By Way of a Very Brief Introduction:

Hazrat ᶜAlī ﷺ was born in the Kaᶜbah at Makkah on Friday, the 13th day of Rajab, 600 A.D. Both the Holy Prophet ﷺ and Hazrat ᶜAlī ﷺ belonged to the same clan. They were Hasẖimites from the clan of Bani Hasẖim. The father of Muḥammad ﷺ was ᶜAbdullāh, and the father of Hazrat ᶜAlī ﷺ was Abu Ṭalib. They were brothers and their father was ᶜAbdu-l-Muṭṭalib — thus they were cousins.

Hazrat ᶜAlī ﷺ was quite young being some thirty odd years younger when the Prophet ﷺ who attached him to himself from the beginning and called him his brother. Hazrat ᶜAlī ﷺ mentions this attention paid to him by the Prophet ﷺ saying: "Do you know, that due to my relationship and on account of my worth and merit, what were my relations with the prophet?

"From the very beginning of my life he loved me and I loved him. He took me in his lap when I was a baby and ever after I was always with him, he often kept me close to his heart, he used to make me sleep next to him; we used to be so close to each other that I felt the warmth of his body and smelled the fragrance of his breath. When I was a baby, he fed me with his hands often chewing hard bits for me. He never found me lying nor weak and wavering. From the time of his childhood Allāh ﷻ had appointed the Holy Spirit (الـرُّوحِ الْـقُـدُسِ) to be always with him and this angel always lead him ﷺ towards exemplary qualities and high moral values and I followed him ﷺ step by step as a baby camel follows its mother."

He learnt how to worship Allāh ﷻ from the Prophet ﷺ. He enjoyed his ﷺ love, kindness and brotherhood. When Hazrat ᶜAlī ﷺ first felt the sentiment of love in his heart he loved the Prophet ﷺ. When he spoke for the first time he spoke with the Prophet ﷺ. On the very first occasion when he was required to display manliness and valour he showed readiness to support the Prophet ﷺ. Hazrat ᶜAlī ﷺ was both the protege and the disciple of the Prophet ﷺ and through this relationship he became both a part of his ﷺ soul and a part of his ﷺ limbs.

In the third year of his mission, when the Prophet ﷺ was commanded to proclaim his prophethood openly he instructed Hazrat ᶜAlī ﷺ to invite forty of the leading personages of Quraysẖ to a banquet who all accepted but left soon after eating.

The following day, when again everyone was gathered in accordance with the instructions of the Prophet ﷺ, food was again served to the guests, and this time when the meal was finished the Prophet ﷺ stood up among his relatives and clan leaders and after praising and supplicating the Creator ﷻ said:

"I swear that there is none worthy of worship other than Allāh u, and that I am His envoy to you and all mankind. I have brought you the means of felicity in both worlds. My Lord has commanded me to summon you to the religion of alᵓIslām, and I give you say that whoever among you accepts my summons and aids me in my mission will be my brother, my legatee, and my successor. When he ﷺ said these words ᶜAlī ﷺ immediately, and alone, stood up saying: "Oh Muḥammad, I believe in the oneness of Allāh ﷻ and your prophethood and I distance myself from the idol worshippers." The Prophet ﷺ, ordered ᶜAlī ﷺ, to sit down. He then repeated his earlier proclamation two more times, but his ﷺ words of truth made no impact on the hearts of those gathered in that assembly.

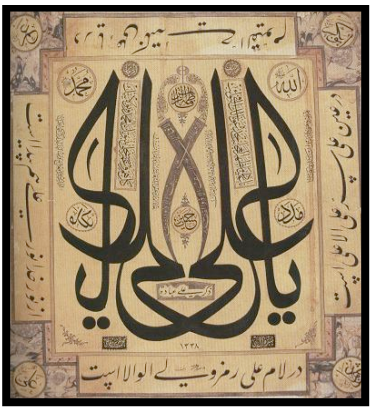

No one, apart from ᶜAlī ﷺ, responded to these calls of the Prophet ﷺ save with disdain and rejection. Hazrat ᶜAlī's ﷺ acceptance of that summons and his declaration of agreement with the Prophet ﷺ came at a time when he was just a youth of just 10 years. While the assembled notables and nobles, the movers and shakers of Makkah, sat voiceless and silent, he courageously rose again and each time affirmed his acceptance of the call of the Prophet ﷺ, whereupon the Prophet ﷺ turned to the assembly and said: "ᶜAlī is my brother and legatee and my successor among you. Obey him, follow him, and pay heed to his words."

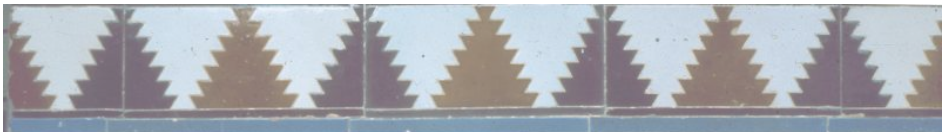

This then is the truth and the deep reality of the relationship of ᶜAlī ﷺ to the Prophet ﷺ from the beginning to the end.

There are many books that are available to a reader written from many different points of view; Sunni, Sẖiᶜa, Ṣūfī and even Salafī that are available in many different languages which deal in greater and lesser detail with his ﷺ life and times.

Some of these accounts deal with his generosity, liberality and justice, with his knowledge and wisdon, his patience, kindness and clemency, his rewnowned eloquence and rhetoric, his scribing of the Qurʾān as well as his itimate knowledge of the Qurʾān and the circumstances of its revelation (nuzūl). Others deal with his efforts in jihad and well known bravery. Some deal with his life ﷺ from a political perspective whilst others view his life and works from a spiritual or, metaphysical perspective. Yet other accounts deal with his ﷺ holy marriage to the daughter of the Prophet ﷺ, Fatima az-Zahra ﷺ and their blessed children, Sayyidinā Ḥasan and Sayyidnnā Ḥusayn, Masters of the Youth of Jannah ﷺ. Indeed Hazrat ᶜAlī ﷺ is a vast character who existed on so many levels that it would seem that no matter how much is written on him there is always still more to write. For this reason we said this would be a "very brief introduction" because in Truth if one begins to write about Hazrat ᶜAlī ﷺ there is no end to it.

We encourage the reader to search out these books and understand the significance of Sayyidinā ᶜAlī ﷺ for all Muslims in all times. It is our hope that these forty ḥadīṯẖ of the Prophet ﷺ we have collected will inspire the reader to know more about him ﷺ. and his ﷺ singular place in the lives of all Muslims.
