamdan al-Qalanisi who has said the following:
"The narrator has said, 'I asked al-'Amri, 'Has abu Muhammad (al-Hassan ibn Ali al-Hadi), recipients of divine supreme covenant, left this world?' He said, 'He has left this world and he has left behind (a Leader with Divine Authority) for you, whose neck is like this,' he made a hand gesture in a certain way." (The hand gesture was an indication of Imam's good health, or perhaps age.)
(Al-'Amri was the first of the twelfth Imam's representatives).

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad al-Ash'ari has narrated from Mu'alla ibn Muhammad from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Abd Allah who has said the following:
"(A letter) came out from abu Muhammad (al-Hassan ibn Ali al-Hadi), recipients of divine supreme covenant, when al-Zubayri, May Allah condemn him, was killed. It said, 'This is the recompense for those who disregard Allah in the matters of the people whom He has appointed as His authority over the creatures. He (al-Zubayri) thought he could murder me, thus I could be eliminated without leaving an heir and surviving son. How did he experience the power of Allah in this matter? A boy was born to him and he named him M.H.M.D. in the year 256 A.H. (The abbreviation M.H.M.D. stands for the name of the Imam because of the prohibition against pronouncing it in a complete word)."

H 858, Ch. 76, h 6
Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from al-Husayn and Muhammad (sons of Ali ibn Ibrahim), from Muhammad ibn Ali ibn ‘Abd al-Rahman al-‘Abdi of the tribe of ‘Abd Qays, from Daw’ ibn Ali al-‘Ijli, from a man of the people of Fars whose name he mentioned and who has said the following:

“I went to Samarra and devoted myself to the gate (of the house) of abu Muhammad (al-Hassan ibn Ali al-Hadi), recipients of divine supreme covenant. The Imam called me. I went to him and offered greetings of peace. He asked me, ‘What brings you here?’

“I (the narrator) then said, ‘My wish to serve you has brought me here.’ He then said, ‘Help us as a devoted security guard at the gate.’ I then stayed at the gate with the other servants. Thereafter I would buy the necessary items from the market, and enter the house without formal permission when men were in the house. One day I entered the house and he (the Imam) was in the men’s quarters. I heard a certain movement in the house and the Imam said to me, ‘Stay wherever you are and do not move.’ I felt shy of going either inside or outside. A maiden came out to me with something under a cover with her. Then the Imam called me to come in. I went inside. He called the maiden and she came back to him. He said to her, ‘Remove the covering from (the face of) the person with you. She removed the cover from the face of a white-complexioned beautiful boy. The Imam then removed the covering further aside. There was greenish black hair between his neck and belly. The Imam said, ‘This is you master (Leader with Divine Authority). Then he ordered her to take him and she obeyed. After that I did not see him until abu Muhammad (al-Hassan ibn Ali al-Hadi), recipients of divine supreme covenant, left this world.’”

Chapter Seventy Seven
List of the Names of Those Who Saw the Twelfth Imam, Recipient of Divine Supreme Covenant

بَابٌ فِي تَسْمِيَةِ مَنْ رَآهُ ع

Muhammad ibn ‘Abd Allah and Muhammad ibn Yahya, all have narrated from ‘Abd Allah ibn Ja‘far al-Himyari who has said the following:

“Shaykh abu ‘Amr, may Allah grant him blessings, and I met each other at the place of Ahmad ibn Ishaq. Ahmad ibn Ishaq made an eye gesture to me to ask him about the succeeding Imam. I said to him, ‘O abu ‘Amr, I want to ask you a question about a certain matter, although I do not have any doubts in the question I am about to ask. It is my belief and religion that the earth is not left without a Leader with Divine Authority except for the forty days just before the coming of the Day of Judgment, in which period Leadership with Divine Authority will be taken away. The door to repentance will be closed. No soul will benefit from the belief with which it has not achieved any good deeds as the Holy Quran says, ‘. . . the belief of any soul will be of no benefit to it unless certain good deeds have been done with it, or it has been formed before the coming of such a day. . . .’ (6:158) Such people would be of the evil creatures of Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, and it is these people on whom the Day of Judgment will be established. However, I wanted to strengthen my belief further just as Abraham, peace upon him, asked his Lord, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, to show him how He will bring the dead to life again. He (the Lord) asked, ‘Do you not yet believe?’ Abraham replied, “I believe but I want more confidence for my heart. . . .” (2:260)

"Abu Ali Ahmad ibn Ishaq has narrated to me from abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said that he asked the Imam, 'With whom should I deal and ask questions about my belief and religion, and whose words should I accept (after you)?' The Imam said to him, 'Al-'Amri is trustworthy to me. Whatever he will deliver to you is from me. From me he delivers. Whatever he says is from me; from me he says it. Listen to him and obey him; he is reliable and trustworthy.'

"Abu Ali has said, 'I asked abu Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, a similar question and he said to him, 'Al-'Amri and his son are trustworthy people; whatever they deliver to you is from me, from me they deliver. Whatever they say to you, from me they say it. Listen to them and obey them; they are trustworthy and reliable people. These are the words of the Imam spoken about you.' The narrator has said, 'Abu 'Amr fell down on his face in prostration and wept.' Then he said, 'Ask what you need to ask.' I asked, 'Did you see the succeeding Imam (Leader with Divine Authority) after abu Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant?' He said, 'Yes, by Allah, his neck was like that, making a gesture with his hand.' I then said, 'One more question is left.' He said, 'Say, whatever it is.' I asked, 'What is his (succeeding Imam's) name?' He said, 'It is unlawful for you to ask about it. I do not say this from myself. It is not up to me to make things lawful or unlawful but it is from him (the Imam). According to the Sultan (Mu'tasam of the 'Abbassid rulers) abu Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, left this world without a surviving son. His legacy is distributed and is taken away by one who has no right in it. His family is dispersed and no one has the courage to learn about them or receive from or give anything to them. When the name is mentioned a search for him takes place. Have fear of Allah and abstain from it."

Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from abu Ahmad ibn Rashid from one of the people of al-Mada'in who has said the following:

"Once a friend and I were in Makka to perform Hajj. When we arrived in 'Arafat (a place in Makka) we found a young man sitting on the ground. He had a piece of cloth on him for the lower part of the body called 'Izar and another piece for the upper part of the body called Rida' wearing on his feet, yellow footwear. I estimated the 'Izar and Rida' (worth) about a hundred and fifty Dinars. No sign of journey was visible on him. A beggar approached us and we sent him away. He then approached the young man and asked him for help. He picked up something from the ground and gave it to him. The beggar prayed for him. He continued assiduously praying and prolonged. The young man stood up and disappeared from our sight. We went near to the beggar and said, 'fie upon you! What did he give you?' He showed us pebbles of gold with marks on them. We estimated their value at about twenty Mithqal (a unit of weight). I then said to my companion, 'Our master (Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant) was with us and we did not recognize him.' We then went to search for him in the whole of station, but we could not find him. We then asked everyone around the area where we had seen him earlier, of the people of Makka and Madina, and they said, 'He is an 'Alawi (descendent of Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant), a young man, and he performs Hajj every year on foot.'"

The Imam said, 'You will not see his person and it will not be permissible for you to mention him by his name.' I then asked, 'How then will we speak of him?' Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from Muhammad ibn Khalid from the person who narrated to him from al-Mufaddal ibn ‘Umar, and Muhammad ibn Yahya from ‘Abd Allah ibn Muhammad ibn ‘Isa from his father from certain people of his friends from al-Mufaddal ibn ‘Umar from abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

“People are nearer to Allah, Majestic is His mention, and He is more pleased with them when the leader who possesses authority from Allah, Majestic is His mention, will be out of their sight. He will not publicly appear among them and they will not know his place. Despite this they will know that the leader, who possesses authority from Allah, Majestic is His mention, is not invalidated and neither is His covenant. In such a case, they expect relief and happiness, through his reappearance in public, mornings and evenings. Allah’s anger for His enemies is most intense when the leadership with Allah’s authority will be out of public sight and will not appear to them. He (Allah) knows that his friends do not have doubts. If it had been in His knowledge that they doubt He would not have caused the leader who possesses His authority to disappear from public sight, not even for a blinking of an eye. That (Allah’s anger) hangs only over the heads of the evil ones among the people.”

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad al-Ash‘ari has narrated from Mu‘alla ibn Muhammad from Ali ibn Mirdas from Safwan ibn Yahya and al-Hassan ibn Mahbub from Hisham ibn Salim from ‘Ammar al-Sabati who has said the following:

“Once I asked abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, ‘Is the worship in secrecy with an Imam from you during the government of falsehood more virtuous or is the worship during the reign and government of the truth with an Imam from you in public sight, more virtuous?’ The Imam said, ‘O ‘Ammar, charity in secrecy, I swear by Allah, is more virtuous than the charity given publicly. The same is true when you worship in secrecy with your Imam out of public sight during the government of falsehood. (Worship) with fear from your enemies during the government of falsehood in peacetime is more virtuous than worshipping Allah, Majestic is His mention, during the reign of the truth distinctly in the government of the truth. Worship with fear during the government of falsehood is not like the worship in peace under the government of the truth. You must know that if one of you performs his obligatory prayer in congregation in time and completes it, and maintains secrecy from the enemy, Allah will record it as equal to fifty obligatory prayers performed in congregation. If one of you performs an obligatory prayer individually in time and completes it, and maintains secrecy from the enemy, Allah, Majestic is His mention, will record it equal in virtue to twenty-five obligatory prayers performed individually. If one of you performs an optional prayer in time and completes it, Allah will record it as equal to ten optional prayers. If one of you will do one good deed, Allah, Majestic is His mention, will record it as equal to twenty good deeds. Allah, the Majestic, the Glorious, will grant multiple rewards for the good deeds of a believer among you who does good deeds. Allah will grant him good reward in multiples for maintaining secrecy in his religion, about his Imam and his own life and controlling his tongue. Allah, Majestic is His mention, is generous.’

“I then said, ‘May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, you have certainly given me courage to do good deeds and have given me much exhortation. However, I love to know, how can we today be of more virtuous deeds than the followers of the Imam from your family living among them in public sight under the rule of government of truth while we all have the same religion?'

"The Imam said, 'You have become the winner of this in accepting the religion of Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, in prayer, in fasting, in performing Hajj, in every good deed, in understanding and in the worship of Allah, Majestic is His mention, in 'secrecy'. (You have maintained) secrecy from your enemies when your Imam (with full Divine reign) does not live in public sight, but you obey him with patience, waiting for and expecting the establishment of the government of truth while you are afraid for your Imam and your own lives from the unjust kings. You wait for and expect to receive your rights and the rights of your Imam that unjust ones have usurped. They have denied your rights and have forced you toward the worldly gains and means of living, but with patience you perform your religious duties, your worship, and your obedience to your Imam despite fear from your enemies. For this reason Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, will grant you the reward for your good deeds in multiples. May it be handsome and graceful for you.'

"I then said, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, what does your holiness say in the following cases? Will our deeds as the companions of al-Qa'im (the one to establish the Kingdom of Allah), when the truth will become dominant, be more virtuous or now that we are your followers and obeying you? Are our deeds now more virtuous or those during the dominance of the government of the truth and justice?'

"The Imam said, 'Glory belongs to Allah. Do you not love to see Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, grant dominance to the truth and justice in all lands, unite ideologies, bring together the differing hearts so no one disobeys Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, on His earth? (Do you not love to see?) His laws are practiced among His creatures and Allah to make the rights return where they belong and overcome so nothing of the truth is kept secret for fear of any of the creatures. By Allah, O 'Ammar, no one of you will die in the condition that you live now but that is more virtuous than the conditions of the martyrs of Badr and 'Uhud. It is glad news for you all.'"

Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad from ibn Mahbub from abu 'Usamah from Hisham and Muhammad ibn Yahya from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from ibn Mahbub from Hisham ibn Salim from abu Hamza from abu Ishaq who has said the following:

"Reliable men of the companions of Amir al-Mu'minin, recipient of divine supreme covenant, have said that they heard Amir al-Mu'minin, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say in one of his sermons as follows: 'O Lord, I know that knowledge will not be erased and its sources will not discontinue altogether and You will not leave Your earth without a leader with Your authority over Your creatures. (He is a leader to whom You have given authority over Your creatures) who lives among the people well-known but is disobeyed or is afraid and lives in obscurity so that proofs of Your authority are not invalidated and Your friends are not misled after You have granted them guidance. Where, in fact, are they (friends of Allah) and how many are they? They are very few, but are of great respect before Allah, Majestic is His name. They follow the Imam (leaders) of religion. (They follow) the guiding Imam (leaders), establish in their own selves the discipline of 'A'immah and practice their way of life. In such conditions knowledge will lead them to the true belief and their souls then accept the call of the leaders of knowledge. Those statements of the leader (the Imam), recipient of divine supreme covenant, that are difficult to understand for others are soft and easy for them to understand. They feel comfortable with what is frightening to those who reject (the truth) and the transgressors who have disregarded them. They are the followers of the scholars. They only accompany the worldly people in obedience to Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, and His friends. They maintain secrecy to be part of their religion for fear from their enemies. Thus, their souls cling to the high position (of the realm of existence). Their scholars and followers live quietly and silently, under the rule of the government of falsehood, waiting for the government of the truth. Allah will soon establish truth with His words and banish falsehood. Ha, ha, how fortunate it is for them due to their patience in the matters of their religion in their peacetime! How strong is the desire to see them in the time of the dominance of their government? Allah will soon bring us together with them in the gardens of Eden along with those of their parents, children and spouse who had been of good deeds.’”

The Disappearance (of the Twelfth Imam, Recipient of Divine Supreme Covenant) From Public Sight

Muhammad ibn Yahya and al-Hassan ibn Muhammad both have narrated from Ja'far ibn Muhammad al-Kufi from al-Hassan ibn Muhammad al-Sayrafi from Salih ibn Khalid from Yaman al-Tammar who has said the following:

“Once we were in the presence of abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and he said to us, ‘The person in charge of this task (Leadership with Divine Authority) will disappear from public sight. At that time following one’s religion will be like wiping the thorns of a cactus plant (with one’s bare hands). The Imam made certain hand gestures. Who among you is ready to hold in his hands a bunch of cactus?’ He then remained calm for a little while and then said, ‘The person in charge of this task (Leadership with Divine Authority) will disappear from public sight. A servant (of Allah) must maintain piety before Him and hold fast to His religion.’”

Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from al-Hassan ibn ‘Isa ibn Muhammad ibn Ali ibn Ja'far from his father from his grandfather from Ali ibn Ja'far from his brother, Musa ibn Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

“When the fifth descendent of the seventh (Imam) will disappear from public sight, at that time for the sake of Allah, for the sake of Allah protect your religion so no one can strip you off of it. My son, it is necessary that the person in charge of this task (Leadership with Divine Authority) should disappear from the public sight. Even those who believe in it will turn away from their belief. It will certainly be a trial from Allah, the Most Majestic, and the Most Gracious, to test His creatures. Had your fathers and ancestors known any other religion more correct than this they would certainly have followed it.”

“I then asked, ‘My master, who is the fifth from the descendents of the seventh?’ He said, ‘My son, your intelligence falls shorter to reach it and your understanding remains narrower to accommodate it but if you live you will soon comprehend its being.’”

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from ibn abu Najran from Muhammad ibn al-Musawir from al-Mufaddal ibn ‘Umar who has said the following:

“I heard abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say, ‘Beware of publicity. By Allah, your Imam will disappear from the public sight for (many) years of your time. You will be sifted until the only thing that can be said about him will be, “He is dead, killed, destroyed and no one will know in which of the valleys he may have traveled.” The eyes of the believing ones will weep for him and you will be turned upside down just as when ships face the rough seas. No one will survive this except those from whom Allah has taken a covenant, written belief in their hearts and has supported them with a spirit from His Self. Twelve similar flags will be raised and one will not be able to find out which is which.’ I wept and then asked, ‘What shall we do?’ The Imam then looked to the sun (light) on the deck and said, ‘O abu ‘Abd Allah, our case (Leadership with Divine Authority) is more clear than the sun (light) on the deck.’”

٣- محمد بن يحيى عن أحمد بن محمدٍ عن ابن أبي نجْرانَ عنْ محمدِ بْنِ الْمساورِ عنِ الْمفَضلِ بْنِ عمر قَالَ سمِعْت أبا عبْدِ اللهِ ع يقُولُ إِياكُمْ و التنْويه أما و اللهِ ليغيبن إِمامكُمْ سِنِيناً مِنْ دهْرِكُمْ و لتمحصن حتى يقَالَ مات قُتِلَ هلَك بِأي وادٍ سلَك و لتدْمعن علَيْهِ عيونُ الْمؤْمِنِين و لتكْفَؤن كما تكْفَأُ السفُن فِي أمواجِ الْبحْرِ فَلا يْنجو إِلا منْ أخذَ الله مِيثَاقَه و كتب فِي قَلْبِهِ الْإِيمانَ و أيده بِروحٍ مِنْه و لترْفَعن اثْنتا عشْرةَ رايةً مشْتبِهةً لا يدْرى أي مِنْ أي قَالَ فَبكَيت ثُم قُلْت فَكَيف نصْنع قَالَ فَنظَر إِلَى شمْسٍ داخِلَةٍ فِي الصفةِ فَقَالَ يا أبا عبْدِ اللهِ ترى هذِهِ الشمْس قُلْت نعمْ فَقَالَ و اللهِ لأَمرنا أبين مِنْ هذِهِ الشمْسِ

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from Muhammad ibn al-Husayn from ibn Abu Najran from Fadalah ibn Ayyub from Sadir al-Sayrafi who has said the following:

“I heard abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say, ‘In the case of the person in charge of this task, Leadership with Divine Authority (the case of the twelfth Imam) there is a similarity to Yusuf, peace be upon him.’

I then asked, ‘Are you, O Imam, speaking of his lifetime or his disappearance?’ The Imam then asked, ‘What is it then that certain swine-like people of this nation refuse to acknowledge? The brothers of Yusuf were grandchildren of the prophets. They did business with Yusuf, conducted trade with him and spoke to him. They were his brothers and he was their brother but they could not recognize him until he said, I am Yusuf and this (Benjamin) is my brother. Why should (certain people of) this condemned nation refuse to accept if Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, in a certain time would do to the possessor of His authority what He did to Yusuf? Yusuf was the person in charge of Egypt and there was a distance of twenty-eight days of journey between him and his father. If he wanted to inform him (his father) he could have done so. Jacob and his sons journeyed after they heard the good news, for nine days from their Bedouin home to Egypt. Why then should this nation refuse to accept if Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, would do to the person who possesses His authority, what He did to Yusuf? That he may walk in their market place and step on their furnishings until Allah will grant him permission to reappear in public as He did to Yusuf as they asked, “Are you really Yusuf?” He said, “Yes, I am Yusuf.’”

٤- علِي بْن إِبراهِيم عنْ محمدِ بْنِ الْحسيْنِ عنِ ابْنِ أبي نجْرانَ عنْ فَضالَةَ بْنِ أيوب عنْ سدِيرٍ الصيْرفِي قَالَ سمِعْت أبا عبْدِ اللهِ ع يقُولُ إِن فِي صاحِبِ هذَا الْأَمرِ شبهاً مِنْ يوسف ع

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from al-Hassan ibn Musa al-Khashshab from ‘Abd Allah ibn Musa from ‘Abd Allah ibn Bukayr from Zurara who has said the following:

“I heard abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say, ‘The young boy will disappear from the public sight before his rise (with Divine power).’ I then asked, ‘Why (that has to take place)?’ The Imam said, ‘He will be afraid.’ He pointed with his hand to his midsection. Then he said, ‘O Zurara, he is the one whose reappearance is expected. He is the one whose coming to this world through birth will be doubted. The fact is that Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, loves to test the Shi‘a (his followers). It is in such a condition that people of falsehood will raise doubts, O Zurara.’

“I then said, ‘May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, if I will be alive at such time, expecting his rise with Divine power, what should I do?’ The Imam said, ‘O Zurara, if you will live up to such time then say the following prayer: ‘O Lord make me recognize You; if You do not make me recognize You, I cannot recognize Your prophet. O Lord, make me recognize Your Messenger; if You do not make me recognize Your Messenger, I cannot recognize the one who possesses Your authority over the creatures. O Lord make me recognize the one who possesses Your authority over the creatures; if You do not make me recognize him I will stray from my religion.’ Then he said, ‘O Zurara, it is necessary that a young boy be murdered in the city of Madina.’

“I then asked, ‘May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, will he not be killed in the hands of the army of al-Sufyani?’ He said, ‘No, but the army of the tribe of so and so will kill him. They will come to enter Madina; thus, they take hold of the young boy and kill him. When they will murder him in transgression, animosity and injustice, then they will not be given respite. At such time you can expect good news, if Allah shall so will.’”

Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from ‘Abd Allah ibn Muhammad ibn Khalid who has said that Mundhir ibn Muhammad ibn Qabus narrated to us from Mansur ibn al-Sindi from abu Dawud al-Mustariq from Tha‘laba ibn Maymun from Malik al-Juhanni from al-Harith ibn al-Mughirah from al-Asbagh ibn Nubata who has said the following:

“Once I went to see Amir al-Mu’minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and found him thinking and drawing lines on the ground. I then said, ‘O Amir al-Mu’minin I see you thinking and drawing lines on the ground. Have you become interested in them (worldly things)?’ He said, ‘No, by Allah, I have not become interested in them and I have never been interested in the whole world not even for a day, but I thought about a baby from my descendents, the eleventh generation. He is al-Mahdi who will fill the earth with justice and fairness after its being filled with suffering and injustice. He will disappear from public sight in confusing conditions. Certain people will deviate and others will find the path of guidance.’

“I then asked, ‘O Amir al-Mu’minin, how long will be the duration of confusion and (his) disappearance?’ He said, ‘Six days or six months or six years.’ I then asked, ‘Will this really come to pass?’ He said, ‘Yes, just as his creation will be necessary (so also will his disappearance). However, O Asbagh, this is not your concern. Those people will be of the best in this nation with the most virtuous ones of this family (Ahl al-Bayt).’ I then asked, ‘What will happen afterwards?’ He said, ‘Allah will do whatever He will decide. He possesses many al-Bada' (certain changes) wills, goals and ends.'"

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from Hannan ibn Sadir from Ma'ruf ibn Kharrabudh from abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"We only are like the stars in heaven. Whenever one star disappears (from sight) another one comes into view and you can point to him with your fingers and make a gesture with your necks (for publicity). Allah will then cause your star to disappear from your sight. The descendents of 'Abd al-Muttalib all look similar and you will have difficulty to discern one from the other. When your star will reappear you must thank your Lord."

"I heard abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say, 'The person who will rise with Divine power on earth will disappear from public sight before his rise.' Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad and Muhammad ibn Yahya have narrated from Ja'far ibn Muhammad from al-Hassan ibn Mu'awiya from 'Abd Allah ibn Jabala from Ibrahim ibn Khalaf ibn 'Abbad al-Anmati from Mufaddal ibn 'Umar who has said the following:

"Once I was in the presence of abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and other people also were present. I thought the Imam meant people other than me when he said, 'By Allah, those in charge of establishing the Kingdom of Allah on earth and the owner of this task (Leadership with Divine Authority) will disappear from your sight. This (case) will become so obscure that people will say, "He is dead, destroyed or no one knows in which valley has he traveled." You will be shaken just as the ship is shaken in rough seas. No one will remain safe except those with whom Allah has made a covenant, written belief in their hearts and has supported with a spirit from Him. Twelve flags will be raised. They will be identical so much so that one will not be able to distinguish one from the other.'

"I then wept. The Imam asked, 'What has caused you to weep, O abu 'Abd Allah?' I then said, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, how can I stop weeping? You say, "Twelve identical flags will be raised and one will not be able to distinguish one from the other." The narrator has said that in the place of gathering sunlight had come in through a hole. The Imam asked, 'Is this (sun-light on the spot) clear?' I said, 'Yes, it is clear.' The Imam said, 'Our case is even clearer than this sun (light).'"

Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad and Muhammad ibn Yahya and others from Ahmad ibn Muhammad and Ali ibn Ibrahim from his father. All three of them have narrated from ibn Mahbub from Hisham ibn Salim from abu Hamza from abu Ishaq al-Sabi'i from a reliable one of the companions of Amir al-Mu'minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"Amir al-Mu'minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, once spoke the following from the pulpit in Kufa and I memorized it. 'O Lord, it is certain that You keep certain persons with Your authority on Your earth. Such persons come one after the other with Your authority over Your creatures to guide people in Your religion and teach them Your knowledge so that Your friends do not scatter. They may live in the public sight but people disobey them or out of public sight but their reappearance will be expected. Even though their persons may remain hidden from the people in peacetime, their knowledge that has spread before will not be hidden from them. Their discipline will be firmly established in the hearts of people who will act accordingly.'

"In another part of this sermon he, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has asked, 'Who will have such discipline? For this reason knowledge becomes obscure when it does not find anyone to bear, protect and narrate it to others just as they have heard it from the scholars and speak truthfully from them. O Lord, I know that all the knowledge will not become obscure and all of its sources will not vanish. You will not leave your earth without a person with Your authority on Your earth. He may either live in public sight but is not obeyed and followed or is afraid and hidden from public sight so that Your authority is not invalidated and Your friends are not misled after You have granted them guidance. In fact, where are they and how many are they? They are very few in number but of very great honor and respect before Allah.'"

Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad from Musa ibn al-Qasim ibn Mu'awiya al-Bajali from Ali ibn Ja'far from his brother, Musa ibn Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following about the words of Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious:

"Say, have you not thought that if your water was to dry up, who will bring you water from the spring?" (67:30)

"The Imam said, 'It means when your Imam will disappear from your sight then who will bring for you a new Imam?'"

"Once abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, asked, 'How will you feel when a large scale attack will take place between the two mosques? Thereafter, knowledge will become as obscure as a snake that goes into its hiding place. The Shi'a (Muslims) will hold differences and one group will call the other group liars. One group will spit in the faces of the other.'

"I then said, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, there will be nothing good in such conditions.' The Imam said, 'All goodness will be there.' He said it three times."

"The Imam said, 'There has been no one from us with whom letters had been exchanged, being pointed out with the gesture of fingers, questions asked and properties delivered to him but that he was murdered or died in his bed. Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad and others have narrated from Ja'far ibn Muhammad from Ali ibn al-'Abbass ibn 'Amir from Musa ibn Hilal al-Kindi from 'Abd Allah ibn 'Ata', from abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, the following:

"Once I said to abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'Your Shi'a (followers) in Iraq are many. By Allah, there is no one like you in your family. Why do you not rise (for leadership)?'

"The Imam said, 'O 'Abd Allah ibn 'Ata', you have begun to open your ears to silliness. In fact, by Allah, I am not your Sahib (companion, Imam) who will rise with Divine Authority and power.' I (the narrator) then asked him, 'Who is our Sahib (companion) then (the one who will rise with Divine Authority and power)?' The Imam then said, 'Find out the one whose time and place of birth is unknown to people and such a person will be your companion (the one who will rise with Divine Authority and power). There is no one among us toward whom people point their fingers so much and tongues will mention him so much, but that has died in frustration or due to sorrow for being ignored and neglected.'"

Ali ibn Ibrahim ibn Hashim has narrated from his father from ibn Mahbub from Salam ibn ‘Abd Allah and Muhammad ibn al-Hassan and Ali ibn Muhammad from Sahl ibn Ziyad and abu Ali al-Ash‘ari from Muhammad ibn Hassa’n; all of them have narrated from Muhammad ibn Ali from Ali ibn Asbat from Salam ibn ‘Abd Allah al-Hashimi who has said that Muhammad ibn Ali has said that he heard him (Salam) narrate from abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

“Once, Talha and al-Zubayr sent a man called Khidash from the tribe of ‘Abd a1-Qays, to Amir al-Mu’minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant. Before he was to leave they spoke to him as follows: ‘We are sending you to a man who himself, as well as his family, is known to us all the time as magicians and soothsayers. You are more trusted to us than those in our presence in not listening to any of such things from him. You must debate him in our support until you will learn the well-known matter. Bear in mind that his claim is the greatest that people can have, and it should not discourage you. Of the ways of his deceiving people are his offering food, drinks, honey, oil and to speak with one privately. Therefore, do not eat any food that he might offer, or drink anything. Do not touch any of the honey or oil that he might present to you and do not sit with him alone. Beware of all such things that might come. Go to him with the blessings of Allah. When you see him read 'Ayat al-Sakhra, verse fifty-four of Chapter seven and ask Allah to protect you against his plots and the plots of Satan. When you will sit near him do not make eye contact and do not become friendly with him.

'Thereafter say to him, "Two of your brethren in religion, the two sons of your uncle as relatives, urge you not to cut off (good) relations. They say to you, 'Do you not know that we left people just for you and opposed our tribe's people for your sake soon after Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, took Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, from this world? Now that you have achieved a little status you have disregarded our honor and destroyed our hopes. Despite this, you have already seen our ability to stay away from you and find a vast land far from you. Those who isolated you from our relationships and from us were of much less advantage to you and weaker than us to defend you. Now the dawn has made it very clear to those who have eyes. It has come to our notice that you disrespect us and pray against us. What causes you to do so? (Brave people do not do such things). We had seen you to be the bravest of the strong men of the Arabs. Has your condemning us become part of your religion? You know well that it breaks you away from us.'"'

"When Khidash came to Amir al-Mu'minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, he did exactly what they had told him to do. When Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, looked at him, as he (Khidash) spoke under his breath, the Imam laughed and said, 'O brother, from 'Abd Qays, pointing to him to sit closer to his place.' Khidash, then responded, 'There is enough room around. I am here only to deliver a message to you.' The Imam said, 'First you must eat, drink, change your clothes and use fragrance and then deliver your message. O Qanbar, provide him accommodation.' He said, 'I do not need any of the things you mentioned.' The Imam then said, 'I want to speak to you privately.' The man said, 'All secrets are public to me.'

"The Imam said, 'I urge you, on oath by Allah, Who is closer to you than yourself, Who is between you and your heart, Who knows the stealth looks of the eyes and what the hearts hide (to tell the truth). Had al-Zubayr spoken to you of all that I just offered and said to you?' He replied, 'By the Lord, yes, he did so.' The Imam then said, 'Were you to deny what I asked you, your eyesight would not return (but be destroyed). I urge you, on oath by Allah, did he teach you certain words that you were saying when you came to me?' He replied, 'By the Lord, yes, he did so.'

"Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'Was it not 'Ayat al-Sakhra, verse fifty-four of Chapter seven? He said, 'Yes, that was it.' The Imam said, 'Read it.' He read it and Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, would repeat along with him, make him read again and correct his mistakes until he read it seventy times. The man asked, 'What is the reason for Amir al-Mu'minin's ordering me to repeat them seventy times?' The Imam then asked him, 'Do you feel comfort in your heart?' He said, 'Yes, by the One in Whose hand is my soul, it is comforted.'

"The Imam then said, 'Say what they told you to say.' He then informed him of their message. The Imam said 'Say to them, what you have spoken is sufficient evidence against you; however, Allah does not guide the unjust people. You think that you are my brothers in religion and the sons of my uncles in family relations. I do not deny the family relation even though it must be disregarded unless Islam requires it to be continued. Also it is your statement that you are my brothers in religion. If it is true and you really mean it then you must know you have already distanced yourselves from the book of Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, and have disobeyed Him practically in the affairs of your brother in religion. Otherwise, you have just lied and have created false statements to claim that you are my brothers in religion.'

"You have also said that you did not join other people (against me) soon after Allah took Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, out of this world. If what you did was for the sake of the truth, then you must know you have just destroyed the truth in your leaving me, lately, in disregard. If you joined the others for the sake of falsehood you will be held responsible for such (sinful) matters that you have created. Besides, the way you have mentioned your not joining others after the death of Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, shows that you did so only with "hopes" in and for the sake of worldly gains and greed. These are your own words, 'You have destroyed our "hopes".' I thank Allah, you have not blamed me in the matters of my religion. On the other hand, what has distanced me from you is what has distanced you from the truth and caused you to discard your oath of allegiance (with me) as your undertaking, just as a recalcitrant beast would discard its harness.

"He is Allah, my Lord. I do not consider anything like Him. Do not say, 'He is less advantageous and weaker to defend'; you may deserve to be called polytheists as well as hypocrites. You have also said that I am the bravest of the strong Arab men and that you run away from my prayers against you and my condemnation of you. You must consider that every event requires a certain action. When the spears crisscross, the manes of horses flutter and your lungs swell inside you at such time Allah suffices me with a calm and perfect heart. You have said that you dislike my praying to Allah against you. You should not be disturbed because of the prayers of a magician who belongs to a magician people as you think they are.

"O Lord, do away with al-Zubayr in the worst way of getting killed and make him bleed to death in misguidance. (O Lord) make Talha know he is humiliated and prepare for them even worse than this in the next life, if they have done injustice to me, accused me falsely and have withheld their testimony (in my support), disobeyed You and Your Messenger in my affairs.'

"The Imam then said, 'Say Amen!' Khidash then said, 'Amen!' Khidash then said to himself, 'I have never seen a bearded man with clearer mistakes than yours. You are like a man who carries a message, wherein one part contradicts the other part. Allah has placed nothing in it to hold it together. I, therefore, disdain both of them (Talha and Zubayr) before Allah.' Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, asked him to go back and inform them of what he had said in response. He said, 'No, by Allah I will not go to them until you will ask Allah to return me back to you quickly and grant me the opportunity to please Him in matters of your support.' He did so and very soon he came back and afterwards was murdered when (supporting the Imam) on the day of Jamal. May Allah grant him blessing."

Ali ibn Muhammad and Muhammad ibn al-Hassan have narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad and abu Ali al-Ash'ari from Muhammad ibn Hassa'n, all of them from

Muhammad ibn Ali from Nasr ibn Muzahim from ‘Amr ibn Sa‘id from Jarrah ibn ‘Abd Allah from Rafi‘ ibn Salama who has said the following:

“On the day of al-Nahrawan (the war at al-Nahrawan) I was in the presence of Ali ibn abu Talib, recipient of divine supreme covenant. As we were sitting with the Imam, a horseman approached and said, ‘Al-Salamu ‘Alayka ya Ali (peace be with you O Ali).’ Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘Alayka al-salam (with you also be peace).’ ‘May your mother weep over your dead body, why did you not address me as the Leader with Divine Authority?’ He said, ‘Yes, I want to inform you about it. I was present in al-Siffin when the truth was on your side. However, when you approved the arbitrator to settle the warring parties I disregarded you and I called you a polytheist. Ever since I do not know where I should turn to pledge allegiance to the Leadership of one with Divine Authority. If I can find a way to know, whether you are on the right side or on the wrong side it will be better for me than the world and all that is therein.’ Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said to him, ‘May your mother weep on your dead body. Come and stand up near me I will show the signs of the right and the signs of the wrong side.’ As the man stood near him, a horseman approached running until he came to Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and said, ‘O Amir al-Mu’minin, recipient of divine supreme covenant, I have the glad news of victory. May Allah make it a delight to your eyes (out of joy). It is certain, by Allah, that all men of the enemy are killed.’ Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, asked him, ‘Did it happen before or after their crossing the river?’ He said, ‘It happened after crossing.’ Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘You have lied. I swear by the One Who makes the seed to germinate and causes the fetuses to develop, that they (enemy) will never cross the river until they are all killed.’

“The man (first horseman) has said, ‘This added to my understanding.’ Another horseman came running and said just as the one before had said and Amir al-Mu’minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, refused to accept his words as those of the one before. The man who had doubts about Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said that he wanted to attack Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, with his sword and chop his head off. Two other men came running on horses soaked in perspiration. They said, ‘May Allah give delight and brightness to your eyes with the joy of victory O Amir al-Mu’minin, recipient of divine supreme covenant. We have the glad news of victory for you. It is certain, by Allah, that all of the people (of the enemy) are killed.’ Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then asked, ‘Did it happen before or after their crossing the river?’ They said, ‘It happened before their crossing the river. When they tried to cross it and water reached up to the mane of their horses they turned back and there they all were killed.’ Amir al-Mu’minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘You have spoken the truth.’ The man then climbed down from his horse and touched Amir al-Mu’minin’s, recipient of divine supreme covenant, hands and feet and kissed them.’ Amir al-Mu’minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘This is the sign and evidence for you (that I am on the right side).’” al-Walibiyyah who has said the following:

"Once I saw Amir al-Mu'minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, in the (market) place of the elite forces with a two pronged whip in his hand. With it he scared the sellers of inedible fish such as eel, moray and angler and so forth and said, 'O sellers of metamorphosed Israelites and the army of the descendents of Marwan, do not sell (inedible fishes).' At this time Frat ibn Ahnaf came to him and asked, 'O Amir al-Mu'minin, recipient of divine supreme covenant, what is the army of the descendents of Marwan?' She has said that Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said to him, 'They are the groups of people who shaved their beards and twined their mustaches and then they were metamorphosed.' I had not heard anyone speak better than him; I followed him without missing his traces until he sat down at an open space of the Mosque (of Kufa). I then asked him, 'O Amir al-Mu'minin, recipient of divine supreme covenant, what are the signs of Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority), may Allah grant you blessings?' She has said that he said, 'Bring to me that pebble.' He pointed with his hand. I then got the pebble for him and he set for me his insignia on it (engraved on solid stone). He then said to me, 'O Hababa, if anyone claims to be the Imam (Leader with Divine Authority) and can set his insignia as you just saw, then acknowledge that he is the Imam that must be obeyed. The Imam does not miss what he wants.' She has said, 'I then left him until Amir al-Mu'minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was taken out of this world. Thereafter I went to al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who was sitting in the place of Amir al-Mu'minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and people around asked him questions. He said to me, 'O Hababa al-Walibyya.' I said, 'Yes, my master.' He then said, 'Give to me what is with you.' I then gave it (the pebble) to him. He set on it (his insignia) just as Amir al-Mu'minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, had done. She has said, 'Afterwards I went to al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant. He was in the Mosque of the Messenger of Allah. He welcomed me warmly and then said to me, 'There is no doubt that in the proof (that supports the true Imam) there is already enough proof for what you want. Do you want the proof to know the Imam?' I said, 'Yes, my master.' He then said, 'Bring to me what you have with you.' I gave him the pebble and he printed (his insignia) on it. She has said that afterwards I went to Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, but at that time I had become very old and my hands were shaky. I could count one hundred thirteen years of my lifetime. I found him in Ruku' (kneeling in prayer) and Sajdah (prostration) or busy in certain forms of worship. I became despaired about the proof (of Leadership with Divine Authority). He pointed out with his forefinger and my youth came back. She has said that she asked, 'My master, how much of the world is passed and how much is left?' He said, 'Of how much is passed yes (I can tell), but not of how much is to come.' She has said that he then said to me, 'Give to me what is with you.' I then gave him the pebble and he printed on it (his insignia) for me. Thereafter I went to abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and he printed on it (his insignia) for me. Then I went to abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant. He printed on it (his insignia) for me. Then I went to abu al-Hassan Musa, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and he printed (his insignia) for me. Then I went to al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and he printed his insignia for me.'"

According to Muhammad ibn Hisham, Hababa lived thereafter another nine months.

Muhammad ibn abu ‘Abd Allah and Ali ibn Muhammad have narrated from Ishaq ibn Muhammad al-Nakha‘i from abu Hashim Dawud ibn al-Qasim al-Ja'fari who has said the following:

“Once I was in the presence of abu Muhammad (al-Hassan ibn Ali al-Hadi), recipient of divine supreme covenant, when permission was requested for a man from Yemen to see the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant. A chubby, tall and heavy man then came in and greeted the Imam with the greeting for Wilayah, (Leadership with Divine Authority) and received acceptance in response. The Imam asked him to sit and he sat just next to me. I then said to myself, ‘I wish I knew who he is?’ Abu Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, ‘He is of the children of the Arab lady for whom my ancestors had printed their insignia on a pebble and the print took place in an engraving form. He has brought it with him and wants me to print my insignia on it also.’ He then asked the man to give it to him. The man took out a pebble and on one side thereof was a smooth space. Abu Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then received it, took out his insignia, printed on it and the print took place. Even now it is as if I see the print of his (al-Hassan ibn Ali’s) insignia on the pebble. I then asked the man from Yemen, ‘Had you ever seen him (abu Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant), before?’ He said, ‘No, I had not seen him before, however, by Allah, I had always been anxious for this hour to see him when a young man came to me and I had not seen him before. He said, “Stand up and come in” and I came in.’ The man from Yemen then left saying, ‘May Allah’s grace and blessings be with you people of Ahl al-Bayt whose generations are just like the generation before. I testify before Allah that it is obligatory to preserve your rights just as it was the case with Amir al-Mu’minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and the 'A'immah (Leaders with Divine Authority) after him, may Allah grant all of them blessings.’ He then left and thereafter I never saw him.

“Ibn Ishaq has said that abu Hashim al-Ja'fari has said, ‘I asked him his name.’ He said, ‘My name is Mahja‘ ibn al-Salt ibn ‘Aqaba ibn Sam‘an ibn Ghanim ibn ’Umm Ghanim.’ She was the Arab lady from Yemen who had the pebble on which Amir al-Mu’minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, had printed his insignia and also his descendents up to the time of abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant.”

father and I am a son of Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant. Because of being older in age I am more deserving of the position of Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority) considering that you are younger than me. Therefore, you should not dispute me about al-Wasiyya (the will) and Imamat, (Leadership with Divine Authority) and should not argue with me about it.' Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'O uncle, be pious before Allah and do not claim in what you have no right. I advise you not to be one of the ignorant people. In fact, my father, recipient of divine supreme covenant, O my uncle, appointed me as the executor of his will before his leaving for Iraq. He made such covenant with me just an hour before his becoming a martyr. This is the Armament of the Messenger of Allah with me. You then should not dislocate them. I am afraid for you of a shorter life and difficult conditions. Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, has placed al-Wasiyya, and Imamat, in the descendents of al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant. If you want to know it we can go near the Black-stone and ask it for judgment about the issue.'

"Abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said that the issue came up between them in Makka and they went near the Black-stone. Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said to Muhammad al-Hanafiya, 'You begin first and pray to Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, and ask Him to make the Black-stone speak to you and then ask your question.' Muhammad then pleaded in his prayer and asked Allah and then asked the Black-stone about the disputed issue, but there was no answer. Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'O uncle, had you been the executor of the will and the Imam it would have answered your question.' Muhammad then said, 'Now you pray to Allah, O son of my brother, and ask your question. Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, prayed to Allah for what he wanted. He then addressed the Black-stone and said, 'I ask you for the sake of the One Who placed the covenant of the prophets in you, as well as the covenant of the executors of the will and the covenant of all the people. You must tell us who the Wasiyy and Imam after al-Husayn ibn Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, is.'

"The narrator has said that the Black-stone began to shake so much that it almost came out of its place. Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, then made it to speak in clear Arabic language and said, 'O Lord, al-Wasiyya and Imamat after al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, ibn Ali is for Ali ibn al-Husayn ibn Ali ibn abu Talib and ibn Fatimah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, daughter of the Messenger of Allah.'

"The narrator has said that Muhammad ibn Ali returned and he acknowledged Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, to be his Wali (Leader with Divine Authority)."

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from Hammad ibn 'Isa from Hariz from Zurara from abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, the same Hadith.

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from al-Mu'alla ibn Muhammad from Muhammad ibn Ali who has said that Sama'a ibn Mihran narrated to me that al-Kalbi al-Nassaba narrated to him the following:

"Once I went to Madina and I had no knowledge of this matter, Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority). I went to the Mosque where I found a group of people of Quraysh. I asked them, ‘Can you give me information about the scholar of this family (the family of the Holy Prophet)?’ They said, ‘Abd Allah ibn Hassan is the one.’ I went to his house and asked permission to see him. A man whom I thought was his slave came out of the house. I said to him, ‘Ask your master to grant me permission to meet him.’ He went inside and then came out saying: ‘Come in.’ I entered the house and found an old man devoted to worship and hard work. I greeted him and then he asked, ‘Who are you?’ I then said, ‘I am a Kalbi (from the tribe of Kalb) and a genealogist.’ He then asked, ‘What is it that you need?’ I said, ‘I have come to ask certain questions.’ He then asked, ‘Have you visited my son Muhammad?’ I said, ‘I have begun with you.’ Then he said, ‘You may ask your questions.’ I then said, ‘Explain to me the case of a man who says to his wife, “You are divorced as many times as the number of stars in heavens.”’ He said, ‘It becomes irrevocable at the beginning of the month of Jawza’ (the third month of a particular calendar). The rest are sins and he owes penalties.’ I said to myself, ‘This is one.’ Then I asked, ‘What does the honorable Shaykh say about rubbing over the shoe for Wuzu’ (a formal washing before prayer)?’ He said, ‘A virtuous group would wipe over the shoe but we, Ahl al-Bayt do not wipe.’ I then said to myself, ‘This is the second.’ I then asked, ‘What do you say about consuming eel for food; is it edible or not edible?’ He said, ‘It is lawful, but we, Ahl al-Bayt leave it alone.’ I then said to myself, ‘This is the third.’ Then I said, ‘What do you say about drinking al-Nabidh, a certain kind of drink?’ He said, ‘It is lawful but we, Ahl al-Bayt do not drink it.’ I then left him saying to myself, ‘This group of people lies about this Ahl al-Bayt.’

“I then entered the Mosque and I looked at the group of people of Quraysh (a particular tribe) and other people. I greeted them and asked them, ‘Who knows this Ahl al-Bayt?’ They said, ‘Abd Allah ibn al-Hassan knows.’ I then said, ‘I just visited him and did not find anything with him.’ One person from the people raised his head and said, ‘Go to Ja'far ibn Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant. He is the most knowledgeable one in this Ahl al-Bayt.’ Certain individuals criticized that person for what he said. I then said, ‘People out of jealousy did not tell me about him when first I asked them.’ I then asked, ‘What is the matter with you! He is the one I want.’ I then walked until I reached his house. I knocked on the door and his slave, a young man, came out and asked me, ‘Come in O brother from the tribe of Kalb.’ He, by Allah, amazed me (for knowing me without any introduction). I went inside but I was shaken. Upon looking I found a gentleman on the prayer rug with no pillow or blankets. He began to talk after I saluted him with greeting of peace, ‘Who are you?’ I then said to myself, ‘Glory to Allah, his slave at the door said to me, “O brother from the tribe of Kalb, come in” and his master asked me, “Who are you?” I then said, ‘I am a Kalbi, a genealogist.’’

“He then tapped his forehead and said, ‘The devious people lie about Allah and they stray far away and suffer a great loss. O brother from Kalb, Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, says, ‘To each of the tribes of ‘Ad, Thamud, the settlers around the well and many generations in between,’ (25:38) can you tell their genealogical relations?’ I said, ‘No, may Allah keep my soul in service for your cause.’ Then he asked, ‘Can you tell your own genealogical relations?’ I said, ‘Yes, I am so and so son of so and so and I went on and on.’ He said, ‘Hold it there. It is not the way you say. What is the matter with you? Do you know who so and so son of so and so is?’ I said, ‘Yes, so and so son of so and so.’ He said, ‘So and so son of so and so was a Kurdish shepherd. Such and such Kurdish shepherd was on the mountain of the people of so and so. He went to so and so the wife of so and so that lived on the mountain on which he grazed his sheep. He fed her something and overwhelmed her. She gave birth to so and so and so and so son of so and so, and so and so daughter of so and so and so and so. Then he said, ‘Do you know these names?’ I said, ‘No, may Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, if you do not mind, allow us to disregard this.’

“He then said, ‘It is because you said it (brought up the subject), I said it.’ I then said, ‘I will not repeat.’ He said, ‘Therefore, we will not repeat. Ask what you have come for.’ I then said, ‘Explain to me the case of the man who has said to his wife, “You are divorced as many times as the number of the stars of the heavens.”’

“He asked, ‘What is the matter with you? Have you not read the chapter, Al-Talaq (divorce)?’ I said, ‘Yes, I have read it.’ He then said, ‘Read it.’ I then read from the Holy Quran, ‘. . . divorce them at a time after which they can start their waiting period. Let them keep an account of the number of the days in the waiting period. . . .’ (65:1) He then asked, ‘Do you find any of the stars of the heavens there?’

“I said, ‘No, I do not find.’ Then I said, ‘A man has said to his wife, ‘You are divorced three times.’ He said, ‘You must refer it to the book of Allah and the Sunnah of His Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant.’ Then he said, ‘Divorce is only valid in a menses-free period of time in which no carnal relation may have taken place between the wife and husband, and there must be two acceptable witnesses present.’ I then said to myself, ‘This is one.’ Then he said, ‘Ask.’ I then asked, ‘What do you say about rubbing over the shoe for Wuzu’?’ He smiled and said, ‘On the Day of Judgment when Allah will return everything to its material being and the leather of (the shoe) is returned to the sheep, then you will see the rubbing people and where their Wuzu’ will go.’ I then said to myself, ‘This is the second.’ He then turned to me and said, ‘Ask.’ I then asked, ‘Tell me about eel; is it lawful to consume it for food?’ He said, ‘Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, caused a certain group of Israelites to metamorphose. Whatever from them was taken by the ocean turned into eel, such as hagfish, moray and angelfish and so forth, and whatever from them was left on land they turned into swine, and wild cats and lizards and so forth.’ I then said to myself, ‘This is the third.’ He then turned to me and said, ‘Ask.’ I asked, ‘What do you say about al-Nabidh, (extracts from dates)?’ He said, ‘It is lawful.’ I said, ‘We mix with it al-‘Akr (residue) and other things and drink.’ He said, ‘Shu shu, that is foul smelling wine.’ I then asked, ‘May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, what kind of Nabidh do you mean?’

“He then said, ‘Once the people of Madina complained to the Messenger of Allah about a change in their water and their feeling ill. He ordered them to make Nabidh (a certain drink). Thus, a man would ask his servant to throw a handful or so of dates into their water-sack. They would then drink from it and use it for cleansing.’ I then asked, ‘How many pieces of date would come in a handful?’ He said, ‘As much as a handful could be.’ I then asked, ‘One handful or two?’ He said, ‘Perhaps one or perhaps two handfuls.’ I then asked, ‘How big might have been the sack?’ He said, ‘Big enough for forty to eighty or more.’ I then asked, ‘Is it in Artal (a certain measurement)?’ He said, ‘Yes, in Artal (about three hundred grams each) according to the measurement of Iraq.’

“Sama’a has said that Al-Kalbi has said that he, recipient of divine supreme covenant, stood up and I also came out and I would slap my one hand with the other and say to myself, ‘If there is anything, he, recipient of divine supreme covenant, is it.’ Thereafter al-Kalbi followed the religion of Allah with the love of Ahl al-Bayt until he died.’”

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn ‘Isa from abu Yahya al-Wasiti from Hisham ibn Salim who has said the following:

“We were in Madina after abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, left this world. People had gathered around ‘Abd Allah ibn Ja'far. They thought he was the person in charge of this task (Leadership with Divine Authority) after his father. Sahib al-Taq and I went to see him while people were around him because of a Hadith, they narrated from abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, that said, ‘The in charge of the task (Leadership with Divine Authority) will be the eldest son, if he did not suffer any defects.’ We went to see and ask him what we used to ask his father. We asked him about Zakat to find out on how much property it becomes due. He said, ‘It is five on every two hundred.’ We asked, ‘What if it (the property) was one hundred?’ He said, ‘It (rate of tax) is two and a half.’ We then said, ‘By Allah, al-Murji‘a sect does not say so.’

“The narrator has said that he (‘Abd Allah ibn Ja’far) then raised hands to the sky and said, ‘By Allah, I do not know what al-Murji‘a group says.’ The narrator has said that we then left him with a feeling of loss and did not know where to go. Abu Ja'far al-Ahwal and I were together. We sat down on a street corner of the city of Madina weeping and confused and did not know where and to whom should we go asking each other, ‘Where do we go now? Should we go to al-Murji‘a, al-Qadria (belief in predestination), to al-Zaydiaya sect, al-Mu‘tazila or the al-Khawarij sect?’ At this time I saw a gentleman whom I did not know, gesture toward me with his hand. I became afraid and thought he might be a spy of the spies of abu Ja'far al-Mansur (‘Abbassid ruler). He had his spies in Madina to see who the Shi‘a followed after Ja’far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and then they would cut his neck off. I was afraid, thinking that he might be one of them. I then said to al-Ahwal, ‘Get away from here; I am afraid for both of us. He only wants me and not you. Move away from me and from destruction. I do not want to become an instrument against you. He moved a little away and I followed the gentleman. I did so, thinking that I would not be able to set myself free from him. I continued following him. I had become certain of dying until we reached the door of abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant. He then left me there and went away. At that time the servant came out of the house and said, ‘Come inside. May Allah grant you blessings.’ I went in and found abu al-Hassan, Musa, recipient of divine supreme covenant, therein. He began talking to me saying: ‘(you do not have to go to anyone) not to al-Murji‘a, or al-Qadria, or al-Zaydiya nor to al-Mu‘tazila or al-Khariji group, come to me, come to me.’ I then said, ‘May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, has your father left this world?’ He said, ‘Yes, he has passed away.’ I then asked, ‘Did he die a natural death?’ He said, ‘Yes, he did so.’ I then asked, ‘Who will be for us after him?’ He said, ‘If Allah wills to guide you He will do so.’ I then asked, ‘May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, ‘Abd Allah thinks that he is the one after his father.' He said, 'Abd Allah wants people not to worship Allah.' I then asked, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, who will be for us after him?' He said, 'If Allah wills to guide you He will do so.' I then said, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, is that you?' He said, 'No, I do not say that to you.'

"He (the narrator) has said that I then said to myself, 'Perhaps I could not ask in the right way.' Then I asked, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, is there any Imam above you?' He said, 'No, there is no Imam above me.' He has said that then something struck my mind in a way that no one could know except Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious. It was a feeling of his greatness and awe greater than what I would feel in the presence of his father. Then I said, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, may I ask what I used to ask your father?' He said, 'Ask, you will have the answers but do not make them public. If you did so it would be slaughtering.' I asked him and found him to be like an ocean of knowledge that does not diminish. I then said, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, your Shi'a, followers and the followers of your father are in loss due to false guidance. Thus, can I meet them and call them to you? I will keep it secret.' He said, 'If you can find intelligent people inform them but make them to promise secrecy. If they make it public it will be slaughter,' he pointed with his hand to his throat.

"He (the narrator) has said that I then left him and met abu Ja'far al-Ahwal. He asked me, 'What is behind you?' I said, 'It is guidance.' I then informed him of the whole story. We then met al-Fudayl and abu Basir. They went to see him, heard his words, asked him and became certain of his Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority). Thereafter we met people in groups. Whoever went to see him he became certain of his Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority), except the tribe of 'Ammar and his companions. 'Abd Allah was left alone and no one would go to see him except a very few people. When he found out about the conditions he asked, 'What is the matter with the people?' They told him ('Abd Allah) that Hisham has prevented people from visiting you. Hisham has said that he ('Abd Allah) made many people ambush and beat me up.'"

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from Muhammad from Muhammad ibn so and so al-Waqifi (a certain sect) who has said the following:

"One of the sons of my uncle was called al-Hassan ibn 'Abd Allah. He was Zahid (restricted himself from worldly pleasures). He was the foremost in worship in his time. The Sultan would also observe cautions due to his assiduousness and seriousness in matters of religion. He even demanded the Sultan to respect and maintain the lawful and the unlawful rule with strictness. The Sultan exercised patience with him due to his virtuousness. It continued as such every day until one day, abu al-Hassan, Musa, recipient of divine supreme covenant, went to him while he was in the mosque and called him with a hand gesture. When he came near, the Imam said, 'O abu Ali, I like your practice very much and it makes me happy. However, you do not have any understanding. You must seek understanding.' He said, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, what is understanding?' He said, 'Go and try to understand and learn Hadith.' He then asked, 'From whom must I learn Hadith?' The Imam said, 'Learn from the scholars of law in Madina. Then read them before me to check (for authenticity).'

"The narrator has said that he then went, wrote (a few Hadith), came back and read them before him. The Imam deleted all of them and said to him, 'Go and learn how to understand'. The man was very serious in his religion. He kept watching abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, until one day he went out in search of a lost property and abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, met him on the way. He said, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, I will debate you before Allah unless you teach me how to have understanding.' The Imam explained to him about Amir al-Mu'minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and what had happened after the Messenger of Allah. He also explained to him about the two men and he agreed. Then he asked, 'Who was the Leader with Divine Authority after Amir al-Mu'minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant?' He said, 'Al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was the Leader with Divine Authority, then al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant. He mentioned, 'A'immah (Leaders with Divine Authority) one after the other up to his own self and remained silent.'

"The narrator has said that the man then asked, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, who is the Leader with Divine Authority today?' The Imam asked, 'Were I to tell, would you then accept?' He said, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, yes, I would accept.' He said, 'I am the one (Leader with Divine Authority).' He then asked, 'Is there any evidence I can use as proof?' The Imam said, 'Go to that tree. He pointed out with his hand to 'Umm Ghaylan and said to it, 'Musa ibn Ja'far says, 'Come to me.' He has said, 'I then went to the tree and saw it, by Allah, cutting the earth a real cut until it stood before him. Then he made a gesture and it returned.'

"The narrator said that he then acknowledged his Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority). He remained silent and devoted himself in worship and no one thereafter saw him speak.'"

Muhammad ibn Yahya and Ahmad ibn Muhammad have narrated from Muhammad ibn al-Hassan from Ibrahim ibn Hashim a similar Hadith.

Muhammad ibn Yahya and Ahmad ibn Muhammad have narrated from Muhammad ibn al-Hassan from Ahmad ibn al-Husayn from Muhammad ibn al-Tayyib from 'Abd al-Wahhab ibn Mansur from Muhammad ibn 'Abd al-'Ala' who has said the following:

"I heard from Yahya ibn Aktham, the judge in the city of Samarra, Iraq the following: He spoke only after serious efforts in debates, conversations, maintaining good relations and asking him about the knowledge of the members of the family of Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant. He said, 'Once when I was walking around the grave of the Messenger of Allah I saw Muhammad ibn Ali al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, also walking around the grave of the Messenger of Allah. We debated over the issues that I needed to understand. He explained them to me. I then said, 'By Allah, I want to ask you a question, but I swear by Allah that I feel shy.' He then said, 'I can tell you what you want to ask before you will ask me about it. You want to ask me about Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority).' I then said, 'By Allah, this is it.' He said, 'I am he.' I then asked, 'Is there any evidence and proof to support it?' He had a staff in his hand and it spoke, 'My master certainly is the Imam of this time and he is the Hujja (Leader with Divine Authority).'"

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad, or a person other than him from Ali ibn al-Hakam from al-Husayn ibn ‘Umar ibn Yazid who has said the following:

“Once I went to see Ali al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant. At that time I was a member of Waqifi sect. My father had asked his (al-Rida’s) father seven questions. He had replied to six of them and had refrained from answering the seventh. I said to myself, ‘By Allah, I will ask him what my father had asked his father, if his answers will be like those of his father it will serve as a good proof.’ I asked him those questions and his answers were just like the answers of his father to my father in the six questions. He did not add anything in the answer to six questions, not even a letter ‘W’ or letter ‘Y’, and refrained from answering the seventh question.

“My father had said to his father, ‘I will debate you before Allah on the Day of Judgment for your belief that ‘Abd Allah is not an Imam.’ He then had placed his hand over my father’s neck and said, ‘Yes, you may debate me about it before Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious. If there will be any sins in it, it will be on my neck.’

“When I said farewell to him he said, ‘Whoever of our Shi‘a suffers from any kind of afflictions or complaints and he bears it patiently, Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, will record for him an entitlement to a reward equal to the rewards of a thousand martyrs.’

“I then said to myself, ‘By Allah, there was no mention of this (in our conversations).’ I then left and on the way a vein in my leg began to feel very sore and the pain intensified. Next year when I went for Hajj I went to see him. My leg was still slightly painful. I complained before him of the pain and requested him to say a prayer on it and I stretched it before him. He said, ‘There is nothing wrong with this leg, but show me your healthy leg.’ I then stretched it before him and he said a protective prayer. When I left, a little later on, my leg began to feel the pain in a vein, but it was very little.”

Ahmad ibn Mihran has narrated from Muhammad ibn Ali from ibn Qiyaman al-Wasiti, a member of the waqifa sect, who has said the following:

“Once I went to see Ali ibn Musa al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and I asked him, ‘Can there be two Imam (Leaders with Divine Authority) at the same time?’ He said, ‘No, unless one of them is silent.’ I then asked, ‘What about yourself? There is no silent Imam with you.’ His son, abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was not yet born. He said, ‘By Allah, Allah will create from me someone to establish the truth and the people of truth and banish falsehood and the people of falsehood.’ After a year thereafter abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was born. It was asked of ibn Qiyaman, ‘Does this sign not convince you?’ He then said, ‘By Allah, the sign is great, but what can I say about the words of abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about his son.’” (It perhaps is a reference to al-Bada’).

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from Mu‘alla ibn Muhammad from (al-Hassan ibn Ali) al-Washsha’ who has said the following:

“I came to Khurasan when I was a member of the Waqifa sect. I had certain goods with me. In these goods there was a printed piece of fabric in one of the bundles. It was misplaced and I did not know where it was. When I arrived in Marv and found lodging, a man who was born in the city of Madina came by and said to me, ‘Abu al-Hassan al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said to you, ‘Send to me the piece of printed fabric that is with you.’ I then asked, ‘Who has told abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about my arrival here? I have just arrived. There is no printed fabric with me.’ He went back to the Imam and returned to me saying, ‘The Imam says, ‘It is in such and such place and in such and such bundle.’ I then looked for it as he had said and found it at the bottom of the bundle, and then I sent it to him.’”

Ibn Faddal has narrated from ‘Abd Allah ibn al-Mughira who has said the following:

“I was a member of Waqifa sect and I went to Hajj with the same belief. When I arrived in Makka an idea began to prick my chest. I got hold of al-Multazam (the wall next to the door of Ka‘ba) and said, ‘O Lord, You know what I ask for and my intention. Guide me to the best of the religions. It then occurred to me to see al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant. I went to the city of Madina and stood in front of his door and said to his slave, ‘Tell your master that a man from Iraq is at the door.’ He has said that I heard his voice say, ‘O ‘Abd Allah ibn Mughira, come in.’ I then went inside and when he looked at me he said, ‘Allah has answered your prayer and has guided you to His religion.’ I then said, ‘I testify that you possess Divine Authority and you are the trustee of Allah over His creatures.’”

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from Mu‘alla ibn Muhammad from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn ‘Abd Allah who has said the following:

“‘Abd Allah ibn Hulayl believed ‘Abd Allah ibn (Ja’far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, to be the Imam. He went to the army headquarters in Samarra, Iraq and thereafter changed his belief. I asked him about the reason for such change. He said, ‘I thought (while in Samarra) I should discuss it with abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and ask him about it. Accidentally I came across him when passing through a narrow alley. He came closer and when parallel to me, he sent (as if throwing saliva) to me something out from his mouth and it landed on my chest. I then picked it up. It was a leaf with a writing on it that said, ‘He never was in it (position of Leadership with Divine Authority) and he has never been qualified for it (Leadership with Divine Authority).’”

Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from one of our people whose name he mentioned. He said that Muhammad ibn Ibrahim narrated to us, that Musa ibn Muhammad ibn ’Isma‘il ibn ‘Ubayd Allah ibn ‘Abbass ibn Ali ibn abu Talib narrated to us from Ja'far ibn Zayd ibn Musa from his father, from his ancestors, recipients of divine supreme covenant, the following:

“One day ’Umm Aslama came to the Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, when he was in the house of ’Umm Salama. She asked about the Messenger of Allah. ’Umm Salama replied that he had just gone out for something and that he might return soon. She then waited with ’Umm Salama until he (the Messenger of Allah) came. ’Umm Aslama then said, ‘May Allah keep my soul and the souls of my parents in service for your cause, Messenger of Allah, I have read the books and have learned about all the prophets and the executors of their wills. Musa (Moses) had an executor for his will even in his lifetime and an executor of the will after he died. So also was Jesus. Who then is the executor of your will, O the Messenger of Allah?’ He then said to her, ‘O ’Umm Aslama, the executor of my will in

He then turned it into a piece of clay and then printed his insignia on it and said, 'Whoever can do what I just did will be the executor of my will in my lifetime and after I will die.'

"She then left him. I said to him, 'May Allah keep my soul and the souls of my parents in service for your cause,' and I asked him, 'Are you the executor of the will of your brother?' He said, 'Yes, I am. Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from al-Husayn ibn Sa'id from al-Husayn ibn al-Jarud from Musa ibn Bakr ibn Dab from the one who narrated to him from abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"Zayd, ibn Ali ibn al-Husayn, once went to see abu Ja'far, Muhammad ibn Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant. He carried with him letters from the people of Kufa who invited him to their (city) and informed him of their unity and collective decision to ask him to rise. Abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then asked him, 'Are these letters their initiative or a response to what you had written to them and asked them to do?' He said that it was their initiative; they acknowledge our rights and because of our being from the family of the Messenger of Allah. It is also because of what they read in the book of Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, about the obligation to love and obey us. Also it is because of the suffering impediments and afflictions that we had been through.

"Abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said to him, 'Obedience is an obligation from Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious. It is a tradition, Sunnah, that He had established in the people of the past and in the same way it will continue in the later generations of the people. Obedience is only for one of us and to love is for all of us. The command of Allah applies to His friends because of the rules already made available and because of the decision already made distinct, because of the finalized decision and of the measurement that has already taken place and because of the appointed time on a certain date. Do not be hasty; Allah does not become hasty due to hastiness in the people. Do not try to surpass Allah; in your doing so, misfortune will defeat and destroy you.

"The narrator has said that Zayd became angry and said, 'The Imam from us is not the one who sits in his home; draw the curtain around him and hold back from struggle (jihad). The Imam from us is the one who safeguards his dominion, fights for the cause of Allah a real fight, defends those who hold high regard for him and his rights.'

"Abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, 'O brother, do you really find any of the things that you mentioned about yourself? If so, then can you show supporting proof from the book of Allah or evidence from the Sunnah of the Messenger of Allah or give a similar example? Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, made things lawful and unlawful. He has sanctioned the obligations, provided examples and set up traditions Sunan. He has not made the Imam, who rises with Divine Authority on His command, engulfed in doubts in the matters of the obligation of obedience to him. He has not made him as such that he would act upon an issue before its proper place and struggle for something before it is there yet. Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, has said, 'Believers, do not hunt when you are in the Holy precinct. . . .' (5:95) Is hunting an animal that has been made prohibited during Hajj more serious or the killing of a person that Allah has prohibited? Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, has assigned a place for everything. 'Once the restrictions of Hajj are over, you may hunt. . . .' (5:2) Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, has said, 'Believers, do not disrespect the reminders of Allah, the sacred months, . . .' (5:2) He has made the number of months well-known of which four are sacred ones. He has said, '. . . during the four sacred months, they (pagans) may travel peacefully through the land. You (pagans) must know that you cannot make Allah helpless . . .' (9:2) Then Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has said, 'When the sacred months are over, slay the pagans wherever you find them. . . .' (9:5) He has assigned a place for it. He has also said, 'Do not decide for a marriage before the appointed time is over. . . .' (2:235) He has assigned a time for everything and for every period of time there is Kitab (a rule). If you may have the necessary evidence from your Lord, certainty from yourself in your affairs and you know well about it then you may act accordingly. Otherwise, do not aim at an issue in which you have doubt and uncertainty. Do not act to end a kingdom the sustenance of which is not yet exhausted; its time has not ended and its Kitab (rule) has not reached its time. When its time comes, its sustenance diminishes and its rule reaches its time, the gap will be removed and the system will follow and Allah will make the followers (of falsehood) and those followed to suffer humiliation.'

"O brother, do you want to revive the ways of a people who have rejected the signs of Allah, disobeyed His Messenger, followed their desires, without guidance from Allah, claimed the Khilafa (Leadership with Divine Authority) without authority and evidence from Allah, or a covenant from the Messenger of Allah? I pray to Allah to grant you, O brother, refuge from being crucified tomorrow in al-Kunasa.' Then his eyes became flooded with tears that flowed down and then he said, 'Allah is between us and the people who disregarded our honor, ignored our rights,

Certain persons of our people have narrated from Muhammad ibn Hassa’n from Muhammad ibn Ranjawayh from ‘Abd Allah ibn al-Hakam al-Armani from ‘Abd Allah ibn Ibrahim ibn Muhammad al-Ja'fari who has said the following:

“Once we went to offer our condolences to Khadijah, daughter of ‘Umar ibn Ali ibn al-Husayn ibn Ali ibn abu Talib, recipient of divine supreme covenant, for the death of the son of her daughter. We found her at the place of Musa ibn ‘Abd Allah ibn al-Hassan. She was to one side near the women. We offered our condolences to all of them. We then turned to him (Musa ibn ‘Abd Allah) and he asked abu Yashkur’s daughter, the reader of lamentations, to recite what she wanted to recite. She then recited the following lines:

Of our family is the Messenger of Allah, and after him, the lion of the Lord, (Hamza) and thirdly is ‘Abbass, of our family is Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, the embodiment of goodness and Ja'far,
Of our family is ‘Aqil, after him all leaders.

“He said, ‘Very good, it was very moving. Please recite more.’ She was encouraged and said:

Of our family is the leader of the pious ones, the Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant,
And the chief of his army that purified Imam, (Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant),
From us is Ali his son in-law and cousin,
And from us is Hamza and the well disciplined Ja'far.

“We stayed with her until it was almost night. Khadija said, ‘I heard my uncle Muhammad ibn Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say that a woman’s reading lines of lamentation is good only if her tears flow down. It is not proper for her to say meaningless things. When night falls then you should not disturb the angels with your lamentations.’

“We then left her and went to her house next day and discussed with her the issue of separating her residence from the house of abu ‘Abd Allah, Ja'far ibn Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant. He (Musa) then said, ‘This is called the stolen house.’ She then said, ‘This is what our Mahdi (meaning thereby ‘Abd Allah ibn al-Hassan), has chosen.’ She would say such things to him in a teasing manner.

“Musa ibn ‘Abd Allah then said, ‘By Allah, I can tell you a very strange matter that I experienced with my father. When my father, may Allah grant him blessings, became involved in the affairs of Muhammad ibn ‘Abd Allah and gathered his companions to meet him he decided to go and he would lean on me. I went with him until we came to abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant. We met him outside when he wanted to go to the mosque. My father stopped him and spoke to him. Abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘This is not a proper place to talk. We, Allah willing, will meet again.’ My father returned very happy. He waited until morning or the next day and then we went to see him (the Imam). My father and I met him and he (my father) began to speak. Among other things he said to him (the Imam) was, ‘May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, you know already that I am older than you. Among your people there are those who are older than you but Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, has granted you extra excellence that is not found in any of your people. I have come to you, to depend on your virtue and I know, may Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, if you agree with me others will not differ. None of your companions will disagree with me and no one from the people of Quraysh or others will dispute me.'

"Abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said to him, 'You can certainly find other people more obedient to you than I and then you will not need me. You know that I, by Allah, want to move to an empty land or think about it but I feel heavy in doing so. I want Hajj but I cannot attain it without hard work and exhaustion and hardship for myself. You should find others to support you but do not say that you have met me.' He (my father) then said, 'The people look up to you. If you support me no one will disagree. You do not have to suffer fighting or hardships.'

"The narrator has said that then people surrounded us and our talks were discontinued. My father asked, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, what do you say?' He said, 'You will meet me, Allah willing' He then asked, 'Will it be the way I love?' He (the Imam) said, 'It will, Allah willing, be the way you love in your favor.' He came home and sent a messenger to Muhammad in the mountains at Juhayna, called al-Ashqar, two nights journey from Madina. He gave him the glad news and informed him of his success in the task that he had asked for (support from Ja'far ibn Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, for his uprising).

"After three days we went again and stood before the door. We had not been stopped before. The messenger delayed but then gave us permission. We went inside and I sat on one side of the room. My father went close to him, kissed his head and said, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, I have come again with hopes and expectation expanding with a wish to achieve what I need.'

"Abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, 'O son of my uncle, I beseech Allah's protection for you and ask you not to become involved in this matter (political uprising). I am afraid for you from evil. The talks continued between them and they ended with what he (my father) did not want. He said, 'For what reason was al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, more deserving than al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, (in leaving Imamat, Leadership with Divine Authority) to his descendents?'

"Abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'May Allah grant blessings to al-Hassan and al-Husayn, recipients of divine supreme covenant. How could you mention this?' He (my father) said, 'Were al-Husayn to act with justice, he should have left it (Imamat) to the eldest son of al-Hassan.' Abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'When Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, sent revelations to Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, He did so as He wanted. He did not ask anyone else for consultation. Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, commanded Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, for whatever he wanted and he obeyed the order. We say nothing else in it except what the Messenger of Allah has said in his (al-Husayn's) praise and affirmation. Had he (the Holy Prophet) commanded al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, to transfer it (the will) to the eldest or to the sons of both of them he would have done so. He is not accused of anything before us such as keeping for himself. He could have done anything he wanted but he did only what he was commanded to do. He is your grandfather

(from mother's side) and your uncle. It is better for you to speak good things about him. If you say meaningless things about him, then may Allah forgive you. O son of my uncle, obey me and listen to my words. By Allah, besides Whom there is no Lord, I do not refrain from giving you good advice. How is it that you do not act accordingly? There is no escape from the commands of Allah.' My father became happy at this point.

"Abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said to him, 'By Allah, you know that the oblique eyed with few hairs on his forehead will be killed at the doorway of al-Ashja', near the bottom of the water bed.' My father said, "That is not him. By Allah, he will fight them a day for a day, an hour for an hour and a year for a year. He will avenge for all of the descendents of abu Talib.'

"Abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, 'May Allah forgive you, how much I fear the applicability of this line to him:

Your soul in private gave you false hopes.

'No, by Allah, he will not gain more than the walls of Madina and cannot reach Taef no matter how hard he may try. What must happen happens. Be pious before Allah and have mercy on yourself and on the sons of your father. By Allah, I consider him to be the most unfortunate seed that man has ever deposited in the wombs of women. By Allah, he will be killed at the doorway of al-Ashja' among their houses. By Allah, it is as if I see him. He is dropped dead and looted and a brick placed between his legs. Nothing that is said to him benefits this boy.' Musa ibn 'Abd Allah has said, 'Such words were a reference to me.'

"The Imam then said, 'He will take part in the uprising but will be defeated and his friend will be killed. He then will take part in another uprising under another banner. Their leader will be killed and their soldiers will disperse. If he will obey me, immunity for him may be achieved from the descendent of 'Abbass until Allah will grant relief. You already know that this matter will not become successful. You know and we know that your son, the oblique eyed with few hairs on his forehead, will be killed at the doorway of al-Ashja', near their house in the bottom of the water bed.'

"My father stood up saying, 'In fact, Allah will make us needless of you or you will change or He will make you come back with the others. You only in this way are keeping others from helping us or have become a reason for them not to help us.' Abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, 'Allah knows that I only want to give you good advice and guidance and that is all I can try.'

"My father then left with his clothes dragging behind him due to anger. Abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, reached him out and said, 'I heard your uncle who also is your maternal uncle mention that you and the sons of your father will be killed. If you can obey me and do what is good then do it. By Allah beside Whom there is no Lord, Who knows the unseen and what is present, the Beneficent, the Merciful, The Most Great, the Most High, you are important to me. Nothing is more important to me than you. I love to sacrifice the most beloved of my sons and most beloved person in my family to protect you. Do not think that I have cheated you.'

"My father left with anger and regrets. Thereafter we did not wait for more than twenty nights or so. The messengers of abu Ja'far (the Abbassid ruler) came and arrested my uncles. Sulayman ibn Hassan, Hassan ibn Hassan, Ibrahim ibn Hassan, Dawud ibn Hassan, Ali ibn Hassan, Sulayman ibn Dawud, Hassan, Ali ibn Ibrahim ibn Hassan, Hassan ibn Ja'far ibn Hassan, Taba taba Ibrahim ibn 'Isma'il ibn Hassan and 'Abd Allah ibn Dawud were my uncles.

"They were tied in chains and placed on camels' backs without covering. They were placed on display in the Musalla area (open space for congregational prayer) so that people could condemn them. People did not do so. In fact, they sympathized with them because of their poor conditions. Then they were released. They stood before the door of the mosque of the Messenger of Allah.

"'Abd Allah ibn Ibrahim al-Ja'fari has said that Khadija daughter of 'Umar ibn Ali said to us, 'When they were made to stand before the door of the mosque, called the Gate of Jibril, abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, came to them, while his gown dragged behind him in a hurry. He came out of the door of the mosque saying, 'May Allah condemn you, O people of Madina–three times. The messenger of Allah did not covenant with you for this nor had you pledged allegiance to him for such things. By Allah, I was hopeful, but I am defeated and there is no escape from the decision of Allah.' He then left one shoe on his foot and one in his hand with his gown dragging behind. He went home and suffered from fever for twenty days weeping day and night and we became very afraid for his life,' narrated Khadija.

"Al-Ja'fari has said that Musa ibn 'Abd Allah ibn Hassan narrated that when they appeared on the backs of the camels abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, came out of the mosque and bent over 'Abd Allah ibn Hassan to speak to him. He was harshly stopped and the security man pushed him aside saying, 'Get away from him. May Allah fendoff your evil intents and others like you.' They then were taken to the streets and abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, went home. Before they reached the graveyard al-Baqi', the security man faced a severe misfortune. His camel hit him at his leg and crushed it and he died very soon. The people were taken away. After a while Muhammad ibn 'Abd Allah ibn Hassan came and told that his father and his uncles were killed. Abu Ja'far (the Abbassid ruler) killed them. Only Hassan ibn Ja'far, Taba taba, Ali ibn Ibrahim, Sulayman ibn Dawud, Dawud ibn Hassan, and 'Abd Allah ibn Dawud were not killed.

"At that time Muhammad ibn 'Abd Allah rose and called people for a pledge of allegiance to him. I (the narrator) was one of the three people to pledge allegiance to him. No one from Quraysh, from Ansar (people of Madina) or an Arab opposed him. He consulted 'Isa ibn Yazid, a trusted person to him and a commander of his army. He consulted with him in the matter of sending a message to the leaders of his people. 'Isa ibn Yazid said to him, 'If you just call them, they may not respond. You must become strong and strict with them. Thus, allow me to handle it for you. Muhammad agreed and said, 'Do what you like.' He then said, 'Send to their leader and the greatest among them, namely abu 'Abd Allah Ja'far ibn Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant. If you become strict with him, all will learn that they also will experience what he has been through.'

"The narrator has said, 'In very little time they brought abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and made him stand up before him (Muhammad). 'Isa ibn Yazid said, 'Submit and you will be safe.' Abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then asked, 'Have you invented a prophet-hood after Prophet Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant?' Muhammad then said, 'No, but pledge allegiance and your life, property and children will be protected and you will not have to fight. Abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, ‘I have nothing to do with war and fighting. I advised your father and warned him against what he went through, but warning does not help what is already measured. Son of my brother, find the young ones and leave the elderly alone.’ Muhammad said, ‘There is not much difference between my and your age.’ Abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘I am not here to defeat you or compete with you in what you do.’ Muhammad said, ‘By Allah, you must pledge allegiance.’ Abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘Son of my brother, I do not want a war, or to gain any worldly thing. I want to go out in the open land, but it is heavy for me. Even my family has asked me several times to do so. Only weakness holds me back. By Allah, and for the sake of family relations, save us from misfortune through your hands.’

“He then said, ‘O abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, by Allah, abu Dawaniq (Abbassid ruler) has died.’ Abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘What has that to do with me?’ He said, ‘I wanted honor through you.’ He then said, ‘There is no way for you to do that. By Allah, abu Dawaniq has not died, except in (your) dreams.’ He said, ‘By Allah you must pledge allegiance to me, voluntarily or by force but, then, if by force your pledge will lose its value.’ He (abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant) refused it strongly. He was sent to prison. ‘Isa ibn Yazid said, ‘There is not enough security in the prison and without tying him up he may run away.’ Abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, laughed and said, ‘There is no means and power without Allah, the Most High, the most Great. Will you imprison me?’ He said, ‘I swear by the One Who honored Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, with prophecy that I will imprison you severely.’ ‘Isa ibn Yazid said, ‘Keep him today in the stable that belongs to Rita.’ Abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, ‘By Allah I will soon say it and I will be confirmed.’ ‘Isa ibn Yazid said, ‘Be quiet or I will break your mouth.’ Abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘You who are blue eyed and bald say this. I can see you looking for a hole in which to hide. You are not even worthy to be mentioned. On meeting (the enemy) even if one would clap his hands behind you, you will run away like an ostrich. Muhammad ordered ‘Isa ibn Yazid to imprison him and be strict with him.’

“Abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘By Allah it is as if I see you coming out of the doorway of al-Ashja‘ to the bottom of the waterbed in the valley. A man on a marked horse has attacked with a spear in his hand, half white and half black, riding a brown horse with a white forehead. He hits you but it does not kill you. You hit the nose of his horse and it is injured. Another man attacks you from the alley of Ale abu ‘Ammar al-Du’iliyyin. He has two bands of hair coming out of his helmet with a thick mustache. He, by Allah, is your adversary. May Allah have no mercy on his bones.’

“Muhammad said, ‘O abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, you have calculated but you have made a mistake.’ At this time Al-Suraqi ibn al-Salkh al-Hut came to him and pushed him (abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant) into the prison. They looted his (abu ‘Abd Allah’s, recipient of divine supreme covenant) properties and the properties of those of his people who did not come out with Muhammad. After this they brought ’Isma‘il ibn ‘Abd Allah ibn

Ja'far ibn Abu Talib who was very old and weak. One of his eyes was gone and both of his legs did not work. He had to be carried. He was asked to pledge allegiance to him. He said, ‘Son of my brother, I am an old man and weak. I need your kindness and support.’ He (Muhammad) said, ‘You must pledge allegiance.’ He asked, ‘What is the benefit of my pledge of allegiance? By Allah, my name will only waste the space for the name of a man.’ He said, ‘You must do so.’ He used strong language with him. ’Isma‘il then said, ‘Call for me Ja'far ibn Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, perhaps we both pledge allegiance for you.’

“The narrator has said that when Ja'far ibn Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was brought, ’Isma‘il said to him, ‘May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, if you explain to him we perhaps will all be spared.’ He said, ‘I have decided not to talk to him. Let him do whatever he wants.’ ’Isma‘il said to abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, ‘By Allah, tell me if you remember the day I came to see your father, Muhammad ibn Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and I had two pieces of yellow cloth on me. He looked at me for a long time and wept. I asked for the reason. He said, ‘I wept because you will be killed when very old for no reason and not even two goats will fight for you (no one will ask justice for you).’ I asked, ‘When is that?’ He said, ‘It will happen when you will be called to follow falsehood and you will refuse. When you will see the abusive oblique-eyed person whose people from the family of al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, on the pulpit of the Messenger of Allah, call people to follow him and will give himself a name that he does not deserve. At such time you must renew your covenant, make your will; you will be murdered on that day or the next day.’

“Abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘Yes, by the Lord of the Ka‘ba he (Muhammad ibn ‘Abd Allah) does not fast in the month of Ramadan except for a few days. I leave you in the trust of Allah, O abu al-Hassan. May Allah grant us great rewards for loosing you. May He grant well-being to those whom you leave behind. We are for Allah and to Him we will return.’

“The narrator has said, ‘`Isma‘il was carried away and abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was sent to prison.’ He has said, ‘By Allah, only that evening the sons of his brother, the sons of Mu‘awiya ibn ‘Abd Allah ibn Ja'far went on him and crushed (his bones) under their feet. Muhammad ibn ‘Abd Allah released Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant.’

“The narrator has said, ‘When it was the month of Ramadan ‘Isa ibn Musa began his uprising to occupy Madina.’ He has said, ‘Muhammad ibn ‘Abd Allah came with Yazid ibn Mu‘awiya ibn ‘Abd Allah ibn Ja'far leading his army. In front of the army of ‘Isa ibn Musa there were the sons of al-Hassan ibn Zayd ibn al-Hassan ibn al-Hassan and al-Qasim and Muhammad ibn Zayd, Ali and Ibrahim, sons of al-Hassan ibn Zayd. Yazid ibn Mu‘awiya was defeated and ‘Isa ibn Musa came to Madina. Fighting took place in Madina. ‘Isa camped at mount Dhubab. The blacks (army of Abbassids who wore black attire) came from behind. Muhammad with his people went up to the market place then followed them to the mosque of al-Khawamin. There he looked around. There were no blacks. There were no white soldiers (opposed to Abbassids). He advanced to Sha‘b Faraza then to Hudhayl then he went al-Ashja‘. Here a horseman about whom abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, had spoken came out from the doorway of Hudhayl and struck him a blow. It did not do anything to him. He attacked the horseman and cut the nose of his horse with sword. The horseman hit him and penetrated the coat of arms. Muhammad turned to him and hit and killed him. Then Humayd ibn Qahtaba came on him when he was turning away from the horseman. He was hit from the alley of al-‘Ammariyyin. One hit of the spear penetrated his coat of arms, but the spear broke. He attacked Humayd and hit him with the spear. Humayd then with the iron part of the broken spear hit him fatally, he then came down and hit him until he was dead. He took his head away. The soldiers came from all sides and Madina was taken and we were exiled all over the place.’

“Musa ibn ‘Abd Allah has said, ‘I then left until I met Ibrahim ibn ‘Abd Allah. I found ‘Isa ibn Zayd hiding. I told him of his bad management and journeyed with him until he died, may Allah have mercy on him. I then continued with the son of my brother, al-Ashtar ‘Abd Allah ibn Muhammad ibn ‘Abd Allah ibn Hassan until he also died in Sind. I then came back with no place to go to and I was afraid. I remembered what abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, had said. I came to al-Mahdi (an Abbassid ruler) in Hajj where he was speaking to people in the shadow of the walls of Ka‘ba. He did not notice when I stood up below the pulpit. I asked, ‘Can I have immunity, O Amir al-Mu’minin if I give you a good advice?’ He said, ‘Yes, but what is it?’ I said, ‘I can show you where Musa ibn ‘Abd Allah ibn Hassan is.’ He said, ‘Yes, you will have security and protection.’ I said, ‘I ask for guarantees. I then asked for covenant and affirmation until I was certain of the security. Then I said, ‘I am Musa ibn ‘Abd Allah.’ He said, ‘You are respected and you will live.’ I then said, ‘Show me among your people one who will support me for living.’ He said, ‘Look at whoever you like.’ I said, ‘Your uncle, Abbass ibn Muhammad should support me. He refused. I begged him then he agreed willingly or compelled.’ Al-Mahdi asked, ‘Who knows you?’ All or most of the people around him were, our people. I said, ‘This al-Hassan ibn Zayd knows me. This Musa ibn Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, knows me. This al-Hassan ibn ‘Abd Allah ibn ‘Abbass knows me.’ They said, ‘Yes, O Amir al-Mu’minin we know him as if he was not absent from us.’ I then said to al-Mahdi, ‘O Amir al-Mu’minin, the father of this man - I pointed out to Musa ibn Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, - had told me of this position.’

“Musa ibn ‘Abd Allah has said, I lied against Ja’far and I said, ‘He (the Imam) asked me to convey greetings of peace to you.’ He (‘Abbassid ruler) said, ‘He is a just and generous Imam.’ He has said, ‘Then the ruler ordered to give five thousand Dinars to Musa ibn Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant. Musa ibn Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, ordered to give me two thousand out of it. He helped me and he helped his people. As the sons of Muhammad ibn Ali ibn al-Husayn are mentioned you should say, “May Allah and His angels, the carriers of His throne, the angels writers of the deeds send blessing upon them especially abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant. May Allah grant Musa ibn Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, on my behalf good rewards. I, by Allah, am a servant of them after being the servant of Allah.”””

“When al-Husayn ibn Ali who was killed in al-Fakh, began his uprising, he controlled the city of Madina and called Musa ibn Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, to pledge allegiance to him. When he was brought before him (al-Husayn) he (Musa ibn Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant) said, ‘Son of my uncle, do not impose on me what the son of your uncle imposed on your uncle abu ‘Abd Allah (Ja'far ibn Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant) and then you will experience from me what I do not want as it happened with abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant.’

“Al-Husayn said to him, ‘I just proposed the matter to you. If you like you may take part in it, if you dislike it I will not impose on you, Allah is the supporter.’ He then said farewell to him. Abu al-Hassan, Musa ibn Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said to him when saying farewell, ‘Son of my uncle, you will be killed, fight a good fight. The people are transgressors. They call themselves believers but they hide in them atheism. We are for Allah and to Him we return. I leave my request for justice, on your behalf and my people, to Allah.’ Al-Husayn then went to fight. His case took shape the way it did. All of them were killed as the Imam had informed.’”

Through the same chain of narrators it is narrated from ‘Abd Allah ibn Ibrahim al-Ja'fari who has said the following:

“Once Yahya ibn ‘Abd Allah ibn al-Hassan wrote to Musa ibn Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, ‘Thereafter, I recommend myself to maintain piety before Allah as I want to recommend you also; it has been the recommendation of Allah to the people of the past as well as to the later generations. People pious before Allah and who are reliable have informed me that you express sympathy for us, but, at the same time, refuse to support us. I consulted about calling people to pledge allegiance to such person from the family of Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who is acceptable to people. You disagreed and your father had disagreed before you. For a long time you had claimed what was not for you. You expanded your hopes toward what Allah did not grant you. You followed your desires and strayed. I warn you of what Allah has warned about.’

“Abu al-Hassan, Musa ibn Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, wrote to him, ‘From Musa ibn abu ‘Abd Allah, Ja'far and Ali (ibn abu Talib), recipients of divine supreme covenant, who both will share the rewards for their humbleness before Allah and obedience to Him, to Yahya ibn ‘Abd Allah ibn Hassan. Thereafter, I warn you of being mindless about Allah as I warn myself as such about Him. I ask you to take notice of His painful torments, severe punishments and His complete penalties. I recommend you as well as myself to be pious before Allah. Piety before Allah is the beauty in speech and the establishment of the blessings. I received your letter in which you have said that my father and I have the claim (for leadership) from long before and that you have not heard it from me (personally). The Holy Quran says, ‘. . . their testimony will soon be recorded and they will be questioned about it.’(43:19) The greed for worldly gains has left nothing to gain from the benefits of the next life; in fact, their gains and the benefits of the next life are destroyed because of their worldly desires. You have mentioned that I keep people from following you because of my desire to achieve what you have achieved. In fact, weakness in the (knowledge of) Sunnah or lack of understanding

Chapter Eighty Two

It is Undesirable to Setup Time Limits for the Reappearance of the Twelfth Imam, Recipient of Divine Supreme Covenant

H 931, Ch. 82, h 1

Ali ibn Muhammad and Muhammad ibn al-Hassan have narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad and Muhammad ibn Yahya from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Isa all from al-Hassan ibn Mahbub from abu Hamza al-Thumali who has said the following:

"I heard abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say, 'O Thabit, Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, had set a time for it (Divine Government on earth) in the year seventy, but when al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was murdered Allah's anger became more intense on the people on earth. He delayed it until one hundred forty. At that time we spoke to you about it and you publicized this Hadith and disclosed the secret. Allah thereafter has not set any time limit that we know of. Allah obliterates whatever He wants and establishes whatever He wants; with Him is the original book.'

"Abu Hamza has said, 'I narrated the above Hadith to abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and he said, 'It was just as you said.'"

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Salma ibn al-Khattab from Ali ibn Hassa'n from 'Abd al-Rahman ibn al-Kathir who has said the following:

"Once I was in the presence of abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, when Mihzam came in and said to the Imam, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, enlighten me about this matter that we wait for (the rise of al-Mahdi with Divine Authority and power). When will it take place?'

"The Imam said, 'O Mihzam, those who give it a definite time have lied, the expediting ones perish and salvation is for those who are submissive (to the words of Allah and 'A'immah).'"

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn Khalid from his father form al-Qasim ibn Muhammad from Ali ibn abu Hamza from abu Basir who has said the following:

"Once I asked abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about al-Qa'im (the one who will rise with Divine Authority and power). He said, 'Those who give it a definite time have spoken lies. We, Ahl al-Bayt, do not set up a definite time for it.'"

Ahmad has narrated through his chain of narrators from the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, the following:

"Allah disdains people's setting time limits (for reappearance of the one who will rise with Divine Authority) to come true."

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from Mu'alla ibn Muhammad from al-Hassan ibn Ali al-Khazzaz from 'Abd al-Karim ibn 'Umar al-Khath'ami from al-Fudayl ibn Yasar who has said the following:

"Once I asked abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'Is there a definite time for this matter (the rise of al-Mahdi with Divine Authority and power)?' He said, 'Those who arrange a definite time have lied, those who arrange a definite time have lied, those who arrange a definite time have lied. When Musa (Moses) came out to delegate before his Lord and gave the people a definite time for his return and Allah added another ten days his people said, "He has broken his promise." Then they did what they did. When we say a Hadith (a statement to you), and if our Hadith comes true you should say, 'Allah has spoken the truth.' Muhammad ibn Yahya and Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Idris have narrated from Muhammad ibn Ahmad from al-Sayyari from al-Hassan ibn Ali ibn Yaqtin from his brother from his father Ali ibn Yaqtin who has said the following:

"Once abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said to me, 'The Shi'a have lived on hopes for two hundred years.' The narrator has said that Yaqtin (Ali ibn Yaqtin) said to me, 'We did not have to worry. Why is it that what was said to us came true and what is said to you has not come true yet?'

"Ali then said to him, 'What was said to you and what is said to us all come from one source, except that good news for you has come true and you received it pure. It was just as it was said to be. The good news for us has not yet come true. We thus entertain ourselves with hopes. Were we told that it would take place after two or three hundred years our hearts could harden and the masses might turn back from Islam. However, their saying that it will come very soon and in near future is to encourage people about the coming of relief.'"

"After the assassination of 'Uthman, when people pledged allegiance to Amir al-Mu'minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, he addressed the people from the pulpit and delivered a sermon (that abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, mentioned). Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Isa from al-Hassan ibn Mahbub from 'Umar ibn Thabit from Jabir who has said the following:

"Once I asked abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the words of Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious: '. . . Certain people consider certain things equal to Allah and love them just as one should love Allah. . . .' (2:165)

"The Imam said, 'They, by Allah, are the friends of so and so and so and so whom they have taken as their 'A'immah (leaders without Divine Authority) instead of the 'A'immah (Leaders with Divine Authority) who are appointed for people as such by Allah. For this reason He has said, '. . . had the unjust been able to reflect upon their condition, when facing the torment, they would have had no doubt that to Allah belongs all power and that He is stern in His retribution (2:165). When the leaders see the torment and lose all their resources, they will denounce their followers (2:166). The followers will say, "If we had the chance we also would have denounced our leaders." That is how Allah will show them their regrettable deeds. They will not be able to escape from hellfire.' (2:167)

"Then abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'By Allah, O Jabir, they are the unjust 'A'immah (leaders without Divine Authority) and their followers.'"

Chapter Eighty Six

Following a Religion in the Name of Allah Without the Imam (Leader With Divine Authority)

H 963, Ch. 86, h 1

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad (from) ibn abu Nasr who has said the following:

"About the words of Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious: 'Who strays more than one who follows his desires without guidance from Allah? . . .' (28:50), abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, 'It refers to those who consider their own opinions as their religion without a true Imam from the 'A'immah (Leaders with Divine Authority).'"

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Muhammad ibn al-Husayn from Safwan ibn Yahya from al-'Ala' ibn Razin from Muhammad ibn Muslim who has said the following:

"I heard abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say, 'One who follows a religion in the name of Allah and worships Him assiduously without acknowledging the Imam (Leader with Divine Authority), his toiling and efforts will not be accepted. In fact, he is lost and confused and Allah disdains his deeds. Such person's case and example is like a sheep that has lost its shepherd and flock and runs back and forth the whole day. As the night falls, this sheep finds a flock of sheep with a shepherd. The (lost) sheep then joins the flock affectionately, that in fact is only a deception and not her own flock of sheep. The lost sheep passes the night in their shelter but when the shepherd leads the flock to the pasture the lost sheep feels lost and away from the flock and the shepherd, thus runs back and forth in search of the flock and the shepherd. Then it finds a flock of sheep with a shepherd and affectionately joins them but, in fact, suffers a deception. This shepherd shouts at the lost sheep saying, "Go and find your own flock and shepherd. You are lost, confused and you are without a flock and shepherd." The lost sheep then runs back and forth in confusion, fear and frustration without a shepherd to guide it to the pasture and to the shelter. While the lost sheep is caught up in such confusion a wolf seizes the opportunity and kills the lost sheep for food. So also, by Allah, O Muhammad, is the case of a person from this 'Umma (nation) who lives without an Imam (Leader) from Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, the Imam whose Divine Authority is clearly supported with evidence and who is just in his dealings. A person without such Imam is lost and confused and if he dies in such condition, his death is like dying in disbelief and hypocrisy. O Muhammad, bear in mind properly that the unjust 'A'immah (leaders without Divine Authority) and their followers are far away from the religion of Allah. They are lost and misleading. Their deeds that they do are like the dust blown by the winds away in a windy day, which go out of hand as useless matters. Thus is straying far away from the truth.'"

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Isa from ibn Mahbub from 'Abd 'Aziz al-'Abdi from 'Abd Allah ibn abu Ya'fur who has said the following:

"Once I said to abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'I meet people and it increases my wonder when I find people who do not consider you (Ahl al-Bayt) as their guardians and 'A'immah (Leaders with Divine Authority) but they consider so and so as their Imam. However, they are trustworthy, truthful and loyal. I also find people who consider you as their guardians and 'A'immah (Leaders with Divine Authority) but are not trustworthy, loyal and truthful.'

"Abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then sat in an upright position and turned to me as if angered, and then said, 'One who follows the religion of Allah under the guardianship of an unjust Imam who does not possesses Divine Authority, has no religion. One who follows the religion of Allah under the guardianship of an Imam who is just in his dealings and possesses Divine Authority, will suffer no negative effect.'

"I then asked, 'Do those, in fact, have no religion, and these face no destruction?' The Imam said, 'That is correct. Those have no religion and these face no destruction.' Then the Imam said, 'Have you not heard the words of Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious: 'Allah is the Guardian of the believers and it is He who takes them out of darkness into light. . . .' (2:257) It means that He takes them out of the darkness of sins to the light of repentance and forgiveness because of their love for and their being under the guardianship of the just 'A'immah who possess Divine Authority. He has also said, 'The Devil is the guardian of those who deny the Truth and he leads them from light to darkness. . . .' (2:257) It means that they were in the light of Islam but when they accepted the guardianship and the leadership of every unjust Imam who possessed no authority from Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, their guardianship took them out of the light of Islam to the darkness of disbelief. Allah then made it necessary for them to suffer in fire along with the unbelievers, '. . . these are the dwellers of hell wherein they will live forever.'" (2:257)

He has narrated from Hisham ibn Salim from Habib al-Sajistani from abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has said, 'I will cause to suffer punishment all those (citizens) who live a religious life in Islam with belief in and acknowledgement of the guardianship of unjust 'A'immah (leaders without Divine Authority) who do not possess authority from Allah, even though such followers are (apparently) virtuous and pious in their deeds. Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from ibn Jumhur from his father from Safwan from ibn Muskan from 'Abd Allah ibn Sinan from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"Allah will not be embarrassed to punish an 'Umma (nation) that lives a religious life with acknowledgement of the guardianship of an unjust Imam who does not possess authority from Allah, even though such people are virtuous and pious in their deeds. However, Allah will be embarrassed to punish a people who lives a religious life with acknowledgement of the guardianship of an Imam who is just in his dealings and possesses authority from Allah, even though they (such people) are unjust in their dealings and have committed sins."

I (the narrator) then asked, 'Is that what the Messenger of Allah has said?' The Imam said, 'Yes, by Allah, he has said so.' "The narrator has said I then asked, 'Is it death in disbelief (in religion)?' He said, 'It is death in error.' I then said, 'Thus, if one dies today and does not have an Imam is his death considered as if he has died in ignorance (without religion)?' He said, 'Yes, that is true.'"

"Abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, 'Whoever follows the religion of Allah without hearing (instructions) from a truthful (Imam) person, Allah will cause him inevitably to suffer hardships. Whoever claims to have heard from a source other than the one Allah has opened for him will be considered a polytheist. The source and door that Allah has opened is the one that is trustworthy in the matters of the hidden secrets of Allah.'"

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from ibn abu Nasr who has said the following:

“Once I asked al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, ‘Those from your own people, who reject you and other such people, are they the same?’ He replied, ‘Those of our own people who reject us (Leadership with Divine Authority) are considered as having committed twice as much sin and the good deeds from our own people who are virtuous are also considered as of twice as much value.’”

Chapter Eighty Nine

The Obligation and Duty of the People at the Time of the Passing Away of the Imam, Recipient of Divine Supreme Covenant

H 976, Ch. 89, h 1

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Muhammad ibn al-Husayn from Safwan from Ya'qub ibn Shu'ayb who has said the following:

"Once I asked abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'If something may happen to the Imam what should the people do?' The Imam asked, 'Where do the words of Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, apply: "Not all believers have to become specialists in religious learning. Why do not certain people from each group of believers seek to become specialists in religious learning, and after completing their studies, guide their group so that they will have fear of Allah." (9:122) The Imam then said, 'They will have good reason to be excused as long as they are searching and learning. So also are those who wait for them until they complete their religious education and return back to them.'"

H 977, Ch. 89, h 2

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from Muhammad ibn 'Isa from Yunus ibn 'Abd al-Rahman who has said that narrated to us Hammad from 'Abd al-A'la' who has said the following:

"Once I asked abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the statement of Sunni Muslims, al-'Amma, that says the Messenger of Allah has said, 'If a person dies without recognizing who his Imam is, his death is as if he has died the death of ignorance (pre-Islamic age of darkness).'

"The Imam said, 'That is very true, by Allah.' I then asked, 'What if the Imam passes away and a person is in Khurasan and does not know who the executor of the will of the Imam is? Is this a good excuse for him?' He (the Imam) said, 'No, that is not a good reason and an excuse. When the Imam leaves this world the authority of the executor of his will applies to those who live in the area. Also the obligation of searching to learn about one's duties applies to those who are not in the area but who have learned about the passing away of the Imam. Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, has said, "Not all believers have to become specialists in religious learning. Why do not some people from each group of believers seek to become specialists in religious learning, and after completing their studies, guide their group so that they will have fear of Allah?"' (9:122)

"I then asked, 'What if they did go to find out but certain ones from them died before they could find out?' He said, 'Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, has said, ". . . and one who dies, after having abandoned his home to get near to Allah and His Messenger, will receive his reward from Allah. . . ." (4:100) I asked, 'What if certain ones from them may reach your town but find out that you have closed your door and the curtains are drawn closed?' You would not call them to yourself and there might be no one to guide them to you. How then will they know about you?' He said, 'They can learn about me from the book that Allah has revealed.

"I then asked, 'How has Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, said it?' He said, 'I know that you have spoken to me about it before this day also.' I said, 'That is correct.' He then said, 'Recall what Allah has said about Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and what the Messenger of Allah said to him about al-Hassan and al-Husayn, what Allah has specially said about Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and what the Messenger of Allah has said about him about his will to him, appointing him, about their suffering and the acknowledgements of al-Hassan and al-Husayn, recipients of divine supreme covenant, of such facts. Recall the will of al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and his delivering it to al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant. Allah has said, "The Prophet has more authority over the believers than they themselves do. His wives are their mothers. The relatives are closer to each other, according to the Book of Allah. . . ." (33:6)

"I then said, 'People speak about abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and ask, 'How is it that Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority) has stepped out for him from among all the sons of his father, even though certain ones among them were closer to the Imam and older than him. The ones younger than he did not receive it just because they were younger?

"He said, 'The one who possesses this matter (Leadership with Divine Authority) can be recognized through three pieces of evidence that are not found with other people. He must have greater proximity to the preceding Imam and that must be the executor of the will of the preceding Imam. With him there must be the Armaments of the Messenger of Allah and the document of his will. This document is with me and no one disputes it.' I then asked, 'Is that kept secret and hidden for fear from the rulers?' He said, 'There is nothing secret and hidden but there is clear evidence for its existence and that it is available. What is there is what my father entrusted me with. When he was about to leave this world he asked me to call people to bear testimony for him. I then called four people from Quraysh among whom was Nafi', slave of 'Abd Allah ibn 'Umar. My father said, 'Write down, this is how the will of Jacob to his children reads, "Allah has chosen this religion for you. You must not leave this world unless you are a Muslim (submitted to the will of the Lord of the Universe)." (2:132) Muhammad ibn Ali made the same kind of will to his son, Ja'far ibn Muhammad and commanded him to shroud him in his own gown, which he would use during his Friday prayers. That his own turban must be used for him, that the surface of his grave should be given a square shape, raised by four fingers (three inches) from the ground and thereafter leave it that much only. Thereafter he wrapped up the document of the will and asked the witnesses to leave saying, "May Allah grant you blessings."' When they left I asked, 'What was in it O father, that you asked them to bear testimony to?' He said, 'I do not like that you will be defeated and people will say, "He left this world without a will." I wanted it to be a supporting authority for you. This is the fact that helps one who comes to the town and asks, "To whom did so and so make a will?" And he is answered, 'The will was made to so and so.'' I then asked, 'What if he (Imam) would be a partner in the will?' He said, 'You must ask him. He will explain it to you.'"

"Once I said to abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'May Allah grant you good health, we heard that you were not feeling well and it caused us great anxiety. Would that you had informed or taught us about who would be the succeeding Imam.'

Ahmad ibn Idris has narrated from Muhammad ibn 'Abd al-Jabbar from Safwan ibn Yahya from abu Jarir al-Qummi who has said the following:

"Once I said to abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, you know how devoted I have been toward your father and after him to yourself. I then swore before him by the rights of the Messenger of Allah and the rights of so and so and so and so ('A'immah) from Ali, al-Hassan, al-Husayn . . ., recipients of divine supreme covenant, up to his own self. I tried to assure him that whatever he may tell me will not be made public and spread to other people. I asked him about his father to find out if he was alive or had passed away.' He said, by Allah, his father had passed away. I then said, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, your followers (Shi'a) narrate that in him the traditions of four prophets are found.'

"He then said, 'In certainty, by Allah, besides whom there is no Lord, that he (my father) has passed away.' I asked, 'Is his passing away in the form of disappearance or in the form of death?' He then said, 'It is in the form of death.' I then said, 'Perhaps you are observing caution and are afraid of me.' He said, 'All glory belongs to Allah (that is not the case).' I then asked, 'Did he deliver his will to you?' He said, 'Yes, he did so.' I then asked, 'Has he made others as your partners in executing his will?' He said, 'No, he has not done so.' I then asked, 'Is there any Imam over you among your brothers?' He said, 'No, there is no one from them.' I then asked, 'Are you the Imam?' He said, 'Yes, I am the Imam (Leader with Divine Authority).'"

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from Mu'alla ibn Muhammad from Ali ibn Asbat who has said the following:

"Once I said to al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'A man troubled your brother Ibrahim and said to him, "Your father is still alive." You know of this case what he knows.' The Imam said, 'Glory belongs to Allah. The Messenger of Allah dies. How is it that Musa, recipient of divine supreme covenant, (Imam Musa al-Kazim) does not die? Certainly, by Allah, he passed away just as the Messenger of Allah passed away. However, Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, ever since He took His Prophet from this world has continued favoring the descendents of A'ajim (pl. of 'Ajam, meaning the Persians or non-Arabs) through granting this religion to them and has held it back from the people of His Prophet. Ever since, He has continued granting such favors to these (A'ajim) and withheld it from them (Arabs). In the month of Dhi al-Hajjah I paid off a thousand Dinars of his debts because of which he (his brother Ibrahim) was in great difficulties. He was about to divorce his wives, free his slaves and servants. You have heard the case of Yusuf and his brothers.'"

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from Mu'alla ibn Muhammad from al-Washsha' who has said the following:

"Once I said to abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'They have narrated from you about the death of abu al-Hassan (Musa al-Kazim), recipient of divine supreme covenant, that a man said to you, "You have learned of it (the death of your father) through the report of Sa'id.' He said, 'Sa'id came only after I had learned about it (death of my father).'

"The narrator has said, 'I asked the Imam, "I heard from him that you divorced mother of Farwa, daughter of Ishaq, in the month of Rajab, one day after the death of abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant. Did you divorce her when you knew that abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has died?"' The Imam said, 'Yes, I did so.' I asked him, 'Did you do so before Sa'id came to you?' The Imam said, 'Yes, I did so before Sa'id came.'"

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from al-Husayn from Safwan who has said the following:

"Once I requested abu al-Hassan al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'Enlighten me, when does an Imam come to know that he is the Imam? Does it take place when the preceding Imam has already passed away or when he is about to leave this world? For example abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, passed away in Baghdad and you were here (in Madina)?' The Imam said, 'He comes to know it at the time his companion (the preceding Imam) is about to leave this world.' I then asked, 'By what means does he come to know it?' He said, 'He comes to know of it through inspiration from Allah.'"

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from Muhammad ibn 'Isa from abu al-Fadl al-Shahbani from Harun ibn al-Fadl who has said the following:

"Once I saw abu al-Hassan Ali ibn Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, on the day abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, passed away. He said, 'To Allah we belong and to Him we return. Abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has passed away.' He was asked, 'How do you know that he has passed away?' He said, '(I learned it from) a form of humbleness before Allah that I had never experienced. It overwhelmed me.'"

"Abu Ibrahim commanded, at the time he was summoned to Baghdad, abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, to sleep every night at his (abu Ibrahim's) house until the family hears about him or the coming of the news of his death.

"We would prepare the bed for abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, every night in the terrace and he would come after the 'Isha (late evening) to rest and leave next morning for his own house. He has said that it continued for four years. One night he delayed and the bed was prepared for him. He did not come as he usually did. The family was alarmed and deeply saddened. His delay shocked and greatly overwhelmed us. In the morning he came to the house and went to the family room to 'Umm Ahmad (mother of Ahmad) and said to her, 'Please, bring me the things that my father had entrusted you with.' She began to cry, beat up her face and tear her cloth over her heart saying, 'My master, by Allah, has passed away.' He stopped her and said, 'Do not say anything to anyone and do not make it public before the news of his death comes to the governor.' She then brought a package, two thousand and four thousand Dinars and gave all of it to him and to no one else. She said, 'He (abu Ibrahim, recipient of divine supreme covenant) had told me when there were only two of us (she was beloved to him), "Keep this trust well protected with you and do not allow anyone to know it before I will die. When I will die whichever of my sons will come to you and ask you to deliver this trust to him give it to him and know that I have passed away." The sign that my master had informed me of has exactly come to pass.' He took charge of the package and money from her and commanded everyone to keep it secret until the coming of the news. He left the house and thereafter did not come to rest at night as before. After a few days only the news of the passing away of abu Ibrahim, recipient of divine supreme covenant, reached the city. We calculated the time and found out that it was exactly the time abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, had done those things; his delaying to come for rest at night and taking charge of the trust from ('Umm Ahamd)."

The Conditions of the Imam, Recipient of Divine Supreme Covenant, in the Matters of Age

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Isa from ibn Mahbub from Hisham ibn Salim from Yazid al-Kunasiyy who has said the following:

"Once I asked abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'Was Jesus at the time he spoke to people from the cradle a Divine Authority over the people of his time?' He said, 'At that time he was a prophet, a Divine Authority over the people but not a Mursal (Messenger). Have you not heard the words of Allah that say, "He said, 'I am the servant of Allah. He has given me the Book and has appointed me to be a prophet (19:30). He has blessed me no matter where I dwell, commanded me to worship Him and pay the religious tax for as long as I live.'" (19:31)

"I then asked, 'Was he the Divine Authority over Zackaria at the time that he was in the cradle?' He said, 'At that time Jesus was a sign from Allah to people and a blessing to Mary (Maryam) when he spoke on her behalf. He was a prophet and a Divine Authority over all those who heard his words at that time.

Thereafter he did not speak until he was two years old. At Such time Zackaria was the Authority of Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, over the people after the silence of Jesus. Zackaria then died and his son Yahya (John) inherited the book and wisdom and he was a small child. You can hear it in the words of Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, 'We commanded John, Zachariah's son, "O John, follow the guidance of the Lord with due steadfastness. We gave knowledge and wisdom to John during his childhood.'" (19:12) When Jesus was seven years old, he then spoke as a prophet and a messenger until Allah, the Most Holy sent him inspiration. Thus, Jesus was the Divine Authority over John and over all the people. The earth is never left without the presence of a Divine Authority over the people; O abu Khalid, from the day Allah created Adam and settled him on earth.'

"I then asked, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, did Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, possess Divine Authority from Allah and His Messenger over this nation (Muslims) during the lifetime of the Messenger of Allah?' He said, 'Yes, he received such authority on the day the Messenger of Allah appointed him Divine Authority over the people and called upon the people to acknowledge his Divine Authority and commanded them to obey him.' I then asked, 'Was obedience to Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, obligatory upon people during the lifetime of the Messenger of Allah as well as after his death?' The Imam said, 'Yes, but he kept silent and did not speak along with the Messenger of Allah. At that time, during the lifetime of the Messenger of Allah, obedience was of the rights of the Messenger of Allah over the 'Umma (nation) and over Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant. Obedience to the authority of Allah and His Messenger over the people as a whole was also obligatory to Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, after the death of the Messenger of Allah. Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was a very wise and knowledgeable person.'"

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Isa from Safwan ibn Yahya who has said the following:

"Once I said to al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'Before Allah granted you the blessed birth of abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, we asked you question and you would say that Allah will soon grant you a son. Allah, now, has blessed you with such a favor and may He make him to bering joy to our heart. We wish not to experience a single day without you but, Allah forbid, if something happens to you from whom must we seek guidance?'

"He pointed with his hand to abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and he was standing before him. I then said, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause; he is only a child, three years old.' He said, 'That does not matter in his case at all. Jesus rose with Divine Authority when he was less than three years old.'"

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from Ali ibn Sayf from certain persons of our people from abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, al-Thani the 2nd who has said the following:

Ali ibn Muhammad and others have narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad from Ya'qub ibn Yazid from Mus'ab from Mas'da from abu Basir who has said the following:
"Once I went to see abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant. Along with me there was a five-year-old boy, a guide who had not yet attained puberty. The Imam asked, 'How will it be with you if people will debate you about the Divine Authority of someone of his (the guide boy's) age?' Or he said, 'About the Divine Authority of one that will come and will be of the same age as his.'"
(At the time Divine Authority was transferred to Imam Muhammad Taqi, recipient of divine supreme covenant, he was eight years old.)

Sahl ibn Ziyad has narrated from Ali ibn Mahziyar from Muhammad ibn 'Isma'il ibn Bazi' who has said the following:
"Once I asked abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, of an issue of the Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority) and I asked, 'Can the Imam be a boy less than seven years old?' He said, 'Yes, he can even be less than five years old.' Sahl has said that ibn Mahziyar narrated this to me in the year two hundred twenty one A.H."

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from al-Khayrani from his father who has said the following:
"Once I was standing in the presence of abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, in Khurasan and someone said to him, 'O my master, if something will happen to you to whom must we then turn for guidance? The Imam said, 'You must turn for guidance to abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, my son.' The person asking the question seemed to have thought his (abu Ja'far's) age as very young. Abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, 'Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, sent Jesus, son of Mary, peace be upon them, as the Messenger and the Prophet being the author of a whole system of law. He began this task at an age much smaller than the age of abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant.'"

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from Mu'alla ibn Muhammad from Ali ibn Asbat who has said the following:
"Once I saw abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who had come out to me and I began to look at him from head to toe so I could describe him to our people in Egypt. I was looking until he sat down and said, 'O Ali, Allah has supported His argument against the people in the case of Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority) just as He has done so in the case of the prophets. He has said, "We gave authority to him (John) over the people during his childhood. (19:12) When he attained maturity, Allah gave him strength, wisdom and knowledge. Thus, do We reward those who do good." (12:22) 'When he grewup to manhood and became forty years old . . .' (46:15) It may come to pass, wisdom comes to a prophet when he is just a child or when he is forty years old.'"

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father who has said the following:

"Once abu Ali ibn Hassa'n spoke to abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, saying, 'My master, people refuse to accept your Imamat (Leadership with Divine Authority) because of your very young age.' He asked, 'Why do they not refuse to accept the words of Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious? Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, has said to His prophet, '(Muhammad), say, "This is my way. I and all my followers invite you to Allah with proper understanding. . . .'" (12:108). By Allah, only Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, followed him at that time and he was only nine years old and I am also nine years old."

Only an Imam Has the Authority to Wash the Body of an Imam for Burial

بَابُ أَن الْإِمَامَ لَا يَغْسِلُه إِلا إِمَامٌ مِنَ الْأَئِمةِ ع

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from Mu'alla ibn Muhammad from al-Hassan ibn Ali al-Washsha' from Ahmad ibn 'Umar al-Hallal or someone other than him who has said the following:

"Once I said to al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'They argue against us about "No one has the authority to wash the body of an Imam for burial except an Imam."' The Imam then asked, 'How do they know who has washed him for burial? What did you say to them?' I then said, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, I told them that if my Imam says that he has washed his body under the throne of the Lord, he has told the truth. If he says that he has washed it at the center of the earth he has told the truth.' The Imam said, 'It is not that way.' I then asked him, 'What then should I say to them (al-Waqifiyya sect)?' The Imam said, 'Tell them that I (al-Rida) washed his body for burial.' I then asked, 'Must I tell them that you have washed his body?' He said, 'Yes, I have done so.'"

H 994, Ch. 92, h 2

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from Mu'alla ibn Muhammad from Muhammad ibn Jumhur who has said that abu Mu'ammar said the following:

"Once I asked al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about the issue "Only Imam washes the body of the Imam for burial". He said, 'It is of the traditions of Moses, son of 'Imran, peace be upon him.'"

H 995, Ch. 92, h 3

It is narrated from him from Mu'alla ibn Muhammad from Muhammad ibn Jumhur from Yunus from Talha who has said the following:

"Once I asked al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'Is it true that only an Imam has the authority to wash the body of an Imam for burial?'

"The Imam asked, 'Do you not know who came to wash his body for burial? The ones who were far more excellent than those who were absent during washing his body for burial, came to wash him for burial. They were those who came to Joseph in the well to help when his parents and family were absent from him (Jibril and angels).'"

Chapter Ninety Three

The Birth of 'A'immah, Recipients of Divine Supreme Covenant

H 996, Ch. 93, h 1

Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from ‘Abd Allah ibn Ishaq al-‘Alawi from Muhammad ibn Zayd al-Rizami from Muhammad ibn Sulayman al-Daylami from Ali ibn Hamza from abu Basir who has said the following:

“Once we went for Hajj with abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, in the year that his son Musa, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was born. When we arrived at al-Abwa lunch was served. When he would serve food to his people he served good and plentiful food. At such time the messenger of Hamida (his wife) came saying, ‘Hamida says, “I have almost lost myself and I have found what I was to find; I am about to give birth. You had commanded me not to do anything to this child without you.”’ Abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then went with the messenger. When he came back his companions congratulated him and said, ‘May Allah keep our souls in service for your cause, what did you do to Hamida?’ He said, ‘Allah granted her good health and gifted me with a boy whom He has formed as the best in His creatures. Hamida informed me of a matter about him that she thought I did not know. I, however, knew it better than she did.’ I then asked him, ‘May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, what was it that Hamida told you about the child?’ He said that she informed him about the baby’s actions as soon as his body touched the ground. The baby placed his hands on the ground and raised his head to the sky. I explained to her that it was a sign like that of the Messenger of Allah and a sign of the executor of his will after him.

“I then said, ‘May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, what sign is the sign of the Messenger of Allah and the sign of the executor of his will after him?’ He said to me, ‘In the night that the mother of my grandfather conceived him, someone came to my great grandfather with a drink finer than water, softer than butter, sweeter than honey, cooler than ice and whiter than milk. He was asked to drink it and then go to bed with his wife. He went to bed with his wife and she conceived the baby. In the night that the mother of my father conceived him someone came to my grandfather with the same kind of drink as that brought to my great-grandfather. He was commanded to do as my great-grandfather had done. He then went to bed with his wife and she conceived my father. In the night that my mother conceived me someone came to my father with the same kind of drink as that brought for my great-grandfather and grandfather and made him drink as they had done and commanded him as he had commanded them before him. He then went to bed with his wife and my mother conceived me. In the night that my wife was to conceive my son someone came to me with the same kind of drink as that for my great-grandfather, my grandfather and my father. He did to me as he had done to them. I then went with the knowledge of Allah and with joy for what Allah had granted to me to bed with my wife and she conceived the baby that was just born. The newborn is with you and he, by Allah, will be your companion (master, Imam) after me. The seed of the Imam is from what I just explained to you. When the seed is accommodated in the womb for four months and the spirit is established therein Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, then sends an angel. This angel is called Haywan (animal or living). He then writes on his right shoulder, “. . . in all truth and justice, your Lord's word has been completed. No one can change His words. He is All-hearing and All-knowing." (6:115) As soon as he is born (and his body touched the ground) he places his hands on the floor and raises his head to the sky. Placing his hands on earth is an indication of his taking possession of all the knowledge of Allah that is sent from the heavens to earth. Raising his head to the sky is that because a caller from inside the Throne calls him from the high horizon with his name and the name of his father. It is for (on behalf of) the Lord, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, saying, 'O so and so, son of so and so, be firm so that you are established. For the great purpose that I have created you, you are my chosen one in my creatures. You are the keeper of My secrets, the container of My knowledge, the trustee of My inspiration and My deputy and representative on My earth. I have made it necessary for My blessings and mercy to reach you and those who love you (and acknowledge your Divine Authority). I have gifted My paradise and given a place near Myself to you and to them. Also, by My Majesty and Grace, I will make your enemies feel the heat of My punishment even though I may have given them expanded prosperity in My world such as prosperity in their livelihood.

"When the call of the caller ends he responds to it by placing his hands on the ground and raising his head to the sky and says the following: 'Allah Himself testifies that He is the only Lord. The angels and the men of knowledge and justice testify that Allah is the only Lord, the Majestic, and All-wise.' (3:18)

"The Imam then said, 'When he says this, Allah grants him the knowledge of the first and the knowledge of the last and the qualification to be visited by the Spirit in the nights of destiny.'

"I then asked, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, is the Spirit different from Jibril?' He said, 'The Spirit is a creature greater than Jibril. Jibril is of the angels. The Spirit is a creature greater than the angels are. Is it not that Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has said, 'On this Night, the angels and the Spirit descend. . . .'" (97:4)

Muhammad ibn Yahya and Ahmad ibn Muhammad have narrated from Muhammad ibn al-Husayn from Ahmad ibn al-Hassan from al-Mukhtar ibn Ziyad from Muhammad ibn Sulayman from his father from abu Basir a similar Hadith.

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Muhammad ibn al-Husayn from Musa ibn Sa'dan from 'Abd Allah ibn al-Qasim from al-Hassan ibn Rashid who has said the following:

"I heard abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, saying, 'When Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, loves to create the Imam He commands an angel to take a drink of water from under the Throne to his father to drink it and from this He creates the Imam. For the first forty days and nights in his mother's womb he does not hear anything. After that he hears the words. When he is born that angel comes and writes between his eyes, ". . . in all truth and justice, your Lord's word has been completed. No one can change His words. He is All-hearing and All-knowing." (6:115)

"When the preceding Imam passes away a lighthouse made from light is prepared for him and through this lighthouse he examines the deeds of the creatures. By this means Allah establishes His authority over (and argument against) the creatures.'"

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from Ali ibn Hadid from Mansur ibn Yunus from Yunus ibn Zabyan who has said the following:

"I heard abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say, 'When Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, decides to create the Imam from another Imam He sends an angel with a drink of water from under the Throne. Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from Mu'alla ibn Muhammad from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Abd Allah from ibn Mas'ud from 'Abd Allah ibn Ibrahim al-Ja'fari who has said the following:

"I heard Ishaq ibn Ja'far say, 'I heard my father say, "The mothers of the executors of the will when conceiving them experience a certain condition. She feels as if fainted for the rest of the day if it takes place during the day or for the rest of the night if it takes place at night. She then sees in her dream a man congratulating her with the birth of a son, very knowledgeable and very forbearing. She becomes happy and wakes up and from her right side in the house she hears a voice. It says, 'You have conceived with goodness, you are changing into goodness and you have come up with goodness. Congratulations to you for a son who is very forbearing and knowledgeable.' She then feels light and thereafter she feels no discomfort from her sides or from her belly. After nine months she hears (something) intensely in the house. On the night of the birth of the child a light appears to her in the house that only she and the father of the child can see. When the child is born he is found in a sitting position. There is enough opening for the child to come out with both thighs and legs folded. The child turns on the ground so as not to miss facing the direction of Makka. He sneezes three times and points with his fingers for the words of blessings said upon sneezing. When born, his umbilical cord is already cut off and he is circumcised. Both of his Ruba'ia (molar) teeth from the upper and lower jaws, both of his (Na'b) canine teeth and both of his Dahika (bicuspids) are already grown. In front of him a light shines like flowing gold. For the next day and night a golden light flows from his hands. This is how the prophets are when they are born. The executors of their will are the only ones who are the attachments of the prophets.’’’’

H 1001, Ch. 93, h 6

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from Ali ibn Hadid from Jamil ibn Darraj who has said the following:

“Several persons of our people have narrated that the Imam, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, ‘Do not speak about the Imam. The Imam hears the words while he still is in the womb of his mother. When she gives birth the angel writes between his eyes, “. . . in all truth and justice, your Lord's word has been completed. No one can change His words. He is All-hearing and All-knowing.” (6:115)

‘When he takes charge of the matter (Leadership with Divine Authority) in every town a lighthouse is established for him through which he examines the deeds of the servants (of Allah).’’’

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from Muhammad ibn ‘Isa ibn ‘Ubayd who has said the following:

“Once ibn Faddal and I were sitting when Yunus came and said, ‘I went to see abu al-Hassan al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and said to him, “May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, people speak so much about a pillar.”’ He said to me, ‘O Yunus, what do you see? Do you see it as a pillar of iron that you may raise for your friend?’ I (the narrator) then said, ‘I do not know.’

“The Imam said, ‘In fact, it is an appointed angel in every town. Through him Allah raises the deeds of that town.’ The narrator has said that ibn Faddal then stood up and kissed his head and said, ‘May Allah grant you blessings, O abu Muhammad, you continue to bring us true Hadith with which Allah grants us relief and comfort.’’’

Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from a certain person of our people from ibn abu ‘Umayr from Hariz from Zurara from abu Ja‘far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

“Imam has ten signs. He is born clean and circumcised. When born and as soon as his body touches the earth his palms reach the ground first while he raises his head to the sky and loudly says the two testimonies. He does not endure wetdreams. His eyes sleep but not his heart. He does not yawn or stretch. He sees behind just as he sees in front. (His vision forms a 360 degree angle). His secretion smells as musk. The earth is made to conceal and devour it. When he dresses up with coat of arms of the Messenger of Allah it precisely fits him. Yet, when other people, taller or shorter, try, it is taller on them by the span of thumb to small finger stretched a part. He is a Muhaddath (the one to whom angels speak) up to the time of his passing away.’’’

The Creation of the Bodies, Spirit and the Heart of the Imam, Recipient of Divine Supreme Covenant

H 1004, Ch. 94, h 1

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from abu Yahya al-Wasiti from certain persons of our people from abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

“Allah has created us from ‘Illiyin (high above) and He has created our spirits from above that. He has created the spirit of our Shi‘as (followers) from ‘Illiyin and their bodies from below

Ahmad ibn Muhammad has narrated from Muhammad ibn al-Hassan from Muhammad ibn ‘Isa ibn ‘Ubayd from Muhammad ibn Shu‘ayb from ‘Imran ibn Ishaq al-Za‘farani from Muhammad ibn Marwan who has said the following:

“I heard abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say, ‘Allah has created us from the light of His greatness. Thereafter He shaped our form from preserved and hidden clay under the Throne. Then He made that light to reside in that clay. We were then spiritual creatures of the human being species. He has not placed anything as a share from that with which we were created in anyone else. He has created the spirits of our Shi‘a from our clay and their bodies from preserved and hidden clay from below that clay. Allah has not placed anything as a share of that with which they are created in anyone except the prophets. Thus, our followers and we became the people. The rest of the people became riffraff for the fire and to the fire.’”

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from Ali ibn Hassa’n and Muhammad ibn Yahya from Salma ibn al-Khattab and others from Ali ibn Hassa’n from Ali ibn ‘Atiyya from Ali ibn Ri’ab who has narrated it in a marfu‘ manner from Amir al-Mu’minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

“Allah has a canal below His Throne. Below the canal that is below His Throne is a light that brightens it up. On both edges of the canal there are two created spirits. One is the Holy Spirit and the other is the Spirit from His command. Allah has ten (kinds) of clay; five from paradise and five from earth. He then explained the earth and the paradise. Then he said, ‘There is no prophet or angel that He has formed (Jabala) but that He has blown into them from one of those spirits. He has formed the Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, from one of those clays.’

“I asked abu al-Hassan, the 1st, ‘What is Jablu?’ He said, ‘It is the creatures exclusive of us Ahl al-Bayt (family of Prophet Muhammad). Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, has created us from ten clays and has blown into us from both the Spirits and has added fragrance to fragrance.’”

“Others have narrated from abu al-Samit who has said the following: “He said, ‘Clay of paradise is the paradise of Eden, Jannat al-Ma’wa, Jannat al-Na‘im, Firdaws and al-Khuld. The clay from earth is from Makka, al-Madina, al-Kufa, Bayt al-Maqdis and al-Ha’ir.’”

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from Muhammad ibn Khalid from abu Nahshal who has said that Muhammad ibn ’Isma‘il narrated to me from abu Hamza al-Thumali who has said the following:

“I heard abu Ja‘far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say, ‘Allah has created us from A‘la ‘Illiyin (above the high above). He has created the hearts of our Shi‘a from what He has created us and He has created their bodies from below that, thus, their hearts incline toward us; they are created of that from which we are created.’ Then he recited this verse of the Holy Quran, ‘However, the records of the deeds of the virtuous ones will certainly be in ‘illiyin (83:18). Would that you had known what ‘illiyin is! (83:19) It is a comprehensive Book (of records) (83:20). The ones nearest to Allah will bring it to public.” (83:21) Our enemies are created from Sijjin and the hearts of their followers are created of that from which they are created and their bodies are created from below that, thus, their hearts incline to them; they are created of that from which they are created.' Then he recited this verse of the Holy Quran. 'Let them know that the records of the sinner's deeds are in Sijjin (83:7). If only you had known what Sijjin is! (83:8). It is a comprehensive Book (of records).'" (83:9)

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Isa from ibn Sinan from ibn Muskan from Sadir who has said the following:

"Once I said to abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'I just left your supporters and followers opposing and scorning each other.' The narrator has said that the Imam then asked, 'What do you have to do with their conditions? People have three obligations. They must recognize the 'A'immah (Leaders with Divine Authority), submit to the instructions they have received from the 'A'immah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and refer to them in their disputes and differences.'"

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad al-Barqi from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn abu Nasr from Hammad ibn 'Uthman from 'Abd Allah al-Kahili who has said the following:

He then recited this verse of the Holy Quran: 'I swear by your Lord that they will not be considered believers until they let you judge their disputes and then they will find nothing in their souls to prevent them from accepting your judgment, thus, submit themselves to the will of Allah.' (4:65) Abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then said, 'You have to be submissive (before Allah).'"

Thus, we call him, "Kulayb, the submissive." The narrator has said that the Imam expressed kindness toward him and prayed and then asked, 'Do you know what submission is?' We remained silent. The Imam said, 'That, by Allah, is al-Ikhbat in the words of Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, "The righteously striving believers who are submissive before their Lord, will be the dwellers of paradise wherein they will live forever.'" Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from Salih ibn al-Sindi from Ja'far ibn Bashir and Muhammad ibn Yahya from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Isa from ibn al-Faddal all from abu Jamila from Khalid ibn 'Ammar from Sadir who has said the following:

"I heard abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, - when he was coming in and I was going out, held my hand, then turned to al-Bayt (the House), and say, 'O Sadir, what people are, in fact, commanded to do is to come to these stones, perform Tawaf around them (walk seven times around) then come to us and declare before us their belief in our (Leadership with Divine Authority). That is what Allah has said, ". . . I am All-forgiving to the righteously striving believers who repent and follow the right guidance."' (20:82) Then he pointed his hand to his chest saying, 'To our Leadership with Divine Authority'. Then he said, 'O Sadir, do you want me to show you who creates obstacles on the way of Allah?' Then he looked at abu Hanifa and Sufyan al-Thawri. At that time they had a circle of people around them in the Mosque. He then said, 'These are the ones who create obstacles on the way of Allah without guidance from Allah and a clear book. It will be very good if these malignant ones sit in their homes. When people search around and do not find anyone to inform them of the guidance of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, and His Messenger they come to us and we inform them of the guidance of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, and His messenger.'"

Chapter Ninety Seven

The Angels Come to the Houses of 'A'immah (Leaders with Divine Authority), Step on Their Furnishings and Bring Them News

H 1019, Ch. 97, h 1

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from ibn Sinan from Misma‘ Kirdin al-Basri who has said the following:

“I used to eat one meal in twenty four hours. Sometimes I would ask permission to see abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, at such time that I expected their tablecloth to be collected, so that perhaps I might not see (any food) before them (and they have finished their meal). Upon my arrival he would ask to return the tablecloth. The food in it would not harm me. If, however, I ate with others again I could not do so and it would become very difficult for me to sleep because of gases. I complained about it before the Imam and said that were I to eat from your table it would not harm me. He said, ‘O abu Sayyar, it is because you eat from the table of the virtuous people. Angels shake hands (sit along) with them on their furnishings.’ I (the narrator) then asked, ‘Do they (angels) appear to you?’ He has said, ‘The Imam wiped his hand over one of his children and said, ‘They are more kind to our children than we are.’”

H 1020, Ch. 97, h 2

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from Muhammad ibn Khalid from Muhammad ibn al-Qasim from al-Husayn ibn abu al-‘Ala’ who has said the following:

“Once Abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘O Husayn, tapping his hand on a cushion in the house, said, ‘These are cushions on which so often angels lean and perhaps we pick up parts of their fluff around.’”

Muhammad has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from Ali ibn al-Hakam who has said that Malik ibn ‘Atiyya al-Ahmasi narrated to him from abu Hamza al-Thumali who has said the following:

“Once I went to see Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and I was confined in the room for an hour then I went inside the house while he was picking up things and giving to someone behind the curtain. I then asked, ‘May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, what was that thing that I saw you picking up?’ The Imam said, ‘The fluff from the angels when they come to meet us and we use it to amuse our children.’ I then said, ‘May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, do they come to you?’ The Imam said, ‘O abu Hamza, they form a crowd over our furnishings.’”

Muhammad has narrated from Muhammad ibn al-Hassan from Muhammad ibn Aslama from Ali ibn abu Hamza who has said the following:

“I heard abu al-Hassan, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say, ‘Every angel that Allah sends down for a task, that angel first begins with meeting the Imam to present the task to him. The presence of Imam, Leader with Divine Authority, is the scene of a great mix of the angels from Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High.’”

Chapter Ninety Eight
The Jinns Come to the Imam for Religious Instructions and for Settling Their Affairs

بَابُ أَن الْجِن يَأتِيهِمْ فَيَسْأَلُونَهُمْ عَنْ مَعَالِمِ دِينِهِمْ وَ يَتَوَجهُونَ فِي أُمورِهِمْ

Certain persons of our people have narrated from Muhammad ibn Ali from Yahya ibn Musawir from Sa'd al-Askaf who has said the following:

"On one of the occasions of my meeting with abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, when I went to see him he asked me to wait. I waited until the sun became very hot on me. I tried to follow the shadow for cover against the sun. Not very long thereafter a people came out of his presence that looked like locusts dressed in large gowns and very pale and slim due to extensive worshipping. Their beautiful scene made me forget my trouble. When I went in the presence of the Imam he said, 'I am afraid I caused you hardships.' I said, 'Yes, it was difficult but, by Allah, I forgot other things when I saw them. A people passed by, the like of whose beauty I had not seen before. They looked like locusts and pale and slim due to worshipping a great deal.'

"The Imam said, 'O Sa'd, did you see them?' I said, 'Yes, I saw them.' The Imam said, 'They are your brethren from Jinns.' I (the narrator) asked the Imam, 'Do they come to you?' He said, 'Yes, they come to us for religious instructions and to learn the lawful and unlawful matters.'"

I found saddles of camels lined up in front of the door and noises coming very loud and then a people came out with turbans like those of the Indian gypsies. I asked abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, about them and said, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause; today it took a long time to receive permission to meet you. I saw a people coming out with turbans whom I could not recognize.' He asked, 'Do you know, O Sa'd, who they were?' I said, 'No, I do not know.' The Imam said, 'They were your brethren in religion from Jinns. They come to us for religious instructions, to learn the lawful and unlawful matters and the principles of their religion.'"

“I (the narrator) then went to meet abu Ja‘far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and said, ‘May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, a man came to me with your letter the ink of which was not yet dried up.’ He said, ‘O Sadir, we have servants from Jinns. Ali ibn Muhammad and Muhammad ibn al-Hassan have narrated from Sahl ibn Ziyad from the person whom he mentioned from Muhammad ibn Jahrash who has said that Hakima daughter of Musa, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said the following:

“Once I saw al-Rida, recipient of divine supreme covenant, standing at the door of the firewood room and he was whispering but I did not see anyone else around. I then asked him, ‘My master, who are you talking to?’ He said, ‘This is ‘Amir al-Zahra’i. He has come to ask a few questions and he has certain complaints.’ I then asked, ‘My master, I want to hear his words.’ He said, ‘If you heard his words you might have fever for one year.’ I said, ‘My master, I want to hear him.’ He said, ‘All right, then listen.’ I listened and I heard something like a whistle. I then suffered from a fever for one whole year.’”

Muhammad ibn Yahya and Ahmad ibn Muhammad have narrated from Muhammad ibn al-Hassan from Ibrahim ibn Hashim from ‘Amr ibn ‘Uthman from Ibrahim ibn Ayyub from ‘Amr ibn Shimr from Jabir from abu Ja‘far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

“Once when Amir al-Mu’minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was on the pulpit a serpent entered from one of the doors of the mosque. People wanted to kill him. Amir al-Mu’minin, recipient of divine supreme covenant, asked them to leave him alone. They left him alone. The serpent began to crawl to the pulpit. He stretched and saluted Amir al-Mu’minin, recipient of divine supreme covenant. Amir al-Mu’minin, recipient of divine supreme covenant, made a gesture to him to wait until the sermon was completed. When the sermon was completed he came to him and asked, ‘Who are you?’ He said, ‘I am ‘Amr ibn ‘Uthman, your deputy among the Jinns. My father has died and he has asked me in his will to come to you and find out your instructions and that is why I am here. What do you command me to do and what do you instruct me to do?’ Amir al-Mu’minin, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, ‘I ask you to be pious before Allah and go back and act as the successor of your father among the Jinns. I appoint you as my deputy over them.’

“The narrator has said that ‘Amr then said farewell to the Imam Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and left (‘Amr) as his deputy over the Jinns. I asked the Imam, ‘May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, does ‘Amr come to you and fulfill that obligation on him?’ He said, ‘Yes, he does so.’”

H 1029, Ch. 98, h 7
Ali ibn Muhammad has narrated from Salih ibn abu Hammad from Muhammad ibn 'Urma from Ahmad ibn al-Nadr from al-Nu'man ibn Bashir who has said the following:

"Once I was a companion of Jabir ibn Yazid al-Ju'fi on a journey. When we reached the city, Madina, he went to meet abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant. He said farewell to him and came out very happily until we arrived in al-'Ukhayraja, the first length of one day's journey from Fayd to Madina. It was a Friday. We said our prayers at noon. When the camel rose to leave I saw a tall brownish man with a letter. He gave it to Jabir who kissed it and placed it over his eyes. It was from Muhammad ibn Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, to Jabir ibn Yazid. It had black ink that was still wet. He asked him, 'When were you in the presence of my master?' He said, 'Just now.' He asked, 'Were you in his presence before or after the prayer?' He said, 'I was there after the prayer.' He then opened the seal and began to read the letter and his face began to look strained until he read it to the end. He held the letter and I did not see him laughing or happy until we arrived in Kufa. In Kufa I spent my night and in the morning I went to see him out of respect for him and I found him coming out to me with a large ring made of anklebones around his neck riding on a twig of reeds saying, 'I see Mansur ibn Jumhur, a ruler, but no one obeys him' and such other rhymes. He looked at me and I looked at him and he did not say anything to me and I did not say anything to him. I began to weep when I saw him. Children and people gathered around us. He came in al-Rahba and went in circles with the children and people said, 'Jabir has gone mad, Jabir has become insane.' By Allah, only a few days had passed when a letter from Hisham ibn 'Abd al-Malik came to the governor to look for a man called Jabir ibn Yazid al-Ju'fi. It said, 'Kill him and send his head to me.'

"The governor turned to the people in his court and asked, 'Who is this Jabir ibn Yazid al-Ju'fi?' They replied, 'May Allah grant well-being to the governor, he was a man of knowledge, excellence, Hadith and Hajj, but now he has become insane. He is there with the children riding on a twig of reeds. He plays with them.' He went to see him and found him playing with the children while riding a twig of reeds. He said, 'Thanks to Allah for saving me from killing him.' The narrator has said that within just few days Mansur ibn Jumhur entered Kufa and did what Jabir was speaking of before.'"

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from ibn Mahbub who has said that Yahya ibn 'Abd Allah, abu al-Hassan the companion of al-Daylam narrated to us and has said the following:

"Once I heard Ja'far ibn Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say, while a group of people of Kufa was present before him, 'People are very strange. They have received their knowledge from the Messenger of Allah. They have followed such knowledge and found guidance but they think that his Ahl al-Bayt (family) have not received his knowledge. We are his Ahl al-Bayt and his descendents. In our house Divine inspiration came down and from us knowledge came out to them. Do they think that they have learned and found guidance but we remained ignorant and lost? This, certainly, is not possible.'"

Al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant, asked, 'Where are you from?' He replied, 'I am from Kufa.' The Imam said, 'By Allah, O brethren from Kufa, if only I had a meeting with you in Madina, I could have shown you the marks of Jibril in and around our house and his coming with Divine message to my grandfather. "Once I was in the presence of abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, when 'Abbad ibn Kathir, the devoted worshipper of Basra, and Shurayh, the Faqih, (scholar of law) of the people of Makka came to see the Imam. In the presence of abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, already there was Maymun al-Qaddah, the slave of abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant. 'Abbad ibn Kathir then asked abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'O abu 'Abd Allah, how many pieces of cloth were used to shroud the Messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant?' The Imam said, 'Three pieces were used. Two of them were Suhari (made in Suhar, Yemen) and one Hibara (made in Hibara, Yemen). Burd (fabric made in Yemen) was rare to find.' 'Abbad seemed to frown at this (as if he did not believe in the rarity of the fabric).

"The Imam said, 'The palm tree of Mary was 'Ajwa (a certain kind of palm tree) and it had come from the heavens. Whatever grew from its roots were also 'Ajwa and whatever grew from pits of dates became of lower quality.' When they left the house of the Imam, 'Abbad ibn Kathir said to ibn Shurayh, 'By Allah, I did not understand the simile that abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, put forward to me.' Ibn Shurayh then said, 'Ask this boy (Maymun al-Qaddah). He will explain it to you because he is from them (people of the house of the Imam).' He then asked the boy and he asked, 'Is it true that you did not understand what he said to you?' He ('Abbad) said, 'Yes, by Allah, I did not understand.' The boy, Maymun al-Qaddah, then said, 'The Imam refers to his own self. He informed you that he is one of the children of the Messenger of Allah and the knowledge of the Messenger of Allah is with them. Whatever knowledge comes from them is true and correct and whatever comes from other sources is not genuine.'"

The Ahadith (Statements) that say, Ahadith of Ahl al-Bayt (Members of the Family of Prophet Muhammad) Are Difficult and They Become Difficult

بَابٌ فِيمَا جَاءَ أن حَدِيثُهُمْ صَعْبٌ مُسْتَصْعَبٌ

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Muhammad ibn al-Husayn from Muhammad ibn Sinan from 'Ammar ibn Marwan from Jabir who has said the following:

"Abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said that the Messenger of Allah has said, 'Hadith (statement) of Ahl al-Bayt (the family of Prophet Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant) are difficult and they become difficult. No one believes in them except the angels who are close to Allah or the Prophets, who are Messengers also, and a servant of Allah whose heart Allah has tested for faith. Whatever comes to you of Hadith (statement) of Ahl al-Bayt of Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, if your heart feels relief and you recognized them accept them. Whatever causes antipathy in your hearts and you cannot recognize, leave them to Allah, to the Messenger of Allah and the scholar from Ahl al-Bayt of Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant. The ones to perish are those who do not accept Hadith of Ahl al-Bayt, recipient of divine supreme covenant. Whenever one is narrated to them they say, "By Allah, this was not and that was not." Denial is disbelief.'"

Ahmad ibn 'Idris has narrated from 'Imran ibn Musa from Harun ibn Muslim from Mas'ada ibn Sadaqa who has said the following:

"Once I said to abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, that I one day spoke of Taqiya (hiding something for fear) before Ali ibn al-Husayn, recipient of divine supreme covenant. He said, 'By Allah, if abu Dhar knew what was in the heart of Salman he would have killed him even though the Messenger of Allah had established brotherhood between them. What then do you think of the rest of the people? The knowledge of the scholars is difficult and it becomes difficult. No one is capable of bearing it except a prophet who is a messenger also or an angel who is close to Allah or a believer whose heart Allah Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from al-Barqi from ibn Sinan or others in a marfu' manner from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"Our Ahadith (statements) are difficult and they become difficult. Only well-brightened chests, the well-protected hearts or virtuous moral abilities are able to accept them. Allah has taken a pledge from our Shi'a (followers) just as He has taken such pledge from the children of Adam, 'Am I not Your Lord?' Whoever remains loyal to us, Allah will grant paradise. Whoever dislikes us and does not deliver our rights to us will live in fire forever."

Muhammad ibn Yahya and others have narrated from Muhammad ibn Ahmad from one of our people the following:

"Once I wrote to Imam al-Hassan al-'Askari, recipient of divine supreme covenant, asking, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, what is the meaning of the following Hadith of Imam Ja'far al-Sadiq, recipient of divine supreme covenant: 'Our Hadith (statements) are difficult and they become difficult. No one is capable of bearing them, not even an angel or a prophet who is also a messenger or a believer whose heart Allah has tested for belief'? The answer came as follows, 'The meaning of the words of the truthful one, "No angel, prophet or any believer is capable of bearing," is that the angel is not able to wait without disclosing such knowledge before another angel. A "Prophet does not bear it" means that he is not able to wait without allowing it out before another prophet. The "believer does not bear it" means that he is not able to wait to tell another believer about it. This is the meaning of the words of my grandfather.'"

Ahmad ibn Muhammad has narrated from Muhammad ibn al-Husayn from Mansur ibn al-'Abbass from Safwan ibn Yahya from 'Abd Allah ibn Muskan from Muhammad ibn 'Abd al-Khaliq and abu Basir who has said the following:

"Once abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, said, 'O abu Muhammad, with us there is a secret of the secrets of Allah and a knowledge of the knowledge of Allah. No angel near to Allah or a prophet who is a messenger also and no believer whose heart Allah has tested for belief is capable of keeping them. By Allah, Allah has not required anyone to bear it except us nor has He required anyone to worship Him in that way except us. With us there is a secret of the secrets of Allah and knowledge of the knowledge of Allah. Allah has commanded us to preach it. We then preached what Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, had commanded us to preach. However, we did not find a proper place for it or a people or bearers who could accept it until Allah created certain tribes. These people were created from the clay out of which Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and his descendents were created and from a light from which Allah had created Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and his descendents. He made them from the excess of His blessings out of which He had made Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and his descendents. We then preached what Allah had commanded us to preach and these people then accepted and acknowledged it [it reached them from us and they accepted and acknowledged it]. Our mention reached them and their hearts inclined toward us. They recognized our Hadith and our selves. Had they not been created from this they would not have been such. No, by Allah, they were not to acknowledge.'

"Then the Imam said, 'Allah created certain tribes for hell and fire. He then commanded us to preach to them as we had preached to those but to them it seemed repugnant and their hearts felt hatred and they rejected it from us, did not acknowledge it and considered it as lies and they said, "Magicians and liars." Allah then placed a seal on their hearts and made them to forget. Allah then opened their tongue with certain items of the truth. Thus, they speak of it but their hearts are in denial. He uses it in defense of His friends and those who obey Him. Had it (such defense) not been there, no one would have worshipped Allah on earth. He commanded us to withhold it from them, hide and conceal. You must also hide it from those Allah has commanded to withhold from and hide from those Allah has commanded to hide and keep back from.'

"The Imam then raised his hands and wept and said, 'O Lord, this is a very small group. Make our way of living their way of living and our manner of death their manner of death. Do not make dominant over them any of Your enemies that might cause us to suffer pain for their suffering. If You allow it to cause pain to us because of their suffering no one will ever worship You on earth. May Allah send blessing upon Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and his Ahl al-Bayt and may (Your) peace and more peace be with them.'"

The Commands of the Holy Prophet to Wish Well for the Imam, Recipient of Divine Supreme Covenant, of Muslims of One's Time, Remain Close to Their Group and Find Out Who They Are

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Isa from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn abu Nasr from Aban ibn 'Uthman from ibn abu Ya'fur from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"Once the Messenger of Allah addressed people in the mosque of Khif and said, 'May Allah grant joy and happiness to those of His servants who on hearing my words understand them, memorize them and preach them to those who have not heard them. There can be such bearers of Fiqh (law) who do not have understanding. There can be many carriers of Fiqh to those who have better understanding of Fiqh than the carrier. There are three things in which the heart of a Muslim does not feel greed and treachery: Sincerity in deeds for Allah, wishing well for the leaders of the Muslims and to stay close to the group of the Muslims; their prayer encompasses those behind them also and the Muslims are each other's brothers. Their lives equally match each other's lives and the least important among them strive to fulfill their responsibilities.'"

Hammad ibn 'Uthman from Aban from ibn abu Ya'fur has narrated a similar Hadith with an addition of "They are as one hand to face their enemies."

In his Hadith he has mentioned that the Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, made his speech during his farewell pilgrimage in the mosque of Khif (a place in Mina, Makka).

H 1049, Ch. 103, h 2

Muhammad ibn al-Hassan has narrated from certain persons of our people from Ali ibn al-Hakam from Hakam ibn Miskin from a man, from Quraysh from the people of Makka, who has said the following:

"Once Sufyan al-Thawri said to me (the man from people of Makkah), 'Come with me to meet Ja'far ibn Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant.' I went with him and we found Ja'far ibn Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant, had already mounted his horse. Sufyan said to him, 'O abu 'Abd Allah, narrate to us the text of the sermon of the Messenger of Allah in the Mosque of al-Khif.' He said, 'Allow me to attend my appointment; I am already on horseback and when I return, then I will narrate to you the text of the sermon.' He said, 'I swear you by your close relation to the Messenger of Allah, you must narrate the sermon first.' The narrator has said that the Imam then dismounted his horse. Sufyan said to him, 'Ask someone to bring me ink and paper so I can write it down.' He asked for ink and paper and it was brought for him. Then he said, 'Write down:

"In the name of Allah, the Beneficent, the Merciful

The sermon of the Messenger of Allah in the Mosque of al-Khif

"May Allah grant joy and happiness to a servant who listens to my words, then understands them and delivers them to those who have not heard them. O people, those of you present here must deliver them to those absent. There can be many bearers of Fiqh (law) who do not have understanding, as there can be many carriers of Fiqh to those who have better understating of Fiqh than the carrier.

"There are three things in which the heart of a Muslim does not feel greed and treachery. (a) Sincerity in deeds for Allah, (b) wishing well for 'A'immah, the leaders (with Divine Authority) of the Muslims and (c) to stay close to the group of the Muslims; their call (prayer) encompasses those behind them and the believers are each other's brothers. Their lives equally match each other's lives and they act as one hand against their enemies and the least important among them strive to fulfill their responsibilities.'"

"Sufyan wrote it down and proofread before him. Abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, then mounted his horse. Sufyan and I came back. Somewhere on the way he said, 'Stay where you are. I want to look at this Hadith.' I then said to him, 'There is no doubt, by Allah, that abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has tied something to your neck as such that it will never go away.' He asked, 'What is that thing?' I then said, 'There are three things in which the heart of a Muslim does not feel greed and treachery. "Sincerity in deeds for Allah," is one that we know. The other one is "wishing well for 'A'immah, the leaders (with Divine Authority) of the Muslims." Who are these 'A'immah for whom we must wish well? Are they Mu'awiya ibn abu Sufyan and Yazid ibn Mu'awiya and Marwan ibn al-Hakam? (They are such disqualified people that) the testimony of no one of them is acceptable to us and it is not permissible to pray behind them. Also his words, "Stay close to their group," which group is it? Is it the Murji'a group that says, 'Those who do not perform prayers, do not fast, do not clean and wash themselves after carnal relations, cause the destruction of the Ka'ba or marry their own mother have the same degree of belief as those of angel Jibril and Mika'il.' Is it the Qadri (people believing in pre-destination) who say, 'What Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, says will not happen but what Satan says will happen?' Is it the Harawri group who is the enemy of Ali ibn abu Talib, recipient of divine supreme covenant, and calls him an unbeliever. Is it the Jahmiy group who says that the only thing needed is only to know Allah; belief is no more than this?

"He then asked, 'Woe is you, what then they say?' I said, 'They say, "Ali ibn abu Talib, by Allah, is the Imam for whom we must wish well. It is necessary to stay close to their group means his Ahl al-Bayt (family of Prophet Muhammad, recipient of divine supreme covenant.'" The narrator has said that Sufyan al-Thawri then tore the document of Hadith and said, 'Do not tell it to anyone.'"

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father and Muhammad ibn Yahya from Ahmad ibn Muhammad all of them from Hammad ibn 'Isa from Hariz from Burayd ibn Mu'awiya from abu Ja'far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"The Messenger of Allah has said, 'Allah, the Most Majestic, the Most Gracious, continues looking to a friend of His, who strives and pressures his soul in obedience to his Imam and wishes well for him until he will find himself with us in the high position in paradise.'"

H 1051, Ch. 103, h 4

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from ibn al-Faddal from abu Jamila from Muhammad al-Halabi from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"Whoever distances himself from the company of the Muslims, even by one Shibr (foot), has removed the bond of allegiance with Islam from his neck."

H 1052, Ch. 103, h 5

Through the same chain of narrators it is narrated from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"Whoever distances himself from the company of Muslims and disregards the pledge of allegiance with the Imam will come before Allah with his hand cut off."

The Mutual Rights Between the Imam, Recipient of Divine Supreme Covenant, and His Followers

H 1053, Ch. 104, h 1

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from Mu'alla ibn Muhammad from Muhammad ibn Jumhur from Hammad ibn 'Uthman from abu Hamza who has said the following:

"Once I asked abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'What are the rights of the Imam over the people?' He replied, 'Of his rights over them is that they must listen to him and obey him.'

"I then asked, 'What are their rights on him?' He replied, 'Maintain equality and justice among the followers. When this prevails among the people then no one will fear who has taken this or that.'"

Muhammad ibn Yahya al-'Attar has narrated from certain members of our people from Harun ibn Muslim from Mas'ada ibn Sadaqa from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"Amir al-Mu'minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, 'Do not be deceitful to your leaders, do not confuse your guides, do not be ignorant of your 'A'immah (Leaders with Divine Authority) and do not cut off the rope of your unity, or you will fail and be disgraced. On such foundation your affairs must be based and you must strictly live within such system. Were you able to observe what those who lived before might observe (the consequences of) that they had disregarded and which you might be called to accept you would have acted fast, come out and listened. However, you can not observe what they observe (after their death), but the curtain will soon be removed.'"

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from 'Abd al-Rahman ibn Hammad and others from Hanan ibn Sadir al-Sayrafi who has said the following:

"I heard abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, say, 'The Holy Prophet, recipient of divine supreme covenant, was given the news of his own death while he was in a good health and he did not suffer any pain.' He said, 'The trusted Spirit came to him.' He said, 'The Holy Prophet called for a prayer in congregation. He then ordered the Muhajir and Ansar (people from Makka and the people of Madina) to arm themselves. The people all came and the Holy Prophet climbed the platform, the pulpit, and gave out the news of his own death and then said, 'I remind and caution of Allah the ruler after me over my followers for not being kind to the community of the Muslims. He must honor the elders among them and be kind to their weak, treat their scholars with dignity, must not harm and humiliate them. He must not allow them to suffer poverty that would turn them to disbelief, must not close his door to them to let their strong overrun the weak ones. He must not use them in the (armed) campaigns as such that would banish the offspring of my followers.' Then he said, 'I have (certainly) delivered to you the message, given you good advice so you must preserve this testimony.'

"Abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said that these were the last words of the Messenger of Allah from the pulpit.'"

Muhammad ibn Ali and others have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn 'Isa from Ali ibn al-Hakam from a man from Habib ibn abu Thabit who has said the following:

"Once honey and figs were brought to Amir al-Mu'minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, from Hamadhan and al-Hulwan (places near Baghdad). He asked his officers to call in the orphans. They were allowed (yal'aqu) to test honey from the containers while he himself distributed them among people. People asked, 'Why should they be allowed to test honey (before others)?' He said, 'The Imam is the father of the orphans. I just wanted to give them a fatherly treat.'"

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad al-Barqi and Ali ibn Ibrahim from his father all of them from al-Qasim ibn Muhammad al-Asbahani from Sulayman ibn Dawud al-Manqari from Sufyan ibn ‘Uyayna from abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

“The Holy Prophet has said, ‘I have more authority over every believer than they themselves do and after me Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant, will have such degree of authority.’ He (abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant) was asked, ‘What is the meaning of that?’ He said, ‘These are the words of the Holy Prophet, “One who passes away, his debts and liabilities becomes my responsibility. If one leaves a legacy I am the heir thereof. A man will have no authority over himself if he has no property and one has no authority over his dependents if he does not provide for their expenses. The Holy Prophet and Amir al-Mu’minin Ali, recipients of divine supreme covenant, and their successors have made it (providing maintenance) binding upon themselves. For this reason they have greater authority over them than their own selves. The general masses of the Jews accepted Islam only after these words of the Messenger of Allah. They found peace for themselves and for their dependents.’”””

“The messenger of Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, has said, ‘Whoever of the believers or Muslims dies and on him there is a debt, not for unlawful or extravagant reasons, it then is the responsibility of the Imam to pay it off, otherwise, he has sinned. Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, says, “Welfare funds (Zakat) are only for the poor, the destitute . . . the debtors . . .” (9:60) For such persons (debtors) there is a share with the Imam. Chapter One Hundred Five

The Whole Earth Belongs to the Imam, Recipient of Divine Supreme Covenant

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn ‘Isa from ibn Mahbub from Hisham ibn Salim from abu Khalid al-Kabuli from abu Ja‘far, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

“We found this in the book of Amir al-Mu’minin Ali, recipient of divine supreme covenant: ‘The earth belongs to Allah and He gives it in inheritance to whomever of His servants that He wishes. The good end is for those who are pious before Allah, my Ahl al-Bayt and I are the people to whom Allah has given the earth in inheritance and we are the ones who are pious before Allah. The whole earth belongs to us. Thus, whoever of the Muslims revives a land, he must establish it and pay taxes to the Imam from my Ahl al-Bayt. Whatever he has used is his. If he abandons or allows it to become barren and another Muslim revives and re-establishes it, he has more right to it than the one who has abandoned. This person will now pay the taxes to the Imam from my Ahl al-Bayt and whatever he uses thereafter is his until al-Qa’im from my Ahl al-Bayt will rise with Divine Authority, power and with the sword. He will control and protect them and will remove them from such land just as the Messenger of Allah had controlled and protected it, except, however, for whatever is in the hands of our followers. He will form a contract with them and to them he will leave the land.’”

Al-Husayn ibn Muhammad has narrated from Mu’alla ibn Muhammad who has said that narrated to him Ahmad ibn Muhammad ibn ‘Abd Allah from his narrator (one of the 'A'immah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, reported to me the following:

“The world and all that is therein belongs to Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, to His Messenger and to us. If one controls a part of it he must maintain piety before Allah. He must pay the share of Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, and be generous to his brethren, otherwise, Allah, the Messenger of Allah and we will have no responsibility toward him.”

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from ibn Mahbub from ‘Umar ibn Yazid who has said the following:

“I saw Misma’ in Madina. In that year he had tried to deliver a certain amount of property to abu ‘Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who returned the property to him. I (‘Uram) asked him (Mism’a) about the reason for the return. He (Mism’a) said, “When I took the property to him (the Imam) I said, ‘I had become the person in charge of the pearls in Bahrayn and I have made a four hundred thousand Dirham profit. I have brought eighty thousand Dinars as your share. I did not want to keep your share and disregard what Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, has decreed to be for you in our properties.’ The Imam said, ‘Is there no more from earth and what Allah takes out of it besides one fifth (of people’s net savings) for us, O abu Sayyar? The whole earth belongs to us. Whatever Allah causes to come out therefrom belongs to us.’ I then said, ‘I will bring all the property to you.’ He said, ‘O abu Sayyar, we have made it a gift for you and relieved you of its liabilities. Take your property with you. Whatever land is in the hands of our Shi‘a, it is lawful for them until al-Qa’im will rise with Divine Authority and power. He will make an agreement with them about whatever land is in their hands and will give them permission to use. Whatever land is in the hands of others, their earning from it is not lawful until al-Qa'im will rise with Divine Authority and power. He will take such lands away from them and will remove them humiliated.'

"'Umar ibn Yazid has said, 'Abu Sayyar said to me, "I do not find anyone doing business or people as in charge persons of certain tasks, who earn their living lawfully except myself and those for whom they ('A'immah) have made it lawful."""

طَسْق ما كانَ فِي أَيدِيهِمْ و يترك الْأَرض فِي أَيدِيهِمْ و أما ما كانَ فِي أَيدِي غَيرِهِمْ فَإِن كَسْبهمْ مِن الْأَرضِ حرام علَيهِمْ حتى يقُوم قَائِمنا فَيأْخذَ الْأَرض مِنْ أَيدِيهِمْ و يخْرِجهمْ صغرةً قَالَ عمر بْن يزِيد فَقَالَ لِي أَبو سيارٍ ما أَرى أَحداً مِنْ أَصْحابِ الضياع و لَا مِمنْ يلِي الْأَعْمالَ يأْكُلُ حلَالًا غَيرِي إِلا مَنْ طَيبوا لَه ذَلِك

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from abu 'Abd Allah al-Razi from al-Hassan ibn Ali ibn abu Hamza from his father from abu Basir who has said the following:

"Once I asked abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'Is there any Zakat (a form of income tax) on Imam?' He said, 'O abu Muhammad, you have spoken an impossible word. Do you not know that both this and the next world belong to the Imam? He can place them as he may want or give them to whomever he may want. Allah has granted us such permission. The Imam said, 'O abu Muhammad, the Imam never spends a night without Allah's asking for His right due on him (the Imam).'"

Muhammad ibn Yahya has narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad from 'Abd Allah ibn Ahmad from Ali ibn al-Nu'man from Salih ibn Hamza from Aban ibn Mus'ab from Yunus ibn Zabyan or al-Mu'alla ibn al-Khnith who has said the following:

"Once I asked abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'What is for you from this earth?' He smiled and then said, 'Allah, the Most Holy, the Most High, sent Jibril and commanded him to dig with his toe eight rivers on earth. Of these are the River Sayhan and Jayhan, which are the Rivers in Balkh (Central Asia). Of such Rivers al-Khshu', which is the River al-Shash, River Mihran which is in India, River Nile in Egypt, Tigris and Euphrates. All that these rivers provide water and all that take water from them belong to us, and whatever is for us is for our Shi'a. There is nothing for our enemies except what they have usurped. Our friends and supporters will be in a place bigger than this and this, the sky and earth.' The Imam then recited the words of Allah. 'They are made for the believers in this world [but others have usurped it from them], and are exclusively for them in the life hereafter [no one will usurp from them].'" (7:32)

Muhammad ibn 'Isma'il has narrated from al-Fadl ibn Shadhan and Ali ibn Ibrahim from his father all from ibn abu 'Umayr from Hafs ibn al-Bakhtari from abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, who has said the following:

"Jibril dug with his foot five rivers and the flank of water followed his foot. These rivers were Euphrates, Tigris, Nile, Mihran and the River of Balkh. Whatever these rivers provide water for or whatever that takes water from them are the properties of the Imam. The ocean that has circled the land belongs to the (Imam)."

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from al-Sarriy ibn al-Rabi', who has said the following:

"Ibn abu 'Umayr did not consider anyone a match of Hisham ibn al-Hakam in anything. He would not miss meeting him. However, their relations at a time stood at a distance. The reason for this was the emergence of differences between ibn abu 'Umayr and abu Malik al-Hadrami, a friend of Hisham, over the issue of Imamat. Ibn abu 'Umayr had said that the whole world belongs to the Imam in the form of property and ownership and that he has more authority over it than those who have certain parts of it in their possession. Abu Malik had said that it is not as such. The people's properties belong to them except what Allah has given to the Imam in the form of properties captured from the enemy during a war (al-fay') and one fifth taxes or income. Such properties belong to the Imam and Allah has instructed him how to spend them and what to do with them. They agreed to ask Hisham to settle the differences. They went to Hisham but he supported the idea of abu Malik. Ibn abu 'Umayr became angry and distanced himself from Hisham thereafter."

Ali ibn Ibrahim has narrated from his father from ibn abu 'Umayr from Hammad ibn 'Uthman from Mu'alla ibn Khunays who has said the following:

"One day I said to abu 'Abd Allah, recipient of divine supreme covenant, 'May Allah keep my soul in service for your cause, I thought of the descendents of so and so ('Abbassids) and the wealth they have at their disposal. Then I wished that had such wealth been at your disposal, we would have prosperously lived with you.'

"The Imam said, 'Never, O Mu'alla, by Allah, were it as you wished, there would have been nothing but hard labor of protection at nights and strenuous work during the days, coarse garments and tasteless food. Thus, it is kept away from us. Have you ever seen a looted property Allah, the Most High, has turned into a blessing except this one (usurpation of our leadership)?'"

'Asim then abandoned the gown and began to live a normal life.'"

A number of our people have narrated from Ahmad ibn Muhammad al-Barqi from his father from Muhammad ibn Yahya al-Khazzaz from Hammad ibn 'Uthman who has said the following:

He would buy a shirt worth four Dirhams only and so on. However, we see that you have new garments.' The Imam said, 'Ali ibn abu Talib, recipient of divine supreme covenant, did so at a time when people disliked it. Were he to wear such garments today they might only defame him. The best garment for a given time
